PETERBOROUGH HOCKEYISTS LOSE TO PORT HOPE.

A Great Exhibition of Hockey in Brock Street Rink.

THE SCORE WAS 5 TO 6.

Peterborough was in the Lead at Half Time, the Score Being 4 to 1—They had not the Staying Powers However—Mr. Hugh Rose was Referee—An Exciting Time.

Port Hope came, they saw, they conquered. It was a great game, fast clean and exciting and the visitors won on their merits. The score was 6 to 5.

Such is briefly told, the result of the Peterborough-Port Hope hockey match last night, which was the first home game for Peterborough in the local district of the intermediate series of the O.H.A. It was an event eagerly looked forward to by the people of the two towns, by the people of many other towns in the district, and in fact, by people all over the Province, as the record of last year's champions was this year being closely followed.

When the doors of the Brock street rink opened at 7 o'clock there was a a great rush for seats and at 7.45 o'clock it looked as if the new rink could hold no more. However, several hundred more come and several hundred more obtained admittance. The side seats were packed to an uncomfortable degree, the narrow passageway between the seats and the siding of the rink was jamed with people, who were delighted with even the privilege of standing and men and boys fought like demons for admissiuon anywhere. The reserved seats were all taken and men and boys were glad to stand and look over the heads of those occupying them. Others stood in perilous positions on top benches or wherever they could cling to, while through the windows to the back could be seen the pale faces of individuals looking in on the arena, the seat of conflict. At 8.05 the Port Hope contingent arrived and only about half of them, i tis said, could obtain admission. They were satisfied with any place and streamed down the centre of the ice clamouring for a place to stand. At 8.25 the doors were closed and hundreds were content to stand without and cheer when Peterborough cheered, or shout "Ontario" when the Ontario's shouted. It was on the whole a sight that will not soon be forgotten by those who were present. It was a picturesque sight, too, as the great mass of pent up humanity swayed backwards and forwards in frenzied excitement and followed the course of the puck throughout the game.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

The ice was in splendid condition. It was hard as flint, almost, as a result of Sunday's cold spell, and it melted not, even with the fever heat at which the excitement raged. The Port Hope team was the first to glide out of the big doors, and they were given a cordial welcome. They were sturdy looking chaps and wore the well known colours of the Port Hope Club—tan and white. They skated leisurally around the rink, evidently with a view of taking a little stiffness out of the bones after an hour's travel, and with a desire to become a little acquainted with the rink. Peterborough's seven with their pretty uniforms of blue and white followed amid the plaudits of several thousands. It was only a few minutes after half-past eight, the official hour, when Referee Hugh Rose glided up the rink, and appointed his time keepers and his umpires. The latter were President Kenner of the Peterborough Club, and Mr. J. R. Brown, of Port Hope. Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, of town, and Mr. W. J. R. Costello, of Port Hope officiated as time-keepers. The work of Mr. Rose throughout the evening was the essence of impartiality. His decisions were not for a moment questioned by either team and his quickness of decision and his keen knowledge of the rules together with his fearless manner combine to make him a referee of the highest merit.

During the first half it looked as if Peterborough had their opponents trimmed, and the enthusiasm of the Peterborough people knew no bounds. Young men cheered with deafening loudness, old men who had not shouted in years, were compelled to give vent to their feelings, and girls shrieked like madness with joy. For the first half hour the Peterborough seven played rings around their opponents, and the combination of the Port Hope forward line was completely blocked. They failed to break through the stonewall of defence of the locals, and the score of 4—1 in Peterborough's favour at half time seemed to fairly indicate the strength of the two teams.

THE LINE UP.

The teams were as follows:

Peterborough.	Port Hope.
Goal.
Crough	Mercer
Point.
Cavanah	Roach
Cover point.
H. Armstrong	G. Brown
Forwards.
F. Whitcroft	Boney
H Morgan	Masterson
C. Graham	McCarthy
Roy Armstrong	McMillan

THE PLAY.

The Peterborough team rushed the play from the very start and after a little skirmishing at centre, the puck was brought down the ice and shot through the Peterborough goal. Time 2 minutes.

During the second game, which was getting hotter all the time, McCarthy adorned the fence for 2 minutes for slashing Graham, and Whitcroft went off for a like period for a similar offence. Boney secured the rubber and scored for Port Hope in about 8 minutes time. Score, Peterborough 1, Port Hope 1.

The feature in the opening of the third game was the lightning rushes of Cavanah up the ice, and his marvellous shooting. McCarthy was once more sent to the boards for a breach of the rules, this time for 3 minutes. A number of very clever stops on the part of Mercer in goal, and Cavanah at point, were in evidence, and finally by a neat little pass from Whitcroft, and with a beautiful shot from the right hand side of the rink, Roy Armstrong scored again for Peterborough. Time 9 minutes. Score, Port Hope 1, Peterborough 2.

In the fourth game speedy rushes were noticeable on the part of the Peterborough men. The Peterboroughs seemed to be everywhere on the ice. Wherever there was one man of the Port Hope team there appeared to be two of Peterborough, and the cannonading on the Port Hope nets was simply astonishing. Nothing but the apparent super-human powers of the Port Hope team seemed to save the visitors time after time, and again from the right side of the rink Roy Armstrong shot in another. Score, Port Hope 1, Peterborough 3.

The fifth game was of short duration. Cavanah brought the puck down the ice, and it never went back before passing through the visitors' nets.

HALF TIME.

The boys took a little longer rest at half time than usual, they were given 15 minutes in fact, some delay being caused in scraping the ice. Finally, Referee Rose called them together, and with the score 1—4 in Peterborough's favour the local fans were feeling confident. This half found the locals shooting to the south of the rink. Both teams appeared to be refreshed by the 15 minutes of half time, but strange to say they went into the game with apparently a less degree of energy than that which characterised their play in the first half. After only one minute and 36 1-2 seconds play, Boney again scored for the visitors, who shouted "Ontario, Ontario, Ontario!" Score, Port Hope 2, Peterborough 4.

Once again they were at it, but Peterborough lacked energy. Harold Armstrong made a few rushes that were much admired and although Roy Armstrong shot cleverly on the Port Hope citidal they penetrated not. McMillan was asked to watch the game for slashing and he took his place on the boards. He was no sooner back on the ice, after none too long a rest, than he scored for his team, making the score 3-4 in Peterborough's favour. By a pass out from Graham, Morgan then scored for Peterborough, leaving Peterborough again two goals in the lead. After a series of rushes up the ice and a stop or two by Crough, a scrimmage in front of Peterborough's goal, and then a transfer of operations to the Peterborough end of the rink, Port Hope did the trick.—Score, Port Hope 4, Peterborough 5. It was only two minutes more until Boney again scored for Port Hope, making the two teams 5—5. The excitement knew no bounds. Port Hope people went hysterical and they shouted words of encouragement to their representatives on the ice. There was only seven minutes to play and it was anyone's game. Peterborough's men seemed cool-headed, but exhausted, but there was still hope in the hearts of their backers that they would score once again, at least. The play was faster, the noise louder and the expression on everyone's face more anxious. At last Umpire Brown's hand shot up and the Port Hope players turned handsprings for exercise. They had scored again and were one in the lead with only half a minute to play. The match was not over but it was won; they were one—ahead. The remaining half minute passed quickly and neither side had a chance to score. The big event closed with the usual cheers and the Port Hope people shouted like mad men.

For some time after the game was over there was excitement every where in the vicinity of the rink. The visitors were cheering and the locals were begining to realize what had happened. There general opinion was that the best team won last night, but that had the Peterborough team the exercise of the visitors the story might have been different. The lateness of the season at which the Peterborough team started in has handicapped them severely and they show lack of training. In the second half they were completely winded and could not gather energy enough to keep down the score of the visitors and retain the lead they had themselves at half time. The locals are undoubtedly the speedier seven, they possess the better combination, which worked so splendidly in the first half. They had a powerful defence in Armstrong and Cavanah which completely demoralized the forward line of the visiting seven. The shooting of the Peterborough seven was good, to say the least. They located the nets quite readily, and had an ordinary goal keeper been in Port Hope's end, many shots would have passed within. Peterborough undoubtedly had a weak spot in their goal keeper. Had Crough stopped one-half of what Mercer stopped, Port Hope would have gone home vanquished. The Examiner does not wish to be offensive towards Crough. It is his first year, and he is willing, and feels as keenly as anyone the defeat of the team. However, he is not in the same class as Wasson, who would have been a tower of strength last night. Morgan was not in as good condition as he might have been last night as he was suffering from the effects of the game in Belleville on Friday night. He played a grand game considering his condition.

The Port Hope team was slightly the heavier team. They played on the whole a gentlemanly game. Mercer, in goal, is their great fort, and to him, to a great extent, they owe their victory. Boney is a great man, however, and is all over the rink at once.

The spectators throughout the game were well behaved and cheered the good points made by either team. The hooting and hissing and ill feeling shown towards visitors in some towns not five hundred miles away, was conspicuous by their absence.

There is still one chance of Peterborough winning the district. Peterborough will have to beat Belleville here, and Port Hope in Port Hope, whilst Port Hope will have to do the grand at Belleville. That would leave the three teams a tie for the championship of the district, and would necessitate another arrangement. Stranger things have happened.

Perpetual Motion.

When George Stephenson was asked, "Do you believe in perpetual motion?" he replied, "Yes, if you lift yourself by the waist-band of the trousers, and carry yourself three times round the room."

Just so, and a woman would just as soon believe that she has not to pay dearly for common premium soaps, in the low quality of soap, in ruined hands and clothes. She would be kept in perpetual motion trying to do with common soap what she could so easily do with Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. 216

Mrs. Hughson, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was fitful, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed more weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and besides building up my general health, it drove all disease and poison out of my body, and made me feel as spry and active as a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—MRS. M. E. HUGHSON, 347 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Ordinary Tasks Produce Displacements.

Apparently trifling incidents in woman's daily life frequently produce displacements of the womb. A slip on the stairs, lifting during menstruation, standing at a counter, running a sewing machine, or attending to the most ordinary tasks may result in displacement, and a train of serious evils is started.

The first indication of such trouble should be the signal for quick action. Don't let the condition become chronic through neglect or a mistaken idea that you can overcome it by exercise or leaving it alone.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Mrs. Leiah Stowell, 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—You are indeed a godsend to women, and if they all knew what you could do for them, there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony.

"I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, womb trouble, nervousness, and excruciating headache, but a few bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy, and I do not know what sickness is, and I now enjoy the best of health."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system. Its record of cures is the greatest in the world, and should be relied upon with confidence.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

HAS NO PEER IN THE WEST.

Great London Daily That Leads all Competitors.

What Enterprise has Done—The Free Press is the Greatest Newspaper in Western Ontario.

The London Free Press Printing Company, Limited, have entered upon the new year with fresh evidence of the abundant enterprise which has always characterized that newsiest and most widewake of the big dailies of the West.

The management of this important daily have just established a special corps of vigilant news gatherers in every section of the western part of the province. These special correspondents have had placed at their immediate service the telegraph wires of the country, and can be relied upon to furnish in quick and crisp style every happening of interest.

The great news-collecting agencies of the world will continue to supply the Free Press with complete cable and telegraphic reports.

The sporting events of the day, with readable comment upon past and prospective incidents in all departments of sports, will be given in comprehensive manner.

As an illustrated newspaper, the Free Press leads in Canadian journalism. Portraits of notable people and reproductions of scenes of interest, are regularly furnished.

The latest and most accurate market reports are made a specially important feature. Farmers and business men who have experienced the value of these reports, find them indispensable.

The Woman's Page is a feature of Saturday's Free Press. It contains interesting news for the women of Ontario.

A serial story of engrossing interest is among the numerous other departments of this popular journal.

The Free Press is now a ten-page newspaper daily, with sixteen pages on Saturday. It is issued in three editions — morning, two o'clock and evening. The early morning edition covers the west from five to eight hours ahead of other competitors. It is circulated in every city, town and village in Western Ontario. The price is $3 per year, delivered at any post office. The two o'clock and evening editions are each $2 per annum at your post office.

The ever increasing circulation has made it necessary to install the very latest improved fast running presses, and visitors to the city will always be welcome callers. The presses can be seen in operation at the hours of 4 a.m., and 1 and 3.30 p.m.

THE CONVENTION.

Arrangements for the 33rd. Provincial Y. M. C. A. Convention.

Arrangements to entertain the 33rd Provincial Y.M.C.A. convention in Peterborough are being rapidly pushed forward by the committee in charge of the local arrangements. There will be over two hundred delegates whom the good citizens of the town are asked to entertain. In past years in the matter of entertainment Peterborough has always done well and promises to make this no exception to the rule.

Announcement was made in the churches Sunday, requesting those who wished delegates to fill in applications for the same by card or by telephone to the Y.M.C.A. building.

There may be some who cannot entertain at their homes who will be willing to assist the committee by entertainment of a number of delegates at the hotels. Any who can in any way assist in this are requested to send in their names as soon as possible.

There will be a feast of good things at the Y.M.C.A. convention which will be held from Feb. 5th to 8th, inclusive.

The German Boys' choir of 36 voices will be at the convention. The Zeigler Bros., violinists will also assist with the musical part of the programme.

The day sessions, morning and afternoon will be held in the Murray street Baptist church, and the evening sessions in St. Paul's by kind consent of the officials of these churches.

Robert Orr, of Pittsburg, who, as a Bible teacher, stands without a peer in America, will have charge of the Bible studies.

A number of International Committee Secretaries from New York, will be in attendance. Dr. Barclay, a leading Divine of Detroit, will give the main address of the convention.

Sunday will be the crowning day of the convention as is always the case.

DEDICATION SEVICES

In Conection With the Methodist Church in Apsley.

A correspondent from Apsley writes as follows:

Would you kindly insert in your local news columns a brief account of the opening of the new Methodist church here? Dedication services were held on Sunday, Jan. 11th, Rev. T. W. Leggott, of Lakefield, preaching at 10.30 a.m., and dedicating the church for the worship of God. Rev. J. W. Bunner, of Bridgenorth, a former pastor, gave us a rich sermon in the afternoon, and Rev. Mr. Leggott preached again in the evening, giving us a sermon of much practical value. The attendance at the services was somewhat interfered with by the heavy snowstorm.

On Monday evening an old-time tea meeting was held and in spite of the bad weather and roads, was a grand success. Tea was served in Wilson's Hall from 4 to 7.30 p.m., after which a good programme of addresses and music was rendered in the new church. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Hull, of Lakefield, who is held in high esteem in this mission for his liberality in support of the work. Speeches were delivered by Revs. Leggott and Bunner, after which the pastor, Rev. C. S. Reddick, read a statement of the cost of the church. It is a frame building, resting on a stone foundation, dimensions 50 by 28 feet. The church is fitted up with all modern improvements that could be placed in a church of its dimensions. A well finished choir gallery has been erected behind the pulpit, in which the people have placed a fine new organ. The church enjoys the distinction of have a new bell, weighing 335 lbs., which was heard at a distance of over seven miles, when it rang out at the opening services. The financial statement showed a total cost of $1587.-17, of which about $787 had been pre- an appeal to the mto lift the debt, of about $800. After the statement had been read, Rev. Mr. McQuade of Warsaw, took the congregation in hand, and after getting the people in thorough good bumour by his inimitable speeches and drollery he made an appeal to them to raise the debt, and before taking his seat he had secured subscriptions enough to cover the whole debt, and provide for its discharge in five years. Of this amount about $200 was paid that night.

After this part of the programme was concluded, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, Rev. Mr. Leggott, presented our pastor with a beautiful autograph quilt, in which were inscribed about 500 names. The meeting broke up with the singing of the National Anthem.

We are greatly indebted to the Bethel choir of the Warsaw circuit, for having driven over 23 miles to furnish music, which they did to the pleasure and satisfaction of all.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

Some Personal Mention From the Village to the Ends—Other Notes.

W. H. Waters of the firm of Waters and Son, has been confined to his house for the past week on account of a slight illness.

Miss Pettigrew is visiting friends in Hastings at present.

Misses B. Campbell and G. Carter left on Monday to attend the Normal School, Toronto.

Mr. Jas. Meikle conducted the services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

Messrs. Buck and Walsh shipped this week to the Matthews Co., at Peterborough, a carload of cattle and hogs.

Mr. J. L. Squire has contracted with the C. P. R. Co., for 80 carloads of ice to be shipped to Smith Falls for the use of the express trains.

In the case of King vs. L. Morrison, of Toronto, a number of our townspeople were summoned to go to Toronto on Friday as witnesses. They were Messrs. J. L. Squire, L. Kirkpatrick, A. Fraser, jr., D. Greenbank, D. Williamson, C. Andrews, J. R. Mylea,. On account of the judge becoming ill during the trial it was adjourned.

Mr. John Anderson, an official referee for the Trent Valley Hockey League, refereed the hockey match between the T.A.S., Peterborough, and Lakefield, in Peterborough, on Friday last.

Miss B. Foster, who has been visiting her sister in Picton, returned on Friday last.

On Sunday night sometime between the hours of 9 and 10, burglars broke into the drug store of Mr. J. C. Moffatt, Colborne street. They entered the store from the rear by means of a broken window. The only thing taken was about ten dollars in silver. Probably they thought that it was just as well not to help themselves to the drugs.

Monkey Brand Soap removes all stains, rust, dirt or tarnish — but won't wash clothes.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, blood root, red gum and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslee is speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkably satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patient medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver, or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

Suicide Registered as a Canadian.

Washington, Jan. 30.—A man apparently about 43 years of age, who had been living at the Ebbitt House here for a week and who registered as L. Bruce, Ottawa, Ont., committed suicide in his room yesterday, shooting himself through the heart.

Later the body was identified as being that of a brother of former Congressman W. E. Barrett of Massachusetts. The suicide at one time was secretary of legation at Caracas, Venezuela.

He was a son-in-law of Samuel May, manufacturer, Toronto, and was separated from his wife.

Uncle Sam's Golden Rule.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senator Lodge yesterday introduced a resolution directing the Committee on Finance to inquire whether certain countries are discriminating against the United States, and if so, what law should be passed to give countries preferential duties, which do not discriminate against the United States. The resolution refers to France, Germany and Russia.

For scrofula, anæmia, stomach and bowel disorders, and wasting diseases, Angier's Petroleum Emulsion with Hypophosphites is prescribed by physicians. It is pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach.

It prevents and corrects disordered conditions of the stomach and intestines, checks fermentation, cleanses away foul mucus, destroys or counteracts poisonous matter in the blood, alleviates the irritation and heals the diseased membranes. It also aids digestion, improves nutrition, regulates the bowels, and helps create firm, healthy flesh. Ask your druggist for it.

I am using Angier's Petroleum Emulsion whenever and wherever I can, and with universal success. It is such an excellent preparation that it must force itself to the front as almost a specific in throat, lung and stomach troubles.—Albert Atkinson, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is sold by druggists everywhere. Remember the name and insist on getting Angier's. Large size, $1.00. Small, 50c.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For sixteen years I made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost is only $5.50. If it fails I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism, must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met And in all my experience—in all my 2,000 tests—I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me, and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails, it is free.

Address, Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

ENGINE 1,767 N. Y. C.

Blew Up Near Castleton, Killing the Engineer and Fireman — Double Railway Fatality Near Jordan.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Engine 1,767 of the New York Central, drawing the Melrose freight, which left Rensselaer at 8.10 blew up near Castleton last night and, besides killing the engineer and fireman, very nearly wrecked the Lake Shore Limited, bound north.

The freight was seven miles from Albany when the engine collapsed and the engineer, Patrick Kinney of Rensselaer, and the fireman, J. Sprought of Albany, were instantly killed.

Before Conductor Randall could regain his self-possession and send out his crew with warnings, the Lake Shore Limited, with its big load of passengers, was in the block and rushing towards the spot piled high with debris.

The engineer of the Limited saw the light of the burning engine and put on his brakes, bringing his train to a standstill close to the wreck. Assistance was lent by passengers and the train crew, but both the engineer and fireman of the freight was beyond help. Head Brakeman Mattoon of West Albany was found to be missing also, but it is thought he may have rushed back to flag the train. The Limited had not reached Albany at midnight, although it was due at 8.40 p.m. It carries only passengers for west of Buffalo and the railroad officials at midnight say none were injured.

DOUBLE FATALITY AT JORDAN.

John Foster and Elmer Moyer Killed by an Express.

Jordan, Jan. 20.—Sunday night about 9.25, while he was going home from church, No. 17, west express struck and killed John Foster while crossing over the new double track bridge. Mr. Foster in getting out of the way of a freight train did not see the express. Yesterday morning the body of Elmer Moyer was found on the bank. He is supposed to have been killed by the same train.

WRECK ON G. T. R.

Freight Trains Collided at Bradford—The Track Clear.

Bradford, Jan. 20.—A bad wreck occurred on the G.T.R. at Bradford on Saturday night. A freight train going north, drawn by two engines, collided with a single-engined freight going south. Engine No. 125, which lead the up train, was squeezed between the other two Mogul engines, and was forced over the engine of the southbound train. No. 125 was a complete wreck, the others not being so seriously harmed. They have now been taken to Barrie. Nine or ten cars were wrecked. The track has since been cleared.

Stanton Found Guilty.

Malt Breakfast Food

Gives Force, Vigour, Vitality and Strength.

Malt Breakfast Food, rich in malt, gluten and phosphates stands to-day far above all other breakfast grain foods as a nourisher for body and brain. Many eminent physicians have made the positive declaration that it is the only food which truly follows the plans of nature. It is equally good for young children, adults, athletes and invalids. Its delicious flavour has made it a favourite with tens of thousands who formerly used other brands of cereal foods.

Malt Breakfast Food is now within reach of the humblest families. One package will give twice as many meals as other foods can afford, making it the most economical food that families can use. Your grocer will recommend it.

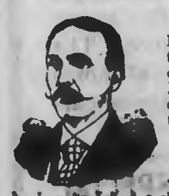
BACK PAINED SO BAD COULDN'T TURN IN BED.

A citizen of Trenton, Ont., who suffered agony with his back and kidneys, tells of his rapid and complete restoration to health by the use of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.



We desire to present to you the history of the case of Thomas Douglas, of Trenton, Ont., whose occupation is that of carter for the Gillman Co., an avocation which involves heavy lifts and frequent exposure to wet and cold—all hard on the kidneys. That Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets could so quickly cure a case so severe as that of Mr. Douglas is a splendid tribute to their rapid-acting, thorough-going curative qualities.

MR. DOUGLAS TELLS HIS STORY.

"I had been a very healthy man until a few months ago, when I was taken with a very severe pain across the small of the back. As I had a slight cold, I attributed the pain to that, and commenced using liniments, which I found gave me no relief.

"Seeing the testimonial of Mr. Kebold, a Trenton gentleman, who had used Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, I made up my mind to try them. I had used very few Tablets before I found relief, and I can tell you I was very thankful for this, as I had been so bad that I had to lay off work for days, and at nights I could not turn in bed. Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have made a perfect and thorough cure in my case. I am at work every day before 7 a.m., and work hard all day, and I can assure you my work is not easy, as I have a great deal of heavy lifting to do, and the constant stooping is a great strain on the back, but I am thankful to say I have never had a twinge of pain, nor has my back bothered me since Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets cured me."

(Signed) Thos. Douglas.

MRS. DOUGLAS CONFIRMS IT.

"I gladly endorse all my husband says about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They acted splendidly in his case and have inspired me with such confidence of their efficacy that I am using them now myself.

"I have been troubled for some time with sick headache, weak spells, tired feelings, and generally run down. I have used the Tablets only for a short time, but feel so very much better already that you may be sure as soon as I have taken another bottle or two of the Tablets, you will hear from me.

"I tell all my friends that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets have done splendidly for us, and both Mr. Douglas and myself have no hesitation in allowing you to use our names in endorsation of such a reliable remedy."

(Signed) Mrs. Thos. Douglas.

SO DOES MR. SHURIE, DRUGGIST.

"I am well acquainted with Thos. Douglas, of this town, who is a teamster in the employ of the Gillman Co.

"He is a hard-working and respectable citizen, and I have no hesitation in endorsing the statement he gives of his cure by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets, as it was from my store the Tablets were purchased, and I know the condition he was in prior to taking them, and that he is now, to the best of my knowledge, working hard every day without any trace of his former trouble."

(Signed) Jas. Shurie.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a bottle or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

HONORS ON BIRTHDAY

Collingwood is Hospitable to Sir William Mulock.

LUNCHEON AND BANQUET.

His Sixtieth Birthday Pleasantly Spent in the Northern Town — "No Country Great Unless Identified With Commerce Beyond Her Limits"—Messrs. McCarthy and W. F. Maclean, M.P.s, Present.

Collingwood, Jan. 20.—Sir William Mulock had two birthday parties here yesterday. It was his 60th birthday, and he spent it pleasantly. In the afternoon he was entertained at luncheon by the municipality, and last night the Board of Trade tendered him the most successful banquet in its history. Both gatherings were entirely non-political, and the dominant note was one of rejoicing at the prosperity of the town and abounding hope for its future.

The Municipal Luncheon.

The luncheon given in Sir William's honor by the municipality was strictly informal and one of the most pleasant little gatherings of the kind ever held in Collingwood. Mayor Hogg presided, and there were present about 70 guests, including the members of the Council, many ex-Councillors and other prominent citizens. The luncheon was held in The Globe Hotel. The toast of Sir William's health was proposed by the Chairman and enthusiastically honored.

Sir William made no reply, but simply bowed his acknowledgment of the honor done him.

The Banquet in the Evening.

The banquet last evening was held in the assembly room. The day's proceedings throughout must have impressed Sir William strongly with the fact that Collingwood is an enterprising and prosperous town with a great future before it.

J. J. Long, president of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, introduced the toast, "The Dominion Cabinet and Sir William Mulock, Postmaster-General."

Sir William on rising was greeted with loud cheers and a rousing chorus: "He's a daisy." In the course of his special he said: During the day he visited the shipyard and was pleased to find two ships on the stocks. He believed that no country could be great unless it had commerce outside of itself. The Canadian shipbuilding industry was in its infancy. He reviewed the policy of development which has been carried on by the present Government. He referred to the deepening of the canals and to the work undertaken in the various harbors on the inland lakes, and expressed the hope that in a few years these harbors would be centres of extensive shipping interests. In spending the public moneys, the public good must be considered, and when the deputation from Collingwood waited on the Government, he believed they would have good grounds to present their case.

"The House of Commons and Local Legislature" was replied to by Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P., and L. G. McCarthy, M. P., and J. Duff, M.P.P.

STILL ON THE SAND BAR.

Unsuccessful Attempt Made to Refloat the Str. Lahn.

Gibraltar, Jan. 20.—An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday morning to refloat the North German Lloyd steamer Lahn, from Mediterranean ports for New York, which grounded on a sand-bank off Tumara, five miles east of the Rock of Gibraltar, Sunday morning. Her cargo is rapidly being discharged into lighters. Some of the passengers have landed and are sight-seeing, but the majority remain on board.

MANY BRIBERY CHARGES.

Particulars in the Centre Bruce Protest—127 Charges.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Particulars in the protest proceedings against the election of Hugh Clark, Conservative M.P.P. for Centre Bruce, were yesterday afternoon filed at the office of the Court of Appeal. The petitioner, Dr. J. M. Stewart, the defeated candidate, makes 127 separate charges against Mr. Clark's election, a majority of them being bribery charges.

Decision re. Divorces.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Supreme Court yesterday again passed upon the validity of divorces granted in South Dakota to non-residents. The case involved a question of property rights of a woman resident of Massachusetts, whose husband had secured a divorce in South Dakota after remaining there six months. The Massachusetts courts held that the decree had been fraudulently secured. Yesterday's opinion affirmed that holding on the ground that the husband's residence did not constitute a legal domicile.

ESCAPES MURDER TRIAL BY DEATH.

Murderer of Peter Kohler's Daughter and Shooter of Three School Trustees.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 20.—Henri I. Toews, who was held at the Provincial Jail for the murder of the young daughter of Peter Kehler, and who also shot three school trustees and himself, took suddenly ill last night, and died this morning shortly after 10 o'clock.

Conservatives Will Protest.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Protests will be entered against the election of Liberals in "the three norths"—North Grey, North Perth and North Norfolk. This action was decided on in Toronto last night.

The resolution to protest the bye-elections was moved by Ald. J. R. L. Starr of Toronto, and seconded by E. A. Lancaster, M. P., of St. Catharines.

Whirled in a Belt of Death.

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 20.—H. V. Cadwell, aged 27 years, superintendent of the Champion Paper Company of Carthage, was instantly killed at the mill yesterday. He attempted to pass over a belt and was caught and whirled around the pulley.

FOR EIGHT LONG YEARS

Postman Johnson Had Catarrh—Used Catarrh Remedies, Snuffs, Washes and Sarsaparillas, But Got Only Temporary Relief.

Then One Happy Day He Tried the Life-Giving Powley's Liquified Ozone—Seven Bottles Made Him a Well Man.

Now He Eats Well and Sleeps Well and Pronounces Ozone the Most Perfect Blood Purifier Sold.

That the only way to cure Catarrh is to get right at the seat of the trouble and reach it through the blood is proven by the experience of Postman M. F. Johnson, 395 Rivard street, Montreal. For eight or nine years he suffered from Catarrh of the head and stomach, but half a bottle of Powley's Liquified Ozone improved his condition and seven bottles effected a permanent cure.

The following is Mr. Johnsons' statement of his case:

Montreal, Feb. 8, 1902.

The Ozone Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:

I have been suffering for eight or nine years from Catarrh in the head and stomach, and have used all kinds of catarrh remedies, snuffs, washes and sarsaparilla but they gave me only temporary relief. I saw your advertisement in the Montreal Herald and procured a bottle of Ozone and before it was half used I found it was doing me good and going to cure me, which it has done after using seven bottles. The pains in my head have all disappeared and the hawking and spitting in the morning is no more. I get good sound sleep now since taking Ozone and can eat my breakfast, something I could not do before using Ozone.

I honestly believe that Ozone is one of the best blood-purifying remedies on the market to-day, and anyone following the directions and instructions in your book will surely be cured of any ailment of the body.

I remain, truly yours,
(Signed) M. F. JOHNSON,
Postman,
395 Rivard St., Montreal, P.Q.

Mr. Johnson is Not the Only One.

The following are a few of the many persons who have been cured of Catarrh by the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone:

Ernest R. Cross, 321 Hypolite st., Montreal
James L. Schoet, 27 Voyer st., Montreal.
W. H. Gould, 217 Hamilton road, London, Ont.
James A. Patterson, 90 Main st., St. John, N.B.
J. A. Mooney, 2143 St. Catherine street, Montreal.
Fred Fortier, Maisonneuve, Montreal.
A. J. Forgue, St. Constant la Prairie, Que.
J. S. Geyer, 676 Laval Ave., Montreal.
Mrs. D'Antouil, 217 Beaverer st., Montreal
Walter D. Kew, 23 Maplewood ave, Toronto

If it is convenient for you to interview any of these persons call and have a talk with them. If this is not possible write them. You will find there is no uncertain sound in their praises of the merits of Ozone.

Ozone is sold everywhere at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Our book on Catarrh for the asking. Address The Ozone Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Obituary.

The sad death of Margaret Theresa, daughter of Mr. James Leahy, of Douro, occurred on Friday last. The promising and attractive young girl, who was only 12 years of age, died of scarlet fever, and Mr. Leahy has the full sympathy of his many friends in his sad bereavement. The funeral will take place on Saturday to St. Joseph's Cemetery.

This Mornings Runaway.

This morning about nine o'clock Mr. Fitzgerald's team of greys, attached to a wood rack, ran down George street. It was quite exciting while it lasted, but it soon came to an end. Mr. J. Larone succeeded in stopping them below Charlotte street, although the rack was pretty well demolished by the time the horses were stopped.

ONTARIO BANK'S NEW PREMISES.

Plans now Prepared for Extensive Improvements.

Work to Begin as Soon as Possible—Growing Business Needs More Room.

The Examiner has before referred in general terms, to the probability of the premises of the local branch of the Ontario Bank, being enlarged and improved. Now it can be announced that the proposal has taken a concrete form, for the bank architect has completed the plans for the enlargement of the bank premises, and for their improvement, in such a way as to make the completed bank offices replete with every facility for the prompt transaction of business, as well as for the convenience of its patrons. Two reception rooms, for ladies and gentlemen respectively, are to be provided for their accommodation, with facilities for checking deposits, arranging papers, or similar purposes. Each reception room will be provided with a lavatory, stationery, bank blanks, etc. Altogether, the enlarged, renovated and improved Peterborough offices of the Ontario Bank, will be second in no way to any similar offices in the province.

Work on the improvements will be begun as soon as the weather permits, and will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, for the present premises have long been inadequate to meet the requirements of the expanding business of the bank, which makes enlargement an absolute necessity.

The Ontario Bank has shared generously in the prevailing prosperity, and never in its history has it been more prosperous, or more substantially worthy of the confidence it has so long enjoyed.

It may be mentioned in this connection that the Ontario Bank has now twenty-four branches, and its solidity is guaranteed by a paid-up capital of $1,500,000, and a reserve fund of nearly half a million dollars.

In the interests of the public, some of whom have recently suffered severely, it may not be amiss for the Examiner, as it has felt it its duty to do many times recently, to again emphasize the great superiority of the chartered bank over the average private bank, in the matter of security to depositors. Under the Canadian banking system every branch of a chartered bank, even in the smallest village, has behind it the entire capital of the bank itself.

THE WINTER RACE MEET.

Horses Arriving in Town for the Event.

The Track is in Excellent Condition—Large Attendandance Expected.

Judging from the crowds already arriving, the winter race meet of the Peterborough Turf Club, will be highly successful. Taking into account the exceptionally large number of entries, it is expected that the meet will be one of the largest ever held on the driving park, or even in Eastern Ontario.

The races will commence at one o'clock on Wednesday, the 21st, the 2.50 and 2.20 races being put on, and the entries are such that intense excitement will prevail at the finishes. Both the arrangements and the track are in excellent condition throughout.

The purses come solely out of the funds of the association, and it adds much to the credit of that body to be able to say that the citizens of the town have not been asked to subscribe a cent towards them. All that is expected of the merchants and others is to lay out a dollar for a ticket that will admit the purchaser not only to the races each day, but also to drive into the grounds, if desired.

The "out of town" horses are beginning to arrive already, and quite a number are to be seen daily on the track.

The judge is Mr. Fred Peake, the well-known official at horse racing events, who will be assisted by two others, who, up to the time of writing, have not been selected. Mr. Sid Pasmore, of Orillia, will officiate as starter.

As the officials are paid officers the best of satisfaction should be guaranteed. The timekeepers will be Mr. J. M. Brooks and Mr. A. Elliott.

The accommodation that will be offered to the public is a great feature of the event. A refreshment booth will be established, at which hot coffee, sandwiches, etc., may be obtained.

It is said that an excursion to Ottawa for the races there on Feb. 10, is being arranged by the local enthusiasts, but unless a sufficient number guarantee to go, the trip will have to be abandoned.

The secretary of the Track Association is Mr. Arthur Rountree, to whom all desirous of going should hand in their names at once.

ANNUAL DANCE

Of the Non-Commissioned Officers of the 57th Regiment.

The third annual at home of the non-commissioned officers of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, will be held in the opera house on Wednesday evening, the 28th inst.

The At Home Committee consists of the following: Ambulance Sergt. Sharpe, Sergt. Paddon, Colour-Sergt. Edwards, Sergt. Best, Colour-Sergt. R. Cotterell, Corp. J. Gemmell, Sergt. Batten and Corp. Henderson, who it may be assured, will do full justice to the fame of the noble 57th, more especially as they are honoured by such prominent patronesses as Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, Mrs. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. J. Crane, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. J. W. Miller and Mrs. P. Campbell.

The previous functions of this character have been highly successful and well attended, and the public is assured that the Rangers in the near future will increase their reputation by their pleasant evening.

The Hon. Secretary for this year is Sergt. A. F. Paddon.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Mr. H. Roland Strickland to Miss Ada Cayley of That City.

The Toronto Globe says: The marriage of Miss Ada Cayley, daughter of Mr. Frank Cayley, and granddaughter of the late Hon. William Cayley, to Mr. Hugh Roland Strickland, son of Mr. Roland Strickland, of Lakefield, and grandson of Mr. Crickmore, formerly of Toronto, took place very quietly in St. George's church on Saturday morning. The bride was given away by her father, and the Rev. Canon Cayley, rector of St. George's and uncle of the bride, conducted the ceremony. There were were only the family and a few intimate friends at the church. Mr. Phillips, the organist of St. George's Church, played most delightfully throughout the service; and beside the Wedding March, gave a charming rendering of the romanza "Leibe," and an andante by Gluck, with a violin obligato by Miss Hilda Boulton, a cousin of the bride. The altar was lovely with its decorations of white tulips and wreaths of smilax. The bride wore a charming costume of chestnut brown cloth, made with one of the long bisqued Louis XIV coats, with empiecement of rose satin. The toque was of brown, with trimmings of pink satin, and a bouquet of roses was carried. Mrs. Cayley wore a gown of black voile, with cream lace, and Miss Cayley, a dove-grey voile, with trimmings of white lace and chiffon; a lace toque and a bouquet of shaded pink carnations as a finishing touch to her costume. Mr. Alban Bedford Jones was the best man. Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left for the western States, where they will reside in the future, with numberless good wishes and many tokens of affection from their friends.

OBITUARY.

The Late William Cummings of Ashburnham.

On Monday afternoon Mr. William Cummings passed away after a very brief illness at the age of 76 years, at his residence, Stewart street Ashburnham. He was only ill a little more than one day. He was attacked with haemorrhage of the stomach on Saturday evening at 9, and died on Monday afternoon. He has been troubled for some time with an affection of the stomach which suddenly took an aggravated form with fatal results. The deceased gentlemen was a native of Scotland and came to Canada as a young man, and settled in Ennismore Township, where he resided till about fourteen years ago when he removed to Ashburnham. He was twice married—the first time to a Miss Edwards, of Otonabee, and the second time to a widow lady. Mrs. Brough, of Hastings. He leaves three children, all by his first wife, they are William, of Vancouver, B.C., John, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Thomas Davis, of Ennismore. The late Mr. Cummings was well known in the community with which his business relations brought him frequently in contact and was well respected.

The funeral takes place from the family residence, Stewart street, Ashburnham, to Little Lake Cemetery, at 2 p.m. to-morrow, — Wednesday.

Don't forget the grand concert under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge, No. 135, of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, to be held in Bradburn's Opera House, Friday, Jan. 23rd, 1903, when the following talented artists will appear: Harold Jarvis, the famous tenor; Mrs. Calder-Stock, the sweet soprano; J. H. Cameron, the gifted mirth maker; Miss Edna Satherland, the grand elocutionist; Miss Mehaffy, pianist. Come and hear these artists. Prices 25c, 35c and 50c. Plan now open at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

"With an inspiring presence, a rich soprano voice and an easy expression, Mrs. Stock not only pleases, but captivates her hearers and nothing could restrain her delighted audience from giving expression to their pleasure. —Listowell Standard.

RED LETTER DAY FOR THE LOCAL CURLERS

The Scottish Curlers Play Here To-Night

BONSPIEL NOW IN PROGRESS

The Rink Beautifully Decorated—Towns in the District Represented—Great Enthusiasm.

Curling — with a Scotch accent—is King in this good old town for the next thirty-six hours. Peterborough in the winter is a white-hot hockey town, and anyone who saw the living, shrieking, shouting, cheering escarpments of excited citizens, on either side of the rink last night, and every other available sitting or standing place, packed, with hundreds on the outside vainly clamouring for admission, would have thought that nobody had a thought but for hockey. With this morning's light, however, a tremendous epidemic of curling broke out, and every curler was a-foot betimes, and tense with expectation. Every incoming train brought its deputation of curlers, to assist the local brethren in the warm welcome that will be extended to the visiting Scotch curlers, and to take part in the bonspiel of this afternoon, as a sort of curtain raiser to the main drama to be put on at the Charlotte street rink this evening.

RINK ROYALLY RIGGED-OUT.

At the Charlotte street curling rink the preparations blossom out in opulent evidence. The space between and level with the gallery rails, is filled with brilliant streamers of hundreds of bright flags and banners, pierced here and there by the gleaming arc lights and literally roofing, with festal display, the glittering ice, keen as a Damascus blade, with the concentric, cabalistic circles, that converge to the tee, and the pot-lid, outlined in ultra marine. Sweeping festoons of blue bunting extend down the sides of the gallery, on both sides, giving a charming appearance to the general scene. The broad platform at the south end of the rink has been glassed in, and the enclosed space is seated and comfortably warm, so that guests of the curlers, especially ladies, can witness the games on six rinks seated as comfortably as in their own drawing-rooms. The dressing rooms have been brightened and the refreshment rooms on the gallery level, are thoroughly equipped for creditably sustaining the reputation of the Peterborough curlers for hospitality.

The rink with its blaze of fluttering colour overhead, with its wide expanse of keen ice, with the drawing room attachment for fair spectators, will be a revelation to the Caledonian chiels, as marking a sharp contrast to the game be visited by many townspeople. No admission will be charged to persons desiring to see the Scotchmen. Members of the Club only and ladies will be admitted to the ladies' parlours.

The playing in the first draw of the bonspeil opened at 1 o'clock today, when the following rinks were pitted against each other:—

The prizes offered by the Peterborough curlers are very valuable and consist of two pair of red hone stones to the winning rink and four gold lockets to the runners up. A consolation prize of two pairs of red hone stones is also offered, and four handsome gold prizes to the runners up in that contest.

"AS SHE IS PLAYED AT HAME."

The Scotch curlers will arrive on the 5.10 C.P.R. express, and will be escorted from Havelock by Col. Edwards, chairman of the Provincial Reception Committee, and other local gentlemen, who went down on the noonday express.

The arrangements were that at 4.30 o'clock a regiment of town curlers and excurters and visiting stane putters should muster at the rink and in bonnet and besem march, headed by the 57th Batallion Band, to the station to form an escort to bring the Scotchmen up town.

To-night at 8 o'clock, the Scotchmen will meet the local and visiting curlers in play at the rink, after which a reception will be tendered the visitors at the rooms of the Oddfellows' Hall.

The following gentlemen compose the visiting Scotch team:

Formalin For Blood Poisoning.

New York, Jan. 20.—A private patient, a woman, who was treated for blood poisoning at the Hahnemann Hospital Sunday night by the Barrows method of injecting formalin into the veins, was reported yesterday to be doing well. Her temperature, pulse and respiration rates fell with astonishing rapidity, and at 4 o'clock her temperature was normal, her pulse 100 and her respiration 26.

An Aching Back

Is the first indication of kidney disease, and should be taken as a signal of danger—a warning to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, while yet there is time to avoid the dreadful pains and certain fatality of this terrible disease. There is no guess work, no experimenting when you use this prescription. It brings relief in a remarkably short time, and because of its combined action of liver and kidneys, cures complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.

TOO GREAT EXPENSE.

Not the Reason.

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and bona-fide; especially to those who have realized the suffering incident to piles is it incredible that anyone who has been afflicted twenty-five and thirty years with the worst forms of protruding and bleeding piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation?

This is rightfully viewed with dread by all those afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system, with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death; in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that the cause is not removed.

The proprietors of the Pyramid Pile Cure agree to forfeit one thousand dollars to anyone who will show a single published testimonial to be not genuine and unsolicited; this latter feature is most gratifying, inasmuch as these letters are written solely out of gratitude, and with the hope that those who are afflicted as the writers have been may learn that relief is at hand, at a comparatively trifling expense. Pyramid Pile Cure is for sale by druggists at fifty cents a package, or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price.

Mr. Wm. Lichtenwalter, head of the largest printing house in Canton, Ohio, says: "It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I can say I believe I am cured of protruding and bleeding piles, after suffering more than twenty-five years. I have been in bed for two weeks at a time. I have not suffered in the least for over a year, and I used only three fifty cent boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure. "I advise every person suffering with this distressing and painful complaint to give this remedy a trial. I have every confidence in it." Write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall Mich., for their book on the causes and cure of piles.

A MOOSE STORY.

How W. E. Mason Brought Down a 1,400 Pounder Charging on Him.

Among the parties who met with fighting moose during the past season in New Brunswick was one composed of W. E. Mason of Canada, and Western Mortgage Company, Drs. J. and George Ryan of Paris, France, and W. W. Lodge. Mr. Mason is the hero of the party, for it was he who brought down a 1,400-pound moose as the animal was charging upon him.

The party was encamped 30 miles north of Grand Falls in Victoria County, and early one morning Mr. Mason, accompanied by the guide, while tramping in the woods, came upon an exciting combat between two bull moose. As they stood gazing upon the terrible conflict of the forest monsters, suddenly from the rear they heard fearful bellowings, with the pounding of hoofs as of a stampede of wild cattle. Mr. Mason, turning sharply saw an immense bull moose bearing down upon them, not 50 yards away. The animal carried a magnificent set of antlers, and the ponderous horns swung low to the ground as he came charging on, with blood in his eye and rage in every bellow.

Mason had just time to get his Winchester to his shoulder and fire once before the bull was upon them. The bullet struck at the shoulder, and the moose fell. The shoulder blade was shattered, but this seemed only to enrage the bull more, for in an instant it was up again and rushing upon Mason and the guide. A second shot from Mason's rifle stopped the bull, however, which then turned and fled, and as it ran the guide put in two more shots.

Both hunter and guide followed, the trail being plainly marked by trampled undergrowth and blood-stained leaves. From 9.30 o'clock in the morning until 2.30 in the afternoon the chase was kept up, but without once getting sight of the moose. They found a place where the animal had lain down to rest, but here the guide lost his bearings, and it was decided to camp for the night. Next morning the chase was again taken up, the bloodstains were seen no more, but it was evident that the moose was wakening, and finally they came in sight of him, far ahead and still game, although badly wounded. In the course of an hour they came so close that the guide was able to put in the finishing shot.

When the moose was skinned it was found that he had five bullets in his body. The head is one of the best of the season the antlers being 55 inches across, with 13 points on one side and 12 on the other. The carcase weighed 1,400 pounds.

TROUBLES OF AN EX-REEVE

Were Easily Disposed of by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

W. G. Cragg, of Dresden, had Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was Cured Slick and Clean.

Dresden, Ont., Jan. 19.—Special.—"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me slick and clean of the Rheumatism," says W. G. Cragg, ex-reeve of this town. "It was the Inflammatory Rheumatism I had, and I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are as fine a remedy for that as I want. I am as sound as a bell now as far as Rheumatism is concerned."

This is Mr. Cragg's experience, and it is the same as many others. People generally here are learning that Rheumatism is simply a result of Kidney Disease—that if the kidneys do not do their duty and take the uric acid from the blood, it crystallizes at the muscles and joints and causes those tortures too many people know too well.

"I had been troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism for eight years," continues the ex-reeve. "I could scarcely get around to do my duties in my store. I tried doctors and medicines without getting any benefit, till I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely."

Cure the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and your Rheumatism will cure itself.

Fell 65 Feet, But Lives.

Paine's Celery Compound Will Banish Your Neuralgia.

Read the Strong Testimony of a Gentleman Who Failed With Doctors and Ordinary Medical Prescriptions.

Neuralgia, rheumatism and a general "run-down" condition result directly from an impoverished and famished nervous system.

Paine's Celery Compound quickly corrects this faulty condition. Being a true nerve food and nourisher, it builds up the nervous system and fully sustains it. While Paine's Celery Compound is working at the root of the disease (the nerve centres) bracing and building up the weakened and irritated parts and purifying the blood, neuralgia, rheumatism and poisons are expelled forever from the system. Dr. Phelp's wonderful prescription is carrying health and happiness into thousands of homes; it is what you need for your present troubles; it makes sick people well and strong. Mr. William Conley, West Bolton, Que., writes as follows:

"I have had several attacks of neuralgia. It kept on increasing—getting worse, and I tried all the doctors for help, and took all kinds of medicine, and I got so at last that I could not sleep at night. I saw an advertisement of Paine's Celery Compound and I went and bought a bottle, and it cured me of all pains, and I can now rest as well as ever before in my life. I would not be without Paine's Celery Compound if I had to pay fifteen dollars a bottle for it."

SOLOMON'S THRONE.

Lord Curzon to Sit on It During the Durbar.

"Moreover, the King made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with the best gold.

"The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round behind; and there were stays on either side on the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the stays.

"And twelve lions stood there on the one side and on the other upon the six steps: there was not the like made in any kingdom."—I. Kings, x., 18, 19, 20.

An extraordinary rumor is in circulation in the Calcutta bazaars in connection with the archaeological researches of Lord Curzon of Kedleston, the Viceroy of India. It is believed he has been searching for the throne of King Solomon, and it is now reported that it has been found, and it is stated that Lord Curzon will sit on it during the coronation durbar. It is then expected that some astonishing supernatural events will occur.

In His London Lectures.

Mr. Harry de Windt, the Arctic explorer, lecturing in London, told a curious story of a Russian Croesus whom he met during his overland journey from Paris to New York. It was in Irkutsk, in far-distant Siberia, and the man of millions, who lived in a fine house, and employed a French chef, proved an excellent host. Luxuriously-furnished rooms were placed at the disposal of Mr. de Windt and his companions. As for the millionaire himself, he took his nightly rest upon a couch formed of three chairs placed side by side, and never troubled to undress.

The Canadian Apple.

The finest fruit that grows is the Canadian apple. If anybody doubts this let him travel the world over, and he will come back convinced of it. He may visit the orange groves of the South, and on into the land of the banana; he may tour the grape countries, and pull figs and cocoanuts where he can find them; and if he but stay long enough at each point in his journeyings, he will tire of the native fruits, and come home fully persuaded that the apple is the leader of them all. We do not properly appreciate the Canadian apple.

Do You Look on the Dark Side?

Are You Blue, Discouraged Irritable and Depressed?—it may be Your Nerves are Exhausted and You Need

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Irritability and mental depression, sometimes amounting to melancholy and despondency, are marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

In the beginning you feel languid and tired, find it impossible to concentrate your thoughts. The tasks of the day are put off till the morrow, little things worry you, you forget your blessings and look on the dark side of things.

At times there may be nervous headaches, spells of dizziness, indigestion, sleeplessness and general weakness of the body. You dread what the future may bring to you and feel the work and responsibilities of life more than you can bear.

Mrs. M. A. Sharp, 646 Dublin street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"For some years I was troubled with indigestion which developed into nervous dyspepsia and besides suffering from nervousness, strange, dizzy spells would come over me. Hearing of the good results obtained from Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I decided to try it. After a pretty thorough test of this medicine I can say that I never used anything that did me so much good. It seemed to be the very treatment that I needed and as a result of its use I am quite restored to health."

The wonderful medicinal power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. Gradually and certainly it creates new nerve cells, builds up the system, and overcomes the weakness which gives rise to nervous ailments and feelings of depression and despondency. New hopes, new confidence, new vitality are instilled into the body and health and strength take the place of disease.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO.

A Story of Bravery That Will Never Die, E'en Though Canadian Territory Was Violated by Invasion.

How many Canadians realize the anxiety the British possessions on this continent have at one time and another caused the diplomats of the States and Great Britain? The trouble over boundary lines is traditional, but that and the Fenian raid is not the only source of diplomatic correspondence in the past. In fact, just 28 years ago this year Canada was actually invaded by a force of cavalry from the States, and strange to relate there was no call to arms from Her Majesty's warriors, and therein lies a decidedly interesting story, a story of warfare, bloodshed and massacre, defeat of United S[illegible] soldiers and a wild desire for [illegible] which carried them into Can[illegible]ands in search of their enemy. [illegible] was the sequel of the great battle the Sioux and Cheyenne Indians had with General Custer, and the redskins fled into Canada to avoid the infuriated troops who were determined to kill everything with a copper-colored skin they could find. Indeed, the Indians appeared to have been so frightened by the magnitude of their bloody victory that they never ceased running until they passed over the border and away into British territory, where the wily old Sitting Bull, their chief, understood that he could not be pursued except after correspondence with Washington.

It was the spring of 1876, July 25, that General George Custer and his 252 men were slaughtered by Sitting Bull and his red warriors on the plains of the Little Big Horn River in Wyoming. The battle created a sensation. Custer commanded 252 troopers of the Ninth Cavalry when he went into battle and there were just 252 dead white men found on the knoll where they made their stand. In other words none escaped. These men were superbly mounted. Had they broke ranks and fled for their lives, many would have escaped. It is a singular comment on their courage that not one attempted to ride away. To-day there is a tiny monument marking the spot where each soldier fell and a big white shaft marks the apex of the hill, the high-water mark of the battle which raged that day. The white stones are beautifully aligned there. The bodies were not found for many days. Then decomposition was too far advanced for removal. Each body was rolled into a grave dug by the side of where it was found.

Custer's force was a part of a big force, nearly two thousand soldiers, under General Crook, sent out to drive the Sioux back to their reservation. Custer was separated by the main body and sent on a scouting expedition. Here he still further divided his force, sending half of his men away under General Reno. This smaller force was near enough to hear the reports of Custer's guns, but could render no relief because of the presence of some fifteen thousand Indians. The Sioux are magnificent horse soldiers and brave in battle. They overwhelmed Custer, though several who took part in the fight said Custer's troops killed hundreds of their braves before they were "wiped out."

One of the sub-chiefs, Rain-in-the-Face, who had a grievance against Captain Thomas Custer, a brother of the general, cut out the still quivering heart of his enemy and ate it raw during the conflict. The Indians horribly mutilated every victim but the body of Custer, the chief. They afterwards explained that he was "much heap brave man" and they would neither scalp him nor otherwise mutilate the body. When found he was fully dressed, with his sword lying on his breast. One single bullet wound in the forehead told how he died. All the other dead were stripped of their clothes and cut to pieces.

The next day the whole Sioux nation started northward on the run. As soon as General Crook discovered the disaster that had overtaken Custer, he sent his whole force after the Indians. The warriors abandoned their families, knowing they would not be injured by the troopers, in order that they could move faster. The pursuit was stubborn. Up through the Bear Paw Mountain of Montana fled the frightened Indians and then on across the Milk River and into Assiniboia. The troopers of Crook never came in sight of the Indians, but kept steadily on. Sitting Bull halted fifty miles over the border, only to find the soldiers were still after him. Then his force swept on into the Wood Mountains. In the meantime General Crook discovered that he had exceeded his authority and had invaded Canada. He very promptly retreated, though he afterwards asserted that he would have fought a battle with the Indians had he caught up with them, if he had been on foreign soil or in h——. Only the chief men of the tribe, however, remained for any length of time on British soil. Sitting Bull himself remained in Canada for a year, the Government refusing to expel him as long as he was peaceful. The cunning old fellow then went back to the States and was finally shot to death by the Indian scouts at Standing Rock during the Pine Ridge Indian uprising of 1890-1 while they were trying to arrest him for complicity in the "ghost dance" craze.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is.

Dr. Wood's

Norway Pine Syrup

Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, Etc.

It stops that tickling in the throat, is pleasant to take and soothing and healing to the lungs. Mr. R. Bishop Brand, the well-known Galt gardener, writes:—I had a very severe attack of sore throat and tightness in the chest. Some times when I wanted to cough and could not I would almost choke to death. My wife got me a bottle of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP, and to my surprise I found speedy relief. I would not be without it if it cost $1.00 a bottle, and I can recommend it to everyone bothered with a cough or cold.

"PENNY IN THE SLOT."

Pays Twenty-One Per Cent. Dividend in England—Earnings for Year $365,000—Gas for a Copper.

The extraordinary popularity to which the automatic delivery machine has attained in Great Britain during the comparatively few years since it was invented is shown by the fact that a single company has just made an annual net profit of over £73,000.

About ten years ago the automatic sweet machine was regarded as a fantastic American invention which would soon drop out of existence. To-day there are thousands of automatic machines all over the country, and the automatic trade becomes more widespread and more profitable every year. Here are a few of the public "wants" which the automatic machines supplies:

Sweetmeats.	Sandwiches.
Cigars.	Fruit tablets.
Cigarettes.	Biscuits.
Matches.	Name plates (stamped while you wait).
Scents
Drinks (hot and cold).

In America and on the Continent the automatic trade has an even greater popularity than it has in "Old England." There the automatic buffet—an example of which was an attraction at Earl's Court this year—has become quite a popular institution, and one may see people taking a meal of four or five courses at a buffet, beginning at one end with caviare, and moving along the row of handles to a cigarette and black coffee.

The latest success which the Sweetmeat Automatic Company has introduced is the name-plate machine, now to be seen in many railway stations. To outward appearance the machine consists of a box on the top of which are a circular disc, with the letters of the alphabet upon it, and a handle to be lifted up and pushed down. You turn the disc round until the first letter you require is opposite a given point and then press the handle, repeating the process until you have spelled any word you desire. Then you give another pull and your name or a word stamped on a slip of metal is ejected.

Mr. Edward Hare, the chairman of the company, told the stockholders that another 1,000 of these machines are on order, some being specially designed for out-door use.

The shareholders approved a dividend amounting to 21¼ per cent. for the year.

In the domestic economy of the workingman's tenement or cottage the "penny-in-the-slot" method of supply of gas has borne an almost revolutionary part. Small stoves of a capacity quite sufficient for the simple requirements of humble households can be heated and regulated from these meters, and are employed to an extent that is astonishing when one hears it expressed in figures. The South Metropolitan Company alone at the present time is removing nearly twenty tons weight of pennies every week from the slot machines, placed there as payment for the gas to be consumed, and for this last year or two during the winter months this astonishing total has varied little. Now a ton of pennies represents value in gold or bank notes of about £447 and a little calculation shows that the slot has been in working no fewer than 106,288 times ere it is earned. In round figures the twenty tons mean that the useful coin has brought light or warmth 1,125,600 times in the course of the seven days. So vast is this aggregate of bronze money that special arrangements have been made by the company for its acceptance and conversion into more portable tender at all the various banks in the district, as no single one could conveniently handle it.

The quantity of gas now supplied for a penny is twenty-eight cubic feet and no direct charge is made for the meter or fittings. With small, close rooms in the summer time the boon is greatly appreciated, as tea can be made and supper or breakfast cooked without the inconvenience of a fire. In the practical teaching that is given in some of the housewifery centres of the School Board the methods of using small gas stoves to the best advantage are now shown, and the rising generation is beginning to regard them as a necessity in the domestic fixtures. Lastly, there is one general benefit in the extending use of gas that is sometimes forgotten, which is toward the diminution of the black and choking constituents of a true London fog. Every chimney that is in employ adds its quota to the atmospheric pall, and the substitution of smokeless gas for these is a step toward lessening above us.

"I do not look as though I ever was sick."

When a woman is sick she falls off in looks. This is particularly the case when she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex. Not only is her strength undermined, but she loses beauty of face and grace of form.

It is characteristic of the cures of womanly diseases effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that with restored health there is a restoration of good looks.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wish to thank you for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mrs. Mae Brown, of Canton, Fulton Co., Ills. "I was troubled with female weakness and doctored with several different doctors. They did not seem to help me; indeed I got worse all the time. I had ulceration and displacement of the uterus. What I suffered no tongue can tell. I had heavy bearing-down pains and thought my back would kill me. I also had a very bad drain, but after taking five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I am feeling as well as ever. It has been almost two years and I have had no return of the trouble. My friends tell me I don't look as though I ever was sick."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Jan. 20th.—Paris Exchange on London new 25 Francs 15 centimes and practically raises the gold shipping point here 487 2-4. This is most important news. The appelate court has just rendered a decision that franchise tax law is unconstitutional and this is cause of rise in B.R.T. Strong Sturg is buying Manhattan. With almost everybody bearish and London coming weak and lower general expectation was for lower market at opening but this was suddenly turned by the advance in Paris Exchange on London and the Franchise decision and traders are covering, there is good buying in Traction group, especially Manhatten and B.R.T.

Armour buying wheat; Armour supporting wheat around 79 1-8. Local professionals best sellers,, heavy rains reported in Argentine.

Cotton, Liverpool closes steady, 3 pts. lower than yesterday.

M. & M.

The anti-trust bill delayed. Wash. sub-committee house judiciary committee again conferred with attorney Knox over bill with view to framing its provisions so as to reduce to a minimum the chances of disputing its constitutionality. The bill cannot be reported to full committee before Thursday.

DOW, JONES & CO.

New York, Jan. 20th.—Treasury order to banks involves $17,000,000 of bonds spread over a period of six months. Copper trade conditions better. M.O.P. improvement expected to materialize in large net gains in 1903. Norfolk earnings on present scale indicate 7 p.c. on common. Southern Pacific earnings equal 7 p.c. at present 52 roads for second week Jan. show gross increase 8.83 p.c. Talk of dividends on W. C. pre in July. Gold exports not improbable on Thursday. Banks gained from sub-treasury since Friday $3,223,000. Advance in Nor. Sec. div. rate more likely.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Cotton, Liverpool, spot, fair demand; mids, 480, down 2 pts. Sale 10,000; receipts, 30,000; amounts, 26,000; futures, quiet, 1-3 to 1 1-2 lower, and at 1.30 p.m. quit and steady, unchanged to 1 off from opening. 2.00 p.m. Futures now quiet, at 1 1-2 to 2 decline from yesterday. These cables about as expected.

Foreign exchange closed 488. Opinions on probability of gold exports this week very conflicting. Best information is if any goes amount will be small and started simply to influence stock market. There is no settlement as yet of labour trouble on U. P. Management still trying to force the introduction of piece work and as a result 90 per cent. of carpenters struck yesterday. Machinists' strike shows no sign of settlement. Probabilities we will witness further irregularity. General market this a.m. with some further setback to prices. The short interest was materially increased yesterday and this with the consideration of favorable underlying tone and continued easy money here should have a sustaining influence.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The report of the directors was submitted by Mr. Peck, as follows:

To the Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

The Directors of the Company present the following Report for the past year.

Your Directors are much gratified to be able to report continued progress during the year just closed, in embellishing and beautifying the Cemetery and in making lasting improvements to the grounds and Chapel, and also in being able to add a sum to the reserve fund, towards future maintainence.

At the commencement of last year, your Directors had to the Company's credit in bank the sum of $807.11. There has since been purchased a Town Debenture for $917.31 as an investment for surplus money in hand, and there now remains in bank $913.86 to the Company's credit.

Your Directors have, during the past year, made substantial repairs to the walls of the Chapel and had all the outside woodwork painted; also put down two concrete approaches to the Chapel in the place of wooden ones, repaired several landings to the grounds from the Little Lake and had a telephone placed in the office at the Cemetery for public use.

In the early part of the year, at the request of a number of the ministers of the town, a resolution was passed by your Board prohibiting Sunday funerals, save under exceptional circumstances which make it imperative that the funeral should take place on Sunday.

Your Directors have amended, in many important particulars, and consolidated the Rules and Regulations governing the use of the Cemetery. A large number of copies have been printed, with the object of placing one in the hands of each lot owner as far as possible. These Rules and Regulations, as amended and consolidated, will be laid before you for your consideration and approval.

Your Directors have entered into a contract with the Water Commissioners for a supply of water to the Cemetery for lawn and other purposes for a period of ten years, on very favorable terms.

In the month of May last your Company lost a most valued member by the death of Mr. Henry Denne, who had been a Director for twenty-four years, and during that time the President of the Company for ten years. On this occasion your Directors met in special session and placed a resolution on their Minutes expressing their deep regret at his death and condolence with his widow and family, and as a mark of respect to his memory, they sent a wreath to be placed on the coffin and attended the funeral in a body.

A detailed statement of expenditure and receipts for the year is shown in the Auditors' and Superintendent's Reports, which will be submitted to you.

A number of by-laws were passed by your Directors during the past year with relation to the conduct of business, meetings of the Directors and Shareholders and other matters, which will be laid before you, and which require to be confirmed at this meeting in order to continue them in force for the future.

There are now several hundred Shareholders of your Company, and it would be particularly pleasing to your Directors to observe a more general attendance at the annual meeting on the third Monday in January of each year, thereby showing the interest all feel in the progress of a Company, in which members in time past have taken so deep a concern.

W. H. MOORE,
President.

19th January, 1903.

The report was on motion adopted.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

The report of the Superintendent, Mr. Frank Wise, was submitted by that gentleman as follows:

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Gentlemen;—I beg to submit the following Report of the improvements made during the year ending December 31st, 1902.

Early in the spring the remaining gravel walks between the ranges, were filled and seeded. The drains in Section "D" levelled and seeded, and the walk running between the lawn and Sections "A" and "H" was filled and sodded.

Two new flower beds have been cut, one at the North end of Section "E" and the other on the triangle at the North end of Section "C" known as the Gladman lots, which in my opinion should be acquired by the Company as should also another triangle plot known as the Best lots.

Lake Avenue, leading from the entrance to its junction with Ware Avenue, has been graded and watertabled. The lots acquired by the Company on the corner of Haggart and Crescent Sts., have been levelled and seeded down.

About 2,000 square feet on Block "A" Section "N" have been graded and seeded down.

Section "B" from range 17 to 21 has been cleaned and put in order, so that in the spring, it will form a block of very desirable lots.

Some of the lot owners on Section "B" have responded to the call for improvements and have had their lots put in order, which has greatly added to the appearance of that part of the Cemetery.

Two hedges have been taken out, which has very much improved the appearance of the adjoining lots, and added to the landscape.

Acting from instructions from Mr. J. J. Lundy I took down and rebuilt the wall around his plot, which has been finished without the iron railing and is considered a great improvement.

The old slat walks at the Chapel have been removed and replaced with concrete.

The foundation of the Chapel has been repaired, the stack-pipes taken from the sides, and placed at the east end, and a drain put in to carry the water away from the building; the old cellar door has been built up with masonry and the entrance filled in.

The Chapel, Tankhouse, Tieposts, Seats and other wooden structures throughout the Cemetery have been painted and otherwise put in good repair.

I would respectfully recommend that in the near future a new plot be laid out in some remote part of the Cemetery as additional free ground, as the block next the present free ground, known as the single grave plot is nearly all taken up.

I also append my Financial Statement for the past year.

Respectfully Submitted,
FRANK WISE,
Superintendent.

Financial Statement, for the year ending December 31st, 1902:

To sale of lots	$ 1,475 86
Sale of graves	127 00

Team and horse hire	73 45
Balance of income over labour expenditure	1,457 86
	$3,426 16

All of which is respectfully submitted.

FRANK WISE,
Superintendent.

The report was on motion adopted.

A bylaw confirming the adoption of the new rules by the Board of Directors was passed, upon motion of Mr. B. Shortly, seconded by Mr. C. Stapleton.

AUDITORS.

Messrs. Jas. A. Hall and T. Q. Quartermaine were appointed auditors.

THE NEW DIRECTORS.

The following directors were elected: Messrs. W. H. Moore, James Stevenson, Chas. Stapleton, R. M. Dennistoun, J. J. Lundy, Benj. Shortly, Geo. Burnham, M.D., T. A. S. Hay and E. H. D. Hall.

THE OFFICERS.

At a subsequent meeting of the Board the following officers were elected:

President — W. H. Moore.
Secretary-Treasurer—E. A. Peck.
Advisory Committee — W. H. Moore, C. Stapleton, B. Shortly, Jas. Stevenson and T. A. S. Hay.

The salary of Mr. Frank Wise was increased by $50, making the salary for the superintendent $600 per year.

The meeting then adjourned.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You can feel it doing you good from day to day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissue and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

SCOTCHMEN IN PETERBOROUGH.

A Great Gathering at the Charlotte Street Rink Last Night.

VISITORS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED.

They Were Defeated on the Ice by the Canadians—A Reception in the Oddfellows' Hall After the Game.

The Scotchmen of Peterborough are happy. And why shouldn't they be? They have among them five and twenty of the jolliest Scots, the curlers who have come over to Canada to promote good feeling and good will towards their Canadian friends, Scotch, English, Irish and all, so long as they are Canadians and British subjects. "We're nae here tae curl see much as we're here tae pay ye a veasit and see how ye're daen," was the way one of these jolly gentlemen put it. "Ye ken we feel that Canada is about one of the grandest countries in the British Empire and we want to be the fastest friends."

The touring Scotchmen will not soon forget their visit to Peterborough. They volunteered the statement that the reception tendered them here was the grandest they had yet been accorded. Their entertainment throughout was of the jolliest kind and Peterborough has certainly doc herself proud. When the C. P. R. express pulled into the local station at about 6 o'clock yesterday evening there were several thousand townspeople and visiting curlers from near-by towns to meet them; the band played and their was a ring of welcome throughout the air. Several hundred curlers with their brooms thrown across their shoulders and every man, almost, who could afford the price, wearing a tam, took part in the procession that immediately followed their arrival in town. When they alighted from the train, they did so amid the cheers of thousands, and after an exchange of courtesies with the Mayor and representative curlers, they were escorted to sleighs that were in waiting and conveyed up town. Lieut.-Col. Edwards, chairman of the Provincial Association Committee, which had charge of the arrangements of the visit, W. G. Ferguson, Dickson Davidson, Dr. Boucher and J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, had gone down to Havelock to meet them. Headed by the band of the 57th Regiment, they paraded up George street for some distance, then back to Charlotte street and thence to the Snowden House. Here Col. Edwards welcomed the visitors to Peterborough and Rev. Mr. Kerr replied in a few brief but fitting remarks. The Scotchmen then had dinner along with representatives of the local clubs. The Snowden House was handsomely decorated for the occasion and an attractiveness indescribable was everywhere in evidence.

AT THE RINK.

The rink was the scene of much enthusiasm last night. It presented as busy an appearance as in the palmy days of hockey in Peterborough, but in addition there was the super-adundance of decorations. The citizens of the town turned out en masse. The waiting rooms with their huge glass fronts, affording an excellent opportunity to witness the games in progress, were crowded with ladies, whilst men stood throughout on the beams below, on the walks at the ends of the rinks, and occupied other points of vantage. The galleries were crowded, and the proceedings throughout were most interesting to witness. Only two rinks of the local curlers played against the Scotchmen, the other three rinks being from Kingston, Cobourg and Orillia. The result of the night's proceedings was a victory for the Canadians by the score of 64 points to 36.

The sight was a pretty one, the Scotchmen with their characteristic style of dress showing off splendidly their great muscular forms.

The rinks were composed as follows:

Those of the Scotchmen who did not curl were most sociable with the spectators, and talked freely with the local Scotchmen, and those from out of town who had come to meet the men of their own nationality from across the seas.

During the evening "Sandy" Trotter, Peterborough's giant, occupied a conspicuous position, and was admired by many.

At the conclusion of the game the curlers adjourned to the Oddfellows Hall, where an opportunity was afforded all to meet the visitors.

AT THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL.

There were between two and three hundred curlers and their friends at the Oddfellows' Hall last night to meet the Scotchmen in social intercourse. There were curlers from town and ex-curlers from town, there were curlers from out of town and ex-curlers from out of town and there were men there who were not curlers at all, but simply because they claimed to be Scotch. It was a free and easy gathering with a "wa drapo' Scotch" to give the proceedings their proper flavour. Refreshments were served in the reception rooms, whilst the lodge room proved an ideal place for the curlers and their friends to assemble for a social chat. It was after 11 o'clock, when Mayor Roger, who occupied the chair called the gathering to order. He extended to the visitors a very hearty welcome. He assured them that there was a strong attachment here for the Mother Country, and the Canadians felt a double pride in welcoming the Scottish curlers to our country. They first felt proud of the land the visitors came from and they secondly felt proud of the land to which they welcomed them.

Continuing Mayor Roger said that we were always proud to show off our country, and we must send forth to the world some idea of what Canada is. He hoped that their visit would be an enjoyable one and that they would soon be back again amongst us.

CAPTAIN KERR.

Rev. Mr. Kerr was asked by his fellow curlers to reply. He did so in a capital speech full of humour and not wanting in eloquence. He asked them to believe that they most sincerely appreciated the honour Peterborough had done them and he wished to thank the Mayor for his kind words of welcome. The reception in Peterborough was most magnificent. Some of our baggage has, by mistake, gone through to Toronto, but it can go to—Jerico, said the reverend gentleman, we are satisfied to stay here without our baggage. Not only was the reception tendered to them upon their arrival in Peterborough, the grandest they had been accorded them since coming to Canada, but this smoking concert was the most enthusiastic and sociable he had ever attended. He assured the local curlers and their friends that they (the Scotchmen now in Canada) were not the best curlers in Scotland. He would like them to see some of the grand old bonspeils in his country, such as between the North and South of Scotland when 2,000 players would be assembled together. However said the speaker continuing, we have been overwhelmed by hospitality, and overwhelmed on the ice as well. But this should not surprise the public when it is understood that Canadians had about two months to play in each year while the Scotchmen had only a fortnight or so. So long as curling is the national winter sport of this country, we would have bright hopes for the future of the country. One feature about curling is that it places all men upon a common level — one man is as good as another,—and, perhaps, as the Irishman would say, only the other is a little better. It was a democratic game. They had tried their best to get some "Sirs" or "Honourables" to come out with them, but the only man with a handle to his name they could induce to go was a poor parson with the prefix, "Rev." (Laughter.)

Rev. Mr. Kerr expressed feelings of regret at being unable to visit Kingston, and other places. He then directed his remarks concerning "the great skip Flavelle." They had read the papers in Scotland of the great bonspiels at Winnipeg, and the Scotchmen had made up their minds that Flavelle was the man. The highest honour he would ask was that he might be allowed to pick three other men—the best the Scotch men had—and to meet Mr. Flavelle to-morrow. Mr. Flavelle is first of all a gentleman, and a curler afterwards. However he will be no gentleman if oh does not allow me to beat him. I am delighted to know that my friend Hallantyne came out victorious this evening, and that he, at least, has defeated a rink that has for the pasty thirty years been practicising hard to defeat the Scotchmen on this occasion. (Renewed laughter.)

You have a great country here. Why should you rail at Kipling? The coldness of your climate has brought many Scotchmen to this land to reside here for the sake of the curling. They otherwise would not settle in your country, said the speaker in a humorous strain. In conclusion he thanked the Peterborough curlers and the Mayor, on behalf of the team for their warm reception.

VOCAL SELECTIONS.

Mr. Wildgust rendered a vocal selection, which was heartily received, after which Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards spoke on behalf of the curlers of Ontario. He made a stirring speech, in which he expressed the hope that the Scotchmen would again visit Canada. It was after repeated requests during the past 25 years that Canada had been honoured with a visit from the Scotchmen, and they were endeavouring to make their visit as enjoyable as possible.

Mr. W. J. Francis made a few remarks, and gave a humorous recitation.

Mr. D. W. Dumble made a short speech, but decidedly to the point. He assured the Scotchmen that had they visited Canada in the summer they would have seen our fertile plains and broad lakes and streams. We were glad to meet them, because they gave to us the grand old game of curling, which makes us better men. He begged of the visitors to overlook our faults, and when they returned to their homes to speak well of Canada.

Mr. R. Gliddon rendered several Scotch airs on the cornet, which were much enjoyed, after which Mr. R. M. Dennistoun followed in a humorous speech, in which he assured the Scotchmen that the ladies took the greatest possible delight in watching their play. He also intimated to the visitors that they were now on the borders of civilisation, and that it was the only reliable place to get tomahawks and scalping knives before proceeding to meet the savages at Toronto and Winnipeg. In conclusion he hoped their visit would be an annual affair.

At this juncture Mr. Proven of the visitors, rendered a vocal selection, "Did you ever Hear Tell of Jean Jameson's Bonnet?" He was compelled to respond again.

Mr. Flavelle was given a hearty reception. He made a capital speech and assured the Scotchmen that they should not feel disappointed, as their rinks had not played together before coming to Canada. He assured them of a warm welcome to Lindsay.

Mr. Walter Stocker then gave a

WESTWOOD NEWS.

Mr. Andrew Cameron Given a "Send Off"—Two New Citizens of Peterborough Similarly Honoured.

The weather for the past few weeks has been exceptionally favourable, and the state of the roads for sleighing excellent. These conditions have no doubt contributed largely to the enjoyment and success of many of the private as well as of more public social gatherings and entertainments, which have been held during and since the holiday season.

The members of the Presbyterian Sunday School and Epworth League held their joint social and annual reunion on Wednesday evening, 7th inst., in the town hall. The occasion was one of more than usual interest because it was intended by the members to be a public send off to their respected leader and teacher, Mr. A. Cameron, who has taken such a deep interest in the prosperity of both societies for a great many years, but is now obliged to sever his close relationship with them, having sold his farm, and is about to take up his residence in the village of Hastings. There was a goodly attendance and an enjoyable time was spent. Revs. Messrs. McDonald and Cook delivered addresses especially suited to the large number of young people assembled for a night's enjoyment. Miss Gjerdrum gave two recitations, which were well received and generously applauded. The loudest feature of the evening was the distribution of nuts and candies, of which there was an abundant supply. The "Rising Hope" of Canada had then full sway, till they had full satisfaction with shouting and scrambling for the scattered sweets on the floor. Both speakers in flattering terms referred to the good work Mr. Cameron had done in the two societies and ventured the prediction that his place would be difficult to fill in the many lines of church work, in which he has been actively interested.

The I.O.F. had a bumper gathering in the hall on the night of the 9th, when they gave an oyster supper in honour of their respected brother, Mr. David Laurie, who has been favourably known in this locality during a residence of many years, but is now about to remove to his newly purchased property, being the old Crozier homestead, to the south of Peterborough. His many friends here wish that he and Mrs. Laurie may enjoy prosperity and happiness in their new home.

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian congregation was held in the church on Tuesday afternoon, 13th inst. The proceedings were commenced with singing and prayer, the pastor, Rev. D. D. McDonald, being called to the chair. The reports presented by the treasurer and secretaries of the various branches of the church's work, indicated that the past year was one of unusual prosperity. Substantial sheds had been erected at a cost of $130, for the use of visitors to the church, the quality of material and workmanship of which reflects great credit on the contractor, Mr. David Brackenridge. Mr. Jas. McNeil, treasurer of the Keene congregation, who is always a welcome visitor here, was present, and addressed the meeting. He pointed out the need of a change being made in the manner of collecting the stipend, on account of the new arrangement by which the pastor is paid quarterly, instead of yearly, as in the past. The treasurer was complimented upon the satisfactory nature of his financial statement, and after the appointment of officers for 1903 this portion of the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the Doxology. The work of the ladies was now distinctly in evidence in the production of the tea, the abundance and quality of which was fully up to their usual standard of excellence, and perhaps higher praise than this is uncalled for. Suffice it to say that ample justice was done to it, and an enjoyable time of social intercourse spent, after which the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of God Save the King.

A meeting of the Farmers' Institute was held in the town hall on Wednesday, 14th inst. Messrs. Peart and Kydd were the delegates, present and delivered good addresses on both afternoon and evening. A good programme was provided at the evening meeting. A recitation was given by Mr. Howson; song by Miss Blezard and instrumental music by Miss Elmhirst and Miss Lynch. There was a good attendance and first class order.

Some of our citizens attended the carnival at Keene and report having had a good time.

Asphodel has been fortunate in securing a representative in the County Council this year, and we congratulate our old time reeve, Mr. W. Buck, on heading the poll so handsomely.

The resignation of Mr. Andrews in order to be eligible as a candidate for the County Council, resulted in the election of Mr. McNulty for the reeveship by a majority of 49 over Mr. Oakman. Mr. McNulty has had a long experience in the council, and possesses business capacity sufficient to enable him to fill the position with acceptance to the ratepayers and credit to himself.

I fear I am trespassing too much on your valuable space and will close my jottings for the present.

MR. S. ARMSTRONG ANSWERS A CRITIC.

He Throws Additional Light—On His Road Proposition.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, —I noticed in last week's Review, a letter signed "Ratepayer," offering information about the roads of Otonabee, and criticising my article on the subject.

I have to thank my critic for his candour and public spirit. It shows that he at least takes an interest in the affairs of the township.

It can be gathered from the tenor of his letter that in the main points we are agreed.

We both wish to see the highways improved.

We both wish to get our share of the million dollar grant.

We both wish to see it spent where it will be the greatest benefit to the greatest number of ratepayers.

He states that I need information. In this we are also agreed.

Not having the slightest idea who my critic may be, but as he seems to be possessed of a good deal of information, I take this means of asking him to impart some of it to the public, along the lines he has laid down in his article.

And now, Mr. Editor, with your permission, I will address myself directly to my critic.

First, that the road mentioned is "not the only road in the township." While that is true, it happens to be the road in which I am particularly interested. It is also true that you and other ratepayers are abundantly able to look after the roads you travel. Please inform us what road you wish fixed.

Second, "There are other roads in the township just as much travelled as this road." This is a strong statement, which I will not ask you to prove, because you cannot. I will not ask you to name a road nearly as much travelled, because you cannot do it; but I do ask you to name a road anywhere in the township of Otonabee, with its 209 miles of highways, or any place in which a road could be built six miles long, that would be as great a benefit to ONE-HALF as many ratepayers of Otonabee, or to ONE-TENTH as many ratepayers of the county, outside of the township, as the six miles of stone road suggested from the Locks Bridge to the sixth line would be. Now, my dear critic, I challenge you, or anybody else, to "inform" the public of such a place.

Third, "If the township can get a slice of the grant, it can be spent to better advantage fixing the roads we have got, than making a new road." As the money is already voted to the extent of several thousand dollars for Otonabee, there can be no "if" about it, provided we build permanent highways, but there is a decided "if" about getting it if we try the little one horse policy of patching roads with it, as suggested in your article. Was your idea obtained from the way in which a former large grant this township received a few years ago, was spent? Kindly "inform" us.

Fourth, "Roads should be built on the regular road allowances." Did you get your idea from Mr. Campbell, the Good Roads Commissioner, or from the Good Roads Association, or from a railway company? No, sir; for all these advocate the building of roads on the easiest grades you can find. Were your theory correct four of the main roads leading into the town of Peterborough should never have been built, as they "straggle across the country, around the hills," viz., the roads coming from Warsaw, Lakefield, Chemong and Port Hope. We need a good deal of "information" here, as evidently, according to your theory, both the past and present engineers have been, and are, in the wrong.

Fifth, "Only a small portion," you say, "of the Otonabee ratepayers would use the road, and the majority would upset a council that would would build a road which they would consider unnecessary." The first part of this statement is answered in clause two. With regard to the road being unnecessary -- the best proof of the necessity of anything is the amount of hard cash people are prepared to give to get it. Now the last time there was an agitation to have this road built, about fifteen years ago, the people interested put up a very handsome subscription, and the people interested to-day are prepared to do the same.

Now, Sir, can you "inform me" of any other leading road in Otonabee where the people who use it are prepared to put up a single dollar, for its improvement, with the single exception of the road leading to Bensfort Bridge, which is not a leading township road, but a road leading to another county, but in which there are a number of public spirited citizens who are prepared to give of their private means to have it gravelled.

With regard to the council being upset if they built this road,—We have just as much right to assume that the council are as likely to be upset if they fail to measure up to their opportunity in getting this grant, owing to the increased intelligence of ratepayers, about the making of roads.

If you wish a recent example of this, kindly enquire into what happened in Simcoe County in connection with their share of the million dollar grant.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities, where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory with arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton, must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of nature.

Our forefathers had other things to do beside formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nourishment in a concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remnrson, on this subject says: "Nervous people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless to rindigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

Conservative Majority Reduced.

London, Jan. 21.—A. Watson Rutherford (Conservative) was yesterday elected to the House of Commons for the West Derby Division of Liverpool, over Richard D. Holt (Liberal) by a majority of 2,204. This is a reduction in the Conservative majority of 1895 of 730 votes. Mr. Rutherford succeeds W. S. Higginbotham, deceased.

HANGED AT DAWSON

Double Execution at the Northern City Tuesday Morning.

E. LABELLE AND P. FOURNIER

Most Notorious Murders Since the Series Committed by George O'Brien—They Killed Three Men in the Most Cold-Blooded and Treacherous Manner—Denouncer of the Condemned Men.

Yukon, Y. T., Jan. 21.—Labelle and Fournier were hanged at 7.45 yesterday morning. Labelle was first brought from the cell and bound, none being present but officers of the law and the press. He submitted passively; seemed much overcome. Father Bunce attended.

The prisoner repeated prayers most devoutly. Fournier was then brought out, wild-eyed, somewhat excited and fierce. When being bound he said:

"Might as well break me in two while you are at it."

Later, he turned to the executioner, who tugged at the straps:

"Hard work, partner, eh?"

To Detective Walsh, standing near, he said:

"You, Walsh, I promise you that for the rest of your days you shall never rest easy; I promise you that."

Later, Labelle said: "I'm tired of it; I deserve it."

The scene on the scaffold was tragic. Though it was intensely cold, 6 below zero, many were present. Both confessed their guilt and said the punishment was deserved. Even on the scaffold Fournier was unshaken when his legs were being bound. Turning fiercely on the executioner, he said: "You want to throw me down."

At the last moment he seemed contrite, responded to the prayers and took part in the last sacrament at the hands of the priest.

The crimes for which the men paid the death penalty were the most notorious since the series of murders by George O'Brien. Fournier and Labelle left White Horse, on the upper Yukon, for Dawson, in an open boat, along with Leon Boutbvillette, Joseph Constantine and A. Beaudoin, the last a lad of eighteen. The three were killed and their bodies thrown in the river. Archie Guilmault is also supposed to have been killed by Fournier.

Cause of Splitting Headaches.

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread every moment to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache.

Ferrozone is Nature's own remedy for headaches; it is a blood strengthener and purifier of uncommon merit, a lasting potent tonic and the greatest invigorant and health maker known. Headaches never bother people who take Ferrozone after each meal. Buy a box from your druggist for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Noted Marksman Dead.

Yonkers, N.Y., Jan. 21.—Lewis M. Ballard died yesterday in his 66th year, after an illness of four months. Mr. Ballard was a member of the famous all-American rifle team, which in 1874, 1875 and 1878 defeated all comers at home and abroad. After personally out-shooting all competitors at Wimbledon, he was awarded a medal which was presented to him by Princess Louise of England. Mr. Ballard also won the first bicycle race ever ridden in this country, in 1869.

MINERS' CONVENTION.

President Mitchell Has No Fears of the Outcome of the Anthracite Investigation—Government by Injunction.

Indianapolis, Jan. 21.—At the convention of the United Mine Workers of America yesterday President Mitchell delivered an address, and Secretary Wilson presented his report.

President Mitchell began his address by impressing upon the delegates the interests committed to their care. Of the many important events affecting the interests and welfare of the toilers of the country, he said the anthracite coal strike stood pre-eminent. Vital principles were at stake which, if defeated, would have given to the American labor movement a shock from which it would have required years to recover. After giving a brief history of the great strike, Mr. Mitchell continued: "It would, of course, be improper at this time for me to comment upon the investigation now being conducted by the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, more than to say that its members are eminent men, in whose impartiality and judgment I have full confidence. Firm in my opinion of our ability to demonstrate the justice of our claims, I have no fear of the outcome.

"The fact that strikes are becoming less numerous is due to the operation of the joint agreements," he continued. Local and general strikes occur more often in districts where the operators refuse to recognize the organization, or treat with its accredited officers.

Referring to injunctions, Mr. Mitchell said:

"Government by injunction is one of the most harassing and dangerous methods resorted to by the enemies of workingmen to destroy labor organization and to circumvent the constitutional right of trial by jury. The whole system of government by injunction grows from the distrust of the ultra-capitalists for democratic institutions. The reasons given for the issuing of injunctions are always misleading and generally false. Government by injunction is not only hostile to organized labor, but it is hostile to constitutional liberty. If the American people do not check this arbitrary power it will result in the annihilation of labor unions, and then of all other forms of associations disliked by capitalists."

Secretary Wilson then submitted his report. In the matter of relief funds during the strike, he said that "the total amount donated by the different branches of our organization was $258,844. The amount received from the special anthracite assessment was $1,967,026, making a total of $2,225,870, from the members of the United Mine Workers. To this amount must be added $419,954, donated by the trades unions and the public, making a grand total of $2,645,824."

KILLED AT BARRIE.

A Thornhill Man Mangled Beyond Recognition by a G.T.R. Shunting Engine—Sole Support of Widowed Mother.

Barrie, Jan. 21.—At noon yesterday, while on his way to dinner, James Barger was horribly mangled by a shunting engine in the G.T.R. yards. He came down from Thornhill by an early train, with a number of other section men, to assist in clearing the tracks of snow.

When the whistle blew at 12 o'clock, he started for the roundhouse, and was struck by the tender of the engine and dragged up to the station before being noticed.

A passenger noticed the body under the wheels of the engine and called to Harry Gibson, the driver, who at once stopped the engine, but not before the unfortunate man was crushed almost beyond recognition.

He was the sole support of a widowed mother, who lives at Thornhill, to which place the body has been forwarded.

DEAD NUMBER 29 NOW.

Russell Quinn Dies From Injuries Received at Wanstead Wreck.

London, Jan. 21.—Russell Quinn of Chicago, who was injured in the Wanstead accident, died at Victoria Hospital at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains were taken to Oakville, Ont., for interment. This is the 29th victim.

Mr. Quinn was 28 years of age, and was a native of Oakville, but had been away from there for eight or nine years. His father and mother are dead, but his brother, James Quinn, owner of the schooner Jessie Drummond, and a sister, Miss Hannah Quinn, live in Oakville. Captain Quinn has been at his brother's bedside for some days.

Another G.T.R. Accident.

Berlin Falls, N.H., Jan. 21.— By the explosion of a Grand Trunk freight engine boiler here to-day Fireman Monk was killed. Conductor Fitzsimmons and the engineer were badly burned.

Nine Men Killed.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—Nine men are dead and eight or ten injured as a result of a rear-end collision of the Great Northern yesterday at a point known as Happy Hollow, just above Chiwaukum. A bridge gang train ran into an engine standing on a rotary snow plow. A car containing fifty men belonging to the bridge crew was thrown from the track. The dead and injured were all members of the work gang.

It brings relief in a remarkably short time, and because of its combined action of liver and kidneys, cures complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.

Killed by a Bull.

Kingsville, Jan. 21.—Inglis Wigle, a prominent young farmer, living in the western part of the Township of Gosfield South, was killed by his bull yesterday morning. The animal was dehorned, but crushed the man against the barn so severely that he died within an hour. Deceased was married a few months ago.

A PLUCKY CANADIAN GIRL.

Interrupted the Representative on the Floor Speaking by Saying in Clear, Ringing Tones, "You Lie"—An Unusual Startling Incident in the House of Congress at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The members of the Lower House of Congress were interrupted yesterday by a most unusual incident. It was while a general debate on the District of Columbia Appropriation Bill was on, and had branched off to Alaska boundary dispute, and the subject of trusts.

At this point Mr. Cochran (Mo.), took the floor, and, in his remarks, referred to the Alaska matter, criticizing severely the "surrender" to England, which he termed "cowardly and pusillanimous."

"You Lie!"

Mr. Cochran continued speaking of "the truckling policy of the United States to Great Britain," "When that truckling ceased," he declared, "the people of Canada, now intensely loyal, would change their attitude."

Then came the interruption, and it burst from the ladies' gallery.

"You lie," came in the clear, ringing tones of a woman's voice. The owner of the voice was a stylishly dressed young lady. All eyes were at once turned to the gallery where the speaker leaned forward defiantly, as if she intended to say something further. But a companion pulled her back and immediately after she left.

Mr. Sulzer (N.Y.) also participated in the debate concerning the Alaska boundary line, maintaining that there was no doubt of the title of the United States to the disputed territory. He said that unless we took, and held that territory, future generations would denounce us as he now denounced all who had any part in the surrender of 1844.

The Plucky Canadian Girl.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—A despatch received here last night said that the young lady who made the interruption mentioned was Miss Grant, granddaughter of Mrs. S. M. McMaster of Montreal, and that the two were visiting the House.

A DUNDAS YOUTH.

Sentenced to Three Years For Having a 25-Cent Die.

Hamilton, Jan. 21.—The case of Gerald Douglas, who was charged with having in his possession a die for a bogus 25-cent piece, was brought up yesterday. Douglas was arrested for stealing two mink skins from the Lawry tannery, Dundas, on Jan. 15. Upon search the die was found, and the more serious charge laid against him. Yesterday he pleaded guilty to the charge of theft, and was sentenced to three months in jail. On the second charge, Douglas also pleaded guilty, and made the plea that he had intended using the die to make an ornament for his gun. The die was so crude of design that it would have been impossible to make a coin which would stand inspection. Judge Snyder was of opinion that the mould was intended for illegal use, and sentenced the possessor to three years' imprisonment.

IMMIGRANTS FROM BRITAIN.

Increased by 10,650 During the Past Year of 1902.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—According to official returns of the British Board of Trade received at the Trade and Commerce Department, the total number of emigrants who left the United Kingdom during the calendar year ending Dec. 31, last, was 387,116, as against 302,575 for the preceding 12 months. Of this number 232,141 went to the United States, an increase of 37,200, compared with the previous year, and 67,713 to Canada, an increase of 24,815. The emigrants of British origin who went to the United States numbered 108,501, an increase of but 4,306. The British emigrants to Canada aggregated 26,407, in increase of 10,650. The emigrants to Cape of Good Hope and Natal were 51,891 in number, as compared with 28,553 in 1901.

Ottawa Navy League.

Tilton, Mayor Cook, F. H. Chrydler, Lieut. Gourdeau and Commander Spain.

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? IN SPEAKER'S CHAMBERS.

Mrs. (Hon. J. R.) Stratton was at Home to Her Friends Yesterday.

Mrs. Stratton was at home to visitors yesterday afternoon in the Speaker's Chamber, Parliament buildings, for the first time this winter, and a very large number of callers came and went between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Mrs. Stratton greeted her visitors at the doors of the beautiful rooms, with the Hon., the Provincial Secretary by her side, who added a word of welcome to each of the guests. Mrs. Stratton wore a lovely toilette of the fashionable moire antique of a soft green shade; the corsage with empiecement and guimpe of glittering green and silver sequins, applique on tulle; graceful undersleeves of lace and chiffon, with sequin applique on the green sleeves; the bodice was finished by a trimming of soft silk, with pretty tucked and gathered ends. The skirt was trimmed with entre deux of lace at intervals inserted at the foot. A chou of velvet in the hair, and some beautiful ornaments of pearls and diamonds were worn, and a bunch of violets was the finish to a very beautiful costume. The mantel and stand in the reception-room were gay with masses of roses, pink carnations and white hyacinths, and the table of dainties, hot and cold, was quite lovely with its drapery of rose silk surrounding the jardiniere of hyacinths and carnations. Mrs. Harcourt, in a toilette of black lace over white silk, with toque to match, and Mrs. Claude Fox, in a cream silk, with overgown of string colour lace, and large chapeau of white and green, assisted in the tea-room. The Speaker's rooms are charming for such an occasion, and Mrs. Stratton was the kindest and most considerate of hostesses. Mrs. Stratton may receive again before the session of Parliament opens. Among the callers were Hon. John Dryden, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. E. J. Davis, Hon. F. R. Latchford, Col. Clarke, Sir Thos. and Lady Taylor, Mr. F. J. Glackmeyer, Chief Justice and Mrs. Moss, Miss Moss, Mr. Justice Proudfoot, Miss Proudfoot, Mr. and Mrs. Hume Blake, Col. and Mrs. Lawrence Buchan, Miss Buchan, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey White, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Wright Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Langton, Sheriff and Miss Widdifield, Major and Mrs. Edward Leigh, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. N. Rooney, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker, Mr. Justice Maclennan, Lieut.-Col. J. Bruce, Commander F. C. Law, R. N., Senator Mrs. and Miss Melvin Jones, Mr. John Foy, Mr. E. T. Malone and Mrs. E. H. Dewart.

GUILD MEETING.

George Street Young Men Discuss Matters.

The regular monthly meeting of the George street Methodist Young Men's Guild, was held last evening, Mr. Warne, president, in the chair.

Some important business came before the meeting, and plans of work were discussed, after which a short programme was given and refreshments served. Music was supplied by the Guild Glee Club, a new feature, and by Mr. Millard Maguire, who entertained with several choice selection on the phonograph which were very much appreciated. Impromptu two-minute speeches on selected topics were given by the members, in which everyone participated.

Refreshments followed and brought a most pleasant and profitable session to a close.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Rev. Father Moyna of Orillia, is in town for several days.

Mrs. Chas. Mosher, Port Hope, is visiting Mrs. T. J. Blois, 249 Stewart street.

Miss A. Mercier returned yesterday to Rochester, N.Y., to complete her studies as nurse at St. Mary's Hospital.

Mrs. Alf. George, of Port Hope, came out for the match Monday night and is visiting Mrs. T. J. Blois, No. 249 Stewart street.

Mrs. W. D. Wilgar has returned to Toronto, after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Macfarlane, Homewood avenue.

THE BONSPEIL IS A GREAT SUCCESS.

The First Round has Been Concluded.

SOME GOOD PLAYING DONE.

The Second Draw Will Commence at 8 o'clock This Evening—Notes on the Event.

The greatest of interest has been taken in the bonspiel, and some remarkably fine curling was witnessed by a crowded house.

The height of excitement, not to say exultation, was reached on account of the visit of the Scotchmen, who played the Canadians last evening, thus dividing the first draw of the bonspiel, which was begun yesterday and finished this morning.

Compared with last night's record attendance the games were none the less interesting, as the subsequent results will show. The ice not being as large as desired part was given up to the contest between the Scotsmen and outside clubs, in consequence of which the second draw in the bonspiel will take place at five o'clock this evening.

As the Scotchmen were defeated it greatly increases the prestige of the opposing clubs, who may be handsomely rewarded by carrying away mementoes of the finest curling event ever witnessed in Peterborough, or this part of the country.

The results of the games in the first draw played yesterday were as follows:

HARNESS MEN STRIKE.

35 Employees Objected to a Fellow Employees.

A deputation of the local Union No. 107, of the United Leather Workers on Horse Goods, of Peterborough, called at the Examiner office to-day to state that the 35 union men who quit work at the Ackerman Harness Factory, at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, are still out. The men stated that the reason they went out in the first place was owing to what they alleged to be the obnoxious disposition of an employee named Stewart. Stewart was not a union man, but it was not this fact that caused them to go out, so they state. However, Stewart has quit work voluntarily since, and in that regard the employees admit they have no grievance. But they will not go back, they affirm, unless Mr. Ackerman recognizes the union. They state that at a conference to-day of the employees and Mr. Ackerman, that gentleman offered to take the men back as individuals, but not in a body as union men. Accordingly the men are still out.

Mr. Ackerman was interviewed in regard to the above matter and says that the foregoing statement is correct.

SCARLET FEVER OUTBREAK.

Situation Investigated by Medical Health Officer.

The Outbreak Regarded as Over—No Cases Since Jan 12th.

On Monday Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, and Chief Rossel, Health Inspector, made a tour of inspection of the town to investigate the condition of affairs in relation to the scarlet fever outbreak. They found that all the parties afflicted had either recovered or were out of danger, and the conclusion was arrived at that the outbreak was practically over, and the danger point of further infection passed. No new case has been reported since the 12th of January.

The visit revealed an interesting fact in connection with the water. He found that out of the thirteen families afflicted with scarlet fever, nine used well water and four city water, from which circumstance the deduction was natural that the water of the wells was far from wholesome.

LOCAL LEGAL.

Jones v. Lakefield Cement Co.—W. R. Smyth, for plaintiff, appealed from the judgement of Britton, J., at the trial at Toronto, dismissing the action, which was brought to recover damages for the conversion of a certain derrick and derrick masts, guy ropes, etc., taken by defendent from plaintiff's quarries on Eagle Mont Island, on Stony Lake. The defendents took the goods to their works at Young's Point, and kept them until after action. They justified by leave and license of plaintiff. Council for plaintiff contended on the evidence that the finding of the trial Judge was wrong G. H. Watson, K. C., for defendents, contra. Judgment reserved.

SCOTCHMEN IN PETERBOROUGH.

song, and the company dispersed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the King."

PARSON AND CAPTAIN.

Rev. J. Kerr is a jolly gentleman and in an interview gave some interesting opinions of what they have seen and heard in Canada. "It is not our curling nor your cold that we can object to, but the heat in your houses, hotels and cars.

"But even the heat of the house is not equal in warmth to the welcome we have had. Ever since we set foot on shore at Halifax your countrymen have been trying to kill us with kindness and to beat us at curling. I must say that in both they have met a moderate degree of success. We have curled in the morning, in the afternoon and in the evening. Later in the evening we have been dined and called upon to make and listen to speeches.

"The speeches which we have heard by the way have been remarkably good, well worthy, I should think, of more complete reports than the papers of the cities they were made in gave to them. For instance in St. John, splendid speeches were made. The mayor of the city, Dr. White, made a speech that was full of information and one which we should have liked very much to have had in printed form, but the papers gave only a few lines of it. We hope that Montreal something of what is said as well as what is done will be printed, for we should like to have as complete a record of our trip as possible and we regard our visit to Montreal as one of the most important.

"We have been delighted with the way we have been received. Of course we expected that our welcome would be warm, but our expectations have been surpassed."

THE VISITORS.

Rev. Dr. Kerr, who as the captain, is the official head of the party, refers to them as his "travelling troupe of Scottish curlers." Most of them are big men and they all are burley and broad shouldered and competent occupiers of space. They look as though they might be efficient at the royal Scottish game of curling or at anything else they undertook. In fact, they form a very competent looking party.

They would be able to found a very complete little colony for they represent many departments of social activity. They have one preacher, a doctor, a lawyer, six business men, merchants and manufacturers, a building contractor, a nursery man, an artist, three landed proprietors, farmers, and two men of leisure.

None of them are very young, and none of them are in the yellow leaf by a long way. The average age of the party is forty-three years, as the statistician of the party stated. The average height is five feet ten and a half, and the average weight is a hundred and eighty-two pounds. Only one of the team has ever been in Canada before. He is Mr. Henry Prain. Only two of them, Mr. Prain and Mr. Cousins, have ever been on this side of the Atlantic before. Not one of them ever played in a covered rink before coming to Canada. Not one of them ever played after the sun went down. Seventeen of them never played from anything but a crampit. The conditions of the game in this country are radically different from the conditions in the land where the game originated.

THE CRAMPIT.

The crampit is probably a new one for most of the Peterborough players. Mr. D. Murray of the Kilwindock Club, explained that a crampit was a piece of corrugated iron, which was fastened to the ice and on which the curler stood when delivering his stone. It took the place of the hack, or the hole in the ice which was used in this country.

"That is what may be called one of the fundamental differences of the game in this country from the game as we play it," said Mr. Murray.

"Well, do you prefer the crampit?"

"No, I rather enjoy playing from a hack."

"Then why do they not use hacks in the game in Scotland?"

"Because the water would come through if they chopped the necessary three inch hole in the ice to make accommodation for the player's toe. I have lived in Scotland a long time, but I cannot remember of ever having seen so many degrees of frost as they say we have outside tonight. We do not have six foot or six inch ice at home.

"More frequently stones are sent down the ice which is so thin that it rises and falls as a man walks over it. I have seen many a stone go through the ice to the bottom of the pool before it had well passed the hog line.

"And stones are not the only thing which have felt cold water and found the bottom. I have seen curlers walking ashore and breaking the ice with their breasts as they came. That is the test of a tetotaller. If he will resist the temptation of a drop of whiskey after an experience of that kind he may be regarded as sound. I do not remember ever having seen a a man who stood the test.

"But you will understand that our ice is as a rule too thin to allow us to dig out the holes for our toes which you call the hack. Therefore we play from an iron platform which we call a crampit."

Rev. Mr. Kerr, the captain, and Skips Provan, Ballantyne, Bramwell and Prain said that they had been a good deal bothered by the lights and shadows of the indoor rinks. They said that they were beginning to get used to it, but at first they were bothered more than a little.

PLAY WITH GRANITE.

Mr. Prain said that the stones they had brought had been especially cut for the trip. "They were made for work on the keen Canadian ice. But at St. Johns and Halifax the weather was mild and we had Scottish ice. I believe that accounts for the measure of success which we had in those two cities. We would have done better had we been curling with the stones which we use at home. We are glad to get any kind of ice and play on surfaces which are rather rough. We have our stones cut for this kind of work. I have seen since I have been here, ice condemned which players at home would be glad to get.

"We came on the trip expecting to be beaten. I think the weather has been much in our favour so far. We have done better than we thought we would. I believe that the game of curling, although a Scotch game, has reached its highest development in Canada. It is only natural that it should, for there is a great deal better opportunity for the sport here. We were figuring up to-day the length of the curling season in Scotland, and we agreed that ten days would be the outside annual figure. Then it is not possible for business persons to curl every minute of the short ten days. They may come in December, January, or February. They may come together or a day at a time. You have to play there when you can

"Here they say they have two months and a half of curling ice, and evening play."

MR. MARK SANDERSON.

Concerning Mr. Mark Sanderson, who is a member of the visiting team and who is a real, good fellow, the Leith Observer says:

Many of our readers may not know it, but Leith has a sort who is one of the best curlers in the country, and we present his portrait above. Mr. Mark Sanderson, a native of the port and one of its best known residents, has been chosen by the committee of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club as one of the Scottish team about to proceed to Canada and the United States to play against our Canadian and American cousins, and it is fitting that some notice should be taken of his distinction.

We need hardly say that curling takes a high place among the outdoor sports of Scotland—albeit it has not been so frequently played within late years, owin gto the comparative mildness of recent winters. When cold weather sets in, and symptoms of a good black frost begin to make themselves felt, the thoughts of curlers turn irresistably to the "roaring game." It is an ancient game, too, and some writers about the sport say that its exact origin is lost in the dim ages of the past; but there are others who maintain it was introduced into Scotland by Flemish immigrants about the end of the fifteenth century. About a century and a half ago the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Councillors of the City of Edinbourgh, headed by their officers in state liveries, are reputed to have walked in solemn procession to witness the curling carried on by the citizens on the Nor' Loch (now Princes Street Gardens). Edinburgh curlers since that time have always held their own in the game, many of them being in great repute on the rink; and we may say Leith curlers also, as witness the honour bestowed upon the subject of our portrait.

Mr. Sanderson has all his life been a keen sportsman. As a Royal High School boy he was always alloted a prominent position in their football team. On the school cricket ground at Holyrood no player is more popular. Only last year he captained an eleven, Ancients v. Moderns, when his team, the Ancients, came off victorious by a substantial number of runs. It is more particularly as a curler, however, that we are referring to Mr. Sanderson this week. He is a member of the Roslin and Duddingston clubs, and is father of the former club, having joined it in the early sixties. He skipped a rink in the international match held in February last at Lochrnaben, and succeeded in taking ten shots off his English friends. It is almost a unique thing in a curler's experience to be asked to represent his country twice in one year. Yet that has fallen to Mr. Sanderson's lot, and his being chosen as a Scottish representative to play for the "auld country" on Canadian and American ice is an honour not only to himself, but to his native place.

We wish him a successful trip and a safe return. In curler's parlance, we are sure that if his "Crawford Johns" are not "on the pat lid", thoy will be keep the Canadians and Yankees "oot o' the hoose."

In connection with his approaching departure, Mr. Sanderson has been entertained by his friends, and has received several tokens of regard from them. He is a favorite in many social circles in Leith, and all his friends and acquaintances look forward with confidence to the credit of the good old Port of Leith being upheld by him in the coming "bonspiels" on the other side.

We may mention that Mr. Sanderson is manager of the export department of the old-established firm of Robertson, Sanderson, & Co., Ltd., and this branch of the company's business has of late years made rapid progress in all our colonies. Nowhere is the name better known than in the Dominion of Canada and the United States.

SELECTING THE TEAM.

This team had been selected by the Royal Caledonian Curling Club. That organization when it decided to send a team across invited players who were willing to go to send their names in. About three hundred applications were made for places on the team. Enquiries were made as to the curling skill of each of these men. Capacity to form a congenial member of a party was one of the things enquired into. Twenty-six men were selected to form the party. Two of them were afterwards unable to come, so twenty-four sailed. Mr. A. F. Smith met with a serious accident on board the ship, that the party was deprived of his services and his company.

Therefore, instead of playing six rinks with two spare men, as had been first intended, they were playing five rinks with three extra men.

THEIR PURSUITS.

The merchants and manufacturers of the party are Provost Gordon, D. Murray, Jas. McGregor, A. T. Simson, A. F. Smith and Provost Ballantyne. The farmers are R. Bramwell, E.Gibson, W. Henderson,, R. Johnston. T. McMillan, G. Deans Ritchie and J. Simpson. The men of leisure are D. Bentley Murray, and Henry Prain. Major Scott Davidson, J. Simpson, and Major Bertram, are landed proprietors. The last named saw service in South Africa. Mr. Robert Cousin is a building contractor. Mr. R. Husband is a solicitor. Mr. D. Provan is an artist. Rev. J. Kerr is the clergyman of the party, and Dr. Kirk is the medical man. There is a good deal of the doctor. He is spare and weighs two hundred and thirty-eight pounds. This is distributed over six feet four and a half inches of length. He is not only the tallest man on the team, but he is the tallest medical man in Scotland. Dr. Kirk declares that if the curling and entertainment pace does not moderate he expects to return with twenty-three corpses on his hands.

The members of the team declare that they have not seen anything of Canada but the inside of curling rinks, the inside of hotels and the inside of railway trains. They have acquired the most favourable impressions of those parts of the broad dominion that they have seen, but like to have an opportunity for more extended observation.

NOTES.

The beautiful decorations of the curling rink was the work of Mr. Alf. Kingscote, who deserves much credit for the tasteful and effective manner in which the work was done.

The Scotchmen were highly pleased with their Peterborough reception. The remarks they made were informal, and not intended for empty flattery, for they had no idea that there was a "chiel amang them takin' notes." They not only said that the reception in Peterborough was the best, heartiest and most elaborate they had met, but they also said that Peterborough had the best curling rink they had visited, the largest elsewhere having only four rinks, while Peterborough had six available for simultaneous play.

Dr. Davidson, of Toronto, and Frank Nelson, sporting editor of the Globe, came down to join in the welcome, and to escort the Scotchmen to Toronto.

Mr. Frank Sanderson, of the Scots, was the centre of deep but occult interest. He is the representative of the source of the "Mountain Dew" of that ilk, which refreshes like a genial spirit, mild as the voice of the cushat, and yet warmin' to the "cockles o' the hairt."

Mr. R. H. Leary had his sleighs decorated in great style for the occasion.

The Scotchmen were driven about town this morning and showed the principal points of interest.

MR. McCALLUM'S DEPARTURE

The Young Men of St. Paul's Kindly Remember him.

Previous to the departure of Mr. A. C. McCallum to Toronto, the librarians of St. Paul's Sunday school presented him with an address and a handsomely bound Bible. The address was as follows:—

Dear Mr. McCallum,—We, your fellow librarians, knowing that you are about to leave us and our town, avail ourselves of this opportunity to express our appreciation of the valuable assistance you have rendered us in the library of our Sabbath School. We have always found you most obliging not only in the faithful discharge of your duties as Secretary but willing at all times to lend a helping hand or to give advice when required. We feel we could not better express our appreciation of your many available qualities than by presenting you with this copy of the Word, knowing that its daily perusal will remind you of the many pleasant Sabbath afternoons spent in connection with St. Paul's Sabbath school. We are quite sure that although severing your connection with our school your zeeal and interest in the work of the Master will continue wherever your lot may be cast. In conclusion we wish you success in your new field and ever trust that you and yours may long be spared together to enjoy the Word of Life.

Our Free Class of Embroidery

OUR Free Class of Instruction in Silk Work, Embroidery, etc, will be held during the last two weeks in February.

The Company has promised to send us one of the best and most skilled teachers in the Dominion and we feel sure all will enjoy a pleasant, profitable and most instructive term.

The Lace Class will be held immediately after the embroidery class. And every lady in Peterborough and the surrounding country is most cordially invited to attend either one or both classes, as it may be convenient for them.

There will be no charge, tuition is free.

It would be well for all intending pupils to select their materials early, so that no time would be lost during class hours.

THE WATERPOWER CITY.

Changes in Peterborough—A New Underwear Company has Been Organized.

The Toronto Star says: The Imperial Underwear Co., Limited, has been organized in Peterborough, with an authorized capital of $100.000 to manufacture underwear and knitted goods, etc., the directors being Albert H. Stratton, R. H. Kells, Adam Hall, F. J. Jameson, and G .L. Hay. Operations will commence at once, and the factory will be driven electrically from water power. The McAllister Milling Co., whose factory is located on the Ashburnham side of the river, are remodelling their flour mills and increasing their capacity to 300 barrels per day, and will change their motive plant to electric power. There is a building boom on in Peterborough, caused by the great derth of houses since the big Cordage Company and the Quaker Oats people started their immense mills this winter.

A CHILD'S LIFE FOOD

Physicians speak of fat food as "life food" and say that all children ought to have it in abundance. They clinch the argument easily by calling attention to how naturally the well-fed infant thrives upon fat food—the fat which is in milk.

Physicians say, more impressively still, that weak, thin, nervous children MUST have fat food, and recommend Scott's Emulsion. It promptly returns sickly, backward children to rosy health. It is the life of flesh-creating food and keeps the scale of child-health evenly balanced.

Being prepared for easy digestion Scott's Emulsion is readily accepted by the stomach and quickly passed into the blood. Once absorbed, the system soon feels the influence of the new force. There commences at once the repairing of wasted tissues, the enrichment of the blood and the strengthening of the whole system. Any child who needs more and better nourishment than it seems to be getting from its ordinary food will be greatly benefitted if given Scott's Emulsion.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

THE "SOO" PETITION.

Judgment Reserved on Twenty-Eight Charges.

THE BANK DRAFT PRODUCED

Contention That Eli Morreault Was Extravagant During His 14 Days at the "Soo"—His Actions Were at Least Irregular—Attempt to Account For His Spending So Much Money.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Argument on evidence produced at the trial of the petition to unseat A. Miscampbell, the Conservative member-elect for Sault Ste. Marie, concluded at Osgoode Hall yesterday before Justice Osler and Chief Justice Falconbridge, and judgment was reserved on a total of 28 charges. Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., again appeared for the petitioners, and Mr. Edmund Bristol for Mr. Miscampbell. The circumstances surrounding Eli Morreault's fourteen days at the Soo were perhaps the most significant of those dealt with. Mr. Aylesworth produced the draft that Mr. Miscampbell had admitted his bankers had paid on his account. It had been drawn upon a Bank of Montreal draft, dated at Montreal, May 17, and signed by F. D. Monk. Across the face in blue pencil was written Miscampbell's name, presumably by a bank clerk. Mr. Aylesworth handed it to the court registrar, and then proceeded to show that Morreault must have expended at least $150 while at the Soo, prior to the election, and had received $110 the day following the election, making in all $260.

What Did Morreault Do?

Morreault had not accounted for the expended money. Counsel claimed, assuming the money was paid for services, that the amount was extravagant. What had Morreault done to earn it? His board and lodging and money expended in treating had been included in his regular bill of expenses. These were circumstances worthy of serious consideration of themselves, apart from the fact that the payments were made with the actual knowledge of Miscampbell. They had not been made as the law directs, they were not included in the published list of Miscampbell's expenses, nor had they been made for legitimate purposes. If the money had not been used for purposes of actual bribery it had been expended at least irregularly and with the knowledge of Miscampbell.

Is Morreault a Barrister?

Mr. Bristol argued that Morreault was an eminent member of the Quebec Bar, but a lawyer interested in the case afterwards examined the Quebec law list and failed to find any such name therein. Mr. Bristol said, further, that Morreault might easily have spent a considerable amount of money on the way to the Soo for berths and meals and other incidentals to traveling. Reckoning his services worth $10 a day for fourteen days, the total would have been $140, which, added to the amounts expended, as he had presumed, would make an aggregate of $283.

TROUBLES OF AN EX-REEVE

Were Easily Disposed of by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

W. G. Cragg, of Dresden, had Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was Cured Slick and Clean.

Dresden, Ont., Jan. 19.—Special.—"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me slick and clean of the Rheumatism," says W. G. Cragg, ex-reeve of this town. "It was the Inflammatory Rheumatism I had, and I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are as fine a remedy for that as I want. I am as sound as a bell now as far as Rheumatism is concerned."

This is Mr. Cragg's experience, and it is the same as many others. People generally here are learning that Rheumatism is simply a result of Kidney Disease—that if the kidneys do not do their duty and take the uric acid from the blood, it crystallizes at the muscles and joints and causes those tortures too many people know too well.

"I had been troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism for eight years,' continues the ex-reeve. "I could scarcely get around to do my duties in my store. I tried doctors and medicines without getting any benefit, till I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me completely.'

Cure the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and your Rheumatism will cure itself.

Sir E. Barton's Crusade.

Sydney, Jan. 20.—In the face of a discouraging want of response, Sir E. Barton, the Federal Premier, continues his advocacy of a preferential tariff in favor of Great Britain.

He states that at the Colonial Conference Mr. Chamberlain plainly indicated that Great Britain was prepared to reciprocate by giving Australian products every possible preference in the placing of Government contracts as well as making tariff concessions. "If we play the filial part," says the Premier, "I am sure the Motherland will not be outdone in generosity."

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

A WINTER SCOURGE.

La Grippe or Influenza Responsible for Hundreds of Untimely Deaths.

Lagrippe starts with a sneeze—and ends with a complication. It lays a strong man on his back; it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. You can avoid lagrippe by fortifying your system with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They protect you; they cure you; they up-build you; they banish all evil after effects, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills ward off all winter ailments. They cure all blood and nerve disorders. They are the greatest blood builder and nerve tonic that science has yet discovered. We know this to be the solemn truth, but we do not ask you to take our word alone. Ask your neighbours, no matter where you live, and you will learn of someone who has been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, after other medicines had failed. It is upon the evidence of your neighbours that we ask you to give these pills a fair trial if you are sick or ailing. Mrs. Emma Doucet, St. Eulalie, Que., says: "Words can hardly tell how pleased I am with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I had an attack of lagrippe which left me a sufferer from headaches and pains in the stomach. I used several medicines, but nothing helped me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began them I was weak and very much run down. The pills have completely cured me and I feel only am as strong as ever, but have gained in flesh." The genuine pills always bear the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the label around every box. Substitutes can't cure and to take them is a waste of money and endangers life.

TILLMAN FEELS BAD.

Editor Gonzales Succumbs to the Bullet of Gov. Tillman.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 20.—Editor N. G. Gonzales of The Daily State, who was shot Thursday by Lieutenant-Governor Tillman, died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, having battled almost four days for his life. Mrs. Gonzales was with her husband when death came.

Lieutenant-Governor Tillman heard the news in his cell with visible emotion.

REPLY TO THE POWERS.

But China Claims to Be Too Poor to Pay in Gold.

Pekin, Jan. 20.—China has replied to the powers saying that she would accede to the powers' demand, if she were able to do so, but it is impossible to make the payments demanded in gold. The Chinese note quotes the messages of the Viceroys, detailing the impoverished state of the country, asks the ministers to suggest a plan for relief, and renews the requests that the custom tariff be placed on a gold basis, suggesting that the average rate of exchange each month be made the payment rate for the following months.

WILLIAM MORGAN, EX-M.P.P., DEAD.

Former Representative of South Norfolk Passes Away Suddenly.

Walsingham Centre, Jan. 20.—William Morgan, ex-M.P.P., suddenly passed away at 12.30 a. m. yesterday, at his home here. The deceased was a much respected citizen of this place.

He was Conservative representative for South Norfolk for the local Legislature for upwards of 15 years, township treasurer and major of the 30th Battalion. He leaves a host of sorrowing friends, his mother and two sisters, Miss Ella Morgan, and Mrs. James Knowles, survive him.

OUTCOME OF A DEFALCATION.

F. H. Macpherson, C.A., to Audit City of Chatham's Books.

Chatham, Jan. 20.—As an outcome of the discovery of a defalcation of about $12,000 in the accounts of the county treasurer, A. L. Shambleau, the City of Chatham has ordered an audit of its books to be made by F. H. Macpherson, C. A., of Windsor. The books are to be investigated for ten years back, and Mr. Macpherson is to get $8 a day for his work and two assistants, to be appointed by himself, from $2 to $5.

A $40,000 Gift.

Cairo, Jan. 20.—It is stated on good authority that Sir Ernest Cassel, whose munificent gift of £200,000 to the King for consumption sanatoria will be remembered, has offered to give £40,000 towards the study and investigation of ophthalmia in Egypt.

Toronto Gas Down to 80 Cents.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—The directors of the Consumers Gas Company announce that in future the price of gas will be 80 cents per thousand for prompt payment, except for gas supplied under contract. This is a reduction from 90 cents.

Spaniards Going to Morocco.

Gibraltar, Jan. 20.—A battalion of Spanish infantry and a mountain battery have embarked at Algeciras for Ceuta, the Spanish seaport on the coast of Morocco, opposite Gibraltar.

Defeats Pretender.

Tangier, Morocco, Jan. 20. — The troops of the Sultan have severely defeated the pretender's forces in the Hyana district.

The New Army Rifle.

London, Jan. 20.—Some important alterations are being made in the Government small-arms factories owing to the adoption by the War Office of a new pattern of rifle, which is expected to supercede the Lee-Enfield arm. The newly-adopted weapon is called "the Lee-Enfield modified."

Five Men May Die.

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—Five men were so badly injured by an explosion in the Carnegie works at Duquesne yesterday, that it is believed all will die. The throttle valve of a stationary engine blew out.

LOCALS IN ARREARS.

Six Hundred Miners to Convention at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 20.—Six hundred delegates are present at the Miners' convention. The usual committees having been appointed, it was found that many delegates were not entitled to seat because of arrearages of the locals, which they came from. The anthracite strike was responsible in many instances for the locals not paying their assessments. However, the convention voted to seat all delegates whose locals were not in arrears for more than two months of 1902. The convention adjourned until to-day at 9 a. m., when President Mitchell will submit his report.

True Bill Against Coal Dealers.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—A true bill was returned yesterday against 45 coal operators and retailers, charging conspiracy to do an illegal act injurious to public trade. The indictments are against both corporations and individuals doing business in Illinois and Indiana. Bail was fixed at $1,500.

Coal Drivers Strike.

Cleveland, Jan. 20.—With the temperature only a few degrees above zero and hundreds of families in urgent need of fuel, a strike was declared yesterday by a teamsters union almost exclusively composed of drivers of coal wagons. Practically every yard in the city is affected.

Leamington in Darkness.

Windsor, Jan. 20.—Leamington is in darkness these nights on account of the fuel famine. The coal supply of the town's lighting plant became exhausted, and as efforts to secure more failed, there was nothing to do but discontinue the service.

Robert Foster Found Guilty.

St. Thomas, Jan. 20. — The adjourned hearing into the charges of alleged personation and ballot box stuffing in polling division 4 in the late referendum vote in this city against H. A. Branton, Robert Foster and William Walsh was convened at the court house yesterday morning before Judge Bell of Kent.

The charge against Robert Foster for personation was first taken up. The evidence of the returning officer and scrutineer showed that Foster had asked for a ballot in the name of Orville Murphy, and he was found guilty on the personation charge. Sentence was reserved. The charges against the others will be taken up to-day.

Favors Metric System.

New York, Jan. 20.—A session of the Customs Congress of American Republics was held yesterday, President O. L. Spalding presiding. Among the reports adopted was one favoring the metric system.

Senator Wood Dying.

Hamilton, Jan. 20.—There is no improvement in the condition of Senator A. T. Wood, and last evening his death was regarded as a question of only a short time.

"Exactly Suited To My Case"

Says Mr. Baker, and He Voices the Opinion of Hosts of Kidney Sufferers Regarding

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It frequently happens that people who are cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have previously experimented with other medicines without obtaining the desired results, and consequently a great many make use of this expression, "exactly suited to my case."

The action of this great medicine is so wonderfully prompt and direct, and the effects so marked that people naturally feel that it is particularly suited to their case. Time has proven the merits of this preparation, and consequently it has attained an enormous sale.

Mr. John Baker, Deseronto, Ont., states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and can truthfully say that they are perfect in their work. I was subject to pain in my sides and back. At times I had to lay off work, and feared that I would never get rid of the ailment which was causing my sufferings. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were recommended to me, and I found them to be exactly suited to my case. Since using them I have never had a return of my old troubles."

Mr. Jas. H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering.

"I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

WIRELESS GREETINGS

President Roosevelt to Edward VII., King of England.

GOOD WISHES VIA CAPE COD

Signor Marconi's Announcement of Success of American Station in Communication With Cornwall, England—Contents of the U.S. President's Message and Text of His Majesty's Reply.

Wallfleet, Mass., Jan. 20.—In a message to the Associated Press, Mr. Marconi announces that yesterday he successfully transmitted from his Cape Cod station, here, to Cornwall, England, a message from the President of the United States to the King of England.

The President's Message.

His Majesty Edward VII., London, England:

In taking advantage of the wonderful triumph of scientific research and ingenuity which has been achieved in perfecting a system of wireless telegraphy, I extend, on behalf of the American people, most cordial greetings and good wishes to you and to all the people of the British Empire. (Signed) "Theodore Roosevelt."

Soon after this was sent Mr. Marconi sent from Wallfleet, Mass., the following message to Secretary Cortelyou at Washington:

"Request you will have the kindness to inform the President that his message to His Majesty the King of England, has been duly transmitted by wireless telegraphy from my Cape Cod station to Cornwall."

King Edward's Reply.

Not long after this King Edward sent the following message by wireless to the President:

"Sandringham, Jan. 19, 1903.

"The President, White House, Washington, America:

"I thank you sincerely for the kind message which I have just received from you, through Marconi's trans-Atlantic wireless telegraphy. I sincerely reciprocate in the name of the people of the British Empire the cordial greetings and friendly sentiment expressed by you on behalf of the American nation, and I heartily wish you and your country every possible prosperity. (Signed) "Edward, R. and I."

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is

LOSS TO THE C. M. B. A.

Samuel R. Brown, Grand Secretary of Order, Passes Away.

London, Jan. 20. — Samuel R. Brown, grand secretary of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association of Canada, died at his home on Saturday evening, aged 58 years. Samuel Rochford Brown was born at Newcastle, Eng., his parents being natives of Kilkenny, Ireland. In 1847, coming to Canada, they settled in the district of London. Mr. Brown was a thorough English and Latin scholar, and during his school days showed a particular aptitude for mathematics and literature. In 1870, with a first-class certificate, was appointed principal of the Catholic Separate School, of this city, and held this position until 1888, during which time he edited the mathematical department of Our Home Companion and Canadian Teacher, with remarkable ability, many of the most difficult problems of trigonometry, algebra and philosophy being solved with a clearness that attracted the attention of all subscribing teachers, resigning his position as principal in 1888 to give his attention to the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association. In 1880, the Grand Council of Canada was organized, and Mr. Brown was chosen Grand Secretary, an office which he held with credit up to the time of his death. There were but six branches when the Grand Council was organized, but now there are 366.

London Company Hit Hard.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—Major B. H. Rothwell, a real estate dealer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, setting forth liabilities of $105,144 and nominal assets. The heaviest creditors are the Dominion Loan Company of London, Ont., for $29,000; the Canadian Loan Company for $16,000, and C. W. Gauthier of Windsor, for $11,000.

Husband Arrested For Manslaughter.

Windsor, Jan. 20.—Wm. Brisbois, aged 65, whose wife, aged 50, was found frozen to death in a shanty at McGregor, with a gash in her head and about whom Brisbois told a rather unlikely story, was arrested at McGregor yesterday afternoon by Detective Campau and will have to face a charge of manslaughter and criminal neglect.

Seat Bought For $27,500.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—A seat on the Montreal Stock Exchange was bought for a client yesterday by Mr. Rudolphe Forget for $27,500. The previous sale was at $25,000, and a high record, so that yesterday's price is $2,500 higher and a new record.

Thirty-Five Have Arrived.

Winnipeg, Jan. 20. — Thirty-five Nestorians, headed by Rev. Isaac Adams, M.D., have arrived here as a vanguard of 150,000 Nestorians, who may come to the Canadian Northwest.

Mother Goes Free.

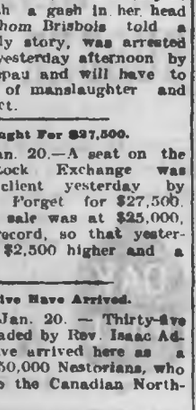
Pittsburg, Jan. 20.— Mrs. Letitia Eagle, wife of a superintendent of a pressed steel car company, was acquitted yesterday of the charge of killing her 13-year-old daughter.

Coal to U.S.

London, Jan. 20.—Four steamers loaded with coal sailed from Blyth (Northumberland), yesterday for America.

Uncommon Colds.

"It is just a common cold," people say, "there's no danger in that." Admitting their statement, then there are uncommon colds, colds which are dangerous; for many a fatal sickness begins with a cold. If we could tell the common cold from the uncommon we could feel quite safe. But we can't. The uncommon variety is rarely recognized until it has fastened its hold on the lungs, and there are symptoms of consumption.



Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures coughs, bronchitis, "weak" lungs and other diseases of the organs of respiration. It increases the supply of pure, rich blood and builds up the emaciated body.

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Mannsville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number. I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured. When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved. That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

If you ask your dealer for "Golden Medical Discovery" because you have confidence in its cures, do not allow yourself to be switched off to a medicine claimed to be "just as good," but which you did not ask for and of which you know nothing.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure dizziness and sick headache.

IS THERE ANYTHING MORE UNSIGHTLY THAN TO SEE A PERSON WITH THEIR FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES?

IS THERE ANYTHING MORE UNCOMFORTABLE AND PAINFUL THAN TO HAVE BOILS?

BAD BLOOD

Is the Cause of Boils and Pimples.

Bad Blood can be Cured by

Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mr. Wm. O'Malley, Madawaska, Ont., writes:—I used to be terribly bothered with boils and pimples, caused by bad blood and run-down system. I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it made my skin nice and clear, and built up my constitution. Any person using it will never be bothered with skin diseases.

THE COMBINE AND THE FLAG.

Warning From President of Clyde Steamship Owners' Association.

Glasgow, Jan. 21.—At the annual meeting of the Clyde Steamship Owners' Association here yesterday, President McIntyre invited the shipowners to join in a protest against American shipping being allowed to "continue enjoying the privileges of the British flag." He said if the combine is to be "run supported by gigantic American railroads, not caring whether it won or lost on the over-sea trade," a situation will arise for the country and the Government to deal with.

Dr. Alex. Scott Dies Suddenly.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. Cote is 38 years old and unmarried.

One Leg Squeezed Off.

Winnipeg, Jan. 21.—While superintending the unloading of a wagon yesterday afternoon, a heavy case fell on Johann Polson, a superintendent of the Shedden Company, teamsters. He was severely injured, one leg being squeezed off, and recovery is doubtful.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You can feel it doing you good from day to day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissue and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

Killed by a Fall.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 21.—Samuel Patton, the well-known stone mason contractor of Niagara Falls South, was instantly killed last evening by being thrown out of his cutter, near Bullock's Corners. It seems the horse got unmanageable, and turning too quickly Mr. Patton was thrown out of the cutter headlong against a telephone pole, killing him instantly.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co. from McIntyre & Marshall, of New York and Chicago:

New York, Jan. 21.—Decision permitting immediate removal of W.U. lines in Penna. will not be enforced. Chicago Traction consolidation plan proceeding satisfactorily. Indications rather favour advance in Nor. Securities Div. 35 roads 2nd week Jan. gross increase 8.31 p.c. Fair demand for stocks in loan crowd. Talk of 4 p.c. div. basis for corn products common in March. Banks gained from Sub-Treas. since Friday $2,494,000. Cuban Reciprocity treaty encountering serious opposition.

DOW, JONES & CO.

We look for an irregular market today. There is a good short interest and we may get some rally. Traders, however, mostly bearish and public does not come in and large operators seem inclined to let market drift for the present. Late London cables report Americans firm on distinctly easy money conditions. There was demand for stocks in loan crowd, especially St. Paul, S.P., R. G., Erie and Manhattan.

M. & M.

Messrs. Haight & Freese have received the following:—

New York, Jan. 20.—For the past ten days the market has reacted every time the news has been good and shown strength whenever circumstances were slightly adverse. The bank statement last Saturday was especially good. The market opened strong under its influence but there was no greater outside demand for stocks and professional selling finally weakened the entire list. Prices recede a fraction at a time; some specific reason for the decline was naturally looked for on all sides and a nominal one at least was found in the circular of the Asst. Sec. of the Treas. asking all banks who had pledged State and Municipal securities for loans of Government money in place of Government bonds to take up the former securities and substitute Government bonds by the first of next August. This action has caused a great deal of talk and figures at great length in the newspapers to-day. It may be, however, of less consequence that is imputed to it. Another point which is to be thought of lies in the question of how many Massachusetts state bonds, New York City bonds and City of St. Louis bonds pledged by the banks were their property, or were merely borrowed from the owners for the specific purposes. Figures on this matter are impossible. The character of the liquidation in the stock market made one vague suggestion; disappointment on the part of the large holders that recent talk of a deal between the Erie and the R.I has not found tangible results. Liquidation in these two stocks is far heavier than any others while the possibility of a deal especially one involving control has not been generally recognized; the matter has received credit nevertheless from a sufficient number of speculators to make liquidation in both stocks appear of great importance.

New York, Jan. 20.—We look for another drive at prices to-day. The action of the Government demanding Resubstitution of Government bonds for state issues, formed the basis for the bear raid yesterday and is an unsettling factor although only about $14,000,000 is involved. We do not look upon the Venzuelan trouble at present with apprehension although it may be used as a temporary depressing factor by the bear element. We are inclined to purchase on declines, Mop., G.W., Atch., U. Pac. and B.O. We do not believe holdings of low priced stocks should be sacrificed. London heavy.

TOPICS.

New York, Jan. 20.—The market is suffering from nervous dyspepsia but the professional distress that is felt over the Venezuelan question is absurd as it is exaggerated.

Reported $3,000,000 gold will go out this week is equally mendacious. We are in sufficiently affluent condition to pay a portion of our debts. Strong interests are urging Congress to pass the Fowler currency bill. There is a fair sized short interest in Atch., U. Pac., Reading and Sug. These may be bought for a turn on any further little set back. Specialties Steel pfd is an excellent proposition. Hold some copper.

GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE.

2,500 of Them Want to Live Decently in Vienna.

Vienna, Jan. 21.—Twenty-five hundred garment workers and their assistants went on strike yesterday for an increase in pay and a reduction in their hours. They assert that the present piece rates are inadequate and that they are compelled to work from fourteen to sixteen hours a day for starvation wages. They demand a rate of payment which will permit them to live decently and a working day of eleven hours. There were some demonstrations on the part of the strikers, but the disorder was suppressed by the police.

Street Car Strike Broken.

Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 21. — All the trolley lines here were operated yesterday by non-union men. Several cars were stoned. The police dispersed the crowds.

St. Kitts' Strike Is Off.

St. Catherines, Jan. 21.—The 250 employes of the McKinnon Dash and Metal Works Company, who have been out on strike for the past 10 days, will all be back at work this morning, the strike having been settled satisfactorily to all concerned. The men, although not getting all they demanded, will receive an advance in wages, and better agreements all around with the company.

SIR WILLIAM IS PRESIDENT.

Toronto Reform Association Chooses Him as Its Chief.

Toronto, Jan. 21. — The Toronto Reform Association last night elected as their President Hon. Sir William Mulock, Postmaster-General and Minister of Labor. The unanimous election was received with the utmost enthusiasm, and it was evident that Sir William was gratified by the cordiality of his Toronto friends. The meeting was perhaps the most representative ever held by the Reform Association of Toronto. The ground floor of Association Hall was filled with enthusiastic Liberals. Several of the officers went in by acclamation, and for the other positions only standing votes were taken in order to save time. A ballot was demanded in the case of a contest between Mr. Boland and Mr. McBrady for treasurer. Mr. Boland won on the ballot. Sir William briefly addressed the association, urging activity on the part of Toronto Liberals in order to carry the stronghold of Conservatism.

ARGUMENT BEGUN.

South Oxford Appeal and Cross-Appeal Before the Court of Appeal—Trouble a Dollar Caused.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—Argument on the appeal in the South Oxford election petition was commenced yesterday morning before the Court of Appeal. There is both an appeal and a cross-appeal to be argued. Mr. George H. Watson, for the petitioner, entered an appeal on charges 102 and 70. The former is a personal one against Donald Sutherland, the respondent, and charges him with having paid $1 to Richard Lloyd, an hostler, at a hotel in Tilsonburg.

Mr. Justice Street found that the charge was not proven, and Mr. Justice Britton held that it was proved.

The other charge is that Stephen King, an agent of the respondent, corruptly paid $2 to W. G. Collins of Ingersoll.

The court divided on this in the same manner as in charge 102.

Two charges on which the cross-appeal is taken are that two men, named Skinner and Walker, furnished rigs to drive voters to the polls on election day. These were the only charges in the entire trial found proved, and the appellants hope to show that the evidence was not sufficient, and, in any case, the acts were not such as to void the election.

For the appellant, Mr. George H. Watson, K.C., appeared, the respondent being represented by Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., and Edmund Bristol. The full Court of Appeal is hearing the argument.

Mr. Watson's argument on the appeal lasted all day.

This morning at 11 o'clock Mr. Blake will present Mr. Sutherland's side of the story to the court.

MR. C. M. HAYS REPLIES

The Great Northern Railway Objects to Competition.

MAY ASK FOR LAND GRANT

General Manager of the Grand Trunk Says They Expect Fair Assistance From the Government—Mr. Mill's Schemes—Out For Trade Originating in Canada—At Ottawa.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—On the subject of the recent interview with President Hill of the Great Northern on Canadian railroad problems, General Manager Hays yesterday gave out the following official statement: "I would state that at present I can only make reply to it in a general way. At first sight it seems to me that Mr. Hill has covered the matter in a nutshell in his remark, 'it is my judgment that another transcontinental railway cannot be profitably built across Canada.'

"It is for this very reason that the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, while it does not expect the same generous share of assistance that has already been granted to the original transcontinental line, does expect that it will receive fair consideration in the way of assistance.

"If the reports are true, Mr. Hill has but recently again made an alliance with the Canadian Northern Railway Company, by which the Canadian traffic originating on that line is diverted to his line on the other side of the border, after a short haul within Manitoba.

"In addition to this, I am advised that he has planned numerous extensions across the border for the purpose of securing and carrying the traffic originating in Canada to the south, and he, therefore, naturally looks with disapproval upon a route which would draw the traffic all the way across Canada rather than contributing to the earnings of the lines under the control of the Northern Securities Company."

Down at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Yesterday the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme was probably the subject of the conference between Sir Wilfrid Laurier, General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk, and Assistant General Manager Wainwright. Mr. Hays refused to deny or affirm the report that such was the purpose of the conference. When asked if the conference was not for that purpose, Mr. Hays said he would have to decline to answer.

It is rumored that the Grand Trunk will make application for a land grant, but there is no corroboration of this from official sources.

RAILWAY SOLD AT AUCTION.

Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Line to Be Made Up-to-Date.

Brockville, Jan. 21.—The Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway was sold by auction here yesterday to The Re-Organization Syndicate of New York for $160,000. This syndicate has a capital of $2,000,000, and was organized to purchase the road. The only other bid was one of $150,000, made by Mr. Loegrend, representing the Investment Company of Philadelphia. The sale is the result of foreclosure by the Knickerbocker Trust Company of New York, which company held first mortgage bonds to the amount of $125,000. These bonds have been quoted at about 18, and the new proprietors have an option on them.

The new proprietors purpose changing the name of the railway, and will extend it probably to Sault Ste. Marie. They intend to equip the road in an up-to-date manner.

IN PERFECT COMMUNITY.

Manitoba School Question Will Not Be Settled Till Minority Enjoy Former Liberties, Says Archbishop Bruchesi.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—"From what I saw and heard during my audience with the Holy Father, the Bishops of the Province of Quebec are in perfect community of ideas with the Pope on the matter. It may be said that the Manitoba school question is dead and buried, but it will certainly not be settled until the Catholic minority of the province enjoy the same liberties as were accorded to them before the act became law."

The above statement was made yesterday by Mgr. Bruchesi, who returned from Rome, and was speaking to the faithful in the Cathedral. His Grace is in good health.

D.R.O.'s Name Forged.

St. Thomas, Jan. 21.—The court in the alleged ballot box stuffing resumed yesterday. Mr. Robinson, counsel for the defence, argued at length for the acquittal of H. A. Branton and W. H. Walsh, his clients, on technical grounds. The deputy returning officer swore that his signature had been forged on the spurious ballot papers. Judge Bell found both men guilty of attempted ballot stuffing. Sentence was not delivered.

Three-Cornered Fight.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 21.—There will be a three-cornered fight in Burrard. Nominations yesterday were: Chris. Foley (Independent) Labor; ex-Lieut.-Governor McInnes (Independent), and R. G. MacPherson (Liberal). Polling takes place on Feb. 4, and it is expected the campaign will be a hot one.

C.P.R. After Steamships.

London, Jan. 21.—The Daily Express yesterday said the Canadian Pacific Railway officials have admitted that the Beaver line of steamships of the Elder-Dempster Company has been offered to the company, and that negotiations were proceeding.

"GLENGARRY FOREVER."

By Rev. W. W. MacCuaig.

(Written on reading Connor's last book, "Glengarry School Days.")

Famed are the names of the brave sons of Zorra—
Their Scotch blood counts high on the roll of our land;
And blue-nosed Nova Scotia can count her good number,
Who have gained a high place in political bands;
But high over all, like the crags o'er the mountains,
Towering great in their might, loyal hearted and true;
Foremost in all deeds of true manhood and valour,
Lead the "Glengarry men," in their bonnets of blue.

Glengarry forever! Hark, the watchword resounding,
O'er hills, lakes and rivers, o'er campus, or field.
They rally! They come! those strong sons of the Highlands,
The "men from Glengarry," who never can yield.
See! See! How they come! From all ranks and professions;
From the pulpit and bar, where they plead a just cause;
From the field and all callings, in a noble procession,
And more than a score who had framed our good laws.

MacLeods and MacDonalds, McSweyns and MacLaurans,
Big Angus who ran the Calumette on an oar,
With Rory, the member, who kissed all the babies,
And stood by Sir John for years near a score;
Macphersons, MacMartins, in gay coloured tartans,
Stride by to the skirl of the pipes sweet and clear;
MacMasters, MacDougalls, MacCuaigs and the Stewarts—
The country is safe while Glengarry is near.

Ah, well, for the people, who follow her footsteps,
Who walk before God humble-hearted and true;
Who make no display, but let deeds tell the story;
Of how men can work, and what men can do.
Brave, stalwart and firm in the face of the foeman;
True to God and to King, and all righteous endeavour;
In the forefront are men who will shout as they gather—
"We'll stand by the right, Glengarry forever!"

A NOVEL CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

Says Soft Coal has Spoiled Her Washing.

The Hamilton Times says: — Mr. J. G. Farmer, of the law firm of Lee, Farmer & Stanton, is evidently out to make a reputation for himself as a framer of claims for damages. To-day he filed a claim on behalf of Mrs. Johanna Patterson, John street north, for $60 against Mrs. Ge. Freeborn, a neighbour. Following is the phraseology of the suit: "That the defendant did negligently, unskillfully and unnecessarily cause dense smoke and noxious, penetrating and discolouring substances and vapors, and offensive odors in greater quantities than were required for the legitimate and proper use of the defendant's property."

It is stated that the noxious smoke is from soft coal or slack used on wash-days in an outhouse. A quantity of clothing, spoiled by the smoke, will be put in.

G.T.R. AGENT'S EXCUSE

For Collision of Two Freight Trains Near Port Hope.

TWO MEN KILLED ON G.T.R.

Conductor Young Says Station Agent McDougall of Newtonville Admits That He Is to Blame, But Said That He Had Too Much Work to Do—Fire Followed the Disaster.

Port Hope, Jan. 22.—A westbound freight, No. 895, in charge of Conductor George Plunkett, left Belleville yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and had orders to meet an eastbound freight. No. 926, at Newtonville. The eastbound train, in charge of Conductor William Young, left Little York at 3.15 p.m., and had orders through to Port Hope. The westbound train did not see a stop signal at Newtonville, and pushed on, only to run into the eastbound train. The crash was terrific. Both engines, two moguls of the largest type, were derailed, and their boilers burst. The cars behind each, 33, 61 in all, were jammed together, and half of them piled high in a mass of debris that at once took fire, and burned as if made of straw.

The eastbound was laden with corn, and the westbound with an assorted cargo, comprising much pork. The inflammable nature of the wreckage created a fire that nothing could quench and burned with a heat and a fierceness that baffles description. High into the air the flames leaped, and back and forth until 33 cars, smashed to pieces, were a seething mass of flames.

Before the crash came the train crews leaped, and, with the exception of Harry Matthews, fireman on the westbound freight, and Benjamin Everist, brakeman on the eastbound, escaped with slight injuries. The crews were panic-stricken. When they recovered themselves, which they did in short order, the flames from the locomotives had reached the wreckage, and in spite of thier endeavors, gained headway till the heat in an incredibly short space of time drove willing seekers for the two missing men away. It is surmised, with a force that points to a certainty, that they have been burned to a crisp, caught in the wreckage.

Among the injured is W. H. Butler of Lakefield, a brakeman on the eastbound train. He was badly shaken up. His foot is crushed, and his condition is not considered serious.

A wrecking train came up from Belleville, but the track was not cleared till after 12 o'clock. The train due in Toronto at 9.15 was stalled at Port Hope, and the eastbound passenger train that leaves Toronto at 10 was stalled at Bowmanville for hours.

Conductor Young, in speaking of the disaster, says that Station Agent McDougall admits that he is to blame because he failed to put out a stop signal, but he pleads that he has too much work to do.

Further, the G.T.R. from Newtonville to Port Hope is not double-tracked. This is the only portion of the line that is single track.

MRS. SICKER'S CHILDREN.

Leaves Husband and Four to Join Fortunes With Young Man.

Montreal, Jan. 22.—Mrs. Sicker, who lived in a pretty little country village, near Albany, N. Y., and who is a very attractive looking woman, left her husband a few days ago and was located here by the police with a man named Burgess. Chief Carpenter and the relatives had a long interview with the couple, but Mrs. Sicker absolutely refused to return home to her husband and four children, aged respectively, 7, 4, 2 and 1 years. The chief, however, induced the woman to give back to Mr. Sicker $700 of the $1,800 which she had taken with her, and she also gave up the little girl. Mrs. Sicker says she likes Montreal very much and is going to reside here permanently.

Spain Sues Clyde Builders.

Edinburgh, Jan. 22.—The Spanish Minister of Marine, Senor Sanchez Toca, began action yesterday before the Court of Sessions to recover $375,000 from the Clyde Bank Engineering and Shipbuilding Company because of the company's failure to deliver in contract time four torpedo boat destroyers which had been intended for use during the Spanish-American war.

ON A CHARGE OF TREASON.

Col. Lynch Personally Fired on British Troops in Africa—Motion to Quash Indictment Overruled.

London, Jan. 22. — The trial at Bar, before a quorum of judges, of Col. Arthur Lynch, member of Parliament for Galway, on the charge of treason, by aiding and abetting the King's and the late Queen's enemies during the war in South Africa, commenced yesterday before the Lord Chief Justice, Lord Alverstone, and two other justices. The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

According to one sentence of the arraignment, the defendant was "moved, and seduced by the instigation of the devil." Upwards of sixty years elapsed since a treason trial has been held in London. The last was that of John Francis, a youth who fired a pistol at the last Queen Victoria as she was riding down Constitution Hill. He was condemned to death, but the sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life.

The judges overruled a motion to quash Lynch's indictment. The Attorney-General, in an address, stated that Lynch personally fired on British troops in South Africa, as well as having directed the firing. Lynch, he said, was a British subject, born in Australia.

After the conclusion of the evidence for the Crown, which did not differ from that presented at the preliminary hearing, and the reading of Col. Lynch's statement, made before the committing magistrate, the case was adjourned.

Demand an Increase.

Thoroughness.

Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, states that "Sunlight Soap has "a thorough cleansing power, with-"out danger to the clothing or skin." Women who want washing done thoroughly cannot use better than Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. Unlike common soaps, there is no damage to the clothing, and no danger to the skin; hence the saying: Sunlight Soap reduces expense. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 318

EXPLOSION OF A BOILER.

Five Persons Killed Outright, and Twenty or Thirty Injured.

London, Jan. 22.—A boiler explosion in Tupper's Iron Works, at Bilston, Stafford, yesterday afternoon, resulted in the killing of five persons and the injuring of twenty or thirty by steam and pieces of flying metal. The explosion occurred while the shops were crowded with employes. The building was completely wrecked. Several of the injured persons are not expected to live.

Invasion From Britain.

London, Jan. 22.—It is announced that the two thousand British farmers and agricultural laborers who are to settle at Saskatoon are to sail on March 21, in charge of the Rev. Mr. Barr. The Canadian Government will give sufficient land for 18 townships and foreigners will not be permitted to settle on this reserved territory. The settlement will be called the Special British Colony.

HOT IN AUSTRALIA.

Man Overtaken in Burning Sugar Cane Field Burnt to Death.

Sydney, Jan. 22.—The heat wave continues in part of New South Wales. There have been 20 deaths. A sugar-cane field near Ballina ignited, and a man being overtaken by the flames, was burnt to death. Phenomenal sandstorms have occurred in Victoria, some railway trains only being able to proceed at the rate of a mile an hour, while the rails were cleared ahead by men with shovels.

Throw Open Uganda.

Johannesburg, Jan. 22. — Colonial Secretary Chamberlain received a number of mine representatives yesterday, and talked over the labor situation. He agreed to throw open Nyassaland and British East Africa for the recruiting of native labor, and said that if his influence with the Foreign Office prevailed Uganda would also be thrown open.

Miaus a Leg.

Napanee, Jan. 22.—Archie Smith, 28 years of age, a resident of Deseronto, while trying to board No. 5 G. T.R. express at this station at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, slipped and fell under the cars, one leg being run over below the knee. Smith was removed to a hotel.

GOODS ALWAYS SUTCLIFFE'S PETERBOROUGH "A Little Better than seems necessary"

No retraction of interest in the great January White Goods Sale, but a seeming betterment every day—probably not so many lines, yet each day seems to bring forth new and interesting prices in White Goods of all descriptions. How an abscess in the Fallopian Tubes of Mrs. Hollinger was removed without a surgical operation.

"I had an abscess in my side in the fallopian tube (the fallopian tube is a connection of the ovaries). I suffered untold misery and was so weak I could scarcely get around. The sharp burning pains low down in my side were terrible. My physician said there was no help for me unless I would go to the hospital and be operated on. I thought before that I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which, fortunately, I did, and it has made me a stout, healthy woman. My advice to all women who suffer with any kind of female trouble is to commence taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once."—MRS. IRA S. HOLLINGER, Stilvideo, Ohio.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

It would seem by this statement that women would save time and much sickness if they would get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and also write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helps.

No other person can give such helpful advice as Mrs. Pinkham to women who are sick.

CANADA'S PROSPERITY.

To those who are continually advocating radical readjustments of Canada's trade policy, the following figures of Canada's enormous trade under the present trade policy, should be, at least, instructive:

The trade returns of the Dominion for the six months ending December 31st last show a marvellous growth in the trade of the country. The aggregate trade of the Dominion for the six months was $231,342,201, compared with $213,231,609 for the same time last year, or an increase of $18,110,592. The trade of the past six months is about eleven millions greater than for the whole of the year 1896. This increase is pretty well divided between imports and exports. The details for the six months in 1901 and 1902 are:

Imports—	1901.
Dutiable goods	$66,936,189
Free goods	38,627,997
Coin and bullion	4,098,663
	$99,662,849
Duty collected	$15,673,543
	1902.
Dutiable goods	$84,582,101
Free goods	38,619,513
Coin and bullion	2,839,121
	$106,040,735
Duty collected	$ 17,814,116
Exports.	1901.
Domestic	$113,503,780
Foreign	16,471,662
Coin and bullion	1,560,272
	$125,540,694
	1902.
Domestic	$125,301,406
Foreign	7,396,554
Coin and bullion	224,721
	$132,982,741

The exports show a decrease in the produce of the mine of about three million dollars, and a decrease of about one million in the fisheries. On the other hand the forest wealth shows an increase of over three millions, animals and other produce over three millions, and manufactures nearly one million better than for the same time in 1901. There is an increase in the duty collected of $2,135,473.

For the month of December there was an increase in the imports over December, 1901, of about one million and a half, and in the exports of about five million dollars, while the duty increased by $422,000.

TWO OF A KIND.

The Toronto World contains a letter discussing the merits of Toronto's papers, in which the following occurs:

"I am not a politician—although I endeavour to follow the run of affairs politically—and while I note the political learnings of The World, I also note its evident independence of all parties. It is a matter of astonishment how the Conservative party can tolerate their Toronto organ, with its constant harping on the 'Machine,' 'Every Seat Stolen,' and charges of 'Wholesale Corruption' throughout the country, which no intelligent man believes to be true to any such extent as indicated by these charges, which have become simply nauseating. The man who takes his political facts and opinions entirely from such an organ must be in a pitiable condition mentally, and I should not like to be his neighbour."

The same will apply mutatis mutandis to Mr. Whitney, leader of the Conservative party in Ontario, who takes his abusive vicious vindictive tone in discussing political matters from the organ and vice versa. The influence of such a leader and such an organ can only be temporary and their methods largely account for the position in Ontario politics in which the party finds itself.

LIVE LAKEFIELD.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Lakefield Curling Club sent three rinks to Peterborough Tuesday. The team which played the Scottish curlers was composed as follows: Skip, R. C. Strickland, J. P. Strickland, Robt. Graham, Levi Payne. Two other rinks skipped by C. Grylls and J. Ridpath went down to take part in the tankard competition.

Mr. F. A. Kilbourn spent Sunday in Toronto with friends.

Mr. R. P. Davidson, who had the misfortune to step on some ice and hurt his knee, which forced him to keep his room for a couple of days, is, we are glad to say, able to be about again.

Mr. J. M. Kilbourn left on Monday for Toronto on business.

On Friday night our hockey team went to Peterborough to play the T.A.S. of that town. Although our team is very light compared with the T.A.S. the latter had hard work defeating them on their own ice, and the Lakefield team will certainly make them hustle when the return match is played. The local team speak highly of the gentlemanly way they were treated by the T.A.S. boys after the match.

The Lakefield team expect to play the return match with Bobcaygeon on Friday evening next.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Cox, Jr., Mrs. Pierce and Master Gordon Cox, all of Peterborough, drove to Lakefield on Sunday, returning in the evening.

Mr. R. C. Strickland was in Toronto on Saturday attending the wedding of his second son, Roland, to Miss Ada Cayley, of that city.

CAVANDISH WEDDING

That Occurred on Christmas Day.

The following belated despatch has been received from Cavendish:

On Christmas day a very pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. David Higgins, Cavendish, when his second daughter, Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Nelson Montgomery, of Hall's bridge. The bride was handsomely gowned in cream brocade garnished with chiffon and ribbon, and wearing the customary veil. She was attended by the sister of the groom, Miss Rose Montgomery, who looked charming in white lace with trimmings of pink. The groom was assisted by Mr. John Montgomery. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Isaac Rodman of Port Perry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Matchett. The house was handsomely decorated with evergreens and flowers, and was beautifully and tastefully illuminated by many coloured lights. The guests numbered one hundred, and were entertained to a wedding supper, and the evening spent in dancing, etc.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the high esteem in which the happy couple were held.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will reside at Hall's bridge.

BENSFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

As the elections are over, and Mr. Buckham is in the chair, everything is now in running order.

The foot races which took plac eon Christmas Eve were better than usual, and at the close of the events more excitement was caused by a runaway horse, which did no further mischief than to damage the sleigh, and Mr. Thomas' gate.

Soon afterwards a team broke away leaving a sleigh load of young people sitting in four feet of snow. Needless to say there was no panic as the pleasure seekers were quite cool.

Mr. N. Perrin has drawn the brick for his new house which he intends to build next summer.

The annual school meeting went off very quietly this year. Mr. Freeman Thompson was re-appointed trustee, and John Pue, caretaker.

Mrs. William Pemmett was home visiting her parents for a few days.

Mr. John Moncrief had a narrow escape from being hurt in a runaway last week. He was dragged nearly half a mile but managed to bring his horse under control in time to prevent very much damage.

The roads are getting filled up with snow and accidents are quite common. Mr. Robert Fisher had the misfortune to upset a load of peas last week, but Bob O'Hara happened to come along and helped him out of his trouble. Mr. Sam Blakely unloaded his hay in the same spot on Saturday morning rather suddenly, but Geo. Smithson came to his rescue and in a short time sent him on his way.

The school was closed last week for three days, as the teacher was indisposed.

Russell and Frank Morrison have returned from western Ontario, where they have been visiting for a month or more.

Miss B. Dodds and Miss Trixy Rutherford are visiting at Mr. David Dodds.

A party of hunters came up last week from Port Hope for a rabbit hunt. After spending most of the day they managed to drive one into into a snare and then shot it. They also snared one of their dogs, but let him out again.

Cause of Splitting Headaches.

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread every moment to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache.

Ferrozone is Nature's own remedy for headaches; it is a blood strengthener and purifier of uncommon merit, a lasting patent tonic and the greatest invigorant and health maker known. Headaches never bother people who take Ferrozone after each meal. Buy a box from your druggist for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

FROM PICTURESQUE KEENE.

The First Carnival was a Great Success.

A Grand Concert to be Given in the Town Hall—Notes of Interest.

Presbyterian annual church meeting was held last week and among several matters of importance Messrs. J. Renwich, Sr., and Robt. Miller were nominated for Deacons.

We are very sorry to report the death of Mr. Wm. Wood's youngest son on Tuesday last after a very short illness. The sympathy of all the friends is with Mr. and Mrs. Wood in their great loss.

Otonabee Agricultural Society's annual meeting was very largely attended and the following officers were elected:

President—Wm. Newton.

Vice-President—John Miller.

Secretary-Treasurer — Andrew Shearer.

Directors—J. J. Moore, Dr. Shaw, R. Humphries, Ed. Foley, W. J Miller, R. Weir, Geo. Easson, Alex. Wood, W. J. Renwick, W. W. Shearer, G. Howson, M. Kennelly, A. Weir, P. Drummond, Alex. Stewart, W. B. Stewart, Joshua Smithson.

The hockey matches came off as advertised and the Keene Club won out in each case, first with Stirling and then before a very large crowd, and a very fast game with Norwood. The Keene Club played Stirling in that place on Tuesday, winning by a score of 7 to 3. They will play Campbellford in Keene on Thursday evening, then winding up the first round by a trip to Norwood.

The carnival, as usual, was a huge success. Very large crowds from all round, a very large and varied collection of costumes. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Best ladies' costume, fancy—Mrs. T. J. Wallace.

Best ladies' costume, comic—Miss Pansy L. Pue.

Best girl's costume, fancy — Miss Mary Bryce.

Best girl's costume, comic — Miss Jean Shaw.

Best gentlemen's costume, fancy—Mr. T. J. Wallace.

Best gentleman's costume, comic—Mr. Davis.

Best Boy's costume, fancy—Mr. T. Campbell.

Best Boy's costume, comic — Mr. Rolly Weir.

As usual a very few only, handed in their costume name. We give as full a list as possible:

And many others who did not hand in tickets as requested.

A splendid evening is in prospect for those who attend the entertainment under the auspices of the Keene Improvement Association by Mr. Spafford in the Town aHll. Both the concert and object are good so let all be out and help to build sidewalks and otherwise improve our village. Tickets can be procured from the Keene school children and thus avoid the crush at the door.

Next and last carnival of the season in Keene will be held on Friday, Feb. 13th.

HORSE THREW HER.

Miss Ethel Greatham Still Unconscious From the Fall.

Holland Landing, Jan. 22.—Miss Ethel Grantham, daughter of John Grantham of this place, was found lying unconscious in their lane yesterday afternoon. It appears she was riding horseback, and was thrown from the horse. The doctor was sent for immediately. Her brain is affected, and the doctor is unable to say what the results of the fall will turn to, as Miss Grantham is still unconscious, and does not recognize any one.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, blood root, red gum and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslee in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkably satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patient medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver, or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

U.S. AND CANADIAN DAM.

To Be Built Across the St. Lawrence Near Adam's Island—Negotiations With Secretary of War.

Buffalo, Jan. 22.—T. S. Burbidge, chief engineer and superintendent of the Galops Canal, and L. K. Jones, secretary to the Minister of Railroads and Canals of Canada, yesterday consulted Major Thomas W. Symons, United States Engineer for the Buffalo district, with reference to the proposition of the Canadian Government to build a dam in the St. Lawrence River, between Adams Island and Galops Island.

The reason for the consultation with Major Symons is that the dam in question will be partly in American water, and will rest partly on American soil, if it is erected as proposed. The Canadian officials have been in consultation with the United States Secretary of War for some time on the proposition, and they were finally referred to Major Symons to discuss the proposition in its entirety with him.

After the conference, Mr. Burbidge stated that he and his associate had been very cordially received by Major Symons, and that they believed the American Government would consent to the construction of the dam as the result of the conference. The dam in question will be about 800 feet long, and about 15 feet high.

Major Symons stated that he would not like to say anything for publication, further than that his report would be sent to the Secretary of War, and some action would be immediately taken on the question.

DEATH OF SENATOR WOOD.

Brief Review of His Parliamentary and Business Career.

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 22.—Senator A. T. Wood died yesterday morning at 9.30.

The late Hon. Andrew Trew Wood was born at Mount Norris, Ireland, August 26th, 1826, and educated there. He came to Canada in 1846. In 1851 he married Mary E. Freeman, of Saltfleet, Ont., who died. He was married again in 1863 to Jennie, daughter of Geo. H. White, of Yorkville, Ont. Mr. Wood was a progressive business man, and a senior partner of the large hardware firm of Wood, Vallance & Co.; President of the Hamilton Art School, Director of the Bank of Hamilton, and Vice-President of the Hamilton Provident & Loan Co. Mr. Wood sat in Parliament in the Liberal interests from 1874 to 1878, and again from 1896 to 1900. He was appointed to the Senate January 21st, 1901.

William Bathgate, Aged 71, Dead.

Winnipeg, Jan. 22.—The death of William Bathgate occurred yesterday morning. His demise carries off one of the most prominent pioneers of Winnipeg. He was 71 years of age. The late William Bathgate came to Winnipeg in the early eighties from Eramosa Township, near Guelph, Ont., where he was born. He took a very important part in the business of the city in the early days, and was at one time a member of the Council. He organized and managed up to a few years ago the first gas company in Winnipeg, and also had the management of the Electric Light Company, run in connection with the Gas Company. Deceased leaves a widow and family of five sons, all in Winnipeg.

Between Italy and Argentina.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, Signor Galimberti, has announced that, at the re-opening of the Chamber of Deputies, he will ask for an appropriation of $150,000 to erect wireless telegraph stations for a service between Italy and Argentina. The work will be directed by Signor Marconi.

The Same Evidence Credited by Him in One Part and Discredited by Him in Another Part—Was It a Tip and Not a Bribe?—Lloyd's Evidence —Question of Jurisdiction— Cross-Appeal.

Toronto, Jan. 22. — Mr. S. H. Blake, K.C., began argument in the Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall yesterday in behalf of the respondent in the appeal from the trial Judge's decision on the petition to unseat Donald Sutherland, the Conservative member-elect in South Oxford. He devoted most of the time to an attempt to discredit Lloyd's evidence, and to show that the payment of fifty cents, as is admitted, by Sutherland to Lloyd was a tip and not a bribe. He would have set up a part of Pritchard's evidence as being incredible, as it happened to suit the respondent's case, but both Chief Justice Moss and Justice Garrow interrupted, saying that if the evidence was to be accepted it would materially affect the whole case. Mr. Blake was willing to let this evidence stand so far as it went to show that Lloyd prior to the trial told that the amount Sutherland gave him was only fifty cents, but he sought to discredit the part that claimed the presence of Young and Pritchard during the transaction.

Mr. Blake took some time in an endeavor to show that Lloyd might reasonably have been looked upon by Sutherland as a Conservative, and, therefore, that there would be no object in buying his vote. To damage Lloyd's evidence, it was contended that Constable Fick had gone about the neighborhood paying money for evidence, but counsel was careful to remark that it was not stated that he tried to buy false evidence. Fick had seen Lloyd, and the inference was that money might have passed between them.

The credibility of the witnesses, Pritchard, Young and Sponenburgh, it was contended, was beyond doubt, and had been so considered by Mr. Justice Street at the trial. They had told what Lloyd had said to them after having received the money. He had said that Sutherland gave him 50 cents, and than at the trial he had sworn that it was a dollar. The question, Mr. Blake claimed, was, did Sutherland give Lloyd 50 cents as a tip or did he give it as a bribe? All the evidence that had credibility on the face of it, counsel contended, went to show that it had been but a tip. Mr. Watson had called the attention of the court to the fact that the evidence of Young, which he claimed was corroboration of Lloyd's evidence, had not been impeached, Mr. Blake said that this evidence might well be taken as it stood, because it showed that the amount paid was 50 cents and not a dollar.

Continuing, counsel declared that the evidence of Pritchard and Young really weakened Lloyd's evidence, and Sutherland's testimony contradicted it. Out of the chaos of evidence Sutherland's absolute statement agreed with the original statement of Lloyd, and also with other witnesses. The court was asked if, in view of the evidence, the conclusion of the trial Judge, Mr. Street, was not absolutely correct, namely, that at the time Sutherland gave the money to Lloyd no person thought there was any bribery or impropriety.

Counsel, proceeding, attempted to show that Young was not in the barn when the transaction between Sutherland and Lloyd took place, but Mr. Justice Garrow interrupted, saying that if Pritchard's evidence were to be accepted as truthful, then Young was in the barn at the time. His Lordship thought that Young had been present, according to the evidence, but had not wished to admit it, as it would have been an admission that he had abandoned his work. But Mr. Blake still contended that Young was not present.

Chief Justice Moss—I understood you to say that Pritchard's evidence might be taken without prejudicing the respondent's case.

Mr. Blake here finally admitted that he had himself been unable to come to a conclusion as to who and how many were really in the barn at the time. He did not think it had much effect upon the main point, the question of a tip or a bribe.

Mr. Justice Garrow—If any one of these witnesses, Pritchard for instance, tells the truth, it very materially affects the whole case.

Mr. Blake dealt with the manner in which the petitioners had obtained evidence, going into the details and denouncing the practice of paying out large sums of money for such a purpose. He asked the court to show by its attitude in this matter that it does not countenance such conduct, and that, even if, as it was said, the public had been educated to expect proceedings of a similar nature, the highest court in the Province should put itself on record by its judgment as being strongly against the practice of paying for evidence.

Argument on the personal charge concluded in an appeal to the court to find instead of its having been established that Sutherland bribed Lloyd, that the thing could not have happened at all.

Charge 70, that Stephen King gave W. G. Collins $2 at Ingersoll in part payment of a promised bribe, was then taken up. Mr. Blake contended that the whole story was but another of the methods used by the petitioners to make evidence. It was a very likely thing that they should have sent a man like Collins to approach King in the hope that he would receive money to keep away, and then make out that it was a bribe. It was a likely thing that a man of King's character should laugh when thus approached, and pass on.

Mr. Blake took up the question of lack of jurisdiction, claiming, as had Mr. Cassels in the Lennox appeal, that the Court of Appeal was no jurisdiction in such a case after a disagreement by the trial Judges. Mr. Watson will reply to this contention this morning.

Mr. Blake introduced the cross-appeal, and after reviewing the evidence gave way to Mr. Edmund Bristol, who argued that the onus lay upon the petitioners to show that there had been a hiring, and not upon the respondent, to show that the rigs had been supplied without hire. Mr. Patterson had sworn that there had been no promise to pay, and Mr. Bristol asked if a man should really be put to the necessity of taking witnesses with him when requesting a supply of rigs free of charge for use on election day.

The court adjourned at 5 o'clock.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are prepared from the prescription of Dr. Zina Pitcher (formerly Professor of Materia Medica and Genito-Urinary Diseases, Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.), which he used with wonderful success for over twelve years in private practice in the Western Hospital, Detroit.

They contain specific ingredients not found in any other kidney remedy, and it is not surprising, therefore, that they make cures in very many cases where other remedies had proved altogether ineffectual.

We would caution you in purchasing the Tablets to see that the accompanying cut, printed in green ink, and Dr. Pitcher's portrait and signature, are printed on the package. Refuse substitutes and imitations, as these are sure to disappoint.

The price of the Tablets is 50c. a box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail by addressing the Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

An Aching Back

Is the first indication of kidney disease, and should be taken as a signal of danger—a warning to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, while yet there is time to avoid the dreadful pains and certain fatality of this terrible disease. There is no guess work, no experimenting when you use this prescription. It brings relief in a remarkably short time, and because of its combined action of liver and kidneys, cures complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

ST. JOHN'S ENTERTAINMENT.

The Annual Affair was a Grand Success.

The Programme was Excellent—Those Who Took Part in it.

The annual tea and entertainment of St. John's Sunday school, which took place last night, was a singular success. The children for a considerable length of time, between the hours of 5 and 7 did great justice to the refreshments provided, after which they thoroughly enjoyed themselves until 8 o'clock, at which hour an entertaining programme commenced.

The school house, which was well filled by the parents of the children and friends of the Sunday school. The rector was in the chair, and the following appreciated programme was rendered:

PART I.

Piano duet... ... ...Missed English
Violin solo..... ... ...Miss Burnett
Duet, "Tell Me Pretty Maiden".....
Mr. H. Cluxton and Miss Sherwood
Piano solo... ... ...Miss Butcher
Good Night Drill...Eight little girls in Costume
Intermission, Awarding of prizes by the rector.

PART II.

Vocal solo... ... ...Miss Sherwood
Address... ... ...Mr. R. M. Dennistoun
Quartette...Messrs. Gray, Seymour, Bell and Cluxton
Vocal solo..... ....Miss Rush
Play, Revolt of Santa Claus.....Children

Mr. Wesley, who was down for a vocal solo, was out of town, and could not therefore attend; but his absence was partially filled by the encore of the Good Night Drill performed by eight little girls, which was a very pretty feature of the programme.

The prizes were distributed to the deserving members of the school by the Rector, the Rev. J. C. Davidson. One teacher, Miss Errett, who is, to the regret of all, leaving, was presented with a gift by her class. Although rather early in the year, Santa Claus was in great form, distributing candies, and it is to be hoped that the children will not succumb to a second Christmas coming so soon after the last one.

A very pleasant evening was spent by all present, who were pleasantly surprised at the excellence of the programme.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

A Message Received by Mr. N. McNeely of Peterborough—An Interesting Story.

It is sometimes impossible for one to conceive the outcome of a trifling and unconsidered action. A striking example of this fact comes from the McBain store house, which verily illustrates the well-known rhyme, "Tall Oaks from Little Acorns Grow."

On February 7, 1902, Mr. N. McNeeley, an employee of the McBain elevator, deposited a card in a bag of peas, on the back of which he wrote:

"Whoever finds this please return to N. McNeeley, McBain's store house, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada."

On November 15th, of last year, this bag turned up in South Africa, and the buyer discovering the card, returned it, together with a note wishing Mr. McNeely a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, but unfortunately both the card and note did not arrive in this town until the 19th of January of this year.

How interesting it would be to know the history and the travels of our different exportations —our horses, cattle, money, etc — even of some of our relatives, who go away for many long and weary years, only to turn up in the end like the proverbial "bad penny."

BONSPIEL AROUSES VERY MUCH INTEREST

The Finals Will be Played This Evening.

ICE IS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Orillia has Five Rinks at the Bonspiel —The Consolation Competition.

The departure of the Scotch curlers has not to any extent detracted from the enthusiasm at the Charlotte street rink. The bonspeil is becoming more interesting as the hours pass by, and it is expected that the finals will be completed this evening. The roar of the curling stone could be heard until about midnight last night, whilst again this morning the various rinks were at play. The vanquished clubs that did not enter in the consolation contest have returned to their respective homes and left the other clubs to fight matters to a finish. Yesterday afternoon the following games were played in the primary contest:—

During the contest between Kingston and Peterborough great excitement prevailed the whole time as the game was a very close one to the finish. The following is the score by ends:—

Kingston ... ...01120110022002 01—10
Peterborough ... ...10000021004102 0—14

It will be noticed that in the 14th the score was a tie, in the 15th Skip Morrow got in two shots and in the last Kingston scored 1, leaving them vanquished by a single unit.

TO-NIGHT.

There should be a large attendance at the Charlotte street rink this evening to see the finals played off in the Primary and Consolation Competitions.

The ice is in splendid condition, and some excellent curling is being put up by the members of the various rinks.

Mr. Angus McIntosh, the genial manager of the rink, has been kept pretty busy during the past few days.

The rink is visited throughout the day time by many townspeople.

Orillia sent down five rinks to Peterborough to take part in the bonspiel.

WEDDED IN TORONTO.

Mr. Roland W. Wood, Son of Mr. John Wood, of Ashburnham.

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart, Church street, Toronto. The bride was Miss Iva Leonard, of Toronto, sister of Mrs. Stewart, the bridegroom being Mr. Roland W. Wood, of the Crow's Nest Coal Co. The ceremony was held in the spacious drawing rooms, which were prettily decorated with white flowers and masses of green wreathing of smilax and ferns. The piano at the far end of the room was almost concealed by handsome drapery, with an arrangement of flowers and greenery, in front of which the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Thomas. The Wedding March was played by Miss Day, as the bride, robed in ivory Duchess satin, trimmed with embroidery of pearls and lace applique, entered the room. The long tulle veil fell over the long train, and a small wreath of orange blossoms was worn. A beautiful diamond and pearl pendant, the gift of the bridegroom, was the only ornament. The bridesmaid wore a charming dress of cream white crepe de chene over white taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The corsage was trimmed with beautiful lace, and an extremely pretty brooch of pearls in horse shoe shape, was the gift of the bridegroom. The groomsman was Mr. Frank Wood, brother of the groom, and he was presented with a handsome pearl pin. The going-away gown was a tailor-made one of coronation cloth, appliqued with red, and toque to match; and with this Mrs. Wood wore a handsome coat of Persian lamb, with Hudson Bay sable collar, and splendid muff. Only the immediate family and friends of the bride and bridegroom were present, and after a happy evening gathering Mr. and Mrs. Wood left for New York, and a trip in the States, before reaching their pretty home in Morrissey, B. C. The presents, sent from far and near, were very numerous and beautiful.

WINTER RACES ARE PROVING SUCCESSFUL

Gypsy Girl Won the 2.20 Trot Yesterday.

COMMODORE K, A WINNER.

To-day's Races will Conclude a Successful Meet—The Officials and Other Notes.

The winter races of the Peterborough Turf Club opened yesterday under most favourable auspices, and the meet promises to come quite up to the expectations of the officers and directors of the local organization.

There was a good list of entries which included horses from many of the leading towns in western Ontario. There was a fair attendance of spectators, and the events proved decidedly interesting.

The track was somewhat heavy as a result of the recent mild spell, and the snow fall of Tuesday night, which prevented the best of speed being made.

The events run off yesterday were the 2.20 and 2.50 classes. The winner of first place in the former was Commodore K., owned by Geo. Powell, of Orillia, while Gipsy Girl, owned by A. Martin, of Parkdale, carried off the honours in the 2.20 class. A peculiar feature of the races, however, was that the horses in the 2.50 class made better time in some cases than those which were entered in the 2.20 class.

The following horses started in the 2.50 class, in the order named:

Keepabell, Dr. Johnston, Peterborough.

Commodore K., Geo. Powell, Orillia.

Prince Hal, Jas. Elmhurst, Keene.

Dan Finister, John Aldrus, Fenelon Falls.

Happy Paddy, J. Yeomans, Colborne.

Little Boy, Snow and Dennis, Toronto.

In the first heat Commodore K. took the lead with Prince Hal a close second, which position they held until a quarter way around, when Little Boy drew up to second, with Dan Finister third, and finished in the following order:

1. Commodore K.
2. Little Boy.
3. Dan Finister.
4. Prince Hal.
5. Happy Paddy.

Time, 2.26 1-2.

2.20 CLASS.

In the first heat of the 2.20 class there were only three entries, as follows: Gipsy Girl, A. Martin, Parkdale; Re-Elected, M. E. Gray, Barrie; Little Buck, W. G. Fanning, Cambray.

The horses held their positions, as given above, throughout the heat. The race for first place was very exciting, and the time made was 2.26.

The second heat of the 2.50 class was trotted in the following order:

Commodore K.
Little Boy.
Happy Paddy.
Dan Finister.

Time, 2.27.

2.20 — SECOND HEAT.

The second heat of the 2.20 race a very good event, the horses had a good start, but Little Buck lost by breaking in the first quarter, but came up to second place before the wire was reached in first half. Altogether this heat was most exciting. It finished as follows:

Gipsy Girl.
Little Buck.
Re-Elected.

Time, 2.28.

THIRD HEAT.

The third heat of the 2.50 class resulted as follows:

Commodore K.
Little Boy.
Dan Finister.
Happy Paddy.

Time, 2.26.

The purses for this race were therefore won as follows:

Commodore K.
Little Boy.
Dan Finister.
Happy Paddy.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Reginald Brennan.

The many friends of Mr. Reginald Brennan, of 560 Park street, will regret to hear of the death of his wife, Elizabeth Matilda Brown, which occurred on Wednesday last, after an illness of two weeks.

The deceased lady was born in Peterborough 25 years ago and has been married eight years. She leaves behind her two children, one an infant one week old.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at nine o'clock, from the family residence, 560 Park street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Piano tuning promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. F. Hoover, 'phone 199.

—St. Andrew's choir practice tonight at 8 o'clock. A large attendance is particularly requested.

—Queen Alexandra Circle, A.O.F., will hold a prise concert on Feb. 18th. An excellent programme is being prepared. Tickets 15c.

—At the Police Court on Saturday an inquiry will be thoroughly threshed out on the subject of three men being drunk and disorderly last night. (Wednesday.)

—Lindsay Post. — The Oddfellows, Peterborough have invited the Lindsay brethren to pay them a fraternal visit. The invitation has been accepted and we understand the members of the local order are making arrangements to run a special train. The date of the visit has not been definitely fixed, but we think that it will be next week.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt has gone to Orillia to-day to visit her parents.

Mrs. Geo. Buchanan, of Havelock, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ross Payne, of town.

Miss Mona O'Shea, of town, has returned to St. Joseph's Academy, Toronto, to resume her studies.

Mr. Rich. P. Gough, arrived in town yesterday from Toronto on a business visit to his firm's local branch.

While loading ice at Little Lake on Tuesday afternoon Mr. N.T. Laplante had the misfortune to break his arm. Dr. McNulty attended the patient and reduced the fracture.

THE SCOTCHMEN AND THEIR VISIT HERE

They were Delighted with the Reception in Peterborough.

AT LINDSAY, LAST NIGHT

They Played in Peterborough Yesterday Afternoon Against out of Town Clubs.

The Scotch curlers have come and gone, taking with them delightful memories of their visit to Peterborough, where they had the most elaborate and most appealing hospitality—had the most enthusiastic and best arranged reception—warm yet beautifully informal — they had received since landing on the shores of Canada. But perhaps the best feature of their visit was the success they met in the last hours upon the curling ice, where they played, to win, four out of five rinks, and strange to say, every rink the Scotchmen played in Peterborough has a win to its credit, for though only four of five rinks yesterday afternoon was "up" at the 16th end, yet the rink that was the exception on that occasion was the only rink of the tourists that scored a win the night before. Prood chiels were the visitors yesterday evening when they were sped on their way to Lindsay by the curlers they had given "a sark fu' o' sair banes," to, with a heartiness and enthusiasm which maintained the plane of whomlin' hospitality they had enjoyed from the time they set foot in town.

Yesterday morning was devoted to sight-seeing, and they were treated to the rare, if not unique, pleasure of sleigh drive in the most beautiful of winter weather, a temperate thermometer and the sun beaming genially from a cloudless sky, and perfect sleighing — conditions which must have impressed the Scots very favourably with our climate, unless, as one of the visitors expressed it, the weather was topical, and exceptional, its charmingingly genial character brought about by the warmth of Peterborough hospitality. The curlers embarked in open sleighs, drawn by fine horses, decked with national flags, and were accompanied by the Mayor and Aldermen, and prominent citizens. They were driven about the town generally, and visited several special points of interest — the Electric Works, the Cereal Works, the W. Hamilton Company's Works, the Cordage Works, and the Trent Canal liift lock. The keen attention they paid to what they saw, the intelligent questions they asked, showed that the Scotchmen were not tied down to curling, but that they saw Canada with their eyes open, and would, like the spies of Holy Scripture, take back a favourable report of the cis-atlantic Land of Promise to the congested population of the isle of the heather.

In an interview with a representative of the Examiner Mr. Robert Husband, the secretary of the Scotch Curlers' Association, that gentleman remarked that all the members of the team were highly delighted with both Canada and the Canadians, and that everywhere they had gone, they had been welcomed right royally and hospitably, and especially in Peterborough, where the grandest reception and the best curling conditions were met with. He further said that if the Canadians had been less entertaining they would have seen their rivals play far better curling, for even Scotchmen could not satisfactorily curl all day and be feted and feasted all night.

Yesterday five rinks of the Scotchmen were pitted against eight rinks of the visiting bonspielers. In this way it was desired to give as many of the visiting teams as possible a chance of playing with the Scots and it was arranged that three of their rinks should play half-time turns. It was to be remarked that the Scotchmen showed improved form, and suggested that the more accustomed they became to Canadian curling conditions, the more dangerous competitors they became. The fact that several of the wining Scotch rinks used Canadian stones no doubt accounted for their success last night, which brought down the curling curtain on Peterborough ice with red fire effects, as shown by scores which placed the Scotchmen 25 up all round. Here are the scores:

After the games the Scotchmen were due to start for Lindsay. An enthusiastic deputation of curlers and citizens escorted them to the Grand Trunk station. The Scotchmen were sent off with three lusty Canadian cheers ringing in their ears, and they responded in kind, followed by the singing of "For they are Jolly Good Fellows." It goes without saying, though the Scotchmen said it, that they left Peterborough immensely delighted with the graceful hospitality of both the curlers and citizens of the town, of which they will always have the most pleasant recollections and the best of good words amongst their kinsmen at "hame."

IN LINDSAY.

The following is the result of the playing in Lindsay between the Scotchmen and the clubs from Lindsay and other towns near by:

During the first half of the games owing to the immense crowd present and the milder weather, the ice became very sticky and it was extremely hard to get the stones over the hog. The ice in its soft condition was more to the liking of the Scotchmen, who played an excellent game throughout.

A Rheumatic Wreck

Florist William Gough, of Toronto, Tried Many Remedies and Visited Preston Mineral Springs.

In Despair He Came Home to Die, But His Cloud Had a Silver Lining, For To-day He Is Alive, Well and Happy.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Snapped the Rheumatic Shackles for Him Just as it Will for Every Other Rheumatic Sufferer.

In all cases of rheumatism Powley's Liquified Ozone acts promptly and effectually, for it immediately removes the cause of the trouble by dispelling the uric acid from the blood. This is what happened in the case of Mr. William Gough, florist, corner Danforth and Pape avenue, Toronto, and this is why one bottle helped him and three bottles effected a permanent cure.

MR. WM. GOUGH.

The history of Mr. Gough's case is best given in his own words as told in the following statement:

"I am thankful I am alive to give you my testimonial as to the wonderful, yes, miraculous cure your Ozone has wrought in my case. I had a severe attack of la grippe, which developed into rheumatic fever. I was reduced in weight to 120 pounds. I employed the services of a good physician, but derived no benefit; in fact I became worse. I was advised to try several of the cures advertised, but in spite of all the many remedies I took I grew weaker and weaker. I was advised to go to Preston Mineral Springs, which I did, but I was so weak I could not stand the baths and got worse. I became discouraged and came home to die.

"Mr. Cherrie, grocer, on Queen st. advised me to try Powley's Liquified Ozone, so I purchased a bottle. After taking three bottles the rheumatism left me. For six weeks previous to this I could take no nourishment at all but the first bottle gave me a good appetite. I began to gain in flesh and have been steadily increasing ever since. I now weigh 170 pounds and feel as well as possible. Every one who know my condition considers it a miracle that I am cured. I am a staunch believer in the merits of Ozone and intend to keep it always in the house.

(Signed) WILLIAM GOUGH,
Florist.
Danforth and Pape ave, Toronto, Ont."

Other Persons Who Have Been Cured of Rheumatism by Powley's Liquified Ozone.

The following are a few of the many Canadians who have been cured of rheumatism by the use of Ozone:

John Hay, 303 Hughson st., Hamilton, Ont.
Jas. Weatherson, Warkworth, Ont.
H. A. Rutherford, Bolton, Ont.
Lydia Lepart, Holt, Ont.
Geo. Brennan, 504 Albert st., Montreal.
Jos. Coron, 46 St. Antoine st., Montreal.
Mme. Angell Perault, 123 Roy st., Montreal.
A. F. Taylor, 7 Thornton ave., London, Ont
D. T. Greenside, 90 Clarence st., London, Ont.
Mrs. Samuel Cody, 600 Main st., St. John, N.B.

Talk or write to any of these persons. The more thoroughly you investigate their respective cases the more thoroughly will you be convinced of the merits of Ozone as a cure for Rheumatism. In buying be sure to get Powley's Liquified Ozone. It is sold only by reputable dealers at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. It is never sold by peddlers. Our free book on Rheumatism on receipt of name and address to The Ozone Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BUBONIC DEATHS 33 PER CENT.

Already 150 Deaths Reported From Mazatlan, Mexico.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 21.—Information has reached here that the bubonic plague has made its appearance at Toporio, Mex., 65 miles from Minas Prietas, State of Sonora. The people of Toporico are greatly excited, and many have left the town.

Deserting the Town.

Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 21. — According to a letter from Mazatlan, Mexico, deaths from bubonic plague are averaging 33 per cent. Up to Jan. 5, two days before the letter was written, there had been more than 150 deaths. Fully a third of the population of 15,000 has fled.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You can feel it doing you good from day to day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissue and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

FORT OF SAN CARLOS

Bombardment Renewed by Three German War Vessels.

PANTHER, VINETA, FALKE.

A Hot Engagement of a Day's Duration—The Fort Returning the Fire, and in a Short Time Could Not Be Seen For Smoke—Panther's Guns Fired Once a Minute—German Residents Have Protested.

Maracaibo, Venezuela, Jan. 22.—Three German war vessels, supposed to be the Panther, Vineta and Falke, began shelling the Fort of San Carlos at 10.30 o'clock yesterday morning. The fort returned the fire. The engagement was in progress at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Panther appeared to be not more than 500 yards from the fort. Her guns were being fired every minute.

The fort could not be seen for the clouds of smoke, but it was plain that the Venezuelan gunners were answering the German fire splendidly, and with great rapidity.

The shelling of San Carlos has created much excitement among the German residents of this port, who have protested against the action of the warships.

THE JURY'S VERDICT.

Henry Spence's Death Due to Whiskey Given Him Without Malicious Intent—The Three Men Arrested.

Neepawa, Man., Jan. 22. — "That Henry Spence, deceased, came to his death on Jan. 8, 1903, indirectly, from the effects of whiskey given him without malicious intent by William Gowenlock, S. B. Jacobs and Clifford Murphy, on the evening of Monday, Jan. 5, 1903."

This is the verdict of the jury that heard all the evidence given at the coroner's inquest into the death of Spence. Immediately after the announcement of this verdict, warrants were issued for the arrest of the three men mentioned.

They were promptly taken into custody, and given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Gordon yesterday.

CONVENTION OF SPORTSMEN.

Exponents of the Beauties of Rod and Gun in Annual Conclave.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Sportsmen are arriving from leading centres of Canada and the United States for the annual meeting of the North American Fish and Game Association. Hon. F. R. Latchford, president of the association, came down from Toronto yesterday morning, accompanied by Mr. Montague, A. A. Smith, chairman of the Fish and Game Commission; Dr. Malloch, Hamilton; Mr. S. T. Bastedo, Commissioner of Fisheries for Ontario, and E. Tinsley, Chief Game Warden. Others in attendance are United States Consul Henry, Quebec; J. W. McGeary, Burlington, Vt.; Commodore Parker and Mr. E. T. D. Chambers, Quebec, and Col. Butterfield and D. G. Smith, Chatham, N. B. A number of interesting papers will be read, and tonight the annual banquet takes place. The Governor-General and the Earl of Dundonald will be guests.

HIS HOLINESS WELL.

Rumor in the Paris Chamber of Deputies Meets Prompt Denial.

Paris, Jan. 22.—It was rumored in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday that the Pope was dead. The Foreign office, however, has received no confirmation of the report.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The rumor that the Pope was dead is without foundation; on the contrary, the Pontiff is well. He gave a number of long audiences yesterday, and his callers included Senor Quirno-Costa, Vice-President of Argentina, and the latter's wife and family. The Pontiff talked with Senor Quirno-Costa for one hour.

Farm Labor Scarce.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—The scarcity of farm labor is just now engaging the attention of the Ontario Government, and an effort will be made to bring about concerted action between the Dominion Department of Immigration and the Ontario Government's officials in Great Britain to induce desirable farm help to come to this country. There are 175,000 farms in Ontario, and most of them are destitute of help.

Memorial Unveiled.

Sackville, N.B., Jan. 22.—A tablet to the memory of Lieut. Harold L. Borden, son of Sir Frederick Borden, was unveiled in the chapel of Mount Allison yesterday afternoon in the presence of the young soldier's parents and a number of others.

This Peter No Hermit.

Winnipeg, Jan. 22.—Peter Veregin, the Doukhobor leader, is touring the villages urging the people to remain on their farms and to make use of their horses and cattle. He has so far met considerable success.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Escaped Bullets Long Ago.

PRESIDENT WORLD'S W.C.T.U.

Protests Against Objections Raised re. "Love and Life."

London, Jan. 11. — Lady Henry Somerset, in an open letter, published yesterday, says she regrets the objections raised by "certain workers of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of America," against Watts' picture, representing "Love and Life," in the White House. "As President of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union," continues Lady Somerset, "I feel it should be made clear that the objections raised by a few women are not held by the majority of the great temperance society."

WITHIN EASY REACH.

That Sure Cure For Dyspepsia, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Mrs. Jassia L. Sellars Writes Regarding Them.

Dyspepsia causes more suffering in this Canada of ours than all other diseases combined. Nearly everybody has a touch of it. One simply has the bluies, another has those mean sick headaches, yet another is suffering from "nerves," while hundreds and thousands are troubled with pains in the chest and abdomen, gas on the stomach and the dozen other accompaniments of the great dispeller of happiness.

And within easy reach of all these is a speedy relief and permanent cure—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest the food themselves—that is the secret of their success. The proof is in letters like this:—

"I believe Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made a sound cure of me after taking four boxes, after being seven years almost a dying woman. Now, thank God, I am able to do my daily work as usual. I cannot praise Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too much for they have brought me almost from death to life.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. JASSIA LOUISA SELLARS,
Western Bay, Newfoundland.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

Shipwrecked Sailors of Abiel Abbott Picked Up by Life Savers.

Atlantic City, N.J., Jan. 22.—Five shipwrecked sailors, in dying conditions, were picked up yesterday by the life savers. They are members of the crew of the barque Abiel Abbott, which lost her bearings and went aground in heavy weather Tuesday night. It is believed the other members of the crew, four men, were either killed by the wreckage or were stunned and drowned by falling overboard.

Tug a Total Wreck.

Block Island, R. I., Jan. 22.—The tug Leyden, bound from San Juan, Puerto Rico, for Newport, ran ashore on the south side of this island, in a thick fog yesterday, and is a total wreck. Six of her crew left the wrecked tug in a small boat, which was dashed to pieces on the rocks, a short distance from the shore. They were rescued by the life-savers. The remaining twenty-eight men and Lieut. Wells, the commander, were taken off in the breeches buoy with great difficulty.

GRAND MASTER RESIGNS.

Col. Saunderson Will Not Have Office Without Authority.

London, Jan. 23.—Belfast Orangemen were astonished by the announcement that Col. Saunderson had resigned the Grand Mastership on the ground that he cannot accept responsibility without the necessary authority to maintain that dignity.

The step is apparently an outcome of the recent dispute with Thomas Sloan, M. P., whose candidature in the recent South Belfast election was successful, in spite of the opposition of the Grand Lodge.

SLEEPING MAN BURNED.

Fire Caused by Oil Lamp Being Kicked Over.

Nelson, B.C., Jan. 21.—The Pioneer Hotel, at Morrissey Junction, was destroyed by fire last Saturday night, with all its contents. Herbert Marriott, a young man from Phoenix, asleep at the time, lost his life. No other lives are positively known to have been lost, but it is thought that another man met death in the flames.

The fire was caused by an oil lamp being kicked over during a friendly scuffle. The entire building, which was one of the largest in the town, was a mass of ruins in thirty minutes, and many close escapes resulted.

Julian Ralph Is Dead.

New York, Jan. 21.—Julian Ralph, author and war correspondent, died last night at his residence here. Dr. Calvin S. May, who attended Mr. Ralph, gave the cause of death as dropsy, complicated with ulcer in the stomach and enlargement of the liver. Mr. Ralph was stricken with hemorrhage while he was acting as correspondent with the British army during the Boer war. Mr. Ralph was born in New York, May 2, 1858, and served on the staffs of several of the New York papers. He became attached to The London Daily Mail in 1899. He leaves a widow and five children.

Irritating Form of Itching Piles

A Source of Continual Worry and Annoyance—Sleep and Rest Impossible Until Relief and Cure Came With the Use of,

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

All classes of people are subject to piles, but especially those who are exposed to dampness. Teamsters, farmers, railroad men and labourers suffer greatly from this distressing ailment.

While there are plenty of remedies recommended as a treatment for piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only actual and guaranteed cure. It truly wonderful how the merit of this preparation has become known throughout this continent and Europe.

But when a person has endured the torture of piles, the itching, stinging sensation, the sleepless nights of misery, the annoyance during the day, when going about the daily work, he feels grateful for the relief and cure brought by Dr. Chase's Ointment, and does not forget to recommend it to his friends.

Mr. J. F. Miller, who is employed as cooper by the Kennedy & Davis Milling Co., Lindsay, Ont., states:—"I believe that Dr. Chase's Ointment is the best thing in the world for piles. I say this because it has positively and thoroughly cured me of itching, bleeding piles, and this after all other remedies I could procure had failed. I can recommend this ointment to anyone suffering from piles, knowing that it will certainly cure."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 6

Almost Racked to Pieces.

MISS SADIE E. RUSK, OF RUSKVILLE, ONT., HAS A TRYING EXPERIENCE.

Ruskville, Ont., March 1st, 1902.—It affords me much pleasure to testify to the excellency of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP. About a year ago I was attacked by a hacking cough. It was so distressing that I was almost racked to pieces by its violence. I saw DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP highly recommended for coughs like mine, so I purchased a bottle, and it completely cured me. I find it equally beneficial for colds in the head, and any obstruction of the nasal passages. It is an excellent preparation, and too much cannot be said in its favor.—Sadie E. Rusk.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP contains all the essential lung healing principles of the pine tree, and is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pain or Tightness of the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

Price 25c. Bottle, at all Dealers.

"You are a worthless nigger, George."

"Yes, little mistiss."

"And your master and I will have to go to the almshouse."

"Yes, little mistiss; spec yo' will."

"Then what will become of you, George?"

"Go dar too."

"Do you think they would take in a nigger? You are more likely to get on the chain gang."

"Te, he, he, little mistiss!"

"What are you giggling about?"

"Dey ain't no chain gang. We goes on de farm."

"You have been there?"

"Yes; I got sent dar 'bout a yeah ago."

"George, have you been a criminal?" His mistress looked at him with shrinking disgust.

"Spec I has," he returned glibly. "I been mos' eberyt'ing—crap shooter, buck dancer an' de res', an' crimnel," he added, with a touch of pride.

Mrs. Custis was paying no heed to the negro now. She looked dreamily out through the window at the mellow sunlight of spring. A longing came over her for her old home. She had endured the long and cruel winter with a stoical patience, but the reluctant spring made the sap of yearning rise in her veins. Suddenly she buried her face in her handkerchief, and like a faithful dog George began to whine:

"Dar, little mistiss; jes' yo' wait till de udder side de cloud flummux over, an' yo'll see 'nough silver to mek a braid pan."

"Oh, go away, you worthless nigger!" Mrs. Custis exclaimed, putting down her handkerchief, and he jumped extravagantly just for the delight of hearing her sweet old laugh, like the ringing of pure thin silver.

"But, George," Mrs. Custis resumed, with renewed dignity, "it is true that your master and I are seriously thinking of seeking public assistance." Her delicate cheek flushed at the admission; but, seeing his look of childish horror, she proceeded firmly:

"As simple as our living expenses are, we cannot longer meet them, and we must ask for help."

She threw up her little figure and proudly left the room, but she stumbled on the threshold, and the negro, with intuitive devotion, knew that her eyes were blinded with tears.

He stared with a dropped jaw at the open door through which she had gone. Then, with a volatile grin, he jumped to his feet and, performing a skillful clog dance, seized his disreputable hat and bolted from the house.

About a year before this Mr. Custis and his wife had drifted to the great city of New York. They came from Georgia, leaving their home desolate in order to be near their daughter, who had married a clever young artist. It did not take the parents long to discover that their son-in-law had difficulty in supporting his little family, so they, protesting grandly that they had an ample income, moved to a cheap little flat on the east side and in the frightful closeness of a few narrow rooms began an existence that was slow torture to their pride.

One day George Harries, one of the most unregenerate negroes in all New York, sidled up on their front steps and pulled the bell. A negro is not naturally a tramp, but he was idle and thought he could bully something from these forlorn old people.

Mrs. Custis opened the door and looked her wrath at his presumption.

"Does yo' hab any wuk fo' a po' culled man?" he drawled insolently.

"No; I don't want any niggers to work for me!" she blazed out. "Get off my front steps!" She was preparing to slam the front door when he jerked off his filthy hat and burst out:

"'Fo' de Lawd, I didn't know yo' wus a south'n lady; 'deed I didn't, little mistiss. Kin yo' give a po' niggah a bite o' somethin' to eat, an' I'll wuk my fingahs to de bone; 'deed I will."

And that was the beginning of a strange household—George Harries, crap shooter, low comedian and natural singer and dancer, and these poor, fine old southern people. And he was as faithful as though he was their slave—they as autocratic as though he was theirs by right of purchase.

So on this sunny afternoon in spring he shuffled along the street, dipping into old haunts that had not known him for a year. When he reached one of his former stands, he looked shrewdly about for a policeman and, not seeing one, began with great vigor and skill what is known to the initiated as a "buck dance." By the time he had danced for five minutes the crowd was so dense about the performer that it took a tall man to peep over the heads.

George paused in his dancing, took off his hat and, singing in a musical voice, "coon, coon, coon," went around collecting. This was all very well, but a policeman sauntered up. Finding the attraction was a live negro and not a dead horse, he virtuously redistributed the coins to the amused crowd, and George took a free ride to the police station.

By the time he was hustled before the desk his most reckless look had settled over his hardened face. The magistrate, who was looking bored, roused slightly when the officer explained that the negro was indulging in a disorderly dance.

"Why were you dancing?" he asked, with a yawn.

"'Cause I wuz," was the sulky retort.

"George," said the magistrate severely, "I had hoped you had stopped your evil living. It has been nearly a year since you were arrested."

A subtle change passed over the homely features.

"'Deed, boss," he stuttered, "I been livin' all right an' wuzn't doin' nothin' today 'cept a little dancin'. I ain't shot no craps in a yeah mos'—no, sah. 'Deed, jedge," the fellow suddenly blubbered, "I don't know what my po' ole marster an' mistiss is gwine to do if you sen' me down. It wusn't fo' me I wuz dancin'; it wus fo' dem—fo' Gawd it wus. Dey's quality folks, an' dey'd sta've befo' dey'd haig."

"That's a likely story," began the policeman contemptuously.

The magistrate motioned him to be quiet as he said more kindly:

"George, suppose you show me what sort of dance this was."

The negro's face broke into sudden smiles. Like so many of his race, he had a childish smile and beautiful teeth. He stepped forth willingly, and it was a pleasure to watch the posturing and gestures so absolutely African and yet dramatic.

The magistrate watched him intently. When he had finished and leaned panting against the desk, his honor shot a sarcastic look at the policeman and rapped out, "Case dismissed."

George lost no time in putting the police station behind him. He was hustling along toward home when a sharp faced, theatrical looking man overtook him and briefly explained that he had seen him dance and wanted to engage him for his company of minstrels.

George had been in New York too long to make an easy bargain, and at last the theatrical manager reluctantly came to his terms. George even got an advance on the strict promise that he would report that night for orders. Then he flew over the ground to the Custis flat.

He fell up the steps and burst into the kitchen, where Mrs. Custis was cooking a meager supper.

"Law, little mistiss," he ejaculated, not forgetting to pull off his hat, "'deed de Lawd has flummuxed dat brack cloud over, an' dar's some o' de silver linin' right dar." And he triumphantly gave her $5.

Then he told how he got the money. The poor old lady's tears were streaming and he himself was sobbing like a child.

"George," she said brokenly, "the ways of Providence are past finding out."

And he answered humbly:

"Dat's so, little mistiss; dat's so."

Central's Vindication.

They had quarreled overnight, but she had no sooner reached the studio where she was preparing to threaten the laurels of the old masters than she was called to the reconciliatory telephone. The conversation began guardedly with the customary: "Is this Miss B.? Oh, good morning. This is Mr. F." But in a few seconds these perfunctory words gave place to others.

"Helen," he declared, "I was a beast."

And she replied contritely: "You must not call yourself names. I was horrid. I was a perfect little cat, Dick, and"—

But Mr. F. could not stand her self reproachings. He told her that he could not and that he would not bear to hear her slander the dearest, most generous, most noble woman in the world.

"Hush, hush—sh, Dick," she entreated. "We're forgetting that a telephone is not so awfully secret. Suppose Central should hear!"

Whereupon a strident voice took up the tale. "Central!" it sneered. "Central listening! I like that! Central's got something else to do but listen to the lovemaking of a pair of idiots. I can tell you that I've got other fish to fry besides paying attention to the like of that truck!"—New York Herald.

Who Invented the Steam Engine?

The Marquis of Worcester, while imprisoned in the Tower of London in 1656, invented and constructed a perfect steam engine and had it publicly exhibited the same year at Vauxhall in successful operation. Thirty-four years later, in 1690, Dennis Papin added the piston to the marquis' discovery. In 1698 Captain Savary devised and built a steam engine different in many details from those made by Worcester and Papin, and in 1705 Newcomb, Cawley and Savary constructed their celebrated atmospheric engine, which was complete in every detail.

The above array of historical facts notwithstanding, James Watt, who was not born until sixty years after these great men had given the steam engine to the world, enjoys the distinction of being the veritable inventor, originator and author of the most useful contrivance of the present day.

Fulton, who lived and worked in the early part of the century, is given the credit of being the man who demonstrated that steam could be applied to navigation; this, too, in face of the well known historical fact that De Gary propelled a vessel by steam in the harbor of Barcelona in 1543.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. Greatness Not Free From Shame.

The transcendent power and fame with which great genius has at different periods endowed various men do not always insure them from after misery and shame.

This was strikingly exemplified in the cases of the four greatest of military conquerors—Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar and Napoleon. The general judgment of mankind has conceded them the first place in the lines of action for which they were severally distinguished. Yet they all met with melancholy and tragic deaths.

Two of them suffered for years the keenest humiliations which a total destruction of their hopes could bring. Two perished at the zenith of their power, just as they might have expected a long enjoyment of the fruits of their tremendous achievements.

WOULD HAVE TO STOP HER WORK AND SIT DOWN.

HOW MANY WOMEN HAVE TO DO THIS FROM DAY TO DAY?

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS are a blessing to women in this condition. They cure Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Palpitation of the Heart, Faint and Dizzy Spells, Weakness, Listlessness, and all troubles peculiar to the female sex.

Mrs. James Taylor, Salisbury, N.B., in recommending them says: About eight months ago I was very badly run down, was troubled greatly with palpitation of the heart and would get so dizzy I would have to leave my work and sit down. I seemed to be getting worse all the time, until a friend advised me to try MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. I can truthfully say that they do all you claim for them, and I can recommend them to all run-down women.

Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25; all dealers, or The Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SOMETHING HOT,

—Invigorating and Nourishing can always be had at Long's. Beef Tea, Armour's Bullion, Tomato Bullion, Oyster Soup, Chocolate, etc., served any way you like, any hour of the day or night.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

The woman who reads this will understand to the full what Mrs. Tipton meant when she says: "I am enjoying good health." It takes a person who has been made wretched by sickness to understand the joy of health.

There are very many women who suffer as did Mrs. Tipton, who might be cured as she was by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"It is with pleasure I recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine," writes Mrs. Nora Tipton, of Cropper (Cropper Station), Shelby Co., Kentucky. "You remember my case was one of female weakness and weak lungs. I had no appetite and would often spit blood; was confined to my bed almost half of the time and could hardly stand on my feet at times for the pains through my whole body and system. My husband had to pay large doctor bills for me, but since I have taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, four of 'Favorite Prescription' and three vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' we haven't paid any more doctor bills. It had been seven months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's medicines and I have been enjoying good health all the time. I can never praise these medicines too highly, for I have received so much benefit. I pray that many who suffer as I did will take Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am sure they will never fail to cure when given a fair trial. Everybody tells me I look better than they ever saw me. I am sure I feel better than I ever did before."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No other medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

The Leading Specialists of America. 25 Years in Detroit. Bank Security.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by slightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active; the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no Pay. We treat and cure: Varicocele, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Urinary Drains, Spermatorrhœa, Unnatural Discharges, Kidney and Bladder Diseases.

New York, Jan. 22.—B.R.T. statement for Dec. shows decreased net earnings $60,000. Nor. Sec. dividend to-day, 41-2 expected. U.P. strikers threaten to call out every shopman on system. Some probability in rumour that C. & O. will get Hocking Valley. 41 roads second week Jan. show gros increase 8.58 per cent. Expected advance in soft coal freight rates. German action in Venezuela causing nervousness in London. Stock plentiful in loan crowd, indicating short interest, largely covered on Saturday. Banks gained since Friday $3,239,000. Pres. Loree of B.O. says no changes will be made in Reading management.

The renewed bombardment of Maricabo is especially unfortunate to market and revives an apprehension just when bull sentiment and confidence began to develop. We are likely to have an irregular market this a.m. At the same it is recognized there is likely, or no probability of any serious complications developing. Only effect is sentimental, as it holds intending buyers in in check. Trade conditions are good, railroad earnings continue to increase, money is easy, exports of merchandise produce large, and a further check to probability of gold exports is found in the easier foreign exchange market.

The Game in Brock Street Rink This Evening.

Junior Peterborough's Were Defeated in Cobourg by 7 to 0—Other Notes.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough sports are now complaining over the district schedule. They say Peterborough is being rushed with too many games, and as a result their men are worked too hard. Peterborough is getting a little taste of the medicine Lindsay got last year.—Lindsay Post.

Not so. The management of the Peterborough Club have expressed no complaint regarding the schedule.

* * * *

Before a crowd of over 1,200 spectators, Peterborough juniors went down to defeat at the hands of Cobourg juniors in Cobourg last-night. The game was fast and many brilliant plays were made by players on both sides. The score at half time was 4—0, and at the finish 7—0 in favour of Cobourg.

* * * *

The T.A.S. and Bobcaygeon teams will play a Trent Valley League game this evening in the Brock street rink. There promises to be a large attendance and the game should be quite interesting. The puck will be played at 8.15 o'clock sharp. The visitors will be banquetted at the conclusion of the game.

* * * *

Mr. John F. Anderson, of Norwood, will likely referee the game to-night between the T.A.S. and Bobcaygeon.

* * * *

The team from the Peterborough Hockey Club which went up to Fenelon Falls this afternoon to play a Trent Valley League Game with the team of that town, is composed as follows:

Goal, Comstock.
Point, [illegible].
Cover point, F. A. Clarke.
Forwards, T. Thornton, Watson, Robertson and Squires.
The team averages 160 pounds.

* * * *

Mr. Jim McCabe has been appointed to referee the game in Fenelon Falls to-night between the team of that town, and the Peterborough seven. Mr. McCabe was appointed by the secretary of the league at the request of the Fenelon team.

* * * *

The public is anxiously awaiting the result of the game to-morrow night between Belleville and Peterborough. The event promises to be as largely attended as the Port Hope match, and a great effort will be made to reverse the score of the game played in Belleville. The Peterborough team will be somewhat changed around. Morgan will not be on the team, he being somewhat indisposed. Glover will go on at point and Cavanah will move up on the forward line.

* * * *

While the Belleville hockey team continues to win the papers up in Cemeteryville say such nice things about the beaten fellows. But wait till some bunch comes along, and trims Belleville, like Deseronto did recently, and snake sounds will come from the forest.—Kingston Whig.

TURF.

The directors of the Trotting Association met last evening in the City Council Chamber, with ex-Mayor Shaw in the chair. It was decided to lay out a mile track, kite shaped, in the harbour. W. J. Morgan, V.S., was instructed to proceed to Ottawa during the meet there to advertise the Kingston event.—Kingston News.

THEY BECAME VERY ANGRY

A Fierce Onslaught on Our Curlers.

How a Port Hope Paper Endeavors to Set Matters Right—The Correct Version.

The Port Hope Guide says: Some days ago our curlers were invited and urged to send on rink to Peterborough to play against the Scotchmen. The kind and thoughtful invitation was duly accepted and the task and responsibility of forming the rink was left in Skip Burton's hands. Yesterday Messrs. George Holmes, Chas. R. Nixon, Ed. Monsell and E. J. W. Burton left on the morning train. A perfect day.

Mine hosts of the various hotels did their full duty. The ice was a dream—absolutely perfect. The first draw for the bonspiel was made, Cruso of Cobourg, against "Our Burton." The playing of the Port Hope team throughout was grand, out of 128 stones, only 5 being foat, one hog and four through. After the game a procession was formed to jog to the station to meet the Scotchmen. Every curler was armed with a broom. An informal reception was held at the Snowden House.

At 6.30 the secretary of the Committee instructed Skip Burton to have his men ready at 8 o'clock sharp to meet the Scotchmen. They were there, and on reporting were informed by the Secretary that they were not required. A glance over the ice showed two Peterborough rinks at play. Result — Our dear hosts told their guests from a distance, regularly invited, that they could "Go to ——."

It was the most brutal display of ignorant hospitality ever perpetrated. Was it the aftermath of the hockey match?

Peterborough papers please copy the afterpart.

The intemperate—not to say scurrilous—and misleading character of the above paragraphs are hardly worthy of attention. But a plain statement of the facts will show how gratuitously, and even grotesquely unfair they are. Invitations were issued by the Peterborough curlers to teams in the district to meet the Scotch curlers in Peterborough. It was not expected that all the rinks could be accommodated in this regard on Tuesday night, as it was not known whether the Scotchmen would play 4, 5 or 6 rinks, but it was hoped to include as many as possible on Wednesday afternoon. Anticipating that the Scotchmen would play six rinks, Mr. Burton, the Port Hope skip, was asked to have his team in readiness, but as only five rinks were played, he was courteously asked to wait over, with other rinks, till Wednesday. As a matter of fact there were two Peterborough rinks playing, which was not exceptional, for it was arranged to play one rink from a club, and Peterborough has two curling clubs, with a combined membership of over one hundred players. Was this unreasonable in view of the fact that Peterborough was spending several hundred dollars in entertaining the Scotchmen and visiting rinks? It was not the intention to invite the rinks to solely play the Scotchmen, and try to defeat them, but it was more to give curlers, with the true sporting spirit, an opportunity to join in welcoming the Scotchmen, who were as much the guests of the country at large, as of the towns they visited. But an earnest effort was made by the Peterborough curlers to play as many outsiders against the Scots as possible, and even the expedient was adopted of playing two rinks from one club half ime to give them a turn with the Scotchmen. Keene, Norwood, Lakefield, Campbellford and Bobcaygeon, which had two rinks each, (Port Hope having only one) accepted this arrangement like good sportsmen. Why should Port Hope be given any preference?

A perusal of the above paragraphs is only needed to disgust the decent reader. They might be described, to quote the unsavoury paragraphist, as "the most brutal display of ignorance of journalistic decency, ever perpetrated." Port Hope papers are noted for their thug journalistic methods, especially in the matter of sports, and the impudent enquiry as to the "aftermath of the hockey match," is adding insult to injury. Can the Port Hope hockeyists say that their team was not well treat-borough, and did not the Peterborough papers, as representing the citizens generally, report the match fairly, and take their defeat gracefully?

Does Skip Burton not feel that he has a congenial champion in the sporting editor of the paper whose refined style is exmplified in the paragraphs, for reproducing which an apology is due the reader?

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED.

J. J. Turner & Sons, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Excuse the liberty I am taking in writing these few lines. For some time I have been very much interested in the doings of your great Dominion of Canada. I have been wishing to be in correspondence with some one in your most important Province of Ontario. I came across a pamphlet called the "Canadian Summer Resort Guide." I noticed the name of J. J. Turner & Sons. I thought I would just pen a few lines to you in expectation that you may perhaps be like-minded as myself—would just like the opportunity of writing to an Englishman at Liverpool. I think if any of your sons or yourself could take pleasure in corresponding with me it might be the means of a very pleasant exchange of thought affecting the two great portions of the Empire, one in the East and one in the West. Canada comes very prominently daily before the eyes of Liverpool people; ships from the different ports of Canada coming into our river every day laden with the products of your land. I believe we English people should know more of Canada, and you Canadians should know more about us. Letter writing is a very good way of interesting each other in each other's affairs. I have looked for Peterborough on the map of Ontario, and I find it is not as easy as to find as the Peterborough that is in the East Centre of England, but I dare say it is a very important place all the same. Canada has done Al in this great South African war, and I begin to think that Canada is a very important place in the Dominions of the Great British Empire for what she has done and with credit and honour in those famous battlefields in South Africa. I would like to feel that I had an interest in Canada by being in writing communication with some one over in the West. Should you care about being in correspondence with me I shall be pleased to answer letter for letter, and send you one of our newspapers for one of yours. It is a medium of pleasure that we Britishers neglect not to know more of each other's country. We are a great nation and the time has come for further consolidation to the benefit of all. You will know that Liverpool is a place of very great importance, our population is 710,000, our ratable value is also very great —£4,5000,000 per annum, and our docks are seven miles long on the Liverpool side, besides great docks at Birkenhead on the opposite side. The great floating dock which is two and a half miles long. These docks are valued at over £50,000,000, or in your money, about two hundred and twenty-five million dollars, and the largest ships in the world come into them. We have the largest cotton, grain and tobacco warehouses in the world. In the summer we had your delightful Premier over in Liverpool, opening one of our new saleerooms. The provision men's saleroom is a very fine building. Your Premier was pleased to partake in such a ceremony. I shall be pleased to hear from you and I sha'l take interest in any subject you may speak on. We read daily of Canadian affairs in our papers that it does not seem so far away, but yet there are many thousand miles of water between us. Trusting I may have the pleasure of hearing from you or some of your friends, I beg to close by wishing you and family a very happy and prosperous new year.

Yours sincerely,
ROBERT OWEN.

OMEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The ravages of diphtheria and scarlet fever have diminished in the county and have not appeared in the village as yet. It is surmised that the cause is the amount of rotten potatoes and other decayed vegetables in farmers' cellars.

A large number of farmers attended the markets on Saturday last.

Mr. Jas. Graham, proprietor of the Commercial House, entertained about 50 couples from Peterborough and Lindsay on Thursday night last.

The Lindsay Amatuer Minstrels are booked for the Bradburn Hall, Omemee, on Monday evening, Jan. 26th. They have played to large houses at Lindsay and Uxbridge. Peterborough will no doubt be represented at Omemee, there being nice sleighing and good train accommodation.

A number of our hockey enthusiasts drove down to witness the game between Port Hope and Peterborough.

The Peterborough sugar beet factory is likely to get quite an acreage around Reaboro and vicinity. Meetings are to be held here in the near future and Peterborough representatives will be present.

Soldiers Killed and Wounded by German Warships' Guns.

THE BATTLE IS RENEWED.

German Ships Return to Attack San Carlos—Twelve Dead and Fifteen Badly Wounded Venezuelan Soldiers Counted Wednesday Night—Village Suffered From Shells —Children Among Slain.

Maracaibo, Jan. 23.—The bombardment of Fort San Carlos by the German cruisers, Vineta, Panther and Falke, was continued Wednesday afternoon until 6 o'clock. It was resumed yesterday morning at daybreak. The first shells were hurled at the fort at 4 o'clock at long range. Later the Panther, being of light draught, closed in and again became actively engaged. The fort replied. At 8 o'clock the engagement was proceeding as fiercely as that of Wednesday. Twelve dead and fifteen badly wounded Venezuelan soldiers were counted in the fort at 7 o'clock Wednesday night.

The Village Suffered.

Although the damage inflicted upon the fort by the sustained fire of the German cruisers is very great, it is not all that could be expected from such a continuous fire from modern high-power guns. The Village of San Carlos suffered greatly. The aim of the German gunners appears to have been inaccurate, for more than 60 per cent. of their shells exploded in the village before reaching the fort.

Fort's Artillery Injured.

The canon mounted at San Carlos have not sufficient range to reach the Falke and the Vineta, so the fire from these vessels was not returned, as they kept out of reach of the Venezuelan artillery. The Vineta and Falke are of too great draught to cross the bar. The Panther alone can do this, and this fact explains why the last-mentioned cruiser was the only one to come in close to the fort. Some of the artillery of the fort has been destroyed by the German fire, but there are still five guns that can be used.

A Brave Commander.

General Bello is a soldier of remarkable courage and daring. He has shown great bravery, and is in no way intimidated. He will not abandon the fort, but will resist so long as it is possible for him to do so. He declares that on January 17, the occasion of the first bombardment, the Panther fired upon him first, without reason and without provocation. The report that the biggest of the three attacking vessels was either an English or an Italian ship is untrue. It is known that all three vessels are German.

Children Among the Slain.

A fisherman from the village of San Carlos has arrived here with his family. Two of this man's children were killed by German shells. He reports that more than twenty-five Indian fishermen have been killed or wounded at San Carlos.

EIGHT DOLLARS A PLATE.

Fish and Game Protective Association Convention Now Closed.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—The third annual meeting of the North American Fish and Game Protective Association came to a close yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock so far as the business sessions were concerned, and the meeting was characterized by all as the most successful in the history of the association. Portland, Me., had been chosen as the meeting place for next year at the morning session. In the afternoon the officers were elected. C. A. McCallum, London, Ont., is one of the vice-presidents, and S. T. Bastedo, Toronto, is on the Executive. The other officers are Americans.

$8 a Plate.

The banquet of the Fish and Game Protective Association last night is said to have cost $8 a plate. Lord Minto was present.

CURLERS FROM SCOTLAND.

Welcomed in Toronto They Tie Outside Rink—Beaten by Granites.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The Scotch curlers are here and everything is theirs. They arrived at 9.35 yesterday morning from Peterboro', were given a genuine welcome and everybody wore a sprig of heather. Four pipers from the 48th Highlanders headed the procession from the Union Station, and all of the principal officers of the arrangements were in line. After the Ontario Curling Association's luncheon at the Granite Club, the Scotchmen's first play in Toronto was started on Church street ice, with representative curlers from outside towns. They finished a tie and in the evening the tourists, after their royal treatment by the Granites, gratefully accepted their defeat by 26 shots. Great crowds watched the play from the galleries.

IN A BAD FIX.

Newtonville Station Agent McDougall Admits Blame—Another Man Takes Office He Lost Through Carelessness.

Port Hope, Jan. 23.—"I am the man who is to blame. I have no desire to throw the responsibility on anyone else. I did in a moment of carelessness neglect the order which caused the disaster, and I had no way of preventing it after I had discovered my mistake," pathetically remarked Alex. McDougall, ex-G. T. R. operator at Newtonville.

McDougall was calm when he spoke to the reporter, and he said he appreciated the serious position in which he was placed.

"I know I am in a bad fix. I can't see any way out of it," remarked the unfortunate man grimly.

"Were you overworked?"

"No, I was not. I had to work from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and another man took the other 12 hours."

McDougall has five small motherless children to look after. His wife died a year ago, while the eldest boy was in the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, suffering from hip disease.

McDougall glanced at the wicket at which he has presided since he was transferred to Newtonville, and there was a pained expression on his face as he watched George Johnston take his key from the night operator. Mr. Johnston went down on the early train from Toronto.

Mr. McDougall, when asked for a definite statement as to the cause of the accident, said: "You see, we have the block system, and we have a single track. When a train leaves Newtonville going east I cannot let another train take that track until the preceding train has reached Port Hope. Section 2 of Train 84 had passed, and I raised the block allowing section 3 of 84 to go through without thinking of the order which was in front of him instructing me to hold that 3rd section of the 84 train. That's all."

"Can they hold an inquest if the bodies are not found?" seriously asked Mr. McDougall.

"I don't think so," replied a bystander, who, like everyone in the locality, wanted to sympathize with the operator.

Speculation was rife as to where the bodies of the two unfortunates were. At a late hour last night nothing had been discovered to indicate that the two men were dead, but, nevertheless, there is a warrant issued for an inquest by Coroner Aldrich, and it is said that he handed it to the constable at 2 o'clock in the morning.

TO MEMORY OF LATE QUEEN.

Second Anniversary of Her Death Observed at Many Places.

London, Jan. 23.—The second anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria was observed yesterday at Windsor, London and elsewhere, by the depositing of wreaths on statues erected to her memory, and by memorial services. King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and other members of the royal family were present at a service held in the Frogmore Mausoleum. The sarcophagus of Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort was decorated with plants and white flowers. Subsequently salutes were fired in celebration of the accession of King Edward.

MINEWORKERS DISAGREE.

Clash Between Socialist and Conservative Factions.

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—At yesterday's session of the annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, there came a clash between the conservative and socialistic factions. It originated in a resolution from a local union favoring an expression on government ownership of coal mines and railroads. The socialistic faction based its arguments on the anthracite strike, and the combination of coal companies and railroads, and declared that a tendency not to treat with miners "according to the laws of man or God," made it necessary for the Government to take some such action. The controversy finally was referred back to the committee.

GOVERNMENT CANALS.

An Old Scheme Is Suggested For New York State.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The scheme suggested years ago for the Government ownership of canals as a solution of the canal question in this State, was revived yesterday by the introduction in the Senate of a resolution relative to the future policy of the Empire State in relation to canals, and requesting Congress to consider the possibilities of a canal 30 feet deep for military and commercial purposes, as well as to make provision for the completion of the surveys of waterways between the Atlantic and Great Lakes.

Will Appeal the Case.

Buffalo, Jan. 23.—Attorney D. V. Murphy will appeal from the verdict convicting Ernest Stanton of Hamilton, Ont., of murder in the second degree, for the killing of Freda McGregor at the Badge Restaurant. Stanton was Wednesday sentenced to Auburn Prison for life. Mr. Murphy does not believe the evidence warranted the verdict.

KEEP THE BOYS AT SCHOOL.

(New York Commercial.)

It is much to be feared that, as one direct result of the marked and very positive tendency among the young men of these times towards business careers, a lot of bunglers and incompetents may be found in the commercial world of the next generation. Almost everywhere boys are being rushed through the primary and intermediate grades of school, with little thoroughness and only the smallest measure of general information, in order the quicker to get them to "doing something." There is observable among them a very general ambition — most commendable in itself — to get into places where they may earn money. The pay-roll is the great goal for far too many of our American boys to-day, and in the larger cities of the country more especially, where all the good things of life that money brings are the more constantly in evidence and therefore the more tempting, far too many parents encourage their boys to quit school and studies early and get out "into the hustle."

A tour of inspection through the counting-rooms and manufacturing buildings of this big town would disclose scores and hundreds of bright, active boys from twelve to fifteen years old already started on what all of them believe, of course, to be "business careers"—an age far too young to get out into the work-a-day world. They would must better be at their books. A real "business career" cannot be laid without solid foundations, and in the years to come this lack of early education and training will rise up to plague them at every turn. There are schools that offer to "finish off" boys and girls "for business" in three, six and eight months. It can't be done. That sort of "schooling" breeds only graduate bunglers and irresponsibiles. The American business world wants young men who know something—and it always has places for them.

There are instances, of course, where domestic necessities force boys out onto the pay-roll at too tender an age. But they are exceptional. Keep your boys at school! No "captain of industry" ever yet climbed up on the ladder of ignorance.

WEDDING BELLS.

A Peterborough Young Man Weds a Young Lady at Millet.

A very pretty wedding took place at Millet, in the church, on New Year's Day, at one p.m., the contracting parties being Mr. J. A. Barrie, of Peterborough, ex-member of the N.W.M.P, having just arrived from the Yukon, where he had been residing for the past three years, and Miss Georgina Nissen, formerly of Edmonton, now of Millet.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Grose, Presbyterian minister of Wetaskiwin.

Constable Riddock supported the groom, while Miss Emma Johnston, a niece of the bride, acted as bridesmaid.

The bride was very prettily attired in white nun's velling, trimmed with orange blossoms. After the ceremony the company proceeded, amid a shower of rice, to the Arlington Hotel, where a sumptuous dejeuner was served, and at four p. m., amid another shower of rice, they boarded the train for Edmonton, carrying with them the best wishes and congratulations of their many friends, who had come to see them off.

WEDDING BELLS.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John Rose, of North Dummer, on the evening of January 14th, when Lydia Annie, his eldest daughter, was united in wedlock to Robert George Charlton, of Lakefield. Many suitable presents manifested the esteem in which Miss Rose was held in the community.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large company of guests by Rev. W. L. Atkinson, of Lakefield.

FOR NORTH ONTARIO

George Grant of Orillia Chosen Liberal Standard Bearer.

CLEVER MAN OF 33 YEARS.

Convention at Beaverton Votes on Four Candidates—On Mr. Grant Securing a Majority of Votes the Nomination Was Made Unanimous—An Eminently Pleasing Speaker, Fluent and Earnest.

Beaverton, Jan. 23.—The Liberals of North Ontario yesterday nominated Mr. George Grant of Orillia as their candidate in the approaching Dominion bye-election. The convention was one of the best ever held in the riding.

An Enormous Riding.

One or two of the upper townships were not fully represented, for attending conventions is a serious matter in North Ontario. In some cases it would involve a journey of 80 miles, including a drive of 20 miles. It is as if the people of Stratford were required to come to Toronto to attend their convention, yet Beaverton is the most central point available.

Three-Cornered Fight.

The balloting resulted in a keen three-cornered fight between three excellent men. Mr. Grant finally won by a small majority, but his ratification as the unanimous choice of the convention was urged by his rivals with a heartiness that augured well for the unity of the Liberals in the coming contest.

Mr. Grant is a young man, who will make an excellent candidate. He is a son of Rev. Dr. Grant of Orillia (Knoxonian), a nephew of Senator McMullen, and a brother of Mr. R. A. Grant of Toronto. He was born in Burlington 33 years ago, and in 1891 was admitted to the Bar, since which time he has practised law in Orillia. He is an eminently pleasing speaker, (as he proved in a five-minute speech to the convention), fluent and earnest, of dark complexion and athletic figure.

The Balloting.

Four names went to the ballot. Over a dozen nominations were made, but all retired except these four:—George D. Grant, J. D. Shier, Dr. H. S. Bingham and Mr. R. M. Noble. Mr. Noble announced that while he was allowing his name to go before the convention, he did not desire the nomination; consequently the vote for him was small. The other three polled almost equal votes, about 50 each. A second ballot resulted in the same way, but after it Dr. Bingham retired, leaving only Mr. Shier and Mr. Grant. Mr. Grant won on the final ballot by 86 to76.

Those Nominated.

The full list of nominations were as follows:— A. P. Cockburn, ex-M. P.; J. D. Shier, Mayor of Bracebridge; Dr. H. S. Bingham, Cannington; R. M. Noble, Uxbridge; W. J. Kester, Zephyr; Duncan Graham, ex-M.P., Gamebridge; Geo. F. Bruce, Beaverton; Geo. D. Grant, Orillia, F. H. O. Thomas, Bracebridge; Geo. Thomson, Longford Mills; M. H. Roach, Beaverton; John Adams, Reeve of Rama; J. B. Tudhope, M. P.P., Orillia; Wm. Smith, Bracebridge; Wm. McPherson, Cannington; I. J. Gould, M.P.

SOUTH OXFORD ARGUMENT.

Appeal Case Brought to a Conclusion—Judgment Reserved.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The appeal in the South Oxford case was brought to a conclusion late yesterday afternoon. Judgment was reserved on all three points involved.

Edmund Bristol, for the respondent, completed his argument on the cross-appeal from the decision of the trial judges, that Patterson had been proved guilty of hiring rigs. Mr. Watson, in reply, gave a long review of the evidence on the appealed points in the case, concluding with a lengthy translation of election law, as applied to the disputed points in the South Oxford case.

FOR TRIAL AT ASSIZES.

Participators in Neepawa Whiskey Outrage Are Committed.

Neepawa, Man. Jan. 23. — The three young men, Govenlock, Murphy and Jacobs, accused of causing the death of Henry Spence, by giving him an overdose of whiskey, which is supposed to have been drugged, were yesteraay committed by Magistrate Gordon to stand their trial to the assizes at Portage la Prairie in March. Application has been made for bail.

House Leaders Defeated.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The House leaders went down to signal defeat yesteraay when the House, by a vote of 146 to 138, rejected the Philippine Coinage bill, reported by the Insular Affairs Committee, and adopted the substitute offered by the minority for the introduction of American currency and the American coinage system in the Islands.

A Brakeman Killed.

Stratford, Jan. 23.—Robert Yule, a G.T.R. brakeman, was killed in the yards here yesterday while making a coupling. Deceased was a son of Robert Yule, G.T.R. bridge inspector, and was about 25 years of age.

Boy Convicted of Manslaughter.

New York, Jan. 23.—Pietro Squazza, an 11-and-a-half-year-old boy, who has been on trial for manslaughter in the first degree, before Justice Newburger, for the killing of three-year-old Ambrose Kerrigan, was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree yesterday.

Volcano Breaks Out.

Kingston, Island of St. Vincent, Jan. 23.—A brisk eruption of the Soufriere volcano on this island occurred at noon yesterday.

LYNCH'S TREASON PLEA.

Boer Colonel Says He Took Up Arms Thinking Naturalization Act Permitted It—Naturalization Was Treason.

London, Jan. 23.—The court in which Col. Arthur Lynch, member of Parliament for Galway, is being tried on the charge of high treason, was again crowded yesterday.

After reading the deposition of an American, Lewis Handley, who said Col. Lynch had compelled him to take up arms in behalf of the Boers at Glencoe, but who had got off through the intervention of the American consul, counsel for the defence submitted that the prisoner was protected by the naturalization laws. He claimed that a man was entitled to become an alien at any time, even after the outbreak of war. Referring to the war of independence, he said there were at least 20,000 men of British birth in the American mercantile marine, and asserted that there were 20,000,000 people living in America who possessed two nationalities.

Counsel contended that Col. Lynch took up arms in behalf of the Transvaal without secrecy and under the mistaken belief that the Naturalization Act permitted this. In any event, counsel added, if the court decided the prisoner was a British subject, he ought to be tried in Australia, where he was born.

The Attorney-General, Sir Robert Finlay, replying for the prosecution, argued that Col. Lynch procured naturalization for the purpose of fighting against his own country, and added that even could naturalization cover the prisoner's subsequent actions it could not cover his anterior reason, namely, adhering to the Queen's enemies and declaring his willingness to fight against her forces.

Ultimately the court decided that the Naturalization Act afforded no defence in the present case. Naturalization was a treasonable action.

The case was then adjourned.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities, where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory with arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton, must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of nature.

Our forefathers had other things to do beside formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nourishment in a concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remarson, on this subject says: "Nervous people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless to rindigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

"I Take First Place"

That's the meaning of proteid, the substance which builds healthy cells in the human body. People ought to know more about proteids --we are constantly in need of them. What are they and why do they "take first place?"

All active tissues must contain proteids. They are a necessary article of diet to replace the living cells that are destroyed in great numbers every day by wear and tear on the body. They furnish resisting force—power to withstand illness, ability to gain healthy flesh, means of acquiring energy.

The body gets them in the best form from the flesh and fat of animals. But there are lots of people who do not or cannot eat the proper food to get these necessary proteids. What can they do to get their share? It has been found that Scott's Emulsion furnishes the necessary proteid elements and provides them in a way that insures their proper distribution in the body.

In addition there are hypophosphites of lime and soda, which, when carefully and perfectly blended with the whole oil as in Scott's Emulsion, represent one of the most valuable forms of nourishment known to the medical profession.

We'll send you example free upon request.

MINE OWNERS' VIEW.

Chamberlain's Scheme For Government Control Is Objected To.

Johannesburg, Jan. 23. — Mr. Chamberlain in a speech Wednesday night proposed that the Government should import to South Africa five thousand natives on condition that the mines import an equal number, the Government laborers to be employed on the railroad and other Government works. He estimated that this step would release ten thousand natives for work in the mines. The mine owners, however, appear to object to any Government control in the matter. They want the open door policy and believe that the shareholders will not sanction the importation of British laborers.

NO RECIPROCITY.

Canadian Duty on Soft Coal Not to Be Interfered With.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The Globe's Ottawa correspondent hears on good authority that there is little prospect of the Canadian Government imitating the action of the United States Congress and removing the duty off bituminous coal. The rebate of duty by Congress is only temporary, and the opinion here seems to be that it would be inadvisable for Canada to take off its duty under the circumstances. As to a reduction of duty, Congress has not fulfilled the conditions which under the Dominion tariff would enable Canada to lower the coal rate from 57 cents to 40 cents a ton.

Had Been Dead a Week.

Fergus, Jan. 23.—On Monday morning the body of "Prof." James Hynes was found frozen stiff in his home in Fergus. The old man had not been seen for about a week, and it is supposed he had been dead that long. Hynes was an old resident of Fergus. He was 65 years of age.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

THE GERMAN POLICY

Count Von Buelow Makes Defence in Reichstag.

NO DESIRE TO BE THE FIRST

Chancellor Replies to the Strong Speech of Socialist Herr Bebel—Reasons For Present Actions Against President Castro of Venezuela Given—Prestige of the Powers—The German Fleet.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—During the budget debate in the Reichstag yesterday, Herr Bebel, Socialist, ascribed the Empire's deficits to the enormous expenditures for the army and navy, and to the futile efforts to play the first role in the world, which Germany was unable to do. The Government, he continued, is afflicted with the malady of suddenness, which defeated its own aims. The speaker instanced the re-armament of the army with artillery which already had been relegated to the second rank. The United States, Herr Bebel added, had entered into the competition for armaments, and, owing to her great resources and energy, will soon outstrip Europe.

Herr Bebel further said the Empire's expenses for the army and navy are likely to grow even greater under the present conception of the foreign policy. Germany wanted to be first everywhere. Its attitude towards weaker States never would be tolerated towards itself. Its action toward Hayti was brusque, and now, the speaker asked, can the Panther's bombardment of Fort San Carlos be justified? Continuing, Herr Bebel remarked:

"President Castro is struggling for life and the maintenance of the Presidency. We cannot take it ill of a man under such circumstances if he resists excessive demands. The coercion of Venezuela is in the interests of great capitalists, and the Krupp firm has a share in it. Such violence should be resorted to only in the most extreme cases."

Von Buelow's Reply.

In speech replying Chancellor Von Buelow said: The question at issue between Venezuela and the powers is not merely one of claims, but of the defence by the powers of their prestige, which has been impaired through President Castro's action and through the manner in which he repudiate, impolitely, to express it mildly, our just claims. We were, therefore, perfectly justified in proceeding jointly, with Great Britain and Italy, for the preservation of our prestige.

He declared that when the German plans re. a fleet were completed Germany would be fourth or fifth among the navies of the world. In conclusion, he said: "Let us keep our powder dry; let us not quarrel too much among ourselves, and nobody will run foul of our wagon."

TOO GREAT EXPENSE.

Not the Reason.

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and bona-fide; especially to those who have realized the suffering incident to piles is it incredible that anyone who has been afflicted twenty-five and thirty years with the worst forms of protruding and bleeding piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation?

This is rightfully viewed with dread by all those afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system, with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death; in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that the cause is not removed.

The proprietors of the Pyramid Pile Cure agree to forfeit one thousand dollars to anyone who will show a single published testimonial to be not genuine and unsolicited; this latter feature is most gratifying, inasmuch as these letters are written solely out of gratitude, and with the hope that those who are afflicted as the writers have been may learn that relief is at hand, at a comparatively trifling expense. Pyramid Pile Cure is for sale by druggists at fifty cents a package, or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price.

Mr. Wm. Lichtenwalter, head of the largest printing house in Canton, Ohio, says: "It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I can say I believe I am cured of protruding and bleeding piles, after suffering more than twenty-five years. I have been in bed for two weeks at a time. I have not suffered in the least for over a year, and I used only three fifty cent boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure. "I advise every person suffering with this distressing and painful complaint to give this remedy a trial. I have every confidence in it." Write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall Mich., for their book on the causes and cure of piles.

Curious Freak in Names.

People in Melbourne are beginning to say that in order to do any good in Victoria your name must be Clarke. The governor is Sir G. Sydenham Clarke, the late agent general in London was Sir Andrew Clarke, the richest squatter is Sir Rupert Clarke, the new Bishop of Melbourne is Canon Clarke, the most prominent member of the Melbourne Stock Exchange is Mr. A. Clarke, and "the handsomest Victorian matron" is Lady Clarke. Probably it would be difficult to match this in any Anglo-Saxon community in the world.

Insolvency Act Wanted.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild concluded their annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Board of Trade Building. The most important business transacted was the question of a Dominion insolvency act. The executive committee was instructed to appoint a deputation to urge upon the Federal Government the adoption of an insolvency act, having for its basis the control and management of insolvent estates by the interested creditors, with the legal expenses reduced to a minimum.

Milk Test.

A test for any milk you may suspect of being diluted is easily made. Dip a well polished knitting needle into a deep vessel of milk and quickly withdraw it in an upright position. If the milk is pure, a drop will hang to the needle; if there is any water in it, it will prevent the adhesion of the drop.

Fellow-Countrymen.

A well-known actor tells a story, which M.A.P. repeats of an Irishman named Flanagan, who had been out of work for some time, and at length applied to a circus proprietor for a position.

There was no regular places open, but the manager looked Flanagan over and said:

"Our largest lion died last week, but we kept his skin, and if you like to get into it and be shown as a lion, you can have the job."

Flanagan agreed. At the first show the proprietor stepped into the cage and said, "Ladies and gentlemen. To prove the docility of this roaring lion, I shall order him into the cage with a ferocious tiger."

Flanagan hung back, but the circus proprietor prodded him with a sword and threatened to run him through, and the "lion" was driven into the same cage with the tiger. There he backed into a corner and cried, "Sphare me!"

Then the ferocious tiger jumped to his feet and answered, "Ye needn't be afraid o' me! I'm an Irishman meself!"

DEALERS IN COAL.

Charged in Brantford With Conspiracy to Destroy Competition.

Brantford, Jan. 23.—An information was sworn out yesterday before Police Magistrate Woodyatt by W. A. Farrow of this city, charging the Ontario Coal Association with conspiracy to destroy competition in the matter of securing coal in Brantford. The information was laid at the instance of the Merchants' Fuel Company of Brantford, a company which quite recently obtained a charter from the Ontario Government for the sale of wood and coal in the city of Brantford. The informant, Mr. Farrow, is a director of the company.

It is said that several of the largest manufacturers in the city have been "blacklisted" by the Ontario Coal Association, so that they cannot secure any coal, except through the association.

The preliminary hearing of the defendants will be held before the Police Magistrate on Tuesday, Jan. 27.

It is understood the Coal Association will fight the matter through.

The section under which action is taken by the complainant is 520 of the criminal code of 1892, in which the parties, if found guilty, are liable to a fine of not less than $200 and not more than $4,000, or to two years' imprisonment.

NEAR THE END.

Strike Commission Hearing Will Last Ten Days More.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—The question of who is responsible for the apparent shortage in the supply of anthracite coal was the subject of considerable debate yesterday by the attorneys representing the parties before the Strike Commission. It was testified to that the miners are not obeying President Mitchell's request to make extra efforts to produce more coal to relieve the situation.

This was followed up by James H. Torrey and Everett Warren, both of Scranton, who represent several of the large companies, challenging the correctness of Mr. Mitchell's statement that 3,000 men are idle and ready to go to work.

C. S. Darrow, for the miners, replied that he would show that it was the operators, and not the men who were responsible for the shortage in the production. "If I don't," he said, "I will ask the commission to find against us." It is expected the hearings will last ten more days.

Sergeant Wilkinson lost a limb and an eye in the service of his King. Corporal Minchin, his chum, also received twenty dollars from the Guelph fund, and an effort is on foot to give him a perpetual pension.

Raleigh's Great Oil Gushers

A Second Big Flow Struck Near the First One

FIVE PAYING WELLS

Fields Expected to Have Permanent Value—Oil is of Splendid Quality and a Good Illuminant—The Work Now Under Way.

Chatham, Jan. 10.—A little over two months ago Chatham was startled by the news that in Raleigh Township, eight miles south of the city, an oil gusher had been struck, that gave the phenomenal flow of 1,000 barrels per day.

After the first month much had been done towards the establishment of what is expected one day to be a permanent oil field, and the discovery of more oil during the past week has started another stir. Four new paying wells have been struck since the Gurd Gusher. These however represent but a small amount of the work that is in progress. Early in November there was no sign of the present industry; to-day the farms in the neighbourhood are dotted with derricks and little neighbouring sheds that cover boilers and engines.

Another Big Gusher.

The Gurd Gusher was the first strike, and ITS LARGE YIELD KEEPS IT TO-DAY THE BIGGEST OF THE FIELD. Yesterday afternoon, howver, a good strike was made, which would be considered a wonderful find if it had not to compare with the Gusher. Corywell and Gage struck oil last week on Lot 22, Concession 13. The well was shot in the afternoon, and after the operation produced a flow that will yield 25 barrels per hour. This is but one-half of the capacity of the Gurd Gusher, but is greatly in advance of the other wells. A well on lot 23, Concession 12, produces 30 barrels a day; the well on Lot 18, Concession 13, is producing 20 barrels a day; and one on Lot 20, Concession 10, is producing 20 barrels a day. Yesterday oil was struck on the Mills farm, a little south of the Gurd Gusher.

Oil of Good Quality.

The most satisfactory feature of the Raleigh Oil is its quality. The gravity is 34 degrees, which is two degrees higher than any Canadian oil. As an illuminant it can scarcely be excelled. Expert oil men who have examined the field, express hopeful views regarding their future. At present there are two flowing wells, producing 75 barrels an hour between them, and there are three others producing oil in profitable quanitities. As to permanency, it is believed that these wells and any others that may be found will compare favourably with any others in the world.

OUR PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

The recent oil discoveries will place the production of petroleum and its products in Ontario in a high place, probably the leading mineral product of the province.

The value of petroleum and products in 1901 was $1,467,940, in 1900 was $1,869,015; in 1899, $1,747,352; and in 1898, $1,970,534.

Above is the result of careful investigation up on the part of one of the leading Canadian newspapers, which during the week ending January, 10th despatched one of its special reporters to examine the field. It still further proves the Dominion Oil Co.'s claim to at least 1,000 acres of oil lands out of the 1,530 acres surrounding their "Gurd Gusher," and constitutes an extremely gratifying endorsement of the company's claims.

The oil we produce is bringing the highest price of any on the North American continent.

A marked demonstration of the way in which the permanency of this field is regarded is shown by the Standard Oil Company having constructed a pipe line from the Gurd Gusher to the nearest railroad, and now erecting additional steel tankage and pumping stations.

A limited issue of the treasury stock is now offered at the exceptionally low price of 35 cents per share, this being the OPENING and the LOWEST price at which a share of the stock has ever been offered.

The present purchasers will be entitled to a dividend of ONE PER CENT PER MONTH, ON PAR, commencing February 1st — 36 PER CENT. per annum on the investment at PRESENT PRICES.

THE T. A. S. WON AGAIN.

Bobcaygeon Defeated in District League Game.

The Score was 9 to 2—Mr. John F. Anderson of Norwood was Referee.

St. Peter's T.A.S. Hockey Club before a gathering of fully 500, in the Brock street rink last evening won their third consecutive victory in the T.V.L. series, in defeating Bobcaygeon by a score of 9 goals to 2. The game was too one-sided to be interesting, and the result was never in doubt from the start to the finish. Mr. Jack Anderson, of Norwood, refereed the game in a highly satisfactory manner, and sent several players to the fence on both teams for minor offences. The game was not rough, although the play was at times full of ginger.

Of the T.A.S. team, it may be said that it has improved a great deal in its play since its contest with Lakefield. The combination work of the forward line was excellent, there was very little individual work, but combined team play in which the passing was accurately done, and which as a rule, resulted in a goal being scored. The "two Georges" Billy George and George Lynch, as well as Parnell and McGrath constitute a splendid forward line, and with a little more combined practice will keep the best of them busy.

Frank McCoy in goal distinguished himself last evening, and he certainly holds down that position well, as does also Crowley and Meagher in their respective positions.

The Bobcaygeon team have in Cameron, their goal tender, a first-class man and it was owing to his excellent work last evening that the score was not larger. He was called upon time and again to show his worth and usefulness, and his work was of the highest order. Capt. McIntyre, of the visitors' forward line is also a speedy man and a good stick handler, and he worked like a trojan during the evening. The visiting seven are all good skaters, but lack in team play, although it was conceded by many that they excel Lakefield in this line.

In the first half the T.A.S. team scored six goals, the Bobcaygeon septette being unable to locate the nets.

In the second half the Total Abstinence boys notched three more and the visitors two, making the score at the close 9—2 in favour of the T. A. S. team.

The teams were as follows:

T. A. S.		Bobcaygeon.
	Goal.
F. McCoy		J. Cameron
	Point.
W. Meagher		G. Hunter
	Cover point.
W. Crowley		B. Hearst

Referee — J. Anderson, Norwood. Goal umpires, Donoghue and Edgar. Timekeepers, Doris and Welsh.

After the game the Bobcaygeon team and friends, including a sprinkling of the 'Caygeon curlers, were invited to a banquet at Potvin's lunch parlours. About 30 sat around the festive board with Mr. Will Crowley acting as chairman. An excellent toast list was run off, and some excellent speeches were made by Revs. Dr. O'Brien, Father T. B. Crowley, Mr. E. S. Clarry, secretary of the T. V. L., as well as several of the visitors. The evening was a most enjoyable one in every particular.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT

Held in All Saints' Church Last Night.

Those who Took Part in the Affair—A Christmas Tree.

A most successful Cantata entitled 'Santa Claus' Mistake" was given in All Saint's church before a very fair audience last night, and a charming Christmas tree was a conspicuous feature of the evening's entertainment.

Before the programme was rendered Rev. W. L. Armitage gave a short address in which he explained that the Cantata took place in the church because the school room afforded insufficient accommodation.

The programme, which was as follows was a delightful one:—

PROGRAMME.

Piano solo, "Il Trovatore... Miss Ida Mulholland
Recitation ..... Geraldine Hooper
Violin solo ..... Willie Bourne
Recitation ..... Stella Cuffe
First Scene of the Cantata:
"Mabel" ..... Aletta Salisbury
"Aunt Rachel" ..... Marian Elliott
"Molly, the Waif" ..... Ida Mulholland
"Dick, the Boy" ..... H. Rush
"Dot" ..... Majory Latimer
"Santa Claus" ..... Mr. J. Legg
Recitation ..... Geraldine Hooper
Recitation ..... Olive Cuffe
Solo ..... Miss M. Rush
Second Scene of Cantata.
Accompaniste, Miss Bell.

The singing was excellent and the whole event passed off in a delightful manner, which is most gratifying to all interested, as the children had never attempted anything in that line of acting before.

The same programme will be repeated to-night and presents and prizes given to th Sunday School children.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Andrew Lackie, of Cavan, to Miss Isabella White, of Town.

A very pretty wedding took place at No. 579 George street, on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, the home of Mrs. Francis White, the bride's mother.

The happy couple were, Miss Isabella White, youngest daughter of the late Francis White, of Peterborough, and Mr. Andrew Lackie, second son of Mr. Hamilton Lackie, of Cavan.

The room was very appropriately decorated with flowers and evergreens. At the given time the happy couple were united under an evergreen arch, trimmed with roses. The bride who looked charming in a blue travelling suit, trimmed with chiffon and ribbons, was given away by her brother, Mr. F. White, while the groom was supported by Mr. T. L. Moore, of Cavan. Miss H. E. Lackie, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and wore a blue cloth dress, with pale blue silk waist and carried roses.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. J. H. Wilson, officiated, in the presence of only the immediate friends.

The wedding breakfast was served in the dining room which was fittingly decorated for the occasion.

The handsome array of costly and useful presents received by the bride, shows her high estimation in the eyes of her friends, all of whom wish her a happy wedded life.

The couple left by the evening G. T.R. train for their honeymoon, after which they will reside in Cavan and it is hoped live happily ever after.

THE BOOKLOVER'S LIBRARY.

Mr. Madill's Drug Store a new Literary Centre.

Mr. B. G. Stevenson, representing the Booklovers' Library, Limited, 66 King street west, Toronto, is visiting the town, and a local branch has been established in Mr. W. Madill's drug store. This institution, though only two years old has set up branches in both hemispheres, on the steamships of the Atlantic and Pacific, the largest cities in the old world, and the smallest towns in the new. The circulation during the past year, covering many classes of literature in English, French and German, has been enormous. An annual fee permits the member to order any book he fancies, which will be forwarded to his branch. Besides the fee of course, gives access to all the books in the local branch, which are always kept renewed, no soiled or damaged books ever getting into circulation. Peterborough members will have the privilege of any other library wherever they go. This library system, a refinement of the circulating library idea, is worthy the attention of all book lovers, and more detailed information can be obtained at Mr. Madill's, who will afford the fullest information respecting the working of the system, and the reliability of the Book Lovers' Library.

Chaplain Kerr Says we Gave Them the "Grandest Reception" of A'

Much Appreciated Tribute to Peterborough's Hospitality.

In the Toronto Star's report of the speeches at the reception luncheon in welcoming the Scotch curlers, occurrs the report of the speech of Rev. Chaplain and Captain Kerr. The reverend gentleman's reference to Peterborough is so pointed and complimentary that it is reproduced below:

President George Moore of Waterloo occupied the chair at the luncheon given to the Scotch curlers by the Ontario Curling Association at the Granite Club at noon to-day. Mayor Urquhart represented the city and Hon. Richard Harcourt the Ontario Government. Rev. R. N. Burns, chaplain of the O.C.A., said grace.

After drinking to the toast of "The King," and singing the National Anthem, President Moore proposed "The Scottish Curlers," and everybody sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Rev. Mr. Kerr, captain of the Scotch team, who occupied the chair to the right of the president, responded. He said this was the best luncheon of the many they had on the trip.

"The reception at Peterborough which was given by the O. C. A., was the grandest reception ever tendered sporting tourists in any country."

He described Toronto as the palace of all curling clubs; there was nothing like it anywhere else. The mother club had sent them out from Scotland with greetings to the Canadian children, and it had been found that the children knew more than the mother about the roarin' game. Evidently Ontario was the hot-bed of the game in Canada, although from Halifax to Peterborough the evidences of enthusiasm were great. The object of their visit was to extend the good-fellowship that already existed.

Provost Ballantyne also thanked the Ontario curlers for their magnificent reception.

Dr. Russell of Hamilton proposed the toast of the Dominion Parliament and Ontario Legislature, which was responded to by A. F. McLaren, M.P., and Hon. Richard Harcourt. Mayor Urquhart replied to the toast "The City of Toronto."

MR. DAVIDSON CAME OUT CHAMPION.

His Rink Won the Primary Contest,

SOME BONSPIEL GOSSIP.

The Finals in the Consolation Series Will be Played This Afternoon—Curling News of Interest.

The Curling Bonspiel, which for the last three days has been in progress, concluded last night.

The championship rink was skipped by Mr. Dickson Davidson, who, in the final match, defeated Mr. W. G. Morrow by 16 to 12, and his rink has therefore carried off the prize of two pair of handsome red hone curling stones.

The runners-up will of course be entitled to the four beautiful gold lockets as the second prize in the primary competition.

The following gentlemen constituted the winning rinks:

S D Hall,	G L Hay,
T F Matthews,	G Matthews,
W G Ferguson,	G Fitzgerald,
D Davidson, sk...16	W G Morrow, sk...12

The finish which commenced at 8.30 last night, was witnessed by a great many curling enthusiasts, who were rewarded by seeing a keenly contested match, and some very clever curling was in evidence.

The finish in the Primary Contest between Skips Morrow and Davidson was of a most interesting nature, and at the 13th end it looked as if Mr. Morrow was going to win. At that point Mr. Skip Davidson was 5 down, but he scored 3 points in each of the succeeding three ends, thus winning out by 4 shots. Mr. Dickson Davidson is receiving the heartiest congratulations on the success of his work, and is well known as one of Peterborough's most enthusiastic curlers.

A pleasing feature of the composition of the rink is the fact that Mr. W. G. Ferguson, the vice-skip, was the one whom Mr. Davidson tells with pride, taught him the game when merely a lad. They have played together more or less ever since.

The Consolation Series will conclude this afternoon. A peculiar feature of the competition was the fact that two Peterborough rinks, one from each club, fought their way up into the final match.

The matches played yesterday afternoon were as follows:

NOTES.

Skips Ray and Connal will play the final match of the Consolation series this afternoon at four o'clock.

Those attending the bonspiel, and all who took any interest in the proceedings, expressed favourable opinions on the excellence of the work done by Mr. J. S. Knapman, the secretary. The Primary and Consolitation Series went off without a hitch, and as little time as possible was wasted and every effort made to enable the outside rinks to finish as soon as possible.

The success of the bonspiel is greatly due to the efficient work of Mr. Knapman, who, without doubt, was the busie t man in Peterborough, if not in the province, for the past three days. He had not only to put in hard work, but very judicious diplomacy, and wise firmness, in resisting all unreasonable claims, and did all in his power, as representing the hospitality of the Peterborough curlers, to see that the guests visiting the bonspiel received both good treatment and every courtesy consistent with the rights of others, and with the efficient management of the bonspiel. Not only did Mr. Knapman officiate as secretary, but also played in Mr. S. Ray's rink, and although defeated in the Primary Competition, in the 4th round, his rink had excellent success in the Consolation, and is one of the rinks in play for the Consolation Trophy.

It must not be forgotten that reference to Mr. Knapman's good work in connection with the bonspiel would be incomplete without a warm remembrance of the invariable and invaluable assistance, as well as courtesy and kindness extended towards the representatives of the press for whom he unwove a tangled skein of complicated rink combinations, and was both able and willing to give informations, which none but himself could have collated and placed in consecutive order so well.

A matter of general regret was that Mr. R. Neill of the Peterborough Thistle club, and one of its best Curlers, was unable to be present during the bonspiel, he having been called to Detroit on urgent business matters. However, Mr. Neill took a prominent part in the arrangements leading up to the opening of the bonspiel, and in the arrangements which resulted in such a magnificent reception to the Scotch curlers.

At the Orillia bonspiel, it will be remembered, that Mr. Neill and his rink were successful in carrying off the championship.

The present bonspiel is the first that has been held in Peterborough for several years, and its success should be encouragement to all curlers to make it an annual affair.

The prizes for the champions of the two series are to be seen on exhibition in Mr. Frost's jewelry store and consist of:

Two pairs of curling stones.
Four gold lockets.
Four gold pins.

Mr. Frost is one of Peterborough's curlers, but previous to his arrival in town, he was a member of the Orillia club, and had the pleasure of playing against his old townsmen during the bonspiel.

Mr. Angus McIntosh, the popular and genial manager of the rink, is to be congratulated by the curlers upon the condition in which he kept the ice, consistent with the climatic conditions, during the bonspiel. Mr. McIntosh also won the warm admiration of the curlers at the bonspiel by the kindly manner in which he treated all, and the general interest he displayed in the proceedings.

"Take off your hats to Dickie!"

One of the most enthusiastic curlers was the Rev. Father Moyna of Orillia, who was a member of the rink that won its way well up in the Primary Series.

Last night Rev. Father Moyna accepted the invitation of Rev. Dr. O'Brien, to attend the hockey match between Bobcaygeon and T.A.S., and appeared to be highly pleased with the game.

Two popular visiting curlers were Messrs. W. J. Read and Bottum, of Bobcaygeon. They are also enthusiastic supporters of the hockey club of that place, and were present at the banquet at Potwin's restaurant to the club by the T.A.S. at the conclusion of the game last night, and made fitting responses to the toast of the Bobcaygeon Club.

THE RACES ARE OVER.

Some Exceeding Finishes Yesterday Afternoon.

Five Heats Were Necessary to Decide the 2.30 Event.

Yesterday was the closing day of the Peterborough winter race meet, and there was a good crowd down to see the finishes in the various events. The track was in better condition than on Wednesday and a little better time was made. The events as run off yesterday were the 2.30 and 3-minute classes in which a number of horses that raced on Wednesday were entered.

2.30 Class.

The 2.30 event proved to be very interesting, and resulted as follows:

Little Boy	2	1	2	1	1
Lilliputian	1	2	5	2	3
Happy Paddy	4	3	4	3	2
Sphinx B	3	4	1	4	4
Ernie Hunter	5	5	3	5	5

Time—2.37 1-4, 2.37 1-2, 2.36 1-4, 2.33, 2.30.

Three Minute Class.

Prince Hal	1	1
Little Diamond	2	2
Keepabell	3	3
Harold D	4	4

Time—2.39 1-4, 2.39 1-4, 2.34 1-4.

The first heat in the 2.30 race resulted in a close finish between Lilliputian and Sphinx B. In the second heat Sphinx B. made a great burst of speed in the first half, but broke to the disappointment of many. It was a grand race for first place between Little Boy and Lilliputian. The third heat, too, was an exciting contest between Little Boy and Sphinx B. In the fourth heat of the same race Sphinx B. held the lead until the third quarter, when he broke, and Little Boy crossed the wire first. In the fifth heat Sphinx B. lost the race by breaking.

The owners of the various horses were as follows:

Little Boy, Snow and Dennis, Toronto.

Lilliputian, W. H. Simpson, Lindsay.

Happy Paddy, J. Yeomans, Colborne.

Ernie Hunter, Geo. Powell, Orillia.

Sphinx B., D. Dwyer, Port Huron.

Keepabell, Dr. Johnston, Peterborough.

Little Diamond, A. Elmhirst, Keene.

Harold D., Wm. Elmhirst, Villiers.

Prince Hal, Jas. Elmhirst, Keene.

Messrs. C. B. McAllister and R. Munro assisted in the judging on Wednesday.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. Michael Tooley and Arthur Blade took Messrs. Frank Sanderson and D. Bentley-Murray, of the Scotchmen, to the races which they appeared to very much enjoy. In recognition of the gratitude Mr. Sanderson promised to send Mr. Tooley a souvenir brochure of their Canadian tour which will be issued upon their return home.

ELI, THE BEGGAR.

Some Newspaper Moralizing That Is Worth Some Consideration.

The old Jew who died worth $100,000, although he lived as if he were not worth a cent, merely carried the money-hunting spirit of the times to the extreme limit.

Allowing for certain differences in station and surrounding circumstances, there are plenty of Eli Hymans to be met with whichever way one turns. They do not dress as the old Jew did, for they operate on a higher level than he; they do not sleep in stables for they were reared better than he; and they are compelled by over-ruling laws that they cannot make way against, to maintain more or less expensive homes, and to live rather well as regards creature comforts.

But, like Eli the Jew, they live only for money. It is the one great thought of their lives, and if it is not their only thought, it enters into all others and discolors them. The difference between this beggarly miser and some men of wealth, who heard of him with much surprise and a little aversion, is not as great as they think. Like him, they have saved and schemed for money long after their earthly needs were met. Wealth that he concealed in the lining of his vest they have stowed away in deposit vaults He, being rich, begged pennies from the poor. They, being rich, and having grown strong and long-armed, reach out and seize wealth they do not need from under the groping hands of those who need it badly. He denied himself the small pleasures that men of his class are usually inclined to, heat, light, a bed, regular nourishment, but he joyed to do it, for the gain he got. They, with their greater intelligence and possibilities, deny themselves also. He lived for money; they live for money. He hid his wealth inside the lining of his clothes; they hide theirs elsewhere, and think that makes a difference.

There should be erected on the lawn before the City Hall a life-size statue of Eli, the Beggar, who represents the extreme to which the age is tending. It would be a timely sermon in stone. It would arrest the attention of ten thousand men who, like him, are grasping after wealth and mere wealth, and, figuratively speaking, sewing it into their vests, where it may—like his—be found by chance when strangers strip their disrespected forms. And many of those vests will—as nearly happened to his—be thrown on the fire and consumed, wealth and all, and no one the wiser. This statue would cut quite a figure. Many would pause to consider its meaning.—Toronto Star.

WITHIN EASY REACH.

That Sure Cure For Dyspepsia, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Mrs. Jassia L. Sellars Writes Regarding Them.

Dyspepsia causes more suffering in this Canada of ours than all other diseases combined. Nearly everybody has a touch of it. One simply has the blues, another has those mean sick headaches, yet another is suffering from "nerves," while hundreds and thousands are troubled with pains in the chest and abdomen, gas on the stomach and the dozen other accompaniments of the great dispeller of happiness.

And within easy reach of all these is a speedy relief and permanent cure—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest the food themselves—that is the secret of their success. The proof is in letters like this:—

"I believe Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made a sound cure of me after taking four boxes, after being seven years almost a dying woman. Now, thank God, I am able to do my daily work as usual. I cannot praise Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too much for they have brought me almost from death to life.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. JASSIA LOUISA SELLARS.

Longfellow turned out about one volume of poems a year for many years; nearly four years were required for his translation of "Dante."

Stuffed Potatoes.

Choose moderately large potatoes, pare them and scoop out a moderately large hole in the middle. Fill these with sausage meat or a mince of any meat or poultry with a little thickened gravy. Lay the potatoes in a deep baking pan, with a little nice dripping, and bake for upward of an hour.

Aftermath of Earthquake.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 23.—The latest advices from Andijan, Russian Turkestan, which was partly destroyed by earthquakes in December last, say the exodus from the city continues Not a single lawyer, banker, druggist or shopkeeper remains in the city, and the few necessaries on which the miserable survivors of the population subsist are brought by hawkers from different towns. The suffering from cold is intense, and, failing the erection of suitable shelters, many more people must die as a result of the recent disasters.

Provincial Fees Increasing.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The fees collected by the Provincial Secretary last year show an increase of nearly $19,000. The total receipts were $107,569, of which $95,330 was for letters patent and licenses.

Lansdowne Has Influenza.

London, Jan. 23.—Lord Lansdowne is suffering from influenza.

HE FROST.

The Frost looked forth one still, clear night,
And whispered, "Now I shall be out of sight,
So through the valley and over the height
In silence I'll take my way.
I will not go on like that blustering train,
The Wind and the Snow, the Hail and the Rain,
Who make so much bustle and noise in vain;
But I'll be as busy as they."

Then he flew to the mountain and powdered its crest;
He lit on the trees, and their boughs he dressed
In diamond beads; and over the breast
Of the quivering lake he spread
A coat of mail, that it need not fear
The downward point of many a spear
That he hung on its margin far and near,
Where a rock could rear its head.

He went to the windows of those who slept,
And over each pane like a fairy crept;
Wherever he breathed, wherever he stepped,
By the light of the moon were seen
Most beautiful things. There were flowers and trees;
There were beves of birds and swarms of bees;
There were cities with temples and towers; and these
All pictured in silver sheen.

But he did one thing that was hardly fair;
He peeped in the cupboard, and finding there
That all had forgotten for him to prepare,
"Now, just to set them a-thinking,
I'll bite this basket of fruit," said he;
"This costly pitcher I'll burst in three;
And the glass of water they've left for me
Shall 'chick!' to tell them I'm drinking."
—Hannah Gould.

Deepest Mines in the World.

The London Economist says that on the Witwatersrand, in a year or two, are going to be located the deepest mines in the world, and others, still deeper, will be drawing nearer to a state of production. Today the deepest shafts in the world are those of the Tamarack and Calumet and Hecla copper mines in Michigan. These are 5,000 feet vertical. The deepest gold mines are those in Bendigo, Australia, several of which extend to 3,500 or 3,600 feet vertical. But already the shafts of the Jupiter and Simmer West mines on the Rand have reached these points, and have not yet got down to the reef. Engineers are confident of being able to sink shafts on the Rand to 6,000 feet vertical, and from there, by the erection of electric engines underground, to go down a farther distance on the incline. Conservative estimates seem to draw the limit at about 6,000 feet vertical; but the company promoter evidently does not; for there are mines already floated which will require shafts of 7,000 feet vertical to reach the reef.

For Colds and Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thourough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. 7

THE STORY OF SLUG 4

THE TALE OF AN OLD PRINTER THAT IS VERY INTERESTING.

An Old Roadster Who Had Held Cases on Every Daily From Halifax to Vancouver—A Terror for a While and an Object of Pity Later On Among His Fellows—His New Year Resolution.

It was the eve of the New Year, and Slug 4 was plainly nervous. The old print had ushered in so many New Years with a fierce drunk that his companions did not expect him to deviate from the accepted rule. And yet they were hoping that the popular old chap would pass the last day of the holidays without indulging.

He had not touched a drop for four months. This was not unusual, for Slug 4 was a spree man, or a periodical drunk, in the vernacular of the print shop. How long he had been cursed with the absorbing appetite his companions knew not.

He was an old roadster and had held cases on every daily from Halifax to Vancouver. He was a swift and very handy man to have around an office. Vague stories had floated in from different parts of Canada connecting Slug 4 with a wild and varied career. His right name was Darcy as the stories went, and he had drifted out West in the early days.

Prospering as a weekly editor, he married. His genius commanded him a place among men. Those who knew Darcy in those days received with astonishment the report of his eccentric career in later years. They did recall something about a misfortune that had overtaken him—his wife and children had died suddenly, or something of the kind. Of a convivial nature, he gradually drifted into the habit, so fascinating to some temperaments when confronted with sudden woe.

Down in Toronto came the story one day from Moose Jaw about an old-time newspaper man who rode his broncho into the Red Light saloon, jumped him over the bar and attempted to make the half-savage beast eat the white-aproned barkeeper. The guns of that worthy had no terror for the rider. The story was attributed to some of the lurid space-writers of that section. Later Slug 4 was credited with being the man. He never denied this and other more than one equally crazy jag was attributed to Darcy.

But his sincere nature, his whole-souled generosity, endeared him to his companions. Drunk or sober, Slug 4 was a gentleman and scrupulously honest. There was no alleged debt he would not pay except the claims of the Shylock. He took a pride in beating the man who had scalped his string at 30 per cent. discount. He would run in cold strings on this benighted individual.

Slug 4 always declared that all he could steal from the Shylock he gave to charity. But he would not hold cases—said it was too much trouble to pick up a sub. when he "got up in the air," as he termed his sprees. He preferred to sub. It agreed with an artistic temperament, he insisted. He could get all the work he wanted and was swift enough to earn twice as much as the average printer. When he picked up a stick it was music to listen to the steady "Click, click, click." Old Slug 4 never made a false move. And how he did hate anyone who had the temerity to suggest that a machine would be manufactured some day that would set type!

"Huh!" he would snort, "you're bug-house—absolutely nutty;" and then the stream of metal would flow faster than ever, as if to contradict the idea that there was any necessity for linotypes. In spite of his genial airs, there was an unfathomable mystery about the old print. When he was in his cups he sometimes grew confidential and hinted at the past and his stormy life; but it was evidently a shadow that he feared when sober, and a question along that line was sure to provoke a savage answer.

The first suggestion of a spree was a serious mien that he assumed; and now the grisly foreman observed this menacing symptom in Slug 4's attitude. He had been phalanxed early the night before. He approached the foreman nervously. On the eve of a drunk Old Darcy always grew confidential with the foreman, as if the great, strong temperance man might save him from his approaching debauch. He would shrink into a corner near his den on such occasions, shiveringly, as if trying to ward off the monster threatening his very soul. Then as he imbibed freely his nervousness departed, and he would insist on regaling everyone with his belief in strange doctrines.

At such times he was a theosophist, and insisted on telling the men in the next alley that this was his third appearance on earth, and that the first time he was an Indian princess. The foreman observed Slug 4's changed demeanor and felt that the old fellow was off for another drunk.

"Slug 4's communing with the Indian princess again," remarked one of the subs, who knew the old man's failing for liquor, with grim humor.

The foreman spoke to the queer fellow, but received the assurance that no drunk was contemplated. But Slug 4's manner was so changed that he spoke to the men on the stone and suggested that they watch him and if possible prevent him starting again, with the hope of saving him. When Darcy noticed the manner in which the boys regarded his seriousness he appeared to resent it. He grew more moody. He was not working that night, and this was even more alarming. Then the galley boy told the foreman he had seen Slug 4 take something from his pocket and hold it lovingly to his nose. What could that be but a flask, and as Darcy wandered out of the composing room the father of the chapel called a hurried meeting.

A committee was sent after Slug 4 with instructions to explain to him that the office needed him and prevent the contemplated spree if possible. The committee caught up with him as he walked rapidly down the street. He seemed wounded for a moment, then invited them to go with him. He held the paper package in his hand. As he passed into his boarding-house he untied it and a bunch of violets was exposed. His room was reached.

He walked up to a silver-haired woman and placed the flowers benignly on her bosom, as he kissed her tenderly.

"Boys, this is my mother; I have sworn off for good; I wanted to tell the boys that, but they wouldn't listen to-night. I have just found her after many years' search; she thought I was dead—killed, the night my wife and babies perished and my sorrows drove me to drink."

The committee stood with bowed heads.

There was a tear on Slug 4's cheek as the boys passed out of the room, and the white-haired mother buried her face on his shoulder.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

INSIST ON Abbey's

What Everybody says is good is worth Trying.

When every one says a good word for a thing it is because it is a good thing. Try "Abbey's" then say what you think about it.—A tea spoonful on retiring will cleanse the system of impurities—stimulate the liver—quicken the circulation—quiet the nerves—tone up the stomach and digestive organs—prevent indigestion and dyspepsia—put and keep the body in good health—the tonic properties of "Abbey's" work wonders.

All Druggists sell

Abbey's Effervescent Salt—

Half and Half.

The dyspeptic may well be represented pictorially as being half masculine and half feminine, and combining the least desirable characteristics of either sex. He has all the stubbornness of the man with the peevish irritability of a sick woman. He's not pleasant company at home or abroad.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It renews physical health which carries with it cheerfulness of temper, and makes life a pleasure instead of a penance.

The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations from which disease is bred. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the supply of pure rich blood, which gives life to every organ of the body. It gives new life and new strength.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure," writes Mr. M. M. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now I am cured."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

AN ADVERTISING YARN.

How Gertrude Twining, Canadian Heiress, Got the Donegall Title.

A despatch from London, England, the other day says:

The marriage of the octogenarian Marquis of Donegall and the 22-year-old Canadian heiress, Miss Gertrude Twining, granddaughter of a great shipbuilder of Nova Scotia, is now said to have resulted from the peculiar advertisements which so startled London society for several weeks previous to the coronation ceremonies.

While the scramble for seats in Westminster Abbey was at its height an advertisement appeared in the London and New York papers offering the title of marchioness, which, of course, included a husband and the financially sought for privilege of a seat in the Abbey in return for the settlement of $100,000 upon the anonymous nobleman.

It was soon a matter of general knowledge that the Marquis of Donegall was the author of the advertisement and was willing to swop his title for a cash consideration. Mrs. Twining, who had the most ambitious aspirations for her attractive and wealthy daughter, is said to have placed herself in communication with the marquis. An arrangement was made by which the nobleman was presented to Miss Twining at the Isthmian Club. The tall, young Canadian beauty, a really regal girl, made a deep impression on the patriarchal nobleman, and he was not slow in pressing his suit. Within five weeks of the day he was presented he led the Wellesley graduate to the nuptial altar.

The pre-nuptial arrangements, it is said, provided for a settlement of $40,000 a year on the marquis for life. He is 81 years old and feeble. He cannot live long, and Mrs. Twining is credited with having driven a rather clever bargain in procuring the exalted title of marchioness for her daughter.

The marquis has admitted that his advertisements, placed in the New York papers with the expectation of attracting an American heiress, brought no response.

Canadian Soldiers' Graves.

Her Excellency the Countess of Minto has, in her quietly effective way, been evincing a keen interest in the project of marking the graves in South Africa of Canadian Volunteers who have died through the war, says The Montreal Star.

In the near future, millions of people from all parts of the world will go to South Africa, either with a view to settling in the country or to see it, for it may be taken for granted that before the last shot has been fired in this war, excursion agencies will have their routes and plans ready to invite tourists and settlers.

In Africa, graves are everywhere. Mounds that mark the resting place of thousands of brave men are scattered all over the veldt. In most cases these graves will be identified. Many of the dead will be transferred from unsuitable places and brought to town and city graveyards.

The question of suitably marking these graves is one of national interest. The Englishmen and Scotchmen and Irishmen, the Australians and New Zealanders, who fell, are to have their graves appropriately marked in a way that will show that these dead were not forgotten.

Great would be the pity if the graves of Canada's soldiers there, received less recognition than those of comrades from other colonies or parts of the Kingdom.

Canadians would not like to know that scattered here and there are unknown graves, supposed to be those of Canadian volunteers who fell and were forgotten. For this reason it will be hoped that the association in Ottawa, at the head of which are the Governor-General and the Countess of Minto, will be remembered and aided by patriotic Canadians.

Passing of Canadian Forests.

Senator Alger recently sounded a note of warning about the rapid disforestation of the Province of Ontario. The enormous growth of the pulp industry is one of the causes of this. Two pulp mills at Sault Ste. Marie turn out 250 tons of finished product a day, which is itself an enormous drain on the forests in that neighborhood. It is interesting to know that the amount of lumber and timber used each year by the railways of this country is greater than the entire annual manufactured output of the State of Michigan. Senator Alger says that unless Ontario speedily passes laws making it necessary to replant land as soon as the first growth is cut off, the day will soon come when the Canadian forests will be like Michigan's, practically worthless.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. My Books.

"I have friends whose society is delightful to me; persons of all countries and all ages, distinguished in war, in council, and in letters. Easy to live with, always at my command, they come at my call and return when I desire them; they are never out of humor, and they answer all my questions with readiness. Some present before me, in review, the events of past ages; others reveal to me the secrets of nature, these teach me how to live, and those how to die; these dispel my melancholy by their mirth, and amuse me by their sallies of wit, and some there are who prepare my soul to suffer everything, to desire nothing and to become thoroughly acquainted with itself. As a reward for such services they require only a corner of my little house, where they may be sheltered from the depredations of their enemies."

88 Feet Per Second.

It is estimated that the ill-fated Pacific Express, No. 5, was running 60 miles an hour when she struck the freight at Wanstead. How many people have figured out what this means? 60 miles an hour is a mile a minute. A mile a minute means 1,760 yards per minute; 1,760 yards a minute means 29 1-3 yards, or 88 feet per second. Just consider for yourself what a crash at this speed means.

Indians and the Graphaphone.

A rather amusing experience in connection with Dominion Superintendent of Forestry Stewart's recent tour in the far north was a half-breed concert in one of the Indian settlements around the Lesser Great Slave Lake. The Indians there are rather up-to-date, know the topical songs of the day, and can sing. On this particular occasion Mr. Stewart was entertained with "Goo-goo Eyes" and similar melodies, and when he asked a half-breed where he had learned the tunes he received the terse reply, "Graphaphone."

Messrs. Haight & Freese have received the following:—

New York, Jan. 23. — Conditions are bullish. There are no signs of any diminution in business for a year to come. Money is getting plentiful and cheap. Gold exports would not be disturbing. The public are not in the market, and the short interest is growing—two technically bullish factors. I am confident that the next pronounced movement when it comes, will be upward. Surface fluctuations are little more than guesswork. These are unlikely to be important. The only bear developments in sight are possible Venezuela complications and a bubonic plague scare on the Pacific coast. It is probable that both these influences will disappear in due time. I am of the opinion, as was said last night, that now is the time to cautiously lay in your line of stocks, whenever weakness develops. An extended upward movement may not start for some time, or it may start to-morrow. No one can tell as to that. Unless there should be some unexpected adverse developments I look for higher prices for the balance of the week. There is talk however that Germany will not accept our plans for an adjustment with Venezuela. In that case the bears might knock down a point or two.

RIDGLEY.

New York, Jan. 23. — There will probably be another effort made to-day to work for higher prices, and in the absence of further unfavourable news in regard to Venezuela pools are likely to be successful. There are no signs of the public coming into the market as yet. Money is apparently very easy. We advise the taking of moderate profits. Be cautious in trading, and act frequently. Do no operate for long pulls at present. A.C.P. Sugar, Man., M.O.P., and Wab. prfd. are ready for specialty advances. London Heavy.

TOPICS.

New York, Jan. 23. — England not only lacks sympathy with the Kaiser's plans, but positively repudiates his methods. The market abroad for our securities is strong. Traders are bearish, fearing that the United States may become involved in the Venezuela affair, but Washington apprehends no such complications. The Wall street powers have the market well in hand. Good stocks are a purchase on all little recessions. L.&N. will recover its dividend speedily. Atch. may be taken hold of on fractional dips. Sell B.R.T. on flurries.

Belleville Coming by a Special Train.

A Great Match is Expected in Brock Street Rink This Evening—Notes of Interest.

HOCKEY.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The people of the town are displaying great interest in the game which will take place this evening in the Brock street rink between the Belleville seven and the local team. The Belleville aggregation is coming of determined to win and the Peterborough seven will do their utmost to reverse the score that was piled up against them in Belleville last week. The Belleville Club is running an excursion to Peterborough so that they will likely have a large number of supporters with them this evening. Mr. Hugh Rose who refereed the game between Port Hope and Peterborough will officiate this evening. The puck will be faced at 8.30 o'clock sharp. The Peterborough team will be as follows:

Goal, Wasson; Point, Glover; cover point, H. Armstrong; forwards, Cavanagh, R. Armstrong, Whiteroft and Graham.

Although the O.H.A. has granted Wasson a permit to play with Peterborough, he is unable to leave his duties at Warsaw.

FENELON WON.

The following despatch from Fenelon Falls tells of the game in that town last night:—

The first hockey to be played here this season was a match this evening in the Trent Valley League series between Peterborough and Fenelon Falls, resulting in a victory for the local team by a score of 9—0. The game was witnessed by one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds ever assembled in the Fenelon Falls rink. The play was free from roughness, and the crowd was good-natured and generous with applause for both teams, while Referee Jas. McCabe gave entire satisfaction. The new players on the local team put up such an excellent game that the loss of R. Sandford and H. Deyman, who left town recently to play on the Orillia and Collingwood teams, will not be felt.

The teams:

Peterborough — Goal, Comstock; point, Clarke; cover point, Morgan; forwards, Thornton, Watson, Robertson, McIntyre.

Fenelon Falls — Goal, Art Ellis; point, Ted McKillin; cover point, F. Bell; forwards, Patterson, Beteau, Boyce, Deyman.

* * * *

Unless the Intermediates turn down Belleville to-night, the T.A.S. seem to be slated as the only Peterough team that will bring a hockey championship to town. The juniors are out of the running, and the T. A.S. with three scalps in their belts can easily be picked as the winners of the Trent Valley League trophy. Here's good luck to them anyway—the boys can be trusted to furnish the good play.

* * * *

The T.A.S. Hockey Club has received from Mr. William Bunton, the genial local agent of the G.T.R., a certificate entitling the club to special rates.

CURLING.

It is only natural that great interest was evoked by the advent of the Scotchmen, they being such fine specimens of such a noble race. Among them was distinguished Mr. E. Bentley-Murray, the "youngest, handsomest and tallest" member of that renowned group. Needless to say he was greatly admired by the ladies in the gallery, who took a great interest in watching him curl. In Mr. Robert Husband, the secretary of the club, Mr. E. B. Murray found a provoking rival, and one whose name was continually on the lips of the ladies.

* * * *

Skip Whiten made not only a star, but a sun-burst play in his go with Orillia. He finished in a blaze of glory. The enemy lay one shot with Skip Whiten five down, with well-placed guards against him, he was to take out Orillia's scoring stone of which only 3 inches were visible, and pass through three narrow "ports" one so narrow as to be only about half an inch wider than his stone. The case seemed hopeless to everybody but Skip Whiten. He played his stone, evicted Orillia's stone and lay six!

* * * *

Practice enabled the Scotchmen to get accustomed to Canadian ice as a curling medium, but it seems, in spite of the distinguished effort of Lindsay to that end, impossible for them to get accustomed to Scugog water as a medium of connival hospitality.

BASKETBALL.

There are preparations on foot for a basketball match between the Harriers, senior champions, and the Brownies, the junior champions, who defeated the Toronto West End Boys Club. This game will decide which is the best team in the Association, and as they both play an exceptionally good game, it should prove an attraction worth seeing.

Y. M. C. A. GYMNASTICS.

The senior school boys' gymnasium class at the Y.M.C.A. will play hockey at the rink on Saturday mornings, commencing on January 23. All members of the class will kindly note the hour, 10.30 to 11.30, and be on hand sharp on time.

LACROSSE.

The Port Hope Guide says: Mr. E. T. Hamly has just finished a picture of the Ontario Lacrosse Club, taken from a group picture taken about six years ago. The picture was taken in the old Athletic grounds just before a match with Peterborough, when the Ontarios for the first time donned the yellow and black. The following named veteran lacrosse players formed the group: R. Misson, R. Day, T. E. Burt, Frank Nattrass, George Tutton, David Raymond, Dave Hooey, Jack Richardson, Reg Hayden, "Todgy" Rogers, Dick Ware, James Crowhurst, Lang Crowhurst, W. Marvin, Frank Tutton, and the late C. C. Colman.

AN ELECTRICAL INVENTION.

Peterborough Man's Prepayment Meter.

A Satisfactory Test Made Yesterday in Ottawa by Mr. A. A. Dion—Some Advantages Claimed.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Messrs. J. H. McClellan and Geo. L. Gowlland, of Peterborough, are in the city in connection with a new prepayment, or nickel in the slot electric metre, of which Mr. Gowlland is the inventor and patentee and which is manufactured by the Gowlland Company of Toronto.

The metre, which is the only prepayment metre in existence, is the invention of Mr. Gowlland, who is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Antigonish, N.S. He is the possessor of 42 patents and was formerly one of the head electricians for the Canadian General Electric Company.

A test of the metre was made yesterday by Mr. A. A. Dion, chief of the Ottawa Electric Light Company, who describes it as supplying a great want. He stated that both the recording and prepayment metres were perfect and correct from one lamp up, the ratio from one lamp to twenty being perfect.

The prepayment metre is similar to the Watt metre and to the well known prepayment gas metre, of which there are 18,000 in use in Montreal and 50,000 in Canada. It is strictly automatic in its action, there being no switches or handles to turn. All the operator desiring light has to do is to go to the metre and deposit therein 25 cents or any number of quarters, which will be used consecutively as the light is consumed. Another important feature is that the consumer can check his own machine by the clock, which is modelled after the cash register system, keeping check on the light used for the consumer and of the number of quarters deposited for the company.

The metre will do away with all suspicion on the part of consumers that they are being defrauded by metres which they cannot read. If any customer thinks that he is being robbed, all he has to do is to turn on one light, and with his watch or the family clock he can tell at a glance how much light he is getting for a quarter. Another important feature is that this metre enables the company to do a cash business, at the same time ridding the consumer of light bills, as the clock keeps tab on the number of quarters deposited, and which are collected periodically throughout the year.

Messrs. McClellan and Gowlland are on their way to Montreal, where a number of influential electrical men are anxious to see the metre. They are not in any way hawking stock, as there is no stock in the company for sale. There are already some hundreds of these metres in use. One apartment house in New York is using 175 of these metres.

The members of the Gowlland Company are:—F. V. Clisdell, President, Toronto; G. L. Gowlland, Treasurer, Toronto; J. H. McClellan, General Manager, Peterborough; A. J. McClellan, Peterborough; R. E. Clisdell, London.

THE NORWOOD BUDGET.

Some Personal Mention From the Village to the East—Other Notes.

Geo. T. Freeman, aged 19, of Norwood, who was working as a harness maker's apprentice was on Wednesday last brought before His Honour Judge Edmison, on a warrant charging him with breaking into Dr. J. C. Moffat's drug store in that town.

The prisoner appropriated $9.80, of which $2.15 was found on his person, while the remainder had been spent.

The prisoner, who pleaded guilty, was remanded to gaol till Saturday next in order that a thorough investigation might be made into his previous character.

His Honour Judge Weller was in town on Tuesday attending a jury case, John Walsh vs. Thos. Trotter and Jos. Trotter. Judgment was given for defendants.

The Scotch curlers passed through here on their way to Peterborough on Tuesday. Their faces wore very pleasant expressions, for those who are so often on the losing side, but that is one of the traits of Scotchmen, to smile in the face of adversity. The Scotch element of the town turned out in large numbers and gave them a cheer. A number of the local curlers went up to Peterborough to witness the match, and take part in the bonspiel.

Miss Gertie McLaughlin, returned from Bracebridge on Monday, where she has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Sadie Foster.

Miss Gertie Squire, who has been training for a nurse in Newburgh Hospital, New York, returned home this week.

Mr. William Anderson, of Toronto, was in town on Tuesday.

The hockey match which was to have taken place on Friday between Stirling and the home team, is withdrawn, as Stirling has defaulted.

The Methodist League social, that took place at the home of Mr. Samuel Adams, was a decided success, although the weather was very cold, the thermometer standing at 20 deg. below zero in the morning.

Mrs. Eaton was in Peterborough on Tuesday, attending the funeral of the late David Lewis.

Miss Mary Foster, of Bracebridge, is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. Cornett returned this week from a three weeks' visit at Gananoque.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Ship and Coast Guns.

The mountings for ship guns and guns in coast fortifications are so designed and constructed as to throw into the power of one, in so far as possible, the whole control of directing the gun at the desired target and firing it when ready.

Knowledge of Handicrafts.

At the Woman's Art Association meeting in Toronto on the 5th Jan., 1903, the president, Mrs. Dignam, spoke most strongly on the great need of spreading the knowledge of handicrafts. Mrs. Dignam has just returned from a visit to the Woman's Art Association in Montreal, and has brought with her some specimens of handsome tweeds and homespuns, some chairs most beautifully made, with real rush seats, and all the parts pegged together without nails. Portieres of the old tufted work in soft greens and rose, and striped dress materials. The W. A. A. in Montreal are taking the greatest interest in a most practical way in the furthering of these industries in the Province of Quebec, and have a permanent exhibition of the basket making and work of the Indians, as well as some of that of our new colonists, the Galicians and Doukhobors. The association, at the head of which Miss Phillips devoted much of her time and life work, has given the proper dyes to the workers, and introduced the artistic colors, instead of the crude shades which were used at first. The matmaking and carpet weaving has also been revived, with every prospect of success.

G. T. R. PACIFIC LINE.

Views Expressed by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in An Interview.

IDEAS OF C. P. R. PRESIDENT

Objects to Government Going Into a Deal With G.T.R. Which He Considers Would Be Akin to Partnership With a Company to Become the Competitor of Existing Lines —What Sir Thomas Said.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—Yesterday Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, gave his views on the Grand Trunk Pacific to the correspondent of The Toronto World as follows:

"Permit me to say that the Government cannot grant this subsidy, in my estimation, with all fairness to those companies now in the field. It is very nearly akin to the Government's going into partnership with a company, to become a competitor of existing lines. It is not only not fair to capital invested, but there is no demand for such a policy. When the C. P. R. was built, it was a different proposition, an entirely new condition. The road was a necessity, both commercial and military. The country keenly demanded it, and the demand was reinforced by a necessity that was wholly apparent, from every point of view. Conditions have changed now. It is not a pioneer condition which confronts the country. In fact, the period where subsidies are necessary has passed for all time.

"Then, capital could not be reasonably expected to invest in a transcontinental line, as a private venture. Every pound of material had to go overland long distances. As a private venture, it would have been impossible, ruinous. There was no business to be developed, and no prospects of a profitable income for years. All this had to come as a result of the construction of the road, and continued heavy expense to the company. All is different now. The cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific is a mere bagatelle, as compared with the cost of the C.P.R. This cost alone would more than account for the difference between the C.P.R. subsidy and the expense of constructing the Grand Trunk Pacific as a private enterprise, wholly.

"Personally, I am opposed to Government subsidies. The policy is demoralizing. Sometimes it is the choice of two evils, but the situation now does not warrant the Government in such partnership schemes.

"I think the more profitable policy for the country is the enlargement and development of lines already in operation. As evidence of what the C.P.R. is doing in this line, I may say, we ordered some ten million of dollars' worth of rolling stock in July, 1901. This consisted of 185 modern locomotives and other necessary equipment. Less than half of that has been received thus far; but it will all be ready to be utilized in moving this year's grain yield. During that period, I may add, that we bought and used all the rolling stock the market would afford, or our facilities turn out. This was to keep the equipment up to the standard.

"Then, too, we have been doing all that we could be reasonably expected to do in this time to improve the roadbed, straighten out the curves, reduce the grades, and construct the branches which the development of the country demanded. The expenditures in this direction have been enormous. Our appropriation sheet this year for these purposes shows some seventeen million dollars, with some millions added for new construction. Half of these seventeen millions has already been expended, and the balance will go into the line betterments as rapidly as the work can be done this year. This covers some 1,200 miles of lines alone. We practically completed over two hundred miles of new line last year.

"Now, our idea is that, if the Government policy of subsidizing lines is to be continued, we would be entitled to large sums for the new lines being constructed and in contemplation. No; we are not asking aid for these branches. True, we have made application for a subsidy for the Moosejaw extension, but the circumstances in that case are somewhat different from the other work of new construction. It naturally follows that we should have this subsidy, too, if the Grand Trunk Pacific is to be come our competitor, with the Government as a partner. Of course, I know the Grand Trunk Pacific will not be a paying proposition at first, but it will pay in time, with exertion and settlement of the country; but this means time, I concede this.

"I think I may say it is the policy of the C.P.R. to spend millions annually in running branch lines into the settled country, which demands these facilities, reasonably, from the business offered. This means the line will cover with a network of feeders the territory adjacent to its main line. This will be done as fast as the material can be secured. This work of improvement had to be deferred until the C.P.R.'s business warranted it. We could not raise the necessary funds at first for this work. Neither did the condition of the country warrant better rolling stock, lower grades and feeders.

"Those demands have come with a rush, as has the heavy invasion of new settlers. For instance, we had engines in the roundhouses all along the main line in 1900, as well as a surplus of rolling stock. This was due to the short crop; whereas, last year, it was impossible to haul the vast yield of grain. I will say that the road can handle next year a hundred million bushels, and will. Our facilities will enable us to do it easily. We will have the balance of the 185 new locomotives and other new rolling stock. Besides, the road bed will be improved, as is the equipment.

"The dissatisfaction last year with congested traffic was natural. We were confronted by annoying problems on all sides, such as might never occur again. At least, if they do, we will be better able to cope with them. First, the grain yield was enormous; then, in the spring, the high water was everywhere, bringing down all manner of foreign substances to the sources of our water supply for the rolling stock. This wet period was followed by an exceedingly dry period, and our engines foamed, burnt out, and were badly damaged. Deprived of so much rolling stock at such a time, we were handicapped. These things can be explained with difficulty to the layman.

"Again, in such a rush, the elevator and grain laws in the Northwest seriously interfere with the rapid movement of grain in a crisis. For instance, the elevators along the lines are so equipped that they can load and unload hundreds of cars of grain daily. Where it would take a single farmer all day to load a car of grain, the elevator would take his wagon and transfer it to the car in a few minutes. Yet, the law places the individual on the same footing as an elevator, and we are forced to set out cars on the sidings, in response to a requisition from a farmer, and have it tied up for days; whereas, at the elevator adjacent, the transfer might have been arranged, and the car brought back into the carrying trade almost instantly. This reacts directly upon the farmer, and is one chief reason for the congestion of last year. However, even these conditions will be eliminated this year, with the vast increase in the numbers of available cars, and the condition of the tracks.

"When the C.P.R. was constructed, it was done, necessarily, in a hurry. It was not a question of the most desirable route, from an engineer's standpoint, but the route that could carry the rails over with the least possible loss of time. That accounts for the condition of the road to-day, and the vast improvements rendered necessary by increased traffic. The road, as constructed primarily, filled the bill. It handled all the traffic with ease, but the suddenly-increased traffic called for the big improvements we are making.

"Now, in conclusion, I wish to point out the absurdity of the report that the C. P. R. is in agreement with the Great Northern and other Hill allied interests, by which neither invades the territory of the other. On the face of it, it is folly, because the C. P. R. is, and has been, for years, absolutely occupied in providing transportation for the Canadian territory it traverses. This has occupied our whole time, and we are just now getting the matter well in hand. We could not, if we had desired, have gone into the Hill territory to the south. It would have been an injustice to the Canadian people, whom our first duty required us to supply. True, we have secured a sufficient interest in some of the small transportation companies touching the Soo section, so as to give us traffic arrangements, but wholly for the purpose of facilitating the Canadian traffic proposition. If Hill desired to break into the Canadian transportation business, it would not have been necessary for him to secure the consent of the C. P. R. Therefore, the report of a combination falls, on investigation of the most cursory kind. We have not even a traffic agreement with Hill's lines."

MEN ARE MISSING YET.

Work of Clearing Away G.T.R. Wreck Near Port Hope Goes On.

Port Hope, Jan. 24.—The work of clearing away the wreck of Wednesday night's disaster on the Grand Trunk is still in progress. As yet no traces of the missing bodies of Fireman Harry Matthews and Brakeman Benjamin Everist have been discovered.

Coroner Alderch has therefore postponed the inquest ordered for last night until Monday evening, or until such time as the remains are recovered.

PANAMA CANAL TREATY.

U.S. to Pay Colombia $10,000,000 Down and $250,000 Annually.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The canal treaty provides for the payment by the United States to Colombia of $10,000,000 in gold and $250,000 annually hereafter. The lease of a zone six miles wide for one hundred years is granted. The United States has the right to send troops to protect its property in case Colombia cannot do so.

The lease of the strip of land to be used for the canal and for canal purposes is practically made perpetual, the provision on this point being that the first lease shall be for one hundred years and renewable thereafter in terms of one hundred years at the pleasure of the United States. The strip is to be 10 kilometers, or about 6 miles in width, and over this territory the United States is given police and sanitary jurisdiction, although it is explicitly specified that Colombia does not surrender sovereignity over it. The United States is to have the privilege of free importation of vessels and material to be used in the construction of the canal. It is also given the right to improve, use and protect harbors at both the Atlantic and Pacific ends of the canal. The grant is made exclusive to the United States, and no taxes or rentals are to be charged in addition to the gross sums of ten million dollars cash and a quarter of a million dollars annually.

The Committee of Foreign Relations will meet to-day to consider the treaty.

Voluntary Schools.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—A deputation representing the Anglican Synod, waited on the Ontario Government yesterday afternoon to announce the views of the Synod on the subject of religious instruction in Public schools. They asked that the voluntary school be recognized as a part of the Public school system of Ontario, but the reply of the Minister of Education was not such as to lead anyone to believe that the request of the deputation will be granted.

King Oscar Giving Up.

Stockholm, Sweden, Jan. 24.—King Oscar has decided to temporarily entrust the government of the country to Crown Prince Gustav, who will take over the regency next week. This action of His Majesty is taken as the result of medical advice. The King has abandoned his projected visit to Norway.

Eve Tempted Adam.

And Adam has been tempting Eve ever since. Imagine a man selling a woman rancid butter while keeping her attention fixed on a "prize" given with the rancid butter! A woman may be tempted by "prizes" to buy common soaps, that she may not know will soon ruin her clothes and hands. But she soon finds out the difference between common soaps and Sunlight Soap. She finds Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—a prize in itself. Her clothes last longer, and her hands are saved from eczema. 7-0

VERY SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

Mr. Harold Jarvis Assisted by Other Talent.

Miss Edna Sutherland, Miss Alice Calder-Stock and Mr. J. H. Cameron.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen are to be congratulated in bringing such high-class talent to Peterborough, as appeared in the opera house last night.

Although booked for eight o'clock it was not until 8.30 that Mr. J. J. Turner, representing the United Workmen, announced the commencement of the programme, by a vocal solo, entitled "The White Squall," by Mr. Harold Jarvis. This artist has a magnificent voice, which was fully appreciated by a crowded house. His song, "Rory Darlint," was enthusiastically received, as was also another solo, "Could I But Tell."

Miss Alice Calder-Stock, who is new to a Peterborough audience, has also a beautiful voice, and her numbers, "In Iwella," "Irish Folk Song," "Rosary," "Spring Song," and "Merry Miller," were consecutively encored.

Miss Edna Sutherland, the elocutionist of the group, gave some remarkably fine selections, from different sources, the best received of which was "Mrs. Wiggs, of the Cabbage Plot." The other numbers were entitled "A Doctor of the Old School," and "The New Kingdom," each being deservedly encored.

The esprit of the assembled throng was raised aloft by the humour of Mr. J. H. Cameron, who rendered several songs and stories, the best received of which was "The Stuttering Sweethearts," a song which only a clever artist could render so well as did Mr. Cameron. His other selections were "You Can't Keep a Good Man Down," and "Dad's Dialects," both of them excellently rendered.

The accompanist, Miss L. Meharry, is to be congratulated on the manner in which she played her part.

The programme suitably concluded by the singing of the National Anthem, and the audience dispersed, well satisfied with the excellence of the evening's programme.

The promoters of the concert are to be congratulated upon their success in providing so high class and satisfactory an entertainment, and also upon the liberal public appreciation it received.

A LITERARY MEETING

In Connection With St. Peter's T. A. S. Ladies' Reading Circle

The Ladies' Reading Circle of St. Peter's T.A.S. held a literary meeting in the hall last evening, when an excellent and highly instructive paper on "Goldsmith," was read by Miss L. Deannard. Miss Deannard dealt with her subject in a very able manner, showing that she not only possessed a thorough knowledge of the matter, but that she also possessed in no small measure, the faculty of imparting her information in a most pleasing and effective style.

The writer entered into a detailed account of Goldsmith's life, from his youth, and also gave a very minute criticism of his works, which proved most interesting and instructive. Her essay was a careful and comprehensive portrayal of the life, characteristics and productions of one of the most peculiar men found among literary characters.

In addition to the many excellent qualities of the paper, it was read in a delightful manner, and was, in every way, deserving of the many congratulations tendered Miss Deannard by Rev. Dr. O'Brien and other speakers during the evening.

The musical part of the programme was ably contributed by Misses M. Doherty, A. Simons, and M. Kearney, the latter two young ladies rendering vocal solos in a very pleasing manner.

The next literary evening will take place on Friday, February 6th, when Miss Susie Kelly will read a paper on Wordsworth.

SUCCESS OF A TOBACCONIST.

Messrs. Talbot Bros. Receive a Handsome Prize.

During the Christmas season Peterborough had many very prettily decorated windows, in fact the merchants vied with each other to see who had the most attractive display.

The window of Talbot Bros., Tobacconists, of George satreet, had a singularly attractive window, the work of Mr. R. Helderman their popular salesman. To-day they received a letter from the editor of the Cigar & Tobacco Journal which reads as follows;—

Messrs. Talbot Bros.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Gentlemen,—We have pleasure in advising you that you have been awarded the second prize, amounting to $50.00, in the Holiday Window Dressing Competition of the American Tobacco Co., in which we acted as judge.

An illustration of your display appears in the current issue of the Cigar Journal. We have advised the American Tobacco Co. of this award, and presume you will hear from them in due course.

Congratulating you on the excellence of your window, we are,

Yours Very Truly,
Cigar & Tobacco Journal.

Toronto, Jan. 22, 1903.

Mr. Helderman is to be congratulated on his artistic success in obtaining such a handsome reward.

The Ills of Women Act upon the Nerves like a Firebrand.

The relation of woman's nerves and generative organs is very close; consequently nine tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Herein we prove conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will quickly relieve all this trouble.

Details of a Severe Case Cured in Eau Claire, Wis.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I have been ailing from female trouble for the past five years. About a month ago I was taken with nervous prostration, accompanied at certain times before menstruation with fearful headaches. I read one of your books, and finding many testimonials of the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, experienced by lady sufferers, I commenced its use and am happy to state that after using a few bottles I feel like a new woman, aches and pains all gone.

"I am recommending your medicine to many of my friends, and I assure you that you have my hearty thanks for your valuable preparation which has done so much good. I trust all suffering women will use your Vegetable Compound."—MRS. MINNIE TIETZ, 620 First Ave., Eau Claire, Wis. (May 28, 1901).

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it soothes, strengthens, heals and tones up the delicate female organism. It is a positive cure for all kinds of female complaints; that bearing down feeling, backache, displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and is invaluable during the change of life, all of which may help to cause nervous prostration.

Read what Mrs. Day says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — I will write you a few lines to let you know of the benefit I have received from taking your remedies. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, sick headache, painful menstruation, pain in the stomach after eating, and constipation. I often thought I would lose my mind. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was soon feeling like a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly. It does all that it is recommended to do, and more.

THRONE OF SOLOMON

SIR EDWIN ARNOLD ON ITS HISTORY AND ITS LEGENDS.

It Has Been Talked of in the Bazaars of the East for Thousands of Years—Greatest Living Authority on Traditions of the Orient Writes on the Lord Curzon Story.

The story speedily contradicted, that Lord Curzon, Viceroy of India, had discovered the long-lost throne of Solomon, was current long enough to induce Sir Edwin Arnold the greatest living authority on the traditions of the Orient to write the following sketch in The London Telegraph:—

All Asia is talking about the great Durbar to be held at Delhi in four weeks' time from this. The peoples of her myriad States and kingdoms, in thousands of her bazaars, her markets and her khans discuss over hookah and narghilah the glories that will attend the Imperial occasion Townsmen and countrymen chat about the mighty business when they meet, and the womenfolk shopping in the streets, reclining at the baths, or trifling the time away behind the curtain, repeat to each other with wonder and admiration glittering in their dark eyes the superb preparations being made in and around the ancient Mogul capital. Moreover, when a prodigious topic like this passes through the cities and countries of Asia, fancies are let loose, and wild ideas put abroad, which show that the East is now, as always, the natural home of romance. An instance of this is given in the report sent from Calcutta about the Viceroy, who, as even the Hindus know, is deeply interested in ancient history. The bazaars declare that Lord Curzon has discovered the hiding place of the far-famed throne of Solomon, that he will make employment of it as a seat of State during the Durbar, and that all kinds of miraculous events, bringing admiration, peace, and prosperity to India, will accrue from the fortunate hour when the representative of King Edward VII., sitting in the chair of Suleiman, receives the homage of the native Princes and potentates.

The throne of Solomon—the Takht-i-Suleiman—has been talked about in the East for hundreds—nay, for thousands—of years. Many and many a square-topped hill or mountain, besides the remarkable eminence which overhangs Indus, near the Khyber Pass, is styled the Takht-i-Suleiman, the localities thus distinguished being almost as numerous as the footprints of Buddha. That mountain, over the northwest border, which perhaps has the best right to bear such a title, is linked with a beautiful story telling how the great King of Israel collected round his throne there all the birds, beasts and creeping things of earth and made them praise Allah and reverence Him with prayer, while submitting themselves humbly to himself as their Sovereign Lord on the earth. The Mohammedans to a man believe that this really happened, and was by virtue of the magic name of the Almighty carved upon the great sapphir which King Suleiman wore upon his forefinger.

As has been written:

Wot ye of Solomon's signet, graved of a sapphire in gold,
Graved with the great name of God, writ on the blue of the stone?
Wisdom and riches and power had he who that treasure did hold;
Safe in the strength of the signet he set on his ivory throne.

Only King Solomon knew how the dread letters did flow,
What was the breathing of Akeph, where came the whispering Zod,
When he spake the ineffable word, the sea-winds at bidding would blow,
And the hills yield their iron, and jewels and gold, at the naming of God.

Many Hindus also agree with Moslems in believing in the preternatural wisdom of Suleiman, and in the marvels which he could perform. As for the throne itself, the best information with which my limited knowledge can gratify the curiosity of fair readers will be to cite from the Twenty-seventh Sura of the Koran. It is there set down in the Prophet's straightforward style how the Queen of Sheba—which, of course, is Sheba—visited King Solomon. The Lapwing Hud-Hud, one of the King's feathered messengers, had brought tidings of that wise and powerful Empress of Ethiopia, and the Jewish monarch summoned her to his court, wherein he had arranged many devices in order to test her sagacity. Among these one of them belongs to my present topic. The Lapwing has spoken of the Queen's wonderful throne, made of ivory and gold, and curiously incrusted with sapphires, emeralds, opals and mysterious inscriptions. King Suleiman commanded the strongest of the Jinns serving him to fetch this superb throne from the palace of Sheba as soon as its mistress had started. I will give a translation of the Arabic verses which follow: "And Solomon said unto his servants: Alter her throne that she may not know it, to the end we may see whether she be rightly directed, or whether she be one of those who are not rightly directed." And when she was come unto Solomon, it was said unto her. "Is thy throne like this?" She answered, "As though it were the same." Such perspicacity struck the King more than he had been disappointed by her when she took the polished floor of his palace for water, and drew her golden robe above his knees in order not to moisten it. Nor, truly, was it less than marvellous that the chair, which had no equal in the world, and which she had left behind in her African court, should be awaiting her in such incredible swiftness of manner in the palace at Jerusalem. As for the Queen herself, she became on the spot the vassal of the King, and a believer in his God, and India—nay, indeed, the greater part of Asia—would think it only a natural finish to the ancient legend if Lord Curzon had indeed in some way or other acquired the incomparable seat of State and were to occupy it on the great morning of the Grand Durbar.

But no one knows, and probably nobody will ever know, what became of "that throne of Solomon" whereof the Koran treates as a thing which did once exist. The only item of Imperial upholstery which at all coincides with the splendor and unique design of that article of the Queen of Sheba's household furniture was the throne carried away from Delhi and its Hindu sovereign by Nadir Shah, the Persian. But we know where that is to-day; it is visible, and even in occasional use, at the palace at Teheran, and is the property of his Majesty the shah, who has lately visited our shores. It is nothing more or less than the "Peacock Throne" — Takht-i-Taous; and surely if skill in workmanship and wealth of material could settle the question, rich and fine enough for the dignity of any legend. The "Peacock Throne" has been valued by competent European jewelers at £4,000,000; and there are said to be on the gold, the ivory, and the ebony of which it is constructed jewels of absolutely unequalled value and importance. How it has survived the financial exigencies of successive Shahs it is difficult to realize, or what will prove the ultimate destiny of an object which could build half a dozen first-class battleships or pay the expenses of a small war. The history of races and religions would indeed be romantically rounded if the famous throne had been found which was a seat of State for the Queen of Sheba, a chair of dignity for the renowned son of David, and disappeared, perhaps, as the King of Israel himself disappeared, when the great Temple at Jerusalem was finished. Who knows what curious and precious objects may not lie hidden in the Tosha-Khanas—the treasure chambers — of India and Central Asia? And what, I wonder, would be the market value of such a throne if Mr. Pierpont Morgan or Mr. Andrew Carnegie should desire to purchase it to make, perhaps, a rocking chair for the President of the United States?

How "Old Moore" Began.

"Old Moore" of London is the great almanac compiler, but as to whether that is his correct cognomen cannot be said. There is a story told that he was a struggling printer somewhere in the region of Fleet street many years ago, and one day having the 'ump he dropped round to his favorite "boozer" for a "gargle." Then he met a few of his pals, and he gargled so often, that like the lady in a poem when bemoaning her lover, he "forgot the stars, the moon and the sun," and that the almanac was waiting to go to press. The printer's devil was sent in search of him, and finding him informed him that he had forgotten to say what kind of weather it was to be on the 24th of May. The prophet told the devil to take his anatomy out of his sight, and to say it would snow or anything else he liked. And snow it was. "Snow" was put opposite the vacant date, and the prediction came true, and so the fame of the almanac went throughout the land.

Raleigh's Great Oil Gushers

A Second Big Flow Struck Near the First One

FIVE PAYING WELLS

Fields Expected to Have Permanent Value—Oil is of Splendid Quality and a Good Illuminant—The Work Now Under Way.

Chatham, Jan. 10.—A little over two months ago Chatham was startled by the news that in Raleigh Township, eight miles south of the city, an oil gusher had been struck that gave the phenomenal flow of 1,000 barrels per day.

After the first month much had been done towards the establishment of what is expected one day to be a permanent oil field, and the discovery of more oil during the past week has started another stir. Four new paying wells have been struck since the Gurd Gusher. These however represent but a small amount of the work that is in progress. Early in November there was no sign of the present industry; to-day the farms in the neighbourhood are dotted with derricks and little neighbouring sheds that cover boilers and engines.

Another Big Gusher.

The Gurd Gusher was the first strike, and ITS LARGE YIELD KEEPS IT TO-DAY THE BIGGSET OF THE FIELD. Yesterday afternoon, however, a good strike was made, which would be considered a wonderful find if it had not to compare with the Gusher. Corywell and Gage struck oil last week on Lot 22, Concession 13. The well was shot in the afternoon, and after the operation produced a flow that will yield 25 barrels per hour. This is but one-half of the capacity of the Gurd Gusher, but is greatly in advance of the other wells. A well on lot 23, Concession 12, produces 30 barrels a day; the well on Lot 18, Concession 13, is producing 20 barrels a day; and one on Lot 20, Concession 10, is producing 20 barrels a day. Yesterday oil was struck on the Mills farm, a little south of the Gurd Gusher.

Oil of Good Quality.

The most satisfactory feature of the Raleigh Oil is its quality. The gravity is 34 degrees, which is two degrees higher than any Canadian oil. As an illuminant it can scarcely be excelled. Expert oil men who have examined the field, express hopeful views regarding their future. At present there are two flowing wells, producing 75 barrels an hour between them, and there are three others producing oil in profitable quantities. As to permanency, it is believed that these wells and any others that may be found will compare favourably with any others in the world.

OUR PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

The recent oil discoveries will place the production of petroleum and its products in Ontario in a high place, probably the leading mineral product of the province.

The value of petroleum and products in 1901 was $1,467,940, in 1900 was $1,689,015; in 1899, $1,747,352; and in 1898, $1,970,534.

Above is the result of carefull investigation up on the part of one of the leading Canadian newspapers, which during the week ending January 10th despatched one of its special reporters to examine the field. It still further proves the Dominion Oil Co.'s claim to at least 1,000 acres of oil lands out of the 1,530 acres surrounding their "Gurd Gusher," and constitutes an extremely gratifying endorsement of the company's claims.

The oil we produce is bringing the highest price of any on the North American continent.

A marked demonstration of the way in which the permanency of this field is regarded is shown by the Standard Oil Company having constructed a pipe line from the Gurd Gusher to the nearest railroad, and now erecting additional steel tankage and pumping stations.

A limited issue of the treasury stock is now offered at the exceptionally low price of 35 cents per share, this being the OPENING and the LOWEST price at which a share of the stock has ever been offered.

The present purchasers will be entitled to a dividend of ONE PER CENT PER MONTH, ON PAR, commencing February 1st — 36 PER CENT. per annum on the investment at PRESENT PRICES.

You Can Get Well

Without Risking a Penny, if You'll Write a Postal to Me.

You see this offer everywhere—all the time. Don't you realize that thousands accept it?

And don't you know, too, that I am curing those thousands, else the offer would stop.

If you are one of the sick ones, don't wait any longer. Just write me a postal, and let me help you too.

I will mail you the book you need, and with it I will send an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He will let you take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the druggist myself. And your mere word shall decide it.

Please think what that means.

No other physician ever made such an offer. No other remedy that any man knows could stand such a test. Do you not know that I must have something unusual—something almost sure?

In the past twelve years I have furnished my Restorative on trial to over half a million patients, and my records show that 39 out of each 40 have paid for the treatment gladly, because they were cured. I have willingly paid for the rest.

My Restorative succeeds because it strengthens the inside nerves. I don't doctor the weak organ; I bring back the nerve power which alone makes that organ act. I treat the weak organ as I would a weak engine, by giving it more steam.

I studied a lifetime before I perfected a remedy that would do this. I have it now so that it always succeeds in any case that is curable. And I assure you, from a vast experience, that these chronic troubles can rarely be cured in any other way.

My book will tell you why.

Simply state which book you want, and address to Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Book No. 1. on Dyspepsia
Book No. 2. on the Heart
Book No. 3. on the Kidneys

Inspector Mariatt's Request to Have Leads Opened Up Refused.

Winnipeg, Jan. 24.—Advices from Dominion City say: S. R. Marlatt, Inspector of Indian Agents, addressed a large gathering of the three tribes of Indians on their reserve last Tuesday, for the purpose of requesting them to give up part, or the whole, of their land. Although Mr. Marlatt made proposals that had never before been offered to Indians, they absolutely refused to have anything to do with his offer. The impression prevails that some person has been inducing them to ask absurd figures for such land, thinking the Government would pay it. Mr. Marlatt was very disappointed in not being able to pursuade them to open their reserves.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, blood root, red gum and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslee in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkably satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectually and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patient medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver, or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

TO DIE FOR TREASON

Such is the Sentence Pronounced Upon Col. Lynch.

COMMUTATION IS EXPECTED

Lord Chief Justice in Summing Up Said There Was Abundant Evidence of Overt Acts in His Siding With the King's Enemies — Mrs. Lynch Fainted in the Court.

London, Jan. 24.—Col. Lynch was yesterday found guilty of treason and sentenced to death. His wife fainted in court.

When the trial of Colonel Arthur Lynch, member of Parliament for Galway, on the charge of high treason, was resumed yesterday, counsel for the defence began summing up. There was no attempt to deny that Colonel Lynch supported the Boers, but counsel contended that naturalization was in no way prompted by treasonable intent, and was solely for the advantage he would thus secure for journalistic purposes. Subsequently, the defendant actively supported the Boer cause, in the belief that he was a legally naturalized burgher.

Replying for the prosecution, the Solicitor-General, Sir Edward Carson, maintained that Col. Lynch joined the Boer army as a discontented Irishman, "thereby committing a most cowardly and most serious act of treason." His naturalization, continued the Solicitor-General, was only a flimsy pretext. Counsel then proceeded to detail the prisoner's alleged acts of adherence to his country's enemies.

The Lord Chief Justice summed up very briefly. He said that, if, in war time, a British subject joined the King's enemies, whatever his purpose, he was guilty of an unlawful act. Naturalization during war time afforded no excuse whatever for subsequent acts. There was abundant evidence, he said, of overt acts in siding with the King's enemies.

The jury, after having been out half an hour, returned a verdict of guilty.

When asked if he had anything to say as to why he should not be sentenced to death, Col. Lynch replied: "Thank you, I will say nothing."

"The sentence of death was passed on each of the four counts in the indictment.

The prisoner then bowed to the court, and was removed in custody.

Although formally sentenced to be hanged, Lynch's sentence, no doubt, will be commuted.

Lynch throughout, bore himself with unfaltering composure. He walked out steadily between jailors, and past the bench where his wife and other relatives were seated.

Mrs. Lynch has been given permission to see her husband.

A Child's Informal Dinner.

A tiny girl of seven gave a dinner-party the other day, for which twelve covers were laid, and that number of small maidens sat down to dine. It was a real little girls' dinner, and the little hostess herself presided, sitting at the head of the table. She had been very anxious, in looking forward to it, to do everything as it should be done. "Mamma," she asked, "shall we say grace?" "No," said mamma; "it will be a very informal dinner, and I think you need not do that." That meant one ceremony the less to be gone through and was a relief. But the little lady was anxious to have all her guests understand it. So, as they gathered about the table, she explained: "Mamma says that this is such an informal dinner that we need not have grace to-day!"

AN IMPORTANT SPEECH

Education, Transportation and Population.

SPEECH BY PREMIER ROSS.

Canada's Immediate Needs—The East and the West—In Transportation We Advise as First Choice an Outlet—Need of Trans-Canada Lines—Need of Population—Trade Reminisces.

Toronto, Jan. 24. — Mr. A. E. Ames, the retiring President of the Toronto Board of Trade, last night entertained his colleagues upon the council and a number of friends at a private banquet at the Toronto Club. Among the guests were Hon. Geo. W. Ross, who made an important speech. The Premier said in part:—

Canada's Immediate Needs.

The three matters most worthy of immediate consideration for Canada, Mr. Ross went on, are education, transportation and population. By education I mean the education of our own artisans in the production of first-class goods for home and foreign markets, so as to give a standing to Canada as a trustworthy producer in the markets of the world. It should be a sufficient recommendation for our butter, cheese, furniture, machinery, and the varied production of our factories, that they were Canadian, just as the imprint "sterling" on silver settles its intrinsic value, and every Board of Trade in Canada should keep this in view. Under education I desire further to include the education of the people of Great Britain in the teeming resources of Canada, in its climate, and in the industrial energy of its people. To that end I would have no hesitation in encouraging the expenditure of a considerable sum of money either for the establishment of a permanent exhibition of Canadian goods at London, or for the appointment of a royal commission of the best men in the country to assist in dispelling the appalling ignorance that prevails in the old land as to this the greatest colony in the Empire.

The East and the West.

The question of transportation, to use a common expression, is worked rather hard in one or two lines. If I could presume to sketch out a policy for Canada I would ask the far-sighted leaders of public opinion and the captains of our great industries to sit down and study the natural courses of trade, having regard to existing conditions, but more particularly having regard to the relation in which the eastern half of Canada stands commercially to the great northwest as well as to the contiguous States of the American Union. We ought to make sure that the whole trade of the Canadian Northwest should pass through our own country to the seaboard. We should also endeavor to secure the trade in grain and food supplies of the contiguous States of the American Union.

Choose an Outlet First.

These are the two important propositions involved in transportation, viz., existing conditions and future development. With regard to the first, our eastern outlet is the most urgent. What are the possibilities of the St. Lawrence route is, to my mind, the key to the situation. Will Montreal or Quebec be our main seaport for summer traffic? If there is any doubt as to the feasibility of making Montreal our summer seaport, that doubt should be removed. What I desire to say is that we should thoughtfully, scientifically and almost regardless of expense settle the question of transportation by the St. Lawrence route, and, having settled it, bend all our energies to make it as perfect as the Mersey or the Clyde for navigation purposes. Having settled our summer seaport, then take similar precautions to determine a winter seaport, and from these two points let inland transportation so radiate as to control every rill and rivulet of local trade from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and if there is to be another New York in America, let its foundations be laid somewhere upon Canadian soil.

New Trans-Canada Railways.

As to future commercial routes the same prescience should be exercised. We need another transcontinental railway, and we need it soon, and perhaps you, sir, may live long enough—I hope you will—to see three or more transcontinental railways. Railways not only convey trade, but they produce trade, and under ordinary circumstances fertilize every mile of country through which they pass. Can we get the trade of the American northwest as well as of our own northwest? I think we can, either by way of the Georgian Bay and the Canada Atlantic, or by Collingwood or Owen Sound through Toronto, which to us here would be even the better way. But we cannot get it without an effort. We would never have had a C.P.R. without the Government, nor would we have had our canal system, nor our Intercolonial Railway. I do not think that Government initiative is yet exhausted. Canada can afford to spend $10 to-day on natural development for every dollar she could afford 25 years ago, and the money wisely spent would yield a better dividend than the diamond mines of Johannesburg.

Need of Population.

My third measure is population. Stuart Mill said, "Give yourself no trouble about consumption, if you want to build up a market. Production is the secret of commercial supremacy." Perhaps Stuart Mill was right. I prefer, however, accepting the dual proposition that consumption and production should go together. What is the cause of the great increase in wealth in Canada in the last ten years? It is not so much from the increase of population as from increased production. If, however, the population could be doubled, how rapidly the figures would run up into the millions! Our trade to-day is greater per head than the trade of the United States, and crowds hard upon the trade of Great Britain, and still we are but a fragmentary line at the basis of one of the most productive portions of the world. We stand in Ontario ten to the square mile, or for Canada less than two to the square mile, while Britain has 350 and the United States 21. Our industries are crying for more help—our farmers are embarrassed for the want of help; our prairies invite the ploughshare and the harvester; our minerals, cold and sullen, and waiting for the flush of the smelting furnace, while millions of goods that we could produce ourselves are pouring in upon us by every steamship and railway train.

Our Trade Reminisces.

England buys 160,000,000 bushels of grain a year, and we send her less than 20,000,000. She buys 400,000,000 pounds of dressed meat, and we send her a few thousand pounds. She consumes 500,000 tons of pulp, and we send her fifty or sixty thousand tons. Who should satisfy the voracity of this monstrous power that employs the greatest mercantile navy in the world to feed it and to supply it with the elements of industry, if not the colonies that regard it with reverence and sometimes with affection because of its place in the civilization of the world?

But population means consumption as well as production— a home market as well as power to take possession of a foreign market. It means national strength—a feeling of security and independence. For the promotion of these three great ends Boards of Trade have done a great deal—can do a great deal more. We must not fear the future, we must rather invite the future, with its risks as well as its responsibilities. We must push out beyond the pillars of Hercules: we may even be obliged to sail in lone seas; if so, let us sail them with confidence. The destiny of Canada is, I believe, to be a great nation, and we must remember the words of Tennyson:—

"Pray Heaven we may not greatness fail
Through craven fear of being great."

Her Apology.

The local singer was resenting mildly to the hostess the large amount of praise which her guests was bestowing upon the visiting vocalist.

"They didn't applaud me that way," he complained.

"Oh, well, you know," she said apologetically and sympathetically, "he is a visitor whom we don't hear often, while we think of you as the Bible says, 'The poor we have with us always.'"

Then she was very much hurt because he refused to accept her apology and left the house in a huff.

William Lines of Lucan Caught in the Brake Gear.

Stratford, Jan. 24.—William Lines, a G.T.R. brakeman, met with an accident near Gad's Hill Thursday night, which resulted in his death. No one saw the accident. But the train broke loose, and, on backing up, Lines was found tangled up in the brake gear, badly injured about the head and body. He was brought to the hospital here, but died in a couple of hours. Deceased lived near Lucan; was about twenty-two years of age, and unmarried.

A MOTHER'S DELIGHT

Is to see Her Little Ones Healthy, Rosy and Happy.

All mothers delight in seeing their little ones, bright, rosy and happy, but unfortunately all mothers do not use the best methods to gain this result. When baby is cross and fretful they give him "soothing stuffs," believing they are aiding him—but the result is just the opposite, as these soothing stuffs are poisonous and dangerous. Baby's Own Tablets should always be used and they will be found a prompt relief and speedy cure for all the minor ailments from which little ones suffer. All experienced mothers use these Tablets and all mothers who use them praise them. Mrs. S. M. Black, St. Peter's N. S., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for most of the ailments from which little ones suffer and I find them the best medicine I have ever tried. No mother should be without them in the house."

These tablets are good for children of all ages and can be given with absolute safety to a new born babe. Sold by druggists or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Send us your name on a post card and we will mail you a valuable little book on the care of infants and young children.

Young, But a Fighter.

Of General Manning, commanding the forces operating against the Mad Mullah, The Pall Mall Gazette says: Although but thirty-nine years of age, and one of the youngest officers who ever held such an appointment as that which he now fills in the service of the British Crown, there is possibly no one alive who has seen more fighting in tropical Africa than he has. It is one of those curious anomalies of the army that an army officer may in his regiment hold a far inferior rank to that which appertains to the position he may at the moment be filling. It is so in the case of General Manning, whose precise regimental rank in the Indian staff corps is but that of Captain. He has the local rank of Brigadier-General and Inspector-General of the military forces of the African Protectorate. Like so many, perhaps most, of those who have soldiered successfully amid the forest solitudes, the deadly jungles, and the miasmal swamps of the West African coastline and the hinterlands, General Manning is a short man, with a fair, reddish moustache, and fight grey-blue eyes. Spare of figure, and carrying not a single ounce of superfluous flesh, he is in appearance, as he has proved to be in fact, an ideal commander of native troops. He has a wonderful faculty of acquiring languages and dialects, which has been of incalculable advantage to him in his remarkable career.

PRIZES OF THE BRITISH BAR.

High Salaries and Large Fortunes Are the Rule.

The Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain is second only in position to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and he enjoys an income of $10,000 a year. The lord chief justice of England has a salary of £8,000 a year. The master of rolls has a salary of £6,000 a year, and the lords of appeal in ordinary have the same. The lords justices of the Court of Appeal and the judges of the High Court earn £5,000 a year each. The masters of the High Court are chosen either from barristers or from solicitors, but all the other office holders to whom we have alluded must have come from the bar, says The Cornhill Magazine.

The Attorney-General makes much more money than any of these dignitaries. His salary is only £7,000, but he has fees as well, sometimes to a very large amount. The Solicitor-General has £6,000 a year, besides his fees. Of course, the double work, legal and parliamentary, which these officers have to undertake is most arduous, requiring an iron constitution and a mind that requires but little time for rest. The private practioners in some few cases make larger incomes than any of the official persons at the bar. It is not indeed many who make five figures, but there may be always one or two leaders who are achieving this. The leaders who are chiefly before the public in ordinary cases do not often make more than from £5,000 to £6,000 a year. Larger fortunes are frequently made by men who specialize in patent cases, who are engaged in rating appeals and compensation work, or who practice their profession at the parliamentary bar.

BELLEVILLE DEFEATED PETERBOROUGH

A Stubbornly Fought Game in Brock Street Rink.

THE SCORE WAS 4 TO 3.

The Locals Showed Great Improvement and Played a Strong Game—How it was Done.

All chances there may have been for the Peterborough team winning the championship of the local district of the O.H.A. intermediate series were shattered last night when they were defeated by the speedy aggregation from Belleville by a score of 4 to 3. There have been many great games in Peterborough, but this was truly one of the grandest, or at any rate one of the most intensely interesting games of hockey that the public of Peterborough have ever had the privilege of witnessing. There were periods in the Port Hope game when the spectators became spellbound with excitement, but last night there was a while that the on-lookers did not know where they were at. They went "up in the air," to use a slang saying, and even forgot themselves to the extent of hissing the referee, a feature that is, however, too characteristic of matches in some towns, when the decisions of the official does not meet the approval of a crowd, that may naturally be a little biased. It is to be regretted that the Peterborough crowd forgot themselves in this regard last night, but the offence may, perhaps, to a certain extent be over looked, in view of the intense excitement that prevailed. Now that the smoke of battle has cleared away and the work of Referee Rose is calmly recalled, while it may be admitted beyond a doubt that he granted Peterborough no favours, still he acted wisely in his efforts to stamp out any slashing, bodying and other violations of the rules that develop as a game progresses, more especially in such a stubbornly fought match as that of last night. However, it must not be in the least inferred that Referee Rose was ill used, and the only object in referring to this incident is to encourage a more considerate spirit amongst spectators towards referees.

There was only one other incident about the game that should not have occurred, but that was more humourous than serious. In the great excitement that prevailed, in the second half, Whitecroft, of the locals and McGuire, of Belleville's team, had a misunderstanding. McGuire forgot himself and made a drive with his fists at Peterborough's centre. They clinched and for a while there was a general mix-up. The spectators behaved admirably and the players were soon parted. The little fracas which, however, occurred behind Referee Rose's back resulted in both players adorning the wall for five minutes. They shook hands, took in the game together, and returned with more vim than ever.

GREAT CROWDS.

The attendance at the match last night was even larger than at the Port Hope game, and the receipts were correspondingly large. Every available seating and standing room was occupied and the timekeepers performed their duties under great difficulties, as they were wedged in by the crowd throughout the game. It is estimated that 2,500 saw the game and the Secretary-Treasurer of the Rink Company announces that the amount taken inat the door was $524.00. The Belleville Club ran a special train to Peterborough, bringing 200 of their own townsmen and picking up enthusiasts all along the line, many coming from Stirling, Campbellford, Hastings and other points. The management of the rink handled the crowds in an able manner and there was not the annoying congestion of traffic noticable in the Port Hope — Peterborough game. The ladies of the town were out in large numbers and feel perhaps as keenly as anyone the defeat of the local seven.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

The Belleville team arrived on the ice first, decked out in pretty uniforms of white and red. The locals followed at about 8.30 o'clock and it was quite noticable that the visitors were the heavier of the two teams. McGuire the centre forward of the Belleville aggregation is a big fellow with a big curly bunch of yellow hair at which the ladies cruelly and said jeering little things about it. The team showed evidence of persistent training, and throughout the game worked in pretty stretches of combination play. Brown is perhaps the roughest man on the team, and adorned the fence periodically throughout the game.

The Peterborough team showed wonderful improvement since the game with Port Hope on Monday night. In fact the team was in just the form it should have been in when it started the championship series. Wasson appeared in the goal to the delight of many, and it can safely be asserted that he played wonderfully well. He appeared as lrisky as a two-year-old, and in the latter part of the first half took a spart up the ice for a bit of exercise. But this is Ernie's old fault of leaving the citadel, and then not recovering himself before the puck is back. He made some brilliant stops and his work was received with all its old time enthusiasm on the part o fthe spectators. Glover, at point, seemed more at home than usual, and generally met his man with telling effect. He lifted beautifully and made several rushes that were not only pretty to watch, but were effective. Harold Armstrong was there, with all his old-time vigour. He was off several times for what the referee called slashing, but which should in some cases have been looked upon as sharp checking. The forward line, with Whitecroft taking Morgan's place at centre, worked well together, and Graham was continually after the puck. Cavanah, with his weight, was about what was needed against a heavy team, and they scattered as he went down the line.

THE TEAMS.

Th eteams lined up as follows:

Belleville.	Peterborough
Goal.
Winchester	Wasson
Point.
Wallace	Glover
Cover point.
Brown	H. Armstrong
Forwards.
Marks	Cavanah
Kennedy	Roy Armstrong
McGuire	Whitecroft
Burrows	Graham
Umpires.
Burrell	Kenner
Time keepers.
Dr McKeown	A. Gibson.

Referee—Rose.

THE START.

It was 22 minutes to 9 o'clock when the puck was faced, and an onslaught made on the Belleville goal. It was only a short time before Cavanah was sent to the walk for two minutes for slashiong. Wasson made several clever stops, and when the play was transferred to the other end of the rink Roy Armstrong made some clever shooting. After 12 minutes play Burrows scored for Belleville.

When play was resumed Wasson was called upon to stop some hot ones. However, he left the goal, and did not fully recover his position before Belleville scored again.

In the third game Brown cross-checked Roy Armstrong very heavily and went to the side for three minutes. After a pretty rush of the Peterborough forwards down the ice Whitecroft scored on a pretty pass from Graham. Time 8 minutes. Score, Belleville 2, Peterborough 1.

McGuire scored again for Belleville in two minutes after play resumed.

One minute later they slammed through another and the score at half time stood Belleville 4, Peterborough 1.

In the second half the Peterborough team went in with greater spirit and rolled up two goals in short order. The hopes of the spectators, or at least Peterborough's admirers, became up-lifted, and it was thought that they would at least tie the score. However, the locals indulged in a little slashing which resulted in various players being ruled off for periods of from one to three minutes. With a handicap such as this the Peterborough men could not cope against the burly fellows from the Quinte town, and the game finished 4—1 in favour of Belleville.

NOTES.

Both teams were equally offensive regarding cross-checking and slashing.

The ladies thought that the referee was against Peterborough. It may be only a womanly view of it. However the local management will only go so far as to state that Belleville cannot assert that Peterborough got any favours.

A referee's position is indeed a difficult one. It is hard to please all.

A number of Port Hope people were out to see the match.

The Peterborough team will play Port Hope in the latter town on Monday night.

Peterborough's hockey team cannot win every year, but its "darn" hard to see the championship go to Cemeteryville.

Peterborough people take their defeat good naturedly anyway.

An effort will be made to have the St. George's, of Toronto here for a game at an early date.

Of course Belleville will have to reckon with Port Hope yet.

Fred Whitecroft played McGuire off his feet. He is a great man at centre.

The ladies think that a Rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

Representatives of the Belleville press who came up to the match were not extended the usual courtesies by the rink management. The blundering is to be regretted. It is scarcely probable that the rink management would have refused to admit the Belleville press men had they been sure of their identity. In a general crush such as there was at the time the Belleville people arrived at the rink dozens of people might have passed themselves off as press men.

The same team will play Port Hope on Monday night.

The Peterborough team is by far the best skaters and with a week's more practice would show marked improvement in their staying powers.

FINALS IN CONSOLATION.

Mr. S. Ray's Rink is Victorious by a Score of 16 to 12.

The final match in the Consolation series was played yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and Mr. S. Ray had the honour and pleasure of skipping the champion rink.

The result was as follows:

Peterborough.	Peterborough.
W J Thompson	S Oke
C N Brown	M R Green
J S Knapman	G Giroux
S Ray, sk...16	J Conaal, sk.....12

As the scores will show the match was a very even and exciting one, and Mr. J. Connal's rink is to be congratulated on making such a fine fight for the Consolation trophy.

TOASTED IN WATER.

Rev. Mr. Kerr, of the Scotchmen. Promises an Unique Experience.

In replying to the toast of the Scotchmen, at the banquet, at the Benson House, Lindsay, Rev. Mr. Kerr, captain of the Scotch team, said, in the course of his remarks, that he had been defeated, but would carry home his broom bearing the inscription Mr. Flavelle had attached thereto, and show it with pride to his children, and it would be preserved by his children's children. (Applause.) The speaker then referred to the successes of Skip Flavelle and the Lindsay curlers at the Winnipeg bonspiel and elsewhere and to realize their number it was only necessary to glance at the grand showing of silver trophies — he did not know of any club that could make as fine a showing. He would dearly like to see a Canadian club visit Scotland. They (the visitors) had had an unique experience in Lindsay, in having their healths toasted in water. They were glad of it—they had to curl in water at home sometimes. If a Flavelle rink came to Scotland he could promise them a unique experience — to see their health drank in whiskey. (Laughter.)

MR. CULVERWELL'S EFFORTS

To-wards Bringing Manufactures to Peterborough.

A Deputation Coming to Town to Look Over the Situation.

His Worship Mayor Roger has received the following letter from Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell:

His Worship Mayor G. M. Roger, Peterborough:

Sir,—Referring to our telephone communication to-day, I may say that the manufacturers who have already written you in regard to locating in Peterborough, will arrange next week to come to Peterborough and discuss the matter with your Manufacturers' Committee.

I have, after a great deal of negotiations with them, turned their attention from other places, and I think if this matter is handled properly we can close arrangements with them to build in Peterborough.

The requests that they have made in their letter, are I think more reasonable than they may at first appear, and the fact that they intend commencing with the employment of 60 hands is enough to indice your committee to give the matter their most serious consideration. I shall let you know what day next week you may expect them.

They intend using at first 100 h.p., 24-hour power, and as regards this I have been in communication with Mr. R. R. Hall, of the Otenabee Power Company, as to the rate so this matter need not take the attention of your committee. I understand they will be able to get that power at once from the Otenabee Company, their intention being to commence operations in building their factory immediately.

I am also happy to tell you that I am negotiating with another large manufacturing company to locate in Peterborough which is well under way, and they will, in their new works, employ some 400 hands, mostly skilled labour. In this case their power requirements will be so large that I think the usual free site and exemption of taxes will be sufficient to satisfy their demands, as the power rate will be less than they can get it elsewhere, and in this case I am satisfied that it will be gotten from the Burleigh Falls power.

In this connection I am pleased to see that at last the Burleigh Falls power has a market in Peterborough from the fact that the large quantities of idle power lying at Peterborough been developed and used. These powers heretofore have been prohibitory to the development of Burleigh Falls.

I trust to have the assistance and hearty co-operation of yourself and council in my endeavours to induce manufacturers to locate in Peterborough, and I may say in addition to the above mentioned works I have several other manufacturers well under way to fall in line. I would impress upon the local press and municipal officials to keep the names of these applicants from the outside public until negotiations are well concluded, for reasons unnecessary to state.

Yours truly,
J. ALEX. CULVERWELL.

Toronto, Jan. 23rd, 1903.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

A LOCAL YOUNG MEN'S Church Guild recently debated the relative merits of Athletics and Literature. This is not a debatable question. There is no doubt that both have their place in the development of the young man, and both are essential and indeed indispensable in their respective places. If the mind is developed at the expense of the body or vice versa the result is jug-handled manhood. "A sound mind in a sound body" represents true wisdom.

THERE IS DANGER of forgetting this in these stressful days of sport. Monday night the immense new hockey rink was not only literally packed with spectators, but hundreds failed to obtain admission. This indicates a very live interest in hockey and its Peterborough exponents, and is very commendable in its way. It is, however, extremely doubtful if on such short notice one-tenth as many persons could be assembled to listen to a purely literary entertainment.

AND HEREIN LIES a danger to the symmetrical development of, especially, our younger citizens. There is the danger that muscle will be magnified at the expense of mind. It is no doubt an exhilirating and nerve-tingling experience to witness the graceful activity, and the skilful co-operation of two hockey teams with winged feet and deft hands, contesting for supremacy upon a broad expanse of crystal ice under the blaze of electric lights to the echoing plaudits of thousands.

THE PRACTICE OF ATHLETICS develops a robust young manhood, and if kept free from vitiating influences and a spirit of winning by fair means or foul, and for the pure sake of sport develops manly qualities. There is as much chance for display of gentlemanly courtesy and fine manhood in the arena of hockey and lacrosse or kindred games as within the precincts of the drawing room.

BUT THE OBJECTION LIES in the danger of excess. Young men and their sympathizers among the public—and in the matter of hockey that seems to include all classes of citizens—can easily make too much of athletics to the neglect of the cultivation of the mind and study necessary to fit them for the serious duties of life, which demand rather trained minds than abnormally developed muscles. Long after the first elasticity of youth has passed away from the body, the mind will be attaining its maturity and if it has been well stored with knowledge, useful in our several stations, we shall be useful members of the community and have at our command the equipment tending to successful lives.

TO HAVE HEALTHY bodies we must have sanitary conditions favourable to the health of our citizens. The labour organizations are calling attention very properly to the necessity of a plumbing bylaw and adequate inspection. The Medical Health authorities in their tour of inspection discovered that of the 13 houses where scarlet fever developed, nine used well water, a significant circumstance which should enlist the interest of both the Water Commissioners and the Health authorities. It is high time that consideration of the most important interests involved should begin.

A LETTER from a Liverpool correspondent of ex-Alderman Turner, of J. J. Turner & Sons, printed in a recent issue, gives evidence of two things. It proves that "bread cast upon the waters" in the shape of good attractive literature concerning Canada, has its effect in unexpected quarters and that there is at least a quiet if not assertive interest taken by Britishers in Canadian affairs. A desire for better acquaintance is one that can be easily met, and British Canadians having friends in the Old Country can lead up to bettering their conditions—by getting them to come to Canada and thus enjoy a greater or less degree of personal intercourse, and at the same time bettering this country by addition to one of its greatest needs—population.

COGNATE TO THIS is the visit of the Scotch curlers. A good many persons think the $150 voted by the council to assist in entertaining the visiting Scotchmen, was an unwarrantable use of public money. Without pronouncing on this point one might bear in mind the probability of this money being a good investment in advertising the town. It helped to give the visiting curlers a magnificant reception and put them in the humour to say the best they can for Peterborough. As was noticed in yesterday's issue, Rev. J. Kerr, captain, chaplain and ex-officio spokesman, speaking at a luncheon in Toronto, declared that the Peterborough reception was "the grandest reception ever tendered sporting tourists in any country," equivalent to saying that Peterborough's reception was the best they had received in the Dominion. No doubt this conviction is shared by the other members of the visiting curlers, about twenty-four.

THESE MEN are all representative men, not only of the varied professions of which they are composed — merchants, manufacturers, farmers and professional men — but representatives of the whole of Scotland. They are selected from the clubs of the Royal Caledonian Curling Association, which includes all Scotland, and no club with, perhaps, one or two exceptions, furnished more than one member. Therefore, when the Scotch curlers go home, and tell to tens of thousands of curlers, and friends, of their Canadian visit, it is certain that Peterborough, where the Scots got their grandest reception, will get free, the full benefit of sympathetic praise, and sympathetic mention, of the capabilities of Peterborough, its business resources, and facilities.

THEN THE NAME and fame of of Peterborough will be spread through every city and hamlet in Scotland, and there will be no danger if the Chaplain visits Peterborough next year, of having letters addressed him, as was done a few days ago, in care of Col. Edwards, "Rev. John Kerr, Chaplain, Scottish Curlers, British No. America," but they will be addressed to "Peterborough, Ontario, the town which gave the Scots their "grandest reception," and the most hearty hospitality.

IF WE SPEND money in advertising the resources and manufacturing facilities of the town, it would seem from the above consideration, that the $150 invested by the Aldermen in entertaining the Scotchmen, and sending them away happy and delighted with Peterborough and vicinity, constituting them twenty-five zealous and friendly emigration agents, having the ear of the whole of Scotland, was not, perhaps, an unwise investment.

THE SCOTCHMEN only saw the incomplete Trent Canal, but it is to be hoped that if they come back in a few years they will see it open from Bay to Lake. The action of the Town Council and the Board of Trade, and others, at the meeting Thursday, resulted in the appointment of a committee to push forward the work of urging further steps in construction work. It is none too soon, as suggested previously in these columns, to begin a new work of reviving the sympathy of the Government, and educating Parliament to the national importance, and indeed, necessity, of the completion of the Trent Waterway for through navigation purposes.

NO ONE is surprised that the cement manufacturers of Canada have formed a combine—they should naturally stick together.

REV. MR. KERR, of the Scottish curlers, in speaking of Peterborough's "grandest reception," gave credit to the O.C.A. Peterborough happened to be the first place in O. C.A. jurisdiction they visited, and the O.C.A. deserves no prominent credit, except through the services of its capable and energetic Peterborough officials. To the curlers of the town the citizens generally, and the Town Council, all spontaneously co-operating, belongs the chief credit. But the fact is not altered that the visitors will recall Peterborough alone in connection with their delightful memories of the town, and its hospitality.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Maggie Runnings, of Ida, and Mr. Charles Lough, of Cavan.

A very pretty wedding took place in St. John's church, Ida, on Wednesday last, at 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon, uniting Miss Maggie Runnings, of Ida, and Mr. Charles G. Lough, of Cavan, formerly of Bathgate, Dakota.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Frank Lough, of Dakota, whilst the bridesmaid was Miss Jennie Plunkett, of Keene.

The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Mark Plunkett, also of Keene. The bride looked charmingly pretty in a white silk organdie dress with a bouquet of white chrysanthemums in her hands. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Jennie Vance, of Ida, and the wedding breakfast took place at the residence of Mr. David Curtis, of Fairwood, Ida, where the bride has been residing since the death of her parents.

The presents received by the happy couple were both useful and ornamental, and numerous.

The groom's present to the bride was sable furs, and to the bridesmaid and organist, an opal ring each.

The happy couple will spend their united days at "Low Grove Hall," Cavan.

May A. Bell-Marks At Ottawa.

Marks' Bros. presented Camille at the Grand Opera House before a packed house. May A. Bell-Marks appearing as Camille. The large audience was swayed by her acting and aroused to enthusiasm by some of her particularly effective scenes. Her gowns were beautiful. W. L. Stewart as Armand did excellent work. WRECKED A WINDOW.

Lively Runaway on Kent Street, Lindsay, Yesterday Morning.

(Lindsay Post.)

Mr. Wm. T. Moore, a farmer, residing near Peterborough, was driving a spirited team of black horses into town this morning hitched to a sleigh. When nearly opposite the Separate School on Lindsay street the animals took fright at a small boy and made a dash for liberty. They ran north to Kent street, but on turning west they jumped on to the sidewalk in front of Riggs' store, where they were brought to a standstill, but not before considerable damage had been done to Mr. Riggs' property. The large plate glass window on the east side was broken and four or five handsleighs were wrecked. The horses escaped injury but the farmers sleigh was badly smashed. He understand the plate glass window was insured.

WITHIN EASY REACH.

That Sure Cure For Dyspepsia, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—Mrs. Jamie L. Sellars Writes Regarding Them.

Dyspepsia causes more suffering in this Canada of ours than all other diseases combined. Nearly everybody has a touch of it. One simply has the blues, another has those mean sick headaches, yet another is suffering from "nerves," while hundreds and thousands are troubled with pains in the chest and abdomen, gas on the stomach and the dozen other accompaniments of the great dispeller of happiness.

And within easy reach of all these is a speedy relief and permanent cure—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest the food themselves—that is the secret of their success. The proof is in letters like this:—

"I believe Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made a sound cure of me after taking four boxes, after being seven years almost a dying woman. Now, thank God, I am able to do my daily work as usual. I cannot praise Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets too much for they have brought me almost from death to life.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. JASHA LOUISA SELLARS.

ON A LIFE IN PRISON

JIM BALLARD RELATES HIS STORY OF KINGSTON PENITENTIARY.

Experiences of One of the Orangeville Incendiaries in the Cells—Story of Solitary Confinement—Says He Became Contented and Resigned With a 12-Year Sentence to Serve—500 Convicts There.

Jim Ballard, one of the Melancthon incendiaries, has returned to Orangeville from the penitentiary. He was sent to Kingston in 1897 to serve a term of twelve years. The intercession of friends secured his release. With Jim Ballard was his brother Dave, Alonzo Smith, James Corbett and William Reid. Several of the gang escaped by turning Queen's evidence. Ballard is a stalwart negro, with a generous quantity of white blood in his veins. The ex-convict talked freely of his experiences in prison and gives a graphic description of the worst features of convict life. He says, however, that he feels more vigorous and better satisfied than at any time before being confined.

Jim declares that he and his companions were filled with horror when informed of their sentences. They did not expect to live through their terms, yet they soon became actually contented. Imprisonment he did not find such a terrible thing. He was placed in the stonecutting department at once. Now he is a master stonemason and expects to follow the work for a living. The other convicts in this gang have learned useful trades. Dave Ballard is a carpenter, Smith a blacksmith and Reid is employed on the prison farm. The man appears to feel no bitterness toward the prison officials or the officers of the law who were instrumental in sending him to the cells. The big negro manifests a good deal of resentment toward the members of the gang who escaped punishment by revealing the plans of the crooks to rob insurance companies. He is puzzled to understand how they escaped serving terms in prison. When this was explained to Jim he observed:

"I see, I see!" as the fact dawned upon him, "but I could never understand it before. And that's the reward of those gents for all their swearing against me and the rest of us. Well, well! I suppose it's not worth bothering about now."

Jim Ballard says the penitentiary is about the loneliest spot on earth. There are about 500 men confined there, many of them criminals of the hardest type, thugs, thieves, forgers, perjurers and murderers. The number of female prisoners is only 50. If one makes up his mind to be contented, as Jim and some of his fellows did, he can get along very well and time passes speedily enough. Solitary confinement for insubordination appears to be terrible punishment, for Jim says he has seen men at the end of it coming forth scarcely able to walk. During their confinement in the dark cells prisoners are in complete darkness, their only fare is a little bread and water and they have to sleep on the bare stone floor. Neither Jim nor any of his fellows, however, ever suffered this extreme punishment, which often includes the lash and sometimes suspension by the hands.

The convict's wife has married since he was imprisoned. He declares that he would not take her back for all the gold that twelve draught horses could pull. He had "suspicions on her" before he was convicted. This phase of the negro's life seemed to amuse him greatly. He hopes she found happiness with her new husband, "even if he is but 24, while his wife is 48," explained the huge negro, with a grin that showed his white teeth and wide expanse of blue gums, for Jim is, in the parlance of the street, a "blue-gummed nigger." There is a tradition that a person bitten by a nigger with blue gums cannot recover. This is so firmly believed in the South that a negro with blue gums is feared to an amazing degree by those of his own race. Jim Ballard is going to the States to begin life over again, and he seems quite cheerful. Many of the citizens shook hands with the negro and praised him for the philosophical way he views the future as well as the past.

For Thirty-four Years He Suffered

Treated In and Out of the Hospital for a Chronic Sore Throat and Abscess, and Taking so much Medicine He Lost Nearly All His Teeth, Jacob Church Got No Relief.

Reading of the Case of a Man Seventy-One Years of Age Who Had Been Cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone, He Became Encouraged and Tried the Same Infallible Remedy.

To-Day He Is Well; His Old Trouble Is a Thing of the Past and He Says: "God Bless the Men Who Invented Such a Good Remedy for People's Ills."

There is no case too old or deep-seated for Powley's Liquified Ozone to cure and it is a mistake to believe that when a case once becomes chronic that it is incurable. Mr. Jacob Church, of Sumach and Queen streets, Toronto, came nearly making this fatal mistake, but happily he did not do so, and to-day is alive and well.

MR. JACOB CHURCH.

The following is a statement of Mr. Church's case as written by himself:

"For 34 years I have had a sore throat, which reached down to my lungs. I also had an abscess on my neck. I have been in the hospital off and on for years, besides being treated by good physicians. I have also taken many different kinds of medicine, but from all these I never received any help. I at last lost all courage and felt that I would have to carry disease to the end of my days. I have taken so much medicine that all of my teeth except two are gone. I had to earn my living, and you will understand my feeling when I felt my health and strength deserting me. I was advised to try Ozone, and I had also read of Mr. Stevens, who was 71 years old, being cured. I felt greatly encouraged that I might get cured by Ozone, although I am 66 years of age myself.

"I commenced the use of Ozone and am glad to tell you that I am getting along splendidly. My throat and lungs are cured and the abscess is nearly gone. I am convinced I will get completely cured by the further use of Ozone. I can do my work now with comfort. I have great faith in Ozone, as it is the only remedy that has given me help, and I am sure I will be cured of my malady in a short time. God bless the men who invented such a good remedy for people's ills.

"(Signed) JACOB CHURCH,

Here is the Proof That Ozone Cures All Bronchial Affections.

That Powley's Liquified Ozone will positively cure all bronchial affections is proven by the testimony of the following Canadians who have been cured:

W. F. Weantsin, Consumers' Gas Co., Toronto st., Toronto, cured of bronchitis, lung trouble and general debility.
Mrs. H. Mateer, 661 Catherine st., Hamilton, bronchial affection.
Madame Gauthier, 701 St. Paul st., Montreal, bronchitis.
Mrs. Wm. Burg, 10 Brunswick st., Montreal, asthma.
J. W. Kirkup, 731 St. Urbain st., Montreal, bronchitis.
Mrs. C. V. Mulholland, 66 Seaton st., Toronto, hay fever and asthma.
John M. Smith, 333 Wellington st., London, bronchitis.
Robert Tregay, Church and Park sts., St. Mary's, Ont., pneumonia.
Mrs. Chas. Cooper, 74 Byron ave., London, ulcerated throat.
John Beatty, St. Lambert's, Que., hay fever and asthma.
Mrs. Wm. Whalen, Pomeroy, Ont., hay fever.
Mrs. J. Prior, Stafford Park, North Toronto, bronchitis.

Powley's Liquified Ozone is sold only by reliable dealers, never by peddlers. The price is 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. We have a new book now being printed that gives very explicit directions as to the use of Ozone. This book will be mailed to you on receipt of your name and address.

Future of Canada.

Chancellor Burwash of Victoria College in a recent sermon said: Canada had passed through years of trial and difficulties in overcoming the obstacles and solving the problems incident to the settlement and development of a new country, and had reached an era of great prosperity. It was now time to inquire, as David had done, how the country was to be made permanently prosperous. Good citizenship was essential to permanent prosperity, and to secure this the multitudes of immigrants and the rising generation had to be educated and evangelized. The preacher cited the United States as an illustration. A hundred years ago the population of the republic was five millions, about that of Canada to-day; the membership of the evangelical churches was 360,000. In 1902 the population was 75,000,000, the membership of the evangelical churches 16,000,000. While the population had increased fifteen times, the church membership had increased forty times. Speaking to the congregation as Methodists, he said their duty was to support liberally those institutions specially organized to foster education and evangelization, the education and missionary societies.

Mother of Four Sons.

The son born to the Princess of Wales in December is her fourth. The other children are Edward Albert, born in 1894; Albert, born in 1895; Henry, born in 1900, and Victoria, born in 1897. The latest born is therefore the fourth in line of succession to the British throne, making his chances of accession rather remote.

First Woman Admitted.

The first woman admitted by King Edward to the Imperial Service Order is Miss M. C. Smith, who superintends the woman's branch of the savings bank department in the general postoffice. Miss Smith has been in the service for nearly thirty years, having been a pioneer in the movement for employing women in the postoffice. She began with a staff of about 20 girls, and now has 900.

The average Scotchman weighs 165 pounds; the Welshman, 158 pounds; the Englishman, 155 pounds, and the Irishman, 154 pounds.

A Queen's Antipathy.

Notwithstanding her Hanoverian ancestry, the late Queen Victoria was always deeply interested in anything concerning the Stuarts. No one ventured in her presence, says Mr. Andrew Lang, to call Prince Charles Edward the "Pretender." For the hapless and beautiful Mary of Scotland she felt the profoundest pity, which was at least equaled by her strong antipathy to Elizabeth.

Referring to this one day, the Queen said:

"Once when I was about fourteen, and my mother and I were at Margate, we went on board a steamer. As we were crossing the gangplank a woman in the crowd looked hard at me, and then said to some one near her:

"'Another Elizabeth, I hope!'

"I turned and gave her such a look! I was furious!" added the Queen, smiling at the recollection of her girlish impetuosity.

WOMAN'S FORTITUDE.

Severely Tried by Ailments Peculiar to her sex.

Ordinary Medicine Will not Cure Because it Merely Touches the Symptoms—How to Get at Root of the Trouble.

Behind the veil of her womanly modesty and fortitude nearly every woman suffers indescribably from time to time, and continues to suffer in spite of all her efforts, because ordinary medicine is powerless to do good in such cases. Ordinary medicine may give temporary relief—even a purgative may do that—but the one great medical discovery capable of permanently curing and preventing a return of the ailment is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills are not an ordinary medicine; they are not a patent medicine, but the prescription of a regularly practising physician, who used them in his private practice for years before they were given to the public under the name of Dr. William's Pink Pills. They are the best medicine for man; the only medicine for women. Mrs. John McKerr, Chickney, N.W.T. says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved me many a dollar in doctors' bills. For some years I was greatly afflicted with ailments that made the life of so many of my sex miserable. I tried many medicines but found no relief until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills have made me feel like a new person; the almost continuous suffering I endured has passed away, and life no longer seems a burden. I know of a number of other women who have been similarly benefitted and I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills worth their weight in gold to those who suffer from female complaints or general prostration."

The happiness of health for both men and women lies in the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act as a nerve tonic and supply new blood to enfeebled systems. They have cured many thousands of cases of anaemia, "decline," consumption, pains in the back, neuralgia, depression of spirits, heart palpitation, indigestion, rheumatism, sciatica, St. Vitus dance, and partial paralysis. But substitutes should be avoided if you value your health; see that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on every box. Sold by all dealers, or sent postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dreadfully Discouraging.

"I see that a lot of French scientists claim to have discovered how to abolish old age and insure an indefinite prolongation of life."

"Say, what a sad blow this will be to expectant nieces and nephews who are waiting for the bank accounts of rich uncles and aunts!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a bot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Toothache. Better try a 25c bottle; it's all right.
No Pills like Dr. Hamilton's.

The King's Unbounded Sympathy.

Here is, to my mind, says M. A. P., the finest story of the King's unbounded sympathy for the sufferings of his subjects that has yet come to light. A young dressmaker was threatened with consumption, following upon long and dangerous chest trouble, and was left nearly destitute. The doctors advised her to obtain admittance to an open-air home to undergo a course of treatment. Meanwhile she was taken into a convent and devotedly nursed by the nuns; but, unfortunately, all their efforts to get her admitted into a home of the kind were quite fruitless. Then the girl, learning that the King was patron of one of these institutions on the south coast, resolved secretly to write to him and plead for his assistance. About a fortnight later a gentleman called at the convent and asked to see her. He gave no name, and at first he was told that she was too ill to see him. He then explained that it was necessary for him to see her, as he had come to inquire into her case, and as to the desirability of sending her to an open-air home for the treatment of consumption. She was aided downstairs, and he questioned her as to what the doctors had said, and then inquired to whom she had applied for help. She mentioned several names, and at last hesitatingly admitted that she had written to the King. He then informed her that he had come from the King to inquire into her case, as His Majesty had noticed her letter and wished to help her. After further inquiries everything was satisfactorily arranged, and the girl was sent for a prolonged period to the home, with the result that her health was greatly benefited, and that she has since been able to return to work.

When Britain Was Heathen.

Apropos of Christmas just passed. An English missionary used to carry about with him a quotation from a sermon preached in Cambridge in 1573, and would offer it to anyone who criticized missionary enterprise. Before the preaching of the Gospel in Britain no church existed but the temple of an idol, no priesthood but that of paganism, no God but the sun, the moon or some hideous image. To the savage rites of Druidical worship succeeded the abominations of a degenerate Roman idolatry. In Scotland stood the temple of Mars, in Cornwall the temple of Mercury, in Bangor the temple of Minerva, at Malden the temple of Victoria, at Bath the temple of Apollo, at Leicester the temple of Janus, at York, where St. Peter's now stands, the temple of Bellona. In London, on the site of St. Paul's Cathedral, the temple of Diana, and at Westminster, where the Abbey rears its venerable pile, was also a temple of Apollo.

Stupid Examiners.

PERSONALITY OF KITCHENER.

How the Present Military Hero of Great Britain Looks and Dresses.

In appearance Lord Kitchener is a tall man, about fifty years of age, six feet three inches in height, with heavy gray moustache, and wavy gray hair, which he wears parted in the middle; a sunburnt, kindly, rather chubby and determined-looking face, large steel blue eyes and square jaws are his characteristics.

The explosion of a mine at Chatham, England, many years ago when Lord Kitchener was in the Royal Engineers, injured his right eye permanently. In walking or riding he does not use glasses, but poring over the great maps and charts continually, he wears a pair of gold-mounted pince-nez, says Pearson's Magazine.

Lord Kitchener is not a heavily-built man; he has a fairly broad chest, but like so many of our army officers, he has rather thin legs—that is, in proportion to his exceptional height. He takes very little exercise, and gets through an amount of desk work every day that would make an English War Office clerk gasp for breath. He is usually dressed in khaki.

On all sides of his room were maps and charts dotted all over with little flags to mark the position of columns in the field and the last place where the enemy was seen; these are removed by the commander personally as the news comes in.

When I entered the room where Lord Kitchener was sitting by the window, I was fascinated by the thought of the power wielded by the wonderful man who sat before me.

Poisoning.

In a case of poisoning put a tablespoonful of mustard or salt in a cup of warm water and administer.

Indian Tea.

More than 524,000 acres of land in the Indian possessions of Great Britain are devoted to the cultivation of tea, nine-tenths of the area being in Assam and Bengal. Production is officially estimated at 191,250,000 pounds.

A GUARANTEED CURE For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys.

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after the use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Ormond and Walsh, druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Fattened by Arsenic Fumes.

A curious story is reported concerning a barque which arrived recently in port, having in her cargo 900 casks of arsenic. The crew slept very near the large array of barrels containing the drug, which gave off constantly an indescribable odor. They soon all noticed the same thing, and several of the tars became aware that they were becoming abnormally stout. One man gained twenty-five pounds. The aggregate extra weight put on by the entire crew was little less than 400 pounds. This was attributed to vapor generated by the action of the sun on the casks, and inhaled by the seamen while they slept.—London Globe.

For Colds and Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thorough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

IN THE NAME OF PHILANTHROPY

By O'Ryan O'Bryan

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

The Dawsons were double cousins—first in days of calm, but second when storms swept over the land—girls, fourteen years old apiece, bright, fiercely energetic and up to date.

They owned two adjoining ancestral places well furnished with fathers and mothers, and from cellars to attics, particularly the attics, with chairs and things, and with servants to dust the chairs and things. They owned also one grandmother in common besides two or three others in severalty.

Said their mothers, whom grandmother-in-common's illness called away, "How fortunate that school is in session; otherwise the girls might be lonely," a maternal euphemism resulting from long years of practice.

The term closed, however, without the mothers' presence to soften the blow. Grandmother-in-common's illness necessitated a longer leave of absence, which was granted in a characteristic message: "We're all right, little mothers. Stay as long as you please. Love to gram."

This was indorsed by the Fathers Dawson.

That was what the Fathers Dawson were for—to indorse. Although much absorbed in trying to double the output of the foundry without increasing the expenses, they still reserved the veto power at home. But the possibility of the overruling two-thirds vote led them to preserve the show of authority by indorsing, always and speedily.

The mothers were becoming uneasy. The daughters were becoming uneasy too. Usually when these restless fits came on the girls were tactfully guided into the paths of philanthropy. "Great executive ability" their mothers said they had, and indeed they could dress dolls or make scrapbooks for children's hospitals if necessary, but they just doted on sales.

When a sale was announced, their subordinates drew a long breath. The mothers fell to work with a will, echoing the remark of Rosa, the cook: "Now we knows where wese at. I can stan' on my feets all day makin' canny, an' I doesn' complains, but it's dese yere surprisin's dat gibs me d misery in my haid."

The restlessness now worked itself into a fever, and as it reached its height simultaneously in both girls they started on a run from their respective homes and met under the linden tree on the boundary of their ancestral lawns.

In breathless duet they exclaimed, "Oh, Susannah, I have an idea!" "Oh, Hepsibah, I have an idea!"

Their names were neither Susannah (always spelled with an "h") nor Hepsibah. Their mothers in youthful ignorance of what good form would demand in a name later had called them Nellie and Gracie. The girls early came to despise these weakly cognomens, and when some Harvard authority in a proud spasm of reform changed their Uncle Harry's name to Henry without so much as saying by your leave they promptly said, "We'll change ours." Susannah and Hepsibah they became to each other from that moment. The fathers and mothers at first stoutly resisted, but might prevailed. The general public now knew no others.

"We'll have a sale—a 'fresh air' sale."

Then the embryo "lady board" put their heads together and gave their executive ability full play.

At night the Fathers Dawson's indorsement was called for.

"A sale? Certainly." What a relief!

When the girls' signal lights greeted each other from their windows, each Father Dawson started for the telephone.

"My dear," said Susannah's father, "rest easy. A sale is on. They are quite capable of managing the Pan-American, you know, and they can this. The servants, both men and maid, must by this time be letter perfect."

When his turn came, Hepsibah's father said much the same thing.

The mothers embraced each other fervently. "The little dears," they said and slept the sleep of the unworried.

This was Friday. The sale was set for the next Wednesday. Grandmother-in-common was now recovering rapidly.

Tuesday night the mothers said to each other, "We're homesick."

"Wouldn't a surprise be fun?"

"Let's go home. I should enjoy a sale when we haven't worked to get ready for it."

"We won't even telephone for the carriage. The girls will need all the help they can have."

This was true. A sale without the two faithful benchwomen called for manual labor as well as executive ability.

Thus it was that the waning Wednesday afternoon found the two mothers hurrying on foot up the street from the station.

"Look at all the people coming down the street," remarked Susannah's mother. "There must be a circus in town."

"Yes, or a fire somewhere. They all seem to be carrying something."

"They are mostly women and look like the Plains people."

"Not all. There's Mrs. Gaines."

Now, Mrs. Gaines was an intimate friend, and with smiling faces they stopped to greet her. To their astonishment, she only gave a vicious little flirt to an out of date orange colored workbag hanging from her arm and walked by with averted face.

Not far behind her was another acquaintance from whom they received only a cold nod

"What in the world! Do they think mother had the smallpox, or have the Dawsons failed, or what is the matter?"

"Oh, look at tant woman! I do believe she has Grandfather Dawson's white bell hat. I know there isn't another in town."

"And that one with the silk waist hanging out of a water pitcher! There must have been a rummage sale."

The horrible truth flashed upon both at the same instant.

"My old rose waist!" gasped Susannah's mother.

"My Grandmother Pelham water pitcher!" moaned Hepsibah's mother.

There was no question now. Every one past whom their hurrying steps led them bore some half forgotten treasure seen only at housecleaning time.

They were women of fine sentiment, never willing to destroy anything about which fond memories could twine, and their large ancestral attics were filled to overflowing with what Rosa significantly called "heaps of plunder," the accumulations of several generations of Dawsons, Pelhams and Gaynors and the reapings of many Christmas harvests.

They rushed on, growing more and more sick at heart as they met here and there among the throng friends who dwelt within the circle of Christmas giving. When they reached the lawn, out of the tumult of their souls rose a bubble of pride that, awful as it was, the girls had displayed their usual executive ability.

Under the linden tree sat Hepsibah, the cashier, with a goodly pile of money before her. Patrolling the grounds and keeping an eye on each grinning negro in charge of the heaps of goods, which had been carefully assorted, classified and grouped around the trees, walked Susannah, the general manager.

The mothers had been too long under the yoke to make a scene, but as they walked from one ancestral tree to another and read the gorgeous placards tacked to the trunks their emotions were many and deep:

"Shoemakers' tools used by Great-grandfather Dawson."

"Infant wardrobe of the Gaynor branch," mostly rags.

"Great-grandmother Pelham's wedding dishes," a most disreputable collection of pans and crockery ware.

"Great bargains in Christmas presents. Good as new; some never used."

At this finishing stroke the Mothers Dawson fled each to her own house and wept behind closed blinds. "They will never forgive us!" they sobbed. "No wonder Mrs. Gaines didn't speak!"

A sudden shower put an end to the sale. A little uneasy in their souls, the girls went in to report results. When the interviews were over, it was not the Mothers Dawson who came out with drooping heads. On the contrary, these emancipated ladies sped down the lawns and shook hands in solemn compact under the linden tree.

Said Susannah's mother, "Hereafter I am to be boss of my own ranch."

"Same here," said Hepsibah's mother.

Then a blush of shame spread over their faces that even in this their hour of independence their speech should betray their daughters' influence.

"I mean that from this time forth I shall control the affairs of my own household."

"And I mean that the same conclusion has been reached by me."

They have a hard job before them.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

Half and Half.

The dyspeptic may well be represented pictorially as being half masculine and half feminine, and combining the least desirable characteristics of either sex. He has all the stubbornness of the man with the peevish irritability of a sick woman. He's not pleasant company at home or abroad.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition. It renews physical health which carries with it cheerfulness of temper, and makes life a pleasure instead of a penance.

The "Discovery" purifies the blood by eliminating the corrupt and poisonous accumulations from which disease is bred. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the supply of pure rich blood, which gives life to every organ of the body. It gives new life and new strength.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has performed a wonderful cure," writes Mr. M. H. House, of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia, the doctors say, that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and now I am cured."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Churchly Handmaiden.

Mr. Edwards and Mr. Wells, wardens of a prominent city church, were not in accord concerning the new rector's introduction of extreme ritual into the service.

Mr. Edwards was aggressively on the rector's side, Mr. Wells quite the reverse, and on one occasion their difference of opinion cropped out in a lively though brief dialogue which incidentally suggests the possibilities for expansion of the servant problem.

Mr. Edwards, having exhausted his arguments on his unresponsive brother warden, said:

"At least you will own that art is the handmaiden of religion."

"Yes," returned Mr. Wells savagely, "and I wish religion would give her a mouth's notice!"

A Curious Tree.

There is a tree in the West Indies that the natives say "grows dishes!" It looks like an apple tree. They call it the calabash.

It bears very queer leaves and large white blossoms that grow right from the trunk and larger branches. After the flower comes the fruit, just as our apples or peaches do. But this fruit is in the shape of a gourd, only stronger and much larger, sometimes a foot in diameter.

Now, see what a use the people of that country make of this fruit. The shell is so hard that all sorts of big and little dishes and drinking cups can be carved out of it. Even pots and kettles are made and used over the fire, but of course they cannot last as long as our iron ones. Is not this a serviceable tree? No wonder the natives are proud of it.

The American Corset Reigns Supreme

The American corset reigns supreme in the world of fashion.

The American consul at Nottingham, England, informs the state department that American corsets rule the English markets and so far eclipse the French corsets that Paris makers are forced to get their patterns from the United States.

How He Kept Informed on Clocks.

A fad more or less general is the collecting of old clocks, from the tall grandfather variety to the curious timekeepers of foreign make. The garrets of old farmhouses from Maine to the Carolinas have been ransacked for the former, and there is many a man and woman in New York who keeps an eye on the pawnshops of the foreign districts for curious and ancient things from abroad.

"It is almost impossible to keep them all running," complained a woman who has two dozen aged and valuable clocks scattered through her Madison avenue home. "They seem to be in good order and run along for awhile, then all of a sudden they stop for no reason at all.

"I have found an old German who knows more about the ways of old clocks than any one in the city. I sent him my German prize a few weeks ago, and when it did not come back after the usual period of waiting I went to his shop. What do you think I found him reading?"

The friend did not have the slightest idea.

"It was a little German volume with a title something like this: "Thirteen Hundred Reasons Why a Clock In Perfect Order Won't Run."—New York Tribune.

A BALLOONIST'S ADVENTURE.

Story of the Pluck of Stanley Spencer, the English Aeronaut.

M. A. P. tells a story of one of the adventures of Stanley Spencer, the English aeronaut. It was at Hong Kong, and the balloon was rent in making the ascent. However, not to disappoint the crowd, Mr. Spencer determined to trust to his luck and gave the order to let go. The balloon shot up, the hot air pouring from the fissure. The aneroid soon marked 600 feet, and the parachutist was beginning to get ready when the balloon suddenly collapsed, and, after a vain endeavor to loosen the parachute, he fell like a stone. During the whole of that fall he was conscious and felt no fear, only a dim wonder as to when he would strike. Twice he turned completely over and then crashed on to rocky cliffs 150 feet above the sea level. Some Jack Tars among the horrified spectators rushed to pick up his remains and found him not only alive, but conscious.

"Are you hurt?" they asked, with the fatuity of men deeply moved.

"Only carried away a mainstay, boys!" was the cheery response, and then the plucky man fainted. He had broken his tibia, but that and some bruises were his only injuries. A fall of 450 feet on to rocks and live! The explanation lies in the fact that the parachutist struck the sloping side of the cliff and slithered down to the bottom.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. Price, $1; trial size, 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Old English Records.

Strange tales are told of how important documents have gone astray in England, says The Daily Express. A few years ago an inspector employed by the Historical Manuscripts Commission went to Belvoir Castle. "I came across a key," he writes, "bearing a label with the words, 'Key of writings over stable.' I accordingly repaired to the stable, and there, in a loft under the roof, discovered a vast mass of old papers. No one had entered the room for some years, and a curtain of cobwebs hung from the rafters. Over everything there was a thick layer of broken plaster and dirt.

"In the course of the first half hour I found a holograph letter of Lord Burghley, a military petition to the Marquis of Granby, in the reign of George III., and a letter from Charles James Fox.

"The disturbance of the surface caused a horrible stench, and it soon became evident that the loft had been tenanted by rats, who had done lasting damage to valuable MSS. by gnawing and staining them."

Letters were subsequently found in this collection from the Duke of Clarence, the Earl of Warwick, and Kings Edward IV., Richard III. and Henry VII.

Another inspector arrived too late at an old castle in the south of England. Its noble owner had just made a bonfire of the contents of his muniment room, and all that was left was the smell of scorched parchments.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

No Names Used Without Written Consent.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 16, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

Messrs. E. M. Poussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

New York, Jan. 23.—Speculation in stock market this morning relapsed into extreme dullness as the result of general uncertainty over the Venezuela situation. While the generality of operators believe no really serious implications are likely to develop between this country and Germany over this matter, it is generally recognized that the trouble has reached a very delicate stage and the diplomatic feeling between the two governments for the advantage, is calculated to produce considerable uneasiness. If it were not for the nervousness and uncertainty as to the result we would undoubtedly now be witnessing a good active market with advancing tendency to prices, owing to very bullish underlying conditions as shown in continued healty state of country's business and abundance of money situation, however, not only has a tendency to hold investment and speculative operations for a rise in check, but has caused most traders to adopt a very conservative policy pending further developments, calculated to relieve the market from this depressing influence. In many quarters it is thought the wisest course to pursue is to lighten speculative holdings as a precautionary measure against the aggregated risks and the loss in carrying charges from the extreme dullness and present narrow and dragging conditions.

Washington says nothing new at White House or State Dept. It took a great deal of pressure yesterday in Caucus to prevent calling for information of bombardment. It would make things very critical at this time for anything to come from either branch of Congress.

Room traders inclined to sell stocks on opening, on uneasiness regarding Venezuela situation and prices reacted fractionally. As offers proved light the disposition to cover soon affected numerous traders. The Erie issues were exceptionally firm. U. P. and Sou. Py. also showed strength. S. F. advanced in spite of official denial. Trading has been very light all morning.

M. & M.

Messrs. Haight & Freese have received the following:—

New York, Jan. 24.—The market has certainly stood up very well under the Venezuelan news of yesterday and today. If insiders had wanted war it can be imagined what would have happend There is no probability, however, of conflict with Germany or of any trouble which will involve the United States beyond a diplomaticdiscussion. In my judgment the incident will soon be closed and forgotten. Speculation is now at a very low ebb but I am fully convinced that activity will appear in due course, and with activity, bouyancy and advancing prices. The conditions surrounding the market are distinctly favourable to the bulls. If declines come at all they are not likely to exceed a point or two and the next upward movement should carry stocks five to ten points above present levels. The market closed weak with a generally hoarish sentiment. People who play charts would go home to-night short of stocks. I have said all along that prices might decline a half of the previous advance but I don't believe they will. In my judgment purchases should be made on reactions and held for good profits.

NAVAL SHELLING.

Going on at San Carlos, Which Was Still Held at 2 Friday by the Venezuelan Government.

Maracaibo, Jan. 24.—At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Fort San Carlos was in the possession of Government forces, and the bombardment by the German warships was still going on. There has been no material change in the situation. The gunboat Panther was the only vessel to come inside the bar. Communication with the fort is very difficult. Great excitement prevails in Maracaibo.

Official Report.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—Commodore Scheder, commander of the German fleet in Venezuelan waters, officially reports the bombardment of Fort San Carlos from Maracaibo, under date of Jan. 21, and says the Panther was unexpectedly attacked by Fort San Carlos, which opened a heavy fire on her. To exact immediate punishment he destroyed the Fort

Uncle Sam Sits Tight.

Washington, Jan. 23.—At the Cabinet meeting yesterday, the Venezuelan situation was discussed at length, but it can be said by authority that no change in the attitude of the United States is in contemplation at this time. This Government will continue its policy of "sitting tight."

Petition Against Personators.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—A petition has been presented to Premier Ross praying that a commission be issued to enquire into the charges that personation and ballot stuffing were practised on a large scale in connection with the taking of the referendum on the Liquor Act, 1902, in South Toronto on December 4 last.

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company

REPORT OF THE EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, was held in the company's offices, Peterborough, on Friday, the 23rd Day of January, 1903, at two o'clock p.m.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, having taken the chair, the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow, was requested to act as Secretary to the meeting.

After reading the notice convening the meeting, the Secretary read the Eighteenth Annual Report, and the accompanying financial statement:

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The Directors herewith submit their Eighteenth Annual Report, showing the result of the business for the past year, accompanied by the balance sheet to the 31st December, 1902.

The gross earnings for the year amounted to $180,748.12, and after the payment of interest on deposits and debentures, and all expenses of management, there remained a net profit of $118,590.21. To this amount has been added $7,256.27, the amount carried forward from last year, making a total sum of $125,846.48 for distribution, which has been disposed of in the following manner:

(1) By the payment of four quarterly dividends of 1 1-2 per cent. each, being 6 per cent. for the year on the paid-up Capital	$50,695 50
(2) By the addition to the Reserve Fund	57,000 00
(3) By amount carried forward to the credit of Profit and Loss Account	18,150 98
	$125,846 48

During the year under review, the Directors of the Company decided to give holders of 20 per cent. paid stock of the Company, the privilege of paying up their stock in full on payment thereon of a premium of 60 per cent., the result being that at the 31st of May, 1902, the sum of $400,000 was paid in, together with the sum of $240,000, representing the premium thereon. This latter amount of $240,000 has been transferred to the Reserve Fund, along with the sum of $57,000 added from the earnings of the year, creating a total addition to the Reserve Fund for 1902 of $297,000, and making the total amount now at the credit of that Fund, $450,000, very nearly 50 per cent. of the total paid-up Capital.

At the 31st December, 1901, the total amount due Depositors and Debenture Holders of the Company was $878,154.86; by reference to the statement of Assets and Liabilities, it will be observed that this amount was increased during the year by $217,594.92, and now stands at $1,095,749.78.

The total Assets of the Company have been increased by $922,849.75, and now reach the substatial sum of $2,579,822.98.

The payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the Company have also been promptly paid.

The books, accounts, and securities have been carefully examined by the Auditor, and his report is appended to the Financial Statement.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

GEO. A. COX, President.

LABRADOR.

A Place Where Everybody Is Bitten by Dogs With No Hydrophobia.

Mr. P. T. McGrath, a well-known journalist of St. John's, Newfoundland, in the course of an article on Labrador, says:—

It is a remarkable fact that while virtually every resident of Labrador has been bitten by the savage dogs of the region there has never been a case of hydrophobia there. The fact is attested by Dr. Grenfell, the superintendent of the English medical mission there, and who has now spent ten years on the coast and treated over 30,000 patients. He cannot explain this singular circumstance; it may be due to climatic conditions, but it is more probable the result of the wolfish strain in the breed of the dogs. The extraordinary part of it is that such a condition should be found allied with the most absolute savagery on the part of the animals. They are the fiercest of any brutes trained to be of service to mankind; they will attack anything they believe weaker than themselves, and they are only kept in subjection by the unceasing use of the lash.

They are a cross between the wolves and the earlier Newfoundland dogs brought there and by this time almost all but the wolfish characteristics are eliminated. The coastfolk find them indispensible, yet live in fear of them. No man ventures abroad without his whip, every woman carries a stout club; it is death to a child to get among them. Only last month the little son of the agent of the Hudson's Bay Company's post at Sandwich Inlet was attacked by these brutes. Within a minute they had inflicted over sixty bites on the child, and but for the devotion of a pet retriever dog and the lad's mother promptly flying to the rescue, he must have been literally torn to pieces. He was taken to the hospital at India harbor, where he is making a quick recovery. This was a more fortunate outcome than was the case at Cartwright last year. A child wandered from home and when the distracted mother flew to where a pack of angry dogs were ravening she found nothing but the bones of her offspring. A little girl was so badly mangled by them at Punchbowl last year also that she never recovered.

Every year brings its quota of those mishaps, while there are scores if not hundreds of cases of adults being bitten. It is impossible to keep sheep, goats or poultry on the coast because of the brutes, and their extermination would have been effected long ago were it not for the fact that they are the only means by which communication is kept up in winter. There are no horses on the coast, as there is nothing to feed them. Teams of dogs, attached to sledges, are the means of travel. With them the settlers go from harbor to harbor, make hunting trips in the interior, haul firewood from the forests and convey pelt ries to the Hudson's Bay Company's posts. These dogs play the same part in the economy of this region as they do in the Arctics, and there the characteristics are the same, though we do not hear of such instances of their savagery.

POLICE COURT.

Two cases of drunk and disorderly were discharged at the police court this morning, while a third will be enquired into on Saturday next.

In an assault case to-day the prisoner was found not guilty, and the plaintiff had to pay the costs, amounting to the sum of $6.80.

CANADA'S 1902 RECORD.

Most Successful, From a Business Point of View, in Its History—Great Expenditure During Past Five Years.

Speaking of Canada in 1902, Bradstreet's says: Canada last week completed, from a business point of view, the most successful year in her history. For the past five years the Dominion has been experiencing what has been called the growing time. The truth of this has found ample proof in the great expansion that has taken place in manufacturing, mercantile and financial circles, as well as in the agricultural sections of the country. There was a vast increase in the wealth of the country during the past year. Various figures and statements now in course of preparation for the calendar year just ended, but which are still incomplete, unmistakably prove this fact.

The natural resources of the country attracted the attention of capitalists at home as well as in the Mother Country and in the United States. Large sums of money were invested in the development of the agricultural resources of the country, in the iron and steel industries, in the steamboat-building industry, the demands of transportation on both the ocean and inland waters having heavily stimulated the demand for vessels; in the manufacture of woolen and other lines of fabrics and in various other lines of manufacture. The difficulty with many of the Canadian mills that are now making a high-class of goods is that they are unable to meet the demand of the home markets. This is not only on account of the fact that the limit of their capacity for production has been reached, but also on account of the scarcity of skilled labor. In some cases mills have given notice to their customers that they are filled with orders that will keep them busy for the next six months, and can now take no more.

The live stock trade of the country showed much activity during the year. The shipments to the Old Country markets were heavy, and until recently, when the Government prohibited the shipment of cattle, through the Eastern States to the markets of the United Kingdom, owing to the reports of disease, the demand for export was quite brisk. The packing trade of the country, however, has been increasing, and it is likely that the difficulties of shipping Canadian cattle on the hoof to the British markets will stimulate the dressed-meat trade, especially as the Dominion Government has in the past year or two made arrangements which greatly facilitate the shipment of produce in cold storage to Great Britain. The pork packing industry also showed great activity, and the farmers received much money through the increased demand for hogs. Some years ago Ontario shipped 10,000,000 bushels of barley annually to the United States. The increase in the duty on that grain practically cut off that formerly large export, but since then the development of the stock feeding industry has absorbed the grain that formerly was exported, and while the prices paid now for the grain are not as large as previously, when barley sold up to 80 cents and $1 per bushel in some seasons, that trade is scarcely missed now, this opening of new channels of trade having provided a market for a grain which, it was thought by some, many of the farmers of Eastern Ontario would have to give up growing. The demand for Canadian wool from the United States continues good. In the year just closed practically the whole of the clip of some 5,000,000 pounds was shipped to the United States in addition to large quantities left over from the previous year, in spite of the high duty imposed on this product by the American Government.

The agricultural growth of the Dominion during the past year was very marked. The wheat production of Manitoba increased in 1902 from 45,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels, and owing to the large increase in the number of settlers who took up land in the Northwest during the year, it is expected that in 1903 the wheat crop, with conditions as favorable as experienced last year, will be double that of the crop of 1901. The flax crop in the Northwest last year was double that of the year before, and the production of oats and other grains was larger than in any previous year.

No figures in connection with the trade expansion of the Dominion that are at present available give as accurate an idea of the growth of the business and wealth of Canada during 1902 as the Government chartered banks, which have just been issued. The figures are for November, and the leading items in the statement compare with those for January as follows:

	November, 1902.	January, 1902.
Paid-up capital	$ 71,900,000	$ 67,000,000
Reserves	42,608,000	37,400,000
Total liabilities	406,000,000	439,900,000
Total assets	623,300,000	550,800,000
Notes in circulation	64,400,000	48,500,000
Public deposits	402,000,000	364,200,000
Balances due from the United States	12,700,000	12,600,000
Call or short loans in U. S.	31,900,000	28,000,000
Call or short loans in U. S.	49,500,000	44,100,000
Trade or current loans	317,100,000	287,700,000
Trade or current loans in U. S.	34,300,000	28,700,000
Overdue debts	1,700,000	2,100,000

Owing to this expansion in the banking business of the country the prices of bank stocks in the Canadian market advanced 10 to 20 per cent. during the past 12 months. A striking illustration of the progress made in Canada in 1902 is found in the arrangement for increased railway facilities now being made, the construction of one new transcontinental railway being already in progress and the plans for another new railway to the Pacific coast being well under way. Another sign of the increasing wealth of the country that was noticeable during 1902 was the fact that the stocks and bonds of a good number of companies were floated in Canada which a few years ago it would have been found necessary to offer on the British money markets.

THE ALASKA DISPUTE

Boundary Question to Be Settled by a Commission.

THERE WILL BE NO UMPIRE

The Three Men on a Side Will Also Allow the United States to Retain Skagway and Other Ports on Tide-water Which It Now Holds in Any Event—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Summary.

Washington, Jan. 26. — Secretary Hay and Sir Michael Herbert, the British Ambassador, Saturday signed a treaty providing for the settlement of the Alaskan boundary questions. Efforts in this direction have been put forth for a long time, the pressure coming from both sides, the Canadian miners being anxious to get through the Klondike to the sea without passing through American territory and the Americans insisting upon their right to the coast line and the control of the ports.

The treaty signed Saturday provides for the reference of all these boundary questions to a mixed tribunal of jurists, three on each side, to determine the interpretation to be placed on the treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, which defined the boundaries between British America and Alaska. This proposition is virtually the same as that brought forward by the American members of the Joint High Commission, which met in Washington three years ago, but which then was rejected by the British and Canadian representatives.

It has taken three years to obtain the consent of the British and the Canadian Governments to adjust the boundary dispute on this basis. It is understood that the treaty has been drawn up after thorough consultation with the leading members of the Senate of both political parties, the administration desiring to do everything possible in advance to secure its ratification.

The commission proposed is curious in composition, consisting of an equal number of members upon each side without an umpire or extra man to cast the casting vote. No other terms of arbitration would have been acceptable to the people of the Northwest, who see in this arrangement a practical extinction of any chance of a decision hostile to their plans.

On the other hand to get a verdict favorable to the American claim the case of the United States must be so strongly presented as to win the support of at least one of the Canadian contingent. The treaty will be submitted to the United States Senate very soon, and the effort will be made to ratify it before the expiration of the present session.

It is provided that whatever the result of the arbitration existing settlements on the tide-water shall be excluded from the adjustment. Thus the United States will in any event retain Skagway and other ports on tide-water which it now holds.

This is a marked concession by the British Government, which has, in fact, virtually receded from the position maintained by its commissioners when the Joint High Commission endeavored to effect a settlement of the differences between Canada and the United States.

THE TREATY RIGHTS.

Abstract From the Russo-British Treaty of 75 Years Ago.

The rights of the parties rest upon a treaty made between Russia and Great Britain three-quarters of a century ago. The rights of Russia were transferred to the United States by the sale of the territory.

The important clauses are as follows:

III. The line of demarcation between the possessions of the high contracting parties upon the coast of the continent and the islands of North America to the Northwest, shall be drawn in the manner following: Commencing from the southernmost part of the island called Prince of Wales Island, which point lies in the parallel of 54 degrees 40 minutes, north latitude and between the 131st and the 133rd degrees of west longitude (meridian of Greenwich), the said line shall ascend to the north along the channel called Portland Channel, as far as the point of the continent where it strikes the 56th degree of north latitude; from the last-mentioned point the line of demarcation shall follow the summit of the mountains situated parallel to the coast, as far as the point of intersection of the 141st degree of west longitude (of the same meridian); and finally, from the said point of intersection, the said meridian line of the 141st degree, in its prolongation as far as the Frozen Ocean, shall form the limit between the Russian and British possessions on the continent of America to the Northwest.

IV. With reference to the line of demarcation laid down in the preceding article, it is understood, first, that the island called Prince of Wales Island shall belong wholly to Russia; second, that wherever the summit of the mountains, which extend in a direction parallel to the coast from the 56th degree of north latitude to the point of intersection of the 141st degree of west longitude, shall prove to be of a distance of more than ten marine leagues from the ocean, the limit between the British possessions and the strip of coast, which is to belong to Russia as above mentioned, shall be formed by a line parallel to the windings of the coast, and which shall never exceed the distance of ten marine leagues therefrom.

VI. It is understood that the subjects of His Britannic Majesty, from whatever quarter they may arrive, whether from the ocean, or from the interior of the continent, shall, for ever, enjoy the right of navigating freely, and without hindrance whatever, all the rivers and streams which, in their course towards the Pacific Ocean, may cross the line of demarcation upon the strip of coast described in article III. of the present convention.

LONDON PRESS VIEW.

Friendliness Between Great Britain and United States Is Proved.

London, Jan. 26.—The signature at Washington of the Anglo-American treaty to settle the Alaskan dispute has given great satisfaction to the English press, on the ground that it gives at a critical moment in the Venezuelan troubles an undoubted proof of the uninterrupted friendliness existing between Great Britain and the United States. This is the point which is elaborated in all the editorials on the subject, almost to the exclusion of discussion of the intrinsic merits of the arrangement concluded.

The Hague Tribunal.

Little doubt is entertained here that the United States Senate will accept the treaty, and that the commission will ultimately meet in London, but regret it expressed that no provision is made for the appointment of an umpire, because in the event of the commission being equally divided in opinion, it is said the controversy will be very little nearer a settlement. One paper thinks that in this event the dispute would be referred to The Hague tribunal.

THE DOMINION'S CONTENTIONS.

Summary of Proceedings of Joint High Commission by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The matter was explained to the House on June 5, 1899, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He said: I want to call the attention of the House at once to the difference existing between the proposition made by the British commissioners and the proposition made by the American commissioners. The first difference of opinion was with regard to the composition of the tribunal. The tribunal proposed by the British commissioners was the tribunal of three jurors of repute—one to be selected by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council for Great Britain, the other to be selected by the President of the United States, and the third to be selected by the two, or, in the event of a disagreement to be selected by a friendly power, the friendly power, however, not being named. With regard to the possible question which might arise on account of occupation, the British commissioners proposed to follow identically the rules laid down by the Venezuela Treaty. The rules laid down by the Venezuela Treaty were in substance the following two: That adverse possession of 50 years, of the equivalent of possession, should constitute a national title; that is to say if territory were to be found occupied by the United States which under the terms of the treaty would rightly belong to Great Britain, possession of 50 years would constitute a title possession, of less than 50 years would simply constitute an equitable title, which was to be referred altogether to the arbitrators, to determine what in their opinion law, justice and equity might require.

United States' Contentions.

The American proposals differ from this. On the first point, as to the constitution of the tribunal, while we proposed, as I said before, a tribunal of three—one arbitrator to represent Great Britain, another to represent the United States, and an umpire—the American proposal was that the tribunal should be composed of six eminent jurists—three to be appointed by the American authorities and three to be appointed by the British authorities. With regard to the rules proposed by us according to the precedent of the Venezuela case, the Americans adopted the same rule—Rule A., rule B. and rule C—but with this important rider, that all towns and settlements on tide-water, settled on the authority of the United States and under the jurisdiction of the United States at the date of this treaty, should remain within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, no matter whther within British territory or not.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

January Session Will Open To-morrow —New Members.

The January Session of the County Council of the County of Peterborough, will open at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. It is reported that the aspirants for the Warden's chair are Mr. E. A. THE CLUB TEA.

Strangers Entertained at Y. M. C. A. Yesterday.

Last night was the regular monthly Strangers' Tea at the Y.M.C.A. it being, too, the anniversary of the establishment of this feature a year ago. The attendance of strangers was larger than at any preceding one, 27 in all being entertained. These included one from Paris France, two from England, one from Vancouver, one from Dexter, New York, the the others being from different points in Ontario. Mr. Samuel Taylor, President of the Club had charge. The tea was provided by the ladies of the Geo. street Methodist church, Mrs. F. Mason being convenor. A vote of thanks was tendered the ladies at the close.

PRICE GOES UP.

Horse Shoers Association Decide to Raise Their Prices.

At the last meeting of the Master Horse Shoers' Association, the horse shoers of Peterborough and the surrounding district decided to raise their price of shoeing, to take effect on the 1st of April.

This industrious group of mechanics have perhaps in the past been under paid and the resolve is on the whole perhaps for the best. It is to be hoped that the poor beast of burden will not suffer, by going bare footed if the price is such as the pocket of the horse owners finds it unable to be met.

MR. WHITNEY'S ELECTION WORKERS.

The Essex County World, a staunch Conservative newspaper published in Windsor, Ont., contains the following editorial paragraph which has a special significance:

"Mr. John Harmon is back from the campaign in the recent bye-elections. On Thursday he was treating everyone he met to 10c cigars, and just what they wanted to drink. At one hotel he is reported to have spent $40. Mr. Harmon was exhibiting a large roll of bills, the outside one being a $20; there were some tens, and many of other demominations. He is talking in his characteristic fashion about his proceedings and those of others of a like kidney to himself.

If John Harmon is a sample of the average Conservative worker Mr. Whitney places his reliance on, then he will never grace the seat in the Ontario Legislature now occupied by Mr. Ross. The editor would not believe John Harmon's story that he had been our electioneering till the "wad" and treating incidents were disclosed, then the World was convinced that our old friend John had illustrated once more the proverb: FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY ARE SOON PARTED."

The circumstances mentioned in the paragraph above quoted should elicit some explanation. The source from which they emanate, a Conservative newspaper, supporting the Conservative cause gives them especial point. The circumstances must have been exceedingly glaring to warrant a Conservative journal to thus boldly and unequivocally denounce the political methods of the party whose best interests it is published to promote. Mr. Whitney has for a long time been masquerading as political purist and demanding that the people of Ontario select him as the redresser of wrongs against the integrity of the franchise and the sacredness of the ballot. He has shrieked himself hoarse in his vehement denunciation of the political crookedness of the "Grits," at the same time implying that he and his party were pure as the falling snow, and that he and his party were incapable of the least political indiscretion, not to say crookedness. In view of the general record of his party in regard to political corruption; in view of the specific instances that have been exposed in Ontario; in view of the fact that after all his denunciations of his opponents and his declaration that the general elections had been stolen from his party; in view of the fact that, of the protests which went to trial, his own supporters were unseated for corruption—in view of all these circumstances and others which might be cited, Mr. Whitney's hypocrisy is simply astonishing. We have Mr. T J. Lennox, of North York, a Whitney supporter, hypocritically calling upon Mr. Davis to conduct elections on a square basis, as a cover no doubt for the crookedness he and his party contemplate practising in a possible coming bye-election.

Now, we have a "specimen brick" of Conservative political workers presented by a Conservative newspaper. Mr. Harmon mentioned in the paragraph reprinted above, was working in Mr. Whitney's interests in the recent North Norfolk bye-election campaign. He evidently got a large slice of the corruption fund, which, we have every reason to believe, was at Mr. Whitney's command for the bye-elections. Else how could a man, without means, like Harmon, who is said to be "up" on judgment summons, be able to spend forty dollars at an innings in a hotel, and parade bundles of bills, of $20 and $10 denominations, if he had not access to some well supplied coffer? This person is evidently well known to the Conservative journal, the World, which evidently knows him as a man fitted for the nefarious work of debauching the electorate, and the knowledge of the character of the tools employed in Mr. Whitney's interests to contribute to the record of political rottenness of his party, taken in conjunction with Mr. Whitney's absurd claims of political purity, was enough to disgust a decent supporter, and this accounts, no doubt, for the plain speaking of the local organ of the Conservative party in Essex. Mr. Whitney's hypocrisy is enough to disgust any man of average honesty, no matter how strong his political predilections, and so long as he publicly poses as an apostle of electoral purity, and secretly accepts the fruits of the most unblushing political debauchery, so long will he maintain outside relations with the sweets of office.

FREED ON SATURDAY.

Man Who Shot His Brother Discharged by Judge Hardy.

Brantford, Jan. 26.—Sam. Watson was given his freedom Saturday. He was arraigned on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of his brother, Wesley Watson, at Middleport.

The law in reference to manslaughter was argued at length by Crown Attorney Wilkes, who acted for the Crown, and Louis F. Heyd, who defended the accused. After considering the circumstances under which the shooting occurred Judge Hardy acquitted the prisoner and discharged him. In doing so he referred to the pain which the tragedy had caused the brothers, and both of them, who were in court, wept bitterly.

TREKKING IN AFRICA

Mr. Chamberlain Gets a Pleasant Surprise at Venterstorp.

DELAREY SAYS HE'S THE MAN

Relief of the Boer General Was Expressed to His Commando in Dutch—Colonial Secretary Is "The Man to Set Things Right in South Africa"—Mr. Chamberlain Made an Address.

London, Jan. 26.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain started Saturday on an interesting wagon trek from Potchestroom to Mafeking, accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain, Sir Arthur Lawley, Major-General Baden-Powell and others. Relays of mules had been arranged to enable the party to travel at about ten miles an hour.

There was a picturesque scene outside Venterstorp, thirty-one miles northwest of Potchestroom. A commando of Boers met the party and escorted it into the town. A bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Chamberlain. The Colonial Secretary was conducted to the house of the Landrost, and the commando of Boers drew up in a half-circle outside. Soon after, Gen. Delarey arrived and was cordially received by Mr. Chamberlain, who introduced him to Mrs. Chamberlain.

After the presentation of an address of welcome, the Secretary made a speech to the commando, in which he congratulated the Boers in being the comrades of so great and gallant a man as Gen. Delarey. He said also: "I hope he is my friend, and I hope you are all my friends. We fought a good fight, and there is nothing to be ashamed of on either side."

On the conclusion of Mr. Chamberlain's speech, which was throughout in this vein, General Delarey unexpectedly stepped forward and addressed the Boers in Dutch, declaring his belief that the Colonial Secretary was "the man to set things right in South Africa."

These speeches made an excellent impression. On proceeding on their journey yesterday, General Delarey accompanied the party.

COWCATCHER SAVED HIM.

T.H. & B. Fireman Injured at Hamilton Saturday Morning.

Hamilton, Jan. 26.—James Tice, a T., H. & B. fireman, who boards at 28 Hunter street, met with a narrow escape from death Saturday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock. At Vinemount he jumped from his engine to turn a switch, but by mischance his foot slipped on the icy track and he fell in front of the slowly moving engine. Fortunately, his coat caught on the cowcatcher, and in this way his life was saved. As it was both his arms were broken, and his chest badly cut, besides receiving serious internal injuries. He was taken to the City Hospital, where at first little hope of his recovery was held out, but yesterday he is in a much improved condition, and the doctors now have strong hopes of his recovery. Tice's home is at Welland.

"THE ANTHRACITE TRUST."

Conclusion of Negotiations For the Formation of a Combine.

London, Jan. 26.—After months of negotiations between the owners of anthracite coal mines a definite arrangement for the formation of a combine was concluded Saturday. The St. James' Gazette Saturday afternoon says it understands matters have so far progressed that the promoters of the plan have decided to register a company under the name of "The Anthracite Trust," with a capital of $15,000,000. Most of the collieries, it is added, are ready to accept the promoters' terms.

Not Mining as Much.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 26.—The Anthracite Coal Strike Commission held one session Saturday, at which it continued to hear witnesses representing the independent coal companies. One said the contract miners employed by the company are not mining as much coal now as they did prior to the organization of the union.

MANITOBA SCHOOL QUESTION.

Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal Says It Is Not Settled.

Montreal, Jan. 26. — Archbishop Bruchesi, in the course of a sermon at the cathedral yesterday, dealt with a number of public topics, including the Manitoba school question. He repeated that no question can be definitely settled while full justice to any section of the people is withheld or denied, and in making the statement he said that the Pope shared his views. Thirty years ago the Pope was despoiled of the Pontificial states and deprived of his liberty. The head of the church continues to reaffirm that this great spoliation and injustice has taken place, yet no one ever dreams of accusing the Pope of wishing to set Europe in a flame. So it is with the Manitoba school question, which is not dead and buried, and which will not be settled until justice is done. His Grace also threatened to interdict a certain newspaper for its criticisms of the clergy, and certain theatres for producing immoral plays

NORTH YORK PROTEST.

Petition and Cross-Petition Formally Dismissed on Saturday.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—No evidence being offered, the petition and the cross-petition against Hon. E. J. Davis and Mr. T. Herbert Lennox, respectively, were formally dismissed at Osgoode Hall on Saturday by Mr. Justice Maclennan and Mr. Justice MacMahon. The proceedings were of the briefest possible character, lasting only a couple of minutes. Neither the petitioner nor the respondent was present.

Hon. Mr. Davis had nothing to say on Saturday with reference to the dismissal, but it was stated in his behalf that he was reserving his statement until Tuesday, when it would be made to a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Liberal Association of North York to be held at 2.30 in the afternoon in Temperance Hall, Newmarket.

Girl Lost Her Hand.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—Maggie Allison, a 19-year-old operator of an embossing and cutting machine at the Elliott Paper Box Manufacturing Company, Nelson street, had her right hand drawn into the mechanism and so badly crushed that the surgeons at the Emergency Hospital deemed it necessary to amputate the injured member, just above the wrist.

THEIR DOUBLE PORTION

A grown person needs only enough food to repair waste. A child must not only be provided for in the same way, but must in addition be furnished with material upon which to grow. Nature thus imposes a double task.

A weak child has therefore a poor chance in life unless at the very outset its nourishment is given special and constant attention. Wasting conditions follow a lack of proper nourishment. And with the wasting comes what? Improper growth surely. A child needs something more than food—more than good food; it needs the full value of that food. Because of this great need Scott's Emulsion is of special value to growing children. It reinforces a child's ordinary food; it furnishes the true elements of nourishment that the everyday food either lacks altogether or fails to properly supply.

Children like Scott's Emulsion; they take it readily. The change for the better begins almost at once; it takes a child in long strides in the direction of easy, healthy, natural growth. Scott's Emulsion lightens a child's burden when growing.

DIVORCE IN ITALY.

Vatican's Opposition to It Increasing as Time of Vote Approaches.

Rome, Jan. 26.—With the approach of the date for the reassembling of Parliament, the agitation against the Government's divorce bill is becoming more acute. In several dioceses public prayers have been offered that the bill may be rejected, and a special fast has been ordained at the Church of the Gesu. Some newspapers point out that the most practical method for stopping such agitation would be for the Catholic party to send Catholic members to Parliament, but the Papal prohibition against the Catholics voting at general elections is still in force.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities, where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory with arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton, must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of nature.

Our forefathers had other things to do beside formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nourishment in a concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remarson, on this subject says: "Nervous people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless fo rindigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

Three Killed in a Panic.

New York, Jan. 24.—Three women were killed and five women, and one man severely injured, in a panic of 500 people in Leopold Miller & Sons' cigar factory on Crosby street yesterday, as a result of a fire in an adjoining building.

BLOCKADE TO END NOW

Settlement of the Venezuelan Dispute in Sight.

WHO FIRED THE FIRST SHOT?

The United States Has Been Making an Investigation For the Past Six Days But Without Result, Although the Venezuelans to a Man Say the Panther Did—Allies Agreement of Ironclad Nature.

Rome, Jan. 26.—The Patria asserts that the Venezuelan blockade will be raised to-day (Monday).

Brussels, Jan. 26.—A despatch to The Petit Bleu from Berlin states that an agreement in the Venezuelan question will be reached next week, and that the commission appointed by the United States Government will be charged with the administration of all the maritime customs offices of Venezuela.

Who Fired the Shot.

Maracaibo, Jan. 26.—The United States Legation has been conducting an investigation here for the past six days, but the point as to whether the Panther or Fort San Carlos fired the first shot has not yet been elucidated.

Venezuelans to a man say that the Panther fired the first shot.

All was quiet yesterday. The blockade still goes on.

SUNDAY'S NEGOTIATIONS.

Minister Offers a Third Proposition From Venezuela to the Powers.

Washington, Jan. 26.—A long conference between United States Minister Bowen and Sir Michael Herbert, the British Ambassador, followed by shorter conferences between Sir Michael, Signor Mayor Des Planches, the Italian Ambassador and Count Quadt, the German Charge d'Affaires, indicated diplomatic activity in Washington yesterday over the Venezuelan situation. All the negotiators decline to discuss the results of the meetings, but general statements by them, that the situation last night warranted hope of early relief is insignificant of what has been accomplished in the last twenty-four hours.

By this time the London, Berlin and Rome Foreign Offices are in possession of Mr. Bowen's third proposition, stating the nature of the guaranty he is prepared to offer for Venezuela if his initial request is complied with and the blockade raised at once. Strict reticence is maintained by all the negotiators as to the nature of this guaranty, and until the joint reply of the powers is received this will not be disclosed.

To-day there will be conferences between all of the negotiators, but no definite action is expected regarding the blockade before Tuesday or Wednesday.

The important fact was developed yesterday, that the triple alliance against Venezuela was far more comprehensive than was at first supposed. The agreement between Great Britain, Germany and Italy involved not only a joint initiative action for the collection of their claims, but each of the three powers pledged itself to lift the blockade simultaneously. The ironclad nature of the alliance has been communicated to the State Department, and it is this fact which was responsible for the grave apprehensions heretofore felt regarding the outcome of the dispute. The reply of the powers, therefore, necessarily will be joint.

DAWSON CITY APPEARS.

Steamer From Nome Reaches Port After Being Out 86 Days.

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 26.—The steamer Dawson City, 86 days from Nome, reached port yesterday under sail, after a tempestuous voyage. The entire trip was marked by a succession of accidents and exasperating delays, while the fury of the elements seemed to combine to hinder her passage to her destination. At Dutch Harbor her sailors deserted her and refused to continue the voyage. The run from Dutch Harbor to this port was made in 22 days. The steamer brought no passengers, except her owner, Felix Brown of Seattle and his wife.

Schooner Foundered.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 26. — The schooner Griqualand, 166 tons, from Port Morien for Portsmouth, N. H., with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Sable in Thursday's gale. The captain, his wife, and crew of seven were rescued by the steamer Mystic and taken to Louisburg. The schooner was owned in Sydney.

CHARGED WITH STABBING.

Richard Weyman Taken to Kingston to Stand His Trial.

Kingston, Jan. 26.—Richard Weyman, Verona, was brought to the county jail Friday night to await trial on a charge of stabbing and seriously wounding a young man named Scales. It appears that the two men were in a store at Verona and a quarrel arose. The prisoner called Scales a name which aroused his anger, and a scuffle followed. In the mix-up, Weyman pulled a knife and wounded his antagonist so seriously that a physician had to be summoned.

Frost Will Kill Him.

Quebec, Jan. 26.—David Fleming of Bergerville was found lying on the St. Louis road Saturday morning with both arms and legs frozen. He was carried to his home, where a doctor gave little or no hope that he will pull through, as he has passed 60 years of age.

PETERS AND SUBSIDIES.

If Trip Is Successful Prince Edward Island Would Get $100,000 and Quebec $150,000 From Dominion.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—The Prince Edward Island delegation, composed of Hon. Arthur Peters, Prime Minister; Hon. B. Rogers, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. J. F. Wheat, were here Saturday, en route for Ottawa, where they will, in conjunction with other provincial Ministers, discuss better terms on Tuesday with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. The Premier states that all of the local leaders are in accord as to the demand for an increased subsidy, and if they succeed Prince Edward Island's grant for civil government and legislation will be increased from $30,000 to $100,000, while Quebec's figure will go up from $80,000 to $150,000. In fact, Mr. Peters declares these demands, which are based on the resolution adopted at the Quebec conference some years ago, and supported by Premier Ross of Ontario and Premier Parent of Quebec, will no doubt receive favorable hearing at the hands of the Federal Government.

As regards increased representation for P.E.I. in the House of Commons, Hon. Mr. Peters and his colleagues say they will have to fight it out alone. Theirs, he added, being a special case, and not infringing on the B.N.A. Act, he is most hopeful of success.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Senator Wood's Estate.

Rome, Jan. 26.—Prof. Tizzoni of Bologna University has announced to the Royal Academy of Sciences the discovery of a serum to combat pneumonia.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Mother Fell Unconscious With Dying Babe in Her Arms.

Kokomo, Ind., Jan. 24. — During the temporary absence of the mother from the room last night, Harold, her two-year-old son, went too near the stove and his clothing ignited. The child's screams brought the mother, who, terror stricken, took the burning child to her breast and ran half a mile to a neighbor's house, both being ablaze as they ran. Mrs. Imbler fell unconscious at the yard gate and the baby died in a few minutes. The mother was terribly injured, and her recovery is regarded as impossible.

IRISH CITY SCORCHED.

Damage Placed at $3,000,000—Trade of Armagh Paralyzed.

Armagh, Ireland, Jan. 26.—A great fire broke out here yesterday, and spread so rapidly that, the local fire brigade being unable to cope with it, Belfast, 35 miles distant, was appealed to for aid. The fire burned ten of the largest warehouses and shops in the centre of the town, the damage being estimated at $300,000. The trade of the town is paralyzed by this destruction. The timely removal of a quantity of dynamite from one of the stores, averted a worse disaster.

With an Alleged Shortage.

Windsor, Jan. 26. — Alexander Campeau, ex-treasurer of School Section No. 4, Sandwich East, is alleged to be short about $300 in his accounts. He claims that he drew the money from the bank and lost it in Detroit. The trustees have requested him to make restitution, but he has refused, on the ground that he had not spent the money. The matter will be taken to the courts.

Honor to Dr. Borden.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—On Saturday afternoon Dr. Moore of Brockville and Sir James Grant, representing the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, waited on Sir Frederick Borden at his residence, Stadcona Hall, and presented him with credentials as an honorary member of that body.

Broke Back With Fall.

Mr. Archie Moore, the well-known floor manager of assemblies, has been kept pretty busy so far this winter, and has the following engagements booked. Jan. 29th at Bethany under the auspices of the fire brigade of the village; Jan. 30th, at Warsaw, annual dance of the football club of that place; Feb. 6th, at Keene, annual hockey club dance; Feb. 13th, Bachelors' of Warkworth. Cawthorne's orchestra will provide music at Bethany, Warsaw and Keene.

Men's Meeting.

The attendance was good at the Y.M.C.A. Men's Meeting yesterday, when Rev. W. J. Jolliffe gave an interesting and forcible address on the story of the Phillipian jailor. The admonition of Paul to him, "Do Thyself No Harm," was applied to those to-day who were doing themselves harm, physically, mentally, and spiritually. The solution was "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Shalt be Saved." Before the address the Guild Glee Club of the George street church sang "We are More Than Conquerors," with splendid effect.

PETERBOROUGH'S NEW CITY NAME.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Sir,—I have read with great interest the beautiful and instructive letters of Mr. J. Alexander Culverwell published in your columns, and I have been much impressed with the devotion he has shown to the interests of our good town. I have rejoiced as I am sure we all do, at the wonderful success which has attended his efforts in the past, and I look forward with buoyant expectation and calm confidence to the time not far distant when Peterborough shall have taken the place now occupied by a rival city a little to the west of us, as the Queen City of Ontario. It is only about five years since Mr. J. Alexander Culverwell discovered Peterborough, then a mere hamlet anchored to a stump on the bank of the raging and untamed Otonabee. Now it is a prosperous and progressive young city—why call it a town? — of a great many thousand inhabitants, with Cereal Works, and Electric Works, and Cordage Works, and foundry and machine shops and manufactories of all kinds, all introduced by the same progressive and beneficient genius—that word occurs to me because it all seems so like the wonderful tales of the Arabians, about Aladdin's lamp and that sort of thing, you know. No wonder that Mr. Culverwell is justly indignant that during his temporary and unavoidable absence the town has neglected to take advantage of the glorious destiny which he had opened up for it, and that he feels humiliated to think that it is still a town merely and not a city like Belleville and Toronto.

I have no doubt that Mr. J. Alexander Culverwell, with his usual energy and foresight has already taken steps to remedy this last neglect, and that a Bill has already been prepared for submission to Parliament making Peterborough a city.

There is now but one thing for us to do. That is to give expression to the gratitude which we feel by giving to the young city the name of its beneficent founder—or finder—if you prefer. Alexandria to-day perpetuates the memory of the first Alexander the Great, by whom it was founded so many thousands years ago. Why not have a second Alexandria in Canada, to perpetuate the name and the memory of a still greater Alexandria? Then we may be sure that the King, recognizing the delicate compliment which he will think is being paid to his beloved Queen, will no doubt confer upon it the title of the Queen City, and Toronto will of course have to take a retired position.

If that name is objected to because we should be getting here all the letters intended for Alexandria, in Egypt. I might suggest a unique and dignified title, the third name of our distinguished benefactor — "Culverwell." It sounds well, it rhymes with "well," and what could you desire better? I had thought of "Culverton," but that is open to the objection that the last syllable suggests the word "town," and that would never do. Besides with the insane jealousy that Port Hope entertains towards Peterborough, and the disagreeable habit one or two of its inhabitants have of using language that offends our ears, they might want to shorten it into "Culltown," and that would be worse, you will admit, than the sentimental "Pete, Pete, Pete," that we have lately been hearing about, and which after all was only due to poetic fancy, not to downright malice.

I suggest therefore either the Royal name of "Alexandria," or that of "Culverwell," for the name of the rising young city, which under the magic title, will within the next ten years extend from Burleigh Falls at the north, to Hesley's Falls at the south, and ill run by electricity supplied from those magnificent water powers

Yours truly,

PETER.

WHEN ON AND OFF DUTY.

Something Regarding the Authority of Policemen.

A Question That Arose at the Rink on Friday Night.

During the progress of the hockey match on Friday night between Belleville and Peterborough an unfortunate little incident occurred between a Belleville player and a Peterborough player. It looked as if they had intentions of fighting, and Special Constable Archie Moore jumped into the arena to separate the men. Police Constable Stewart, who was at the southwest corner of the rink, arrived on the scene a second later, and some difference of opinion occurred between Mr. Moore and Mr. Stewart as to their respective authority.

It is to be regretted that the little fracas took place. The only object in referring to it is that many are not clear on the point as to whether a policeman off duty has authority. In this regard the Examiner is asked to publish a few clauses of the criminal code.

38. Everyone who witness a breach of the peace is justified in interefering to prevent its continuance or renewal, and may detain any person committing or about to join in or renew such breach of the peace, in order to give him into the custody of a peace officer, providing the person interfering uses no more force than is reasonably necessary for preventing the continuance or rewal of such breach of the peace, or than is reasonably proportioned to the danger to be apprehended from the continuance or renewal of such breach of the peace.

39. Every police officer who witnesses a breach of the peace, and every person lawfully assisting him, is justified in arresting anyone whom he finds committing such breach of the peace, or whom he on reasonable and probable grounds believes to be about to join in or renew such breach of the peace.

EARLY CLOSING

Of Stationery and Fancy Goods Stores in Town.

A movement is on foot among the stationery and fancy goods stores to close at six every evening, except Saturday, instead of closing at unregulated hours.

During the summer months this plan has been in vogue and there does not seem to be any reason why it should not work well throughout the whole year.

These stores, it is expected, will shortly commence to close at six o'clock.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Met This Afternoon.

This afternoon a joint meeting of representatives of the employees of the B. F. Ackerman Company, Mr. Ackerman and Rev. J. C. Davidson, Mayor Roger and Mr. Kidd, the committee appointed to hear the alleged grievances of the men will be held in the Town Council Chamber, when it is hoped the present existing little trouble will be settled.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Joseph Ford at the Age of 82 Years.

Death claimed another old resident this morning in the person of Mrs. Joseph Ford, at the advanced age of 82 years. She has been a resident of town for over 35 years. The late Mrs. Ford was born in Wiltshire County, England, and was twice married, first to the late Silas Herridge, in England, about 45 years ago. Three children were born of this union, two of whom are living. On the death of her husband she came to this country and was afterwards united in marriage to the late Joseph Ford, whose demise took place about eighteen years ago. The immediate relatives who mourn her loss are her daughter, Mrs. F. Boomer, who resided with her mother; Mr. A. C. Herridge, son, of the Review, and Mr. Bert Boomer, grandson, who resides at the family residence, and her sister, Mrs. Wm. Dobbin, of town.

The funeral, which is private, will take place from the family residence, 220 London street, at 3 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

ELECTION IN BELMONT.

John W. Johnson and A. Waller in the Field for Councillor.

John W. Johnson and A. Waller were nominated for councillor at the Belmont nomination on Wednesday and they have both decided to run, therefore an election will be held on Wednesday.

IN PRICES OF Children's Sleighs.

Even if the sleighing is good and the winter only half over, all our little cutters and sleighs must go—with price-breaks on them all. High and low—none reserved. We can show a good reason for sacrificing them—its not for profit, but for store room.

Rocking Horses

Have also taken a tumble and prices drop for the benefit of boys and girls who are waiting for chances like this.

HOCKEY STICKS.

Strange paradox—when Hockeying is at its height, prices of Hockey sticks drop and profits go to the wall. Its true, all the same; and if the boys drop in, will give them the benefit of lucky buying in puck pushers.

GAMES.

Use your telephone—that puts you next door to us—when you want any games for indoor amusements. We'll send you what you want in a jiffy and at the reduced price. Playing cards, Tally cards, Game counters, etc.

HOME MISSION FIELD.

Mr. Hodgins, of Toronto, Gave an Address at St. John's Church Last Night.

An interesting address was given last night by Mr. F. Hodgins, of Toronto, in lieu of the usual sermon, on the subject of Home Missions.

Mr. Hodgins remarked that at a General Synod of Canada at Montreal, last year, arrangements were made for carrying on mission work, which was greatly needed, in the vast North West. Missions, he said, had never been completed; pulpits had been left vacant on account of the small contributions of the Church. To attend the Synod members came from everywhere between Halifax and Vancouver, Labrador and Alaska, some travelling hundreds of miles in canoes, until they touched the railway.

Home Missions, continued the speaker, are of vital importance, and organisation and individual effort are sorely needed. People could not plead ignorance of Home Missions, as a missionary paper published under the auspices of the Church Missionary Society, can be obtained, and much information gained by its perusal.

To Canadians the North West is naturally of great importance, and its conquest by the Church ought to be of great interest to us. It is the task—the dutiful task—of the Eastern people to make the missions in the North West a grand success.

Turning to the finances of the Mission Board, Mr. Hodgins said that the present missions could be supported, but no forward step made. Funds were badly needed to make satisfactory progress in the glorious work of the Home Missions.

NON-COMS' DANCE

Will Take Place Wednesday Night —Great Preparations.

The Non-Coms. are deserving of liberal patronage in their efforts to keep the 57th Regiment prominently before the public. The annual dance of the Non-Coms. will take place on Wednesday night in the Opera House, and the boys have worked very earnestly for the success of this much looked for social function. It is expected that a large number of people will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending what promises to be a delightful social evening. Tickets are on sale at Mr. Dickson Davidson's drug store, and at Mr. Fred Clarke's fur store.

BEAUTIFUL BREAKFAST MENU.

A Good Hand to Hold, Four Queens and and a King—of Breakfast Food.

The Examiner has to thank the American Cereal Company, of Chicago, a "branch" of the imposing establishment in Peterborough of that name, for a copy of a beatiful calendar for 1903. It constitutes a royal flush, not in a sporting, but in a literal sense. It consists of five Bristol board sheets, beautifully adorned with the pictures of four Queens — she, of the United States, uncrowned, Mrs. "Teddy" Roosevelt; the peerless and gracious Queen Alexandra, queen of hearts and queen of the earth's greatest realm; the robust and stately Empress Augusta of Germany; and the graceful Wilhelmina, of Holland. All the pictures of these beautiful women are printed in colours, with the national flower, also in colours, of the respective nations over whom the fair Sovereigns hold sway. The title sheet is adorned with a vertical ribbon, bearing the illuminated arms of the several countries, while coyly nestling in the corner, with true Shaker unobtrusiveness, is the modest but proud legend, "Quaker Oats, the World's Breakfast," — the King of Breakfast Foods. Altogether a beautiful calendar.

CHURCH CHIMES.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The following music was given in an excellent manner by the choir yesterday morning: Anthem, "God is Love," with solo passages by Mr. Mulligan. During the collection the duet, "Under His Wing," was effectively sung by Messrs. Mulligan and Miller. In the evening the choir sang the anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd is," with duet by Miss Butcher and Mr. Mulligan, the latter also taking the bass solo. The offertory anthem was "Abide With Me," with alto solo by Miss Irene Grey.

BELLEVILLE PAPERS ON THE GAME.

Think Their Team Will Win Out Series.

HUGH ROSE IS PRAISED.

They Think Our Rink is a Fine Structure—The Game a Hard Fought One.

The Belleville papers give very fair accounts of the game here on Friday night:

The Intelligencer says:

It looks as though Belleville's hockey boys are going to win the group championship, and win it without a defeat being marked up against them. Last night they went to Peterborough and came galloping home this morning with the long end of the score. But it was no cinch. Oh, dear no! The boys were up against it good and hard in the last half, and but for their sturdy defence and the star goal keeper, Winchester, it might have been a sorry crowd which struck the G.T.R. station at 2 a.m. Well, the boys won anyway, and would have won by a bigger score but for the fact that in the last half the forwards lost their heads and their combination. There's no use glossing it over. In the second half the boys got over-confident and thought they could beat the Peterboroughs at their own game, consisting of individual rushes. They couldn't do it. Every time a red-shirted fellow would go up the ice alone he was knocked down like a ten pin. The Peterborough players are a trifle heavier than the Belleville men, and they used their weight to the best advantage. It was a case of trying hard to win with the Peterboroughs, by fair means, if possible, but win anyhow. As a consequence Referee Rose had many of them adorning the fence in the last half, for which, by the way, he was hissed by certain portions of the crowd. It was a hard, rough, fierce game, and it was a good thing for Manager Burrell's merry men that they had a strict and fair referee. Hats off to Mr. Hugh Rose. He's all right!

PETERBOROUGH'S RINK.

The visiting delegation reached Peterborough about 7.30. A start was at once made for the rink, and there can be no two opinions as to its being one of the best rinks anyone ever clapped his eyes on. There must have been fully 2,000 people in the building when the teams faced each other. About half the men were smoking, and towards the end of the match the smoke hung like a cloud over the ice. The players must have found the atmosphere hard on their lungs. There were some new faces on the Peterborough team when the men lined up. Wasson was in goal, and there is no exaggeration in saying that he played a star game.

Concerning the second half the Intelligencer says:—

Brown was hit on the ear by the puck and was much weakened by the consequences. In the midst of all this, of course, Referee Rose got busy and man after man of the Peterborough's was ruled off. Peterborough scored twice in the early part of the last half, but, though they worked desperately, they could not tie the score. Several of the Belleville men were also ruled off. Whitcroft and McGuire clashed once and both went off for four minutes. The match ended with both teams and spectators worked up to a high pitch of excitement. The Peterboroughs had made their effort, and a desperate one it was, but fate was against them, and they left the ice defeated, doomed to be tail-enders in group No. 8 this year.

PETERBOROUGH HOODLUMS.

The Belleville players donned their street attire and left the rink. At the door a crowd of hoodlums, numbering about 30, made a few disparaging remarks and threw a few chunks of ice at them. Another and larger crowd, however, waited for them at the station. McGuire and Brown were hooted and the crowd threw chunks of ice at the team, breaking two of the car windows. Glover, of the Peterboroughs, a very gentlemanly young fellow, did his best to stop the disgraceful proceedings, even speaking to the crowd from the car windows while the missiles were flying, but to no avail. It will be understood, of course, that the respectable people of Peterborough were not concerned in this, and the Belleville players bear nobody any ill will. It is safe to say that one stalwart policeman could have put the whole crowd to flight. The return trip was not started till 11.45, and the train did not reach Belleville till about 2 o'clock this morning. So ended a trip which brought the Belleville boys their third successive victory—and they earned it.

THE ONTARIO'S REPORT.

The Belleville Ontario also gives a very fair account of the match and, of course, expresses great jubilation. Regarding the manner in which the visitors were used at the train, the numerous readers of the Examiner will be pleased to know that the Belleville papers take a logical view of the matter and lay the blame for such conduct on a few hoodlums such as exist in every town. It is unnecessary to say that the Peterborough Club and the Peterborough citizens would not sanction such conduct as is alleged to have happened. Peterborough has for years endeavoured to establish a reputation for fair treatment to visiting teams.

W. C. T. U. PRIZES

To be Given out at the Y.M.C.A. Hall To-night.

Mr. J. W. Garvin, B.A., will lecture at the Y.M.C.A. Some of the local clergymen will also be present and address the meeting. All are welcome; especially school children.

GAUTHIER DECLARED WINNER

Saturday Night's Wrestling Match in Opera House.

McDonough's Friends Express Dissatisfaction With Referee's Decision —Referee Lewis.

There was a great crowd at the Opera House on Saturday night to witness the wrestling match for the championship of Peterborough County between Mr. John J. McDonough and Mr. George Gauthier, both of town. The articles of agreement provided for a catch-as-catch can engagement, best two in three falls, pin falls count, strangle-hold barred, etc. The bout was for the championship of Peterborough County, a side bet of $25 and 75 per cent. of the net door receipts. The other 25 per cent. of the net receipts were to go to the loser. Mr. Wm. Lewis, of town, refereed the match.

The evening was somewhat enlivened by the rendering of several vocal and instrumental numbers by some of the young men present. It was about 9 o'clock when Mr. Lewis stepped forward on the stage and read the articles of agreement. He then introduced Mr. McDonough who received much applause from his friends as did also Mr. Gauthier who followed.

The first bout was exceedingly well contested both men showing great strength. McDonough was the aggressor, but Gauthier suddenly turned his opponent over and was awarded a fall. Time 16 minutes.

In the second bout Gauthier claimed that he made another fall and as the referee did not allow it he left the mat. After 8 minutes persuasion on the part of the referee Gauthier returned and in a skirmish that followed McDonough claimed a fall which, however, he was not awarded. Then came an unsatisfactory finish. Gauthier's friends claimed that McDonough was "gouging" and the referee taking the same view of matters, warned him of the alleged offence. Only a few minutes later, Referee Lewis separated the contestants and there was great excitement as to what announcement was forthcoming.

Mr. Lewis said:—Gentlemen, I have already warned Mr. McDonough for "gouging." He has repeated the offence and I declare Mr. Gauthier champion of Peterborough County.

There was great cheering of course, from Gauthier's friends.

It is not unlikely that another bout will be arranged between the same two men at an early date.

IMPERIAL LIFE.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto * * The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

NO LONGER TO BE DREADED.

Gravel Permanently Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Reuben Draper, of Bristol, Gives his Experience, and it is Prepared to Furnish Proof of What he Says.

Bristol, Quebec, Jan. 25th. (Special.) — It is with feelings of intense relief that people here now admit that the operating knife is no longer necessary to cure that once dreaded disease — Gravel. Experience has shown it to be one of the numerous family of ailments arising from diseased Kidneys, and as such easily curable by those sovereign Kidney remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Reuben Draper, well known in this neighbourhood, is one of those who can speak from experience. He says:

"I was taken ill with what I thought was gravel. I consulted two doctors, but got no lasting relief, and I continued to grow weaker all the time. Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for he said that they had cured his mother, so I thought that I would try them.

"Just one week after starting to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and four days after I passed another about the size of a grain of barley. This gave me great relief and I began to feel better and gain strength. I have the stones in a bottle and can show them to anyone who may doubt what I say.

"That happened four years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble since."

A Minister to Men.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 24 —The Rev. Father Thomas F. Martin, assistant rector of St. James' Catholic Church, West End, died yesterday of smallpox, contracted by visiting members of his congregation who were suffering from the disease, to give them spiritual consolation. Father Martin was thirty-three years old, and came here from Bridgeport, Conn.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You can feel it doing you good from day to day, as it strikes at the root of trouble and creates new rich blood. You can prove that it builds up new tissue and adds flesh if you weigh yourself each week while using it.

NEW YEAR MODES.

ORIGINAL STYLES AND OLD ONES REVIVED WITH THE SEASON.

Lace Arrangements For the Neck and Shoulders Very Popular—An Exquisite Fur Hat—Falling Points In Favor—More Spangles.

The fashions of the new year start off with some decided touches of originality. In the two sketches here given may be found evidence of this assertion. That new and elegant motif of the modes, the stole, has progressed from fur to lace, and here you may see it rendered in real crochet of white, cream or ecru color with incrusted squares of black filet lace and small cloth revers of color to match the lace with an embroidered border in black or self colored silk.

The lovely fur hat shown furnished the crowning touch to a very chic toilet. Guipure lace covers the crown and tucked blue chiffon lines the brim of this beautiful and graceful confection in sealskin, the brim of which is overhung with a fine ostrich tip of brown to match the fur. A better illustration of millinery modes and a handsomer winter hat would be hard to find.

Falling points are a great feature of present fashions. Lace scarfs are so manipulated on evening gowns as to produce the effect of peplums, forming points on sides and front. The effect of length is produced in short waisted bodices by fringes drooping from the breast.

Combined collar and fichu trimmings (minus the long fichu ends) are in fact a soft vandyke veiling on the top of the arms and the most graceful trimming imaginable for a low bodice. We find collars, capes, cravats, fichus stoles, or whatever form they may take, in guipure, brussels, honiton, duchesse, Irish crochet and the like. All these neck and shoulder frills are in high favor as the finish for blouse, bodice and bolero.

Silver and nickel paillettes and mother of pearl and silver cup sequins add new variety to the array of spangles that figure in evening dress garnitures.

There is no sort of a gown for any occasion which lace may not adorn, if one so wishes.

The single ostrich feather, in the longest and most luxurious form, is the stylish ornament for many of the popular large picture hats of velvet or felt.

Now that the flat crowned hat is well established, it does not strike one with any surprise that there is a whisper of very high crowned hats and quite small chapeaux in the near future.

All indications point to the fact that the "jupe collante," or clinging skirt, is numbering the later milestones on its road to desuetude.

The yoke skirt is now an accomplished fact, as is even the skirt of full plaits, carried straight up into the waistband, appalling though this prospect certainly is to all but the very slender sisters. AMY VARNUM.

Why Cornbread Isn't Good.

One reason, according to an exchange, why city people do not eat more cornbread is because the good cornbread cannot be made from the commercial cornmeal. It is overheated in rapid grinding and is afterward kiln dried to keep it from becoming musty. From such meal good bread cannot be made. Corn should be ground slowly and not too finely, and it should be eaten within a week after grinding in summer or two weeks in winter.

Origin of the Blake Family.

Some interesting history of a famous Irish and Canadian family is given in "The Blake Family Records," by Martin J. Blake of London, a volume reviewed in The Tyrone Constitution, an Irish newspaper, of Nov. 28. The Blakes, the writer says, were one of the fourteen "tribes" of the town of Galway. The progenitor of the Blake family was one Richard Cadel, or Caddell, a feudatory of Richard de Burgh, "the Red," Earl of Ulster, and Lord of Connaught, from whom he obtained grants of land in the neighborhood of the Town of Galway in the sixth year of the reign of King Edward I., A.D. 1277-78. This Richard Cadel, or Caddell, assumed as a surname the appellation of Niger, or Blake, which his descendants adopted, although for many generations they also used the name of Caddell as an alias. The word Blake itself, as readers of Chaucer and of the early English writers know, is merely an English form of spelling Black.

The writer states that lineal descendants in the male line of Richard Cadel have retained to the present day some of the very lands acquired by their ancestor more than six centuries ago, while the Blakes of Galway have preserved intact the originals of their family charter, wills and other legal documents during that long period, which is a unique incident amongst families in Ireland, and extremely rare even in England. He then designated some of the principal members of the family, mentioning Dominick Blake and his grandson Edward Blake, who was a near ancestor of the two Blakes, Edward and Samuel H., so well known in Canadian public affairs.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirerevolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. YOU CAN TEST THE KIDNEYS

And Find out for Yourself Whether or not you are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for twenty-four hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself. Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of order begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They will bring prompt relief and will thoroughly cure you.

On account of their direct action on the kidneys Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are endorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years section foreman and now flagman for the G.T.R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on the G.T.R. and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work.

"During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

A BAD CASE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE CURED BY DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Kidney Troubles, no matter of what kind or what stage of the disease, can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of these wonderful pills. Mr. Joseph Leland, Alma, N.W.T., recommends them to all kidney trouble sufferers, when he says:—I was troubled with dull headaches, had frightful dreams, terrible pains in my legs and a frequent desire to urinate. Noticing DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS recommended for just such annoyances as mine, it occurred to me to give them a trial, so I procured a box of them, and was very much surprised at the effectual cure they made. I take a great deal of pleasure in recommending them to all kidney trouble sufferers.

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25; all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

For Mrs. Tillinghast's Accommodation

By H. Faber Osterhold

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

Edyth was sitting in one of the comfortable chairs of a parlor car as the train pulled out of the New Haven station. She was regretting the short halt there when a newcomer, who had planted his traps on the floor near the large armchair facing her, bowed. Edyth thought it was an apology for having upset her valise with his golf sticks and returned the salutation.

The one second sufficed to show her it was the same jolly, broad shouldered chap she had seen on the platform with a crowd of Yale boys. They both bent to pick up her valise when she heard him say, while his eyes twinkled with suppressed fun:

"I'm going to talk to you until your station comes, so you'd better make believe you know me."

Edyth looked up indignantly, but she could detect no disrespect in his face, just pure rollicking college boy fun, ready for a lark.

"Suppose I don't want to talk to you?" she challenged.

"You needn't, just as long as you'll let me talk to you. I've worked like a nigger the whole term, and I can't waste a moment beginning to have a bully time."

"What would the people on the car think if they knew I've never seen you before?" she demanded.

"They won't know if you smile at me and go right on chatting," he assured her.

"But you know it isn't proper, and I promised Miss Stanton to be cautious if she let me go alone." She smiled bewitchingly and began to page in her book.

"That old lady opposite is growing suspicious on account of your book." He leaned forward in his armchair and contemplated her with joy.

"Who is Miss Stanton?"

"Our teacher of mathematics. She usually chaperones me, but I made her see there was no occasion"—

"Not the least in the world," he said fervently, setting his tie.

"I'm beginning to think she had better have come! I think I'd best whirl my chair around. I've misgivings!"

"You can't. It's stationary," he exulted.

"I might change my seat," she began.

"I might, too," he threatened.

"No room."

"The chair has comfortable arms," he said suggestively.

"The old lady," reminded Edyth.

"Better stay then," he advised.

"Now, Harry wouldn't have forced himself upon"—

"Who's Harry?" he interrupted.

"He is at Harvard," murmured Edyth.

"We beat Harvard badly last Thanksgiving," he mused.

"Were you at Yale last Thanksgiving?" she queried innocently.

"Senior!" He looked hurt.

"Ah! So is Harry," she replied.

"On the team?" he demanded.

"No," she admitted unwillingly.

"Shortstop," he announced and drew himself up proudly.

"Harry is in a senior society," she began.

He smiled in a superior fashion and touched the golden wolf's head on his waistcoat.

"Well, all the same, he wouldn't have talked to me," she said in a tone of reproof, "and," she added, "I like his name."

"Burton sounds less frivolous."

"Awfully long," she demurred.

"Burt for short," he volunteered.

"I like Burt, too," she admitted.

"Yale blue would be becoming to you." He pulled out a blue silk scarf.

"So's red," she protested.

"Too like your hair. Let's try blue." And he handed her the scarf. She glanced at the old lady and stealthily held the scarf near her face.

"It's enchanting—the only right color," he beamed upon her.

"To speak of my hair as red!" she began. "You're the only single man"—

"I know, but I'm willing to change."

"What, the hair?" She bent over the glass and patted her pompadour into shape.

"No," he too hastily contradicted.

"Harry says it's pretty."

"I'd like to put Harry off the earth," he said emphatically.

"Then I couldn't wear blue. It would have to be black." She gave a little sigh.

"Black for Harry? Absurd!" he scorned.

"As I said before, you're the only single man"—

"And I told you before," he interrupted, "I'm eager to have you alter that."

"I think I was just at that point in my story," she said thoughtfully, picking up her book.

"Don't read or I'll change my seat, with all my traps, and the people will think we've had a quarrel."

"Then I won't talk to you any more." Edyth leaned far back in her chair and looked out of the window.

"I'll keep right on, and people will soon see something is wrong," he threatened. He tied his shoestring, and Edyth saw the very sole of his boot chuckle.

"Naturally it isn't proper for a very young lady to speak to a total stranger."

"I was seventeen last February."

"But you don't know anything about me!" he censured severely.

"I know your name is Burt." Edyth lingered over the name and smiled up at him.

"Sign of knowing one pretty well."

"I confessed about one named Harry," she admitted coyly.

"Yes, about one." He nodded his head.

"About the only Harry," she put in as an afterthought.

The conducter had walked through the train, calling out the next station. Neither of them observed him. They were both engrossed in studying out the initials of her traveling bag. The train was pulling into the station when Edyth accidentally looked out and recognized Mrs. Tillinghast. She snatched her small satchel and rushed from the train. Mrs. Tillinghast was looking anxiously at the forward car when Edyth touched her arm.

"Mercy, child, I feared you had not come!" she exclaimed in a tone of relief. Suddenly she extended her hand to greet some one else. Edyth turned, and her face assumed a perfectly rigid expression.

"Edyth, let me present Mr. Burton Gilmore—Miss Edyth Lawton!"

Her sin had found her out. This young fellow probably lived near the Tillinghasts and would some time or other disclose her whole disgraceful proceeding. She bowed mutely and frigidly.

"Why, you must have come on the same train!" Mrs. Tillinghast exclaimed. Edyth's face burned.

"Why, yes; pity we didn't know," Gilmore remarked chivalrously.

"He looked too nice not to be a gentleman," thought Edyth.

"Now, look here, both of you," said Mrs. Tillinghast as she led the way to the carriage. "I have all the rest of my house party assembled, and I find three couples can't abide each other."

A light began to break in upon Edyth. Her face was dimpling—enchanting, Gilmore thought.

"I'm so upset about your brother Harry not being able to come. I have a girl here who is so interested in Harvard," Mrs. Tillinghast explained.

Gilmore winked furtively at Edyth. "I'm awfully sorry, too," he said, stowing in the luggage. "I've heard lots about him lately."

As they sped up the drive Mrs. Tillinghast went on with her troubles. "I'm reduced to a stage of idiocy almost by getting the wrong people together. If you two are going to make it hard for me by deciding to be uncongenial, there's nothing in the world left for me to do but to jump off a dock."

Gilmore looked beseechingly at the girl.

"I won't make it hard for you, dear Mrs. Tillinghast," said Edyth, rubbing her head caressingly against her hostess' shoulder. But she smiled at Gilmore.

And they didn't.

Betting on a Certainty.

Peter Schemm, says the Philadelphia Times, was fond of telling the story of a German typesetter who had been boasting of his capacity for lager.

"Youse Dutchman," he was told by a bartender, "don't drink as much beer as people says youse do!"

"Of course not," chipped in one of the customers. "And I'll bet you, Dutchy, you can't drink a bucketful."

The German was lost in thought for a moment and then hurriedly rushed from the saloon, while the others roared with laughter. His boasting was still the topic of conversation when he returned, five minutes later, and calmly said:

"I'll take that bet."

The money was posted, a bar bucket holding five quarts was filled and the German promptly drank the beer and took the $5. Nobody questioned that he had won fairly, but one of the onlookers asked:

"Say, what did you leave the saloon for that time?"

"Why," he said as he winked with the air of a man who was far too smart for his fellows, "I yust went down to Schmidt's and drank a bucket to see if I would be safe in taking dot bet."

The Great Vidocq.

Vidocq, the great French detective, was born in Arras in 1775. He began life as a baker and early became the terror of his companions by his athletic frame and violent disposition. At the same time he was a notorious thief, and after many disgraceful adventures he enlisted in the army. In 1796 he returned to Paris with some money, which, however, he soon squandered. Next he was sentenced at Lille to eight years' hard labor for forgery, but repeatedly escaped, and in 1808 he became connected with the Paris police as a detective.

His previous career enabled him to render important services, and he was appointed chief of the safety brigade, chiefly composed of reprieved convicts, which purged Paris of the many dangerous classes. In 1818 he received a full pardon, and his connection with this service lasted until about 1828, when he settled at St. Mande as a paper manufacturer. Soon after the revolution of 1830 he became a political detective, but with little success. In 1848 he was again employed under the republican government, but he died penniless in 1857.

Cause of Splitting Headaches.

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread every moment to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache.

Ferrozone is Nature's own remedy for headaches; it is a blood strengthener and purifier of uncommon merit, a lasting potent tonic and the greatest invigorant and health maker known. Headaches never bother people who take Ferrozone after each meal. Buy a box from your druggist for 50c. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

Handy in the House.

Although designed as a kitchen convenience, the arrangement sketched in Ohio Farmer is good enough to find many fields of usefulness. The shelf, A, is hinged to the molding at the top of the wainscoting, B, with two cleats across the bottom, to the outer ends of which are hinged legs which, when the shelf is thrown up against the wall and fastened with a wooden button on door-case, C, fall down out of the way. The shelf is of yellow poplar or whitewood twenty-three inches wide, five feet long and five-eighths inch thick, with no oil or paint of any kind on top as a finishing coat. The cleats are the same stuff as the shelf. The legs are three-quarter inch basswood, which makes it altogether light, but yet solid enough for all practical purposes. The underside of shelf and legs are stained the same color as the wainscoting.

SHELF AND TABLE.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

CURES INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, BILIOUSNESS, SOUR, WEAK AND ALL STOMACH TROUBLES.

Mr. J. G. Clunis, Barney's River, N.S., tells of what this wonderful remedy has done for him:—It is with gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of B.B.B. I was so badly troubled with indigestion that whatever I ate caused me so much torture that eating became a dread to me. I tried numerous physicians, but their medicines seemed to make me worse. I thought I would try B.B.B., so got a bottle, and after taking a few doses felt a lot better. By the time I had taken the last of two bottles I was as well as ever, and have had no return of the trouble since. I recommend your medicine to the highest degree. B.B.B. is for sale at all dealers.

Frequent Throbbing Headache.

There's many a cause for headache. Men are not often troubled by headaches. When they are it is generally due to biliousness or indigestion. But women have headaches which seem peculiar to their sex, frequent nervous throbbing headaches. Does it not seem as if such headaches peculiar to women must be at once related to womanly disease? Women who suffer with diseases peculiar to the sex do not realize the drain of vital strength and nerve force they undergo as a consequence of disease. It is this which causes the familiar headaches of sick women.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures such headaches by curing the cause—irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness. "Favorite Prescription" invigorates and tones up the entire system, encourages the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep.

"I was troubled with congestion of the uterus and female weakness for five years," writes Mrs. Robt. Merwin, of Albert, Hastings Co. Ont. "Was so weak and nervous I could hardly do any work. Had severe pain in back, also dizziness and pain in head. My heart would beat so hard and fast at times I would have to sit still till I got all right again. But after taking four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' I felt entirely well. I also used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Suppositories' as directed. All the symptoms of my trouble have disappeared and I am completely cured. I thank you for your kind advice and your medicine."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

Messrs. E. M. Proussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

New York, Jan. 26. — Minnesota and Northern Sec. Case postponed till Jan. 28. Bank statement very favourable; immediate gold shipments not probable. R.I. annual meeting to-day; no change in board expected. Three roads second week January gross increase 5.04 per cent. As pension payments are now practically completed gain by banks from treasury this week will be small. C P R earnings third week January increase $60,000.

DOW, JONES & CO.

To-day is likely to be a day of rumours regarding Venezuela, and we may see some rather lively fluctuations. News is very conflicting; so much so, that it is hard to tell just what is the correct version of present status, or what the outcome may be. This a.m. despatches report San Carlos forts captured and blown up and Panther disabled. Meanwhile the Washington Government, while recognizing crisis has been reached, has taken no action; still believed arbitration will prevail, and whole matter be settled. We advise caution until situation becomes clearer.

M. & M.

Stocks — Bear cliques were early disposed to oppose the early advance, but good buying, combined with good news of Venezuela matter overcome influence and there was some good buying.

Speculation now lapsed into dullness, but undertone is good.

DENISON.

Messrs. Haight & Freese have received the following:—

New York, Jan 26. — Some people hold to the theory that a dull market should never be sold; others are equally positive that dullness is nearly always followed by declines. The market is certainly dull enough for both classes; as a matter of fact, dullness during a dull period should develop into advancing market, and a bear period period into a declining market, but often after a short quick movement in the opposite direction extreme dullness follows. President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay are displeased at Germany's course, but they are not looking for trouble and the best informed people say that the matter will unquestionably be confined to polite diplomacy. Minister Bowen is acting on behalf of the various parties and he is said to express himself as satisfied with the course of events. Insiders are just waiting to get the above question confirmed. Some good judges think prices will break about three points and then it will be a cinch to buy for big advances. Of course this three point break is simply guess work, but it is to be noted that it coincides with my own theory of stocks reacting half the present advance.

Peterborough Seniors Play Port Hope To-night.

OTHER GAMES ARRANGED.

The Ottawa Winter Race Meet—Notes on Curling—Lacrosse Clubs Active.

HOCKEY.

TO-MORROW NIGHT'S GAME.

Let there be a good attendance at the rink to-morrow night to see the game between Port Hope juniors and Peterborough juniors. The locals may make matters lively.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The Peterborough seniors left at noon to-day for Port Hope to play their last game in the intermediate series of the O.H.A. The team was composed of the same players as played against Belleville here on Friday night. There may be many who wonder why there was no special train run to Port Hope to accommodate those who might wish to go down. It might be stated, however, that the rink accommodation in Port Hope is nothing near what it is expected would be required to accommodate the crowd to-night. It would be foolish to take down three or four hundred people from Peterborough and have them remain outside during the match. No, the boys went down with only a few supporters. They will do their best, and if they are defeated no one here will think any the worse of them. If Port Hope wins, the general feeling here is that they may also win the championship of this district.

WANTS PERMIT.

Capt. Roly Glover, of the Peterborough team intends making application to the Trent Valley League for a permit to finish up the series in the Peterborough Trent Valley team. Mr. Glover claims that he has played only one game so far and that he went on the team only when Morgan was laid off through injuries. Of course the Trent Valley League constitution which is more stringent than the O.H.A. constitution in regard to matters of this kind strictly prohibits a player from playing in two associations in the one season.

SOME REFEREES.

The Trent Valley League matches have developed some capable referees. Peterborough possesses two of these in George Lynch and Bill Meagher. Both of these gentlemen have done valuable service for the Trent Valley League, and there are repeated demands from clubs in the league to have them officiate. Mr. Meagher was at Keene on Friday night and at Bobcaygeon Saturday night.

AT NORWOOD.

Great interest is being centred in the game between Keene and Norwood at the latter place, as the match is the final game of the first series, as it will decide which team enters the finals. It will, it is expected, be the fastest game of the season. The event will take place in the Palace Skating and Curling Rink, Norwood, on the 28th inst. The game will start at 8.15 p.m., sharp. On account of its importance large numbers from the neighbourhood are expected to be present.

HOW THINGS STAND.

The Trent Valley League Series is now narrowing down to such an extent that some idea may be gathered as to the teams that will likely step into the final round for the championship of the League. The winners of the eastern group will certainly be Norwood or Keene; the winners of the central group will, from present appearances, be the T.A.S.; while Fenelon will be the western group representative, if the game of Thursday night is any criterion. With three clubs such as Fenelon, T.A.S., and Keene or Norwood, in the finals, the lovers of hockey in these towns should witness some very exciting games.

STAR'S ART GALLERY.

The Toronto Star, which possesses one of the most lively sporting pages of the Toronto daily papers, has been running a series of photogravures of prominent hockey players throughout the province. Some time ago the likeness of Mr. Harold Armstrong, Peterborough's clever cover point, appeared, and last Saturday Capt. Glover's picture was a feature of the sporting page of the Star. Lt.-Col. E. B. Edward's picture was in the Star on Saturday also as being chairman of the Reception Committee of the O.C.A., for for the entertaining of the Scotchmen.

SOME DATES.

The following dates have been arranged:

Peterborough Juniors vs. Port Hope Juniors in Brock street rink to-morrow night.

Lindsay vs. Fenelon Falls at Fenelon to-morrow night.

Keene vs. Norwood, at Norwood, on Wednesday night.

Lakefield vs. T.A.S., in Lakefield, on Friday night.

Peterborough vs. Lindsay, in Lindsay, on Friday night.

Fenelon Falls vs. Peterborough, in Peterborough, on Monday night.

* * * *

An executive meeting of the Peterborough Club will be held in the Oriental Hotel at 7.30 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

The Examiner staff challenges the Review staff to a game of hockey.

CURLING.

TANKARD SERIES

The umpire in Group 5 has ordered that the following games be played in Lindsay, Wednesday, commencing at 2 p.m.: Peterborough Granites vs. Lindsay; Peterborough Thistles vs. Beaverton. The winners to play in the evening, and the winner in Lindsay is ordered to Port Hope to play the winner there Tuesday. This is in the Primary Competition for Ontario Tankard. Mr. Wm. Needler has been selected as umpire.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Port Hope People Again Becoming Active.

THE REASONS ADVANCED.

The Port Hope Guide Discusses Superintendent Rogers' Report—As to the Cost.

The Port Hope people have not given up the idea of securing the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal at that place. An agitation is on foot for that purpose as the following letter, which appeared in the Port Hope Guide, indicates:—

To the Editor of the Guide:

Dear Sir,—As the Dominion Parliament will shortly meet, would it not be well for our new Town Council to take immediate action to secure if possible, the outlet of the canal at Port Hope?

In 1901 I understand that a committee appointed by the Council consisting of Mayor White, H. A. Ward, M.P., Dr L. B. Powers, S. Purser, Dr. Corbett and J. F. Clark, made strong representations to the Hon. Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, against the report sent in by the engineer in September, 1900. Also that the Minister has promised a thorough and impartial susrvey from Rice Lake to Port Hope, which is only 10 miles, before any decision was arrived at. May I ask, if this is correct, and if so, has such a survey been made?

Believing the Port Hope route shorter, quicker and cheaper than the one by Trenton, I trust you will use the columns of your influential paper, making known the merits of the route via Port Hope, and in stirring up the citizens generally to get a move on.

Yours very truly,

ENTERPRISE.

Port Hope, Jan. 23rd. 1902.

ARE NOT SATISFIED.

The Port Hope Guide on Saturday says further:—

In yesterday's issue appeared a letter on the above subject.

The Government has promised that before any more work is done, the merits of the Port Hope route should be thoroughly explored and this remains to be done, for this subject can only be handled by an engineer entirely independent.

The following are the reasons urged upon the Government by the committee why Port Hope should form the outlet of the canal:

1. Mr. Rogers omits to state that Mr. Rubidge's figures, which he uses, only call for a canal with 5 feet of water on the mitre sill, whereas his estimates for the Port Hope route are for a 6 foot canal. To make the canal via Trenton the same depth would mean immense cost, as the extra excavation would be in rock.

2. Mr. Rogers specifies 2 Hydraulic Locks on the Port Hope route costing $950,000, and none on the other.

3. Mr. Rogers estimates for 14 high level bridges via Port Hope costing $10,5000, and for the Trenton route only 13 highway bridges, costing $5,000 each.

4. Mr. Rogers makes no mention of the 5 railway crossings via the Trenton route, nor of the necessity for diverting C. O. R. Road, at considerable cost.

5. Mr. Rogers crosses the Midland Railroad twice, which, we understand, is not necessary, and which causes an extra expenditure of $52,000 for bridges.

6. Mr. Rogers' first estimate of the cost of the Port Hope route was 92,100,000, and his second estimate $3,674,000,—a slight difference of $1,574,000.

7. Mr. Rudidge's estimated cost for the section between Trenton and Frankfort was $1,218,739, and Mr. Rogers' estimate $750,000—difference $468,739.

8. Mr. Rubidge gives actual canalage via Trenton as 18 13-100 miles. Mr. Rogers gives actual canalage in his report, 10 miles. Mr. Rubidge states that considerable expense would be necessary to deepen the channel of the river Trent. Mr. Rogers omits this item altogether, and says nothing about the thousands of acres of land that will be flooded.

9. Mr. Rogers states that the number of cubic yards of clay excavation on the Port Hope route is 5,500,000, costing $1,210,000. Mr. Maingy in his report for a four foot canal with a width at bottom of 22 feet, 2,300,118 cubic yards, costing $299,846. We think the difference in figures entirely too great.

10. Mr. Rogers states that Trenton has a natural harbour with great depth of water. The Trenton Courier says that they have only six feet, and that unless something is done no large boat can enter the harbour

11. Mr. Rogers reports that our harbour which cost the town about $200,000, over and above what the Government has spent, is inadequate to meet the requirements of the canal. We take decided objection to this statement — believing that we have one of the best harbours on the north shore.

12. Mr. Rogers says that it will cost $150,000 to put the harbour in pair, and adds another $150,000 for the purchase of the harbour.

We are quite satisfied that such extensive repairs are totally unnecessary, and Mr. Rogers' estimate for the purchase exists only in his own imagination. No Rogers names no amount whatever for Trenton Harbour, either for repairs or purchase.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

The popular Marks Bros. will open a twelve-night engagement here on Thursday night, Jan. 29th with "At the Point of the Sword." Marks Bros. have always met with a hearty welcome by the people of Peterborough, and as they are said to be better than ever this year the plays they present will no doubt be heartily received.

LATE WILLIAM THOMPSON.

His Demise Occurred at His Home Near Warsaw on Tuesday.

The death of Mr. William Thompson, a highly respected farmer, who lived near the village of Warsaw, occurred at his residence on Tuesday last. Mr. Thompson had attained the advanced age of 88 years, and until recently was in the enjoyment of good health. About a month ago he contracted a cold, which, with other complications which set in, caused his death.

The funeral, which was one of the largest that has ever been seen around Warsaw, was held on Thursday afternoon, and proceeded to St. Mark's church, of which the deceased was a member at his demise. A very earnest and appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. A. S. Dickenson, from Heb. ix, 27.

The remains were then borne to the grave in the church yard near by. Service at the grave was conducted by the Orange order, of which the deceased was a life long member.

The late Mr. Thompson leaves an aged wife to mourn his loss, and to her, as also to the other mourners, is extended the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

ERROR RECTIFIED.

The Port Hope Guide's Reference to Peterborough Curlers.

Peterborough people will admire the frank manner in which the Port Hope Guide apologizes for the rather unfair article that appeared in that paper a few days ago concerning the Port Hope curlers visit to Peterborough last week. The Guide says:

"The Peterborough papers of the 22nd inst., say part of our report on curling in that town was not correct. The copy was handed to us by one of the team, and we were certainly led to believe that the report was correct. The Guide has no intention or desire to give an unfair report of any proceedings, and we are always ready to rectify any error made. Just here we beg to acknowledge that the reference to the hockey game was altogether unnecessary and uncalled for, as we are assured that there can not be the slightest ground for complaint from our end of the game, and the treatment by the people, papers and hockey team of Peterborough left no room for a kick. It gives us pleasure to say so."

SILICATE BRICK.

Public notice is given that I have acquired the exclusive right to manufacture and sell, within the Province of Ontario, Silicate Brick, made out of sand lime and other materials, mixed and treated under the invention and processs of O. Hugo Anderson, for which Letters Patent for Canada were granted on 10th December 1901, under No. 74,067. Companies have been formed at Montreal, Sydney and Ottawa, to operate under this patent. The works at Sydney and Montreal will be turning out brick in February, and at Ottawa in April next.

I am prepared to sell rights under the above patent in Ontario and solicit correspondence.

TO END ON WEDNESDAY

Blockade of Venezuelan Ports to Be Raised Then.

ALLIANCE WILL ALSO END

Venezuela's Latest Offer Satisfactory to the Powers—Details of the Proposals Which Form the Basis of the Prospective Negotiations—Allies Now Examining the Value of the Guarantee Offered.

Caracas, Jan. 27.—The Associated Press correspondent has just received a communication from the British naval officer at La Guayra informing him that the blockade will be raised next Wednesday.

A Satisfactory Basis.

London, Jan. 27.—It was learned yesterday by a representative of the Associated Press that Great Britain and Germany have informed their representatives at Washington that they consider Minister Bowen's proposals regarding Venezuela's guarantees to form a satisfactory basis for further negotiations.

30 Per Cent. of Receipts.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Associated Press has been informed that Minister Bowen, acting for Venezuela, in return for the raising of the blockade, pledges thirty per cent. of the receipts of Porto Cabello and La Guayra, the same to be collected by a joint committee made up of one representative from each of the powers having claims against Venezuela.

Berlin Confirms Report.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—The report that Germany and Great Britain had provisionally accepted the guarantee submitted by Mr. Bowen for the payment of claims reserved for arbitration is confirmed here.

The guarantee offered is a portion of the customs receipts of La Guayra, and, perhaps, of several other ports. The proposal was first made to Great Britain, which provisionally accepted it, and then to Germany, which accepted it in principle on Saturday. The allies are now engaged in examining the value of the guarantee offered, and are negotiating details, like the form of payment.

It is still believed here that all the matters in dispute will be satisfactorily arranged at Washington, without resorting to The Hague arbitration Court.

A lively exchange of telegrams occurred between Germany and Great Britain on Saturday before the acceptance of Mr. Bowen's propositions as cabled from Washington.

Italy's attitude is to accept any arrangement agreeable to Great Britain and Germany.

The alliance between Great Britain and Germany may be considered to have been definitely ended so soon as the guarantee is signed and the consequent raising of the blockade occurs.

LINER A TOTAL WRECK

American Went Ashore Off Aberfraw Point, Near Holyhead.

REPORT FROM THE VESSEL.

Seventeen of the Crew Reach Shore in Their Own Boats—Their Report Is That the Liner Is a Total Wreck —Heavy Gale Raging in St. George's Channel — British Ships Collide.

Holyhead, Wales, Jan. 27.—An American Liner is reported to be ashore off Aberfraw Point, 15 miles south of Holyhead. A heavy gale is raging in St. George's Channel.

Liner a Total Wreck.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Holyhead says that a portion of the crew of the liner reported ashore off Aberfraw Point, numbering 17 men, have came ashore in their own boats. They report that the vessel is a total wreck.

Was in Collision.

London, Jan. 27. — The British steamer British Prince, Captain Smith, from Antwerp, for New York, was in collision during a southwesterly gale early yesterday, three miles from Dungeness, with the British ship Waterloo, Captain Fellows, from Iquique, Chile.

LOST TWO OF CREW.

One Drowns and Other Dies Just When Rescue Comes.

Yarmouth, Jan. 27.—The Digby schooner, Daisy Linden, Capt. Snow, arrived here Monday with flag at half-mast for the loss of two of her crew, Harry L. Syda, son of Councillor Syda of Digby, and Edward Lank of Campobello, N.B. The men were tending trawls near Seal Island, when the dory upset. They managed to climb on the up-turned dory and remained there until the schooner sailed up. The men were so exhausted that when about being rescued they both collapsed. Syda fell off the dory and was drowned, and Lank died while being taken on the deck of the schooner.

UNRECOGNIZABLE.

Remains of Fireman Matthews and Brakeman Everist Recovered From the G.T.R. Wreck at Newtonville.

Port Hope, Jan. 27.—What is left of the bodies of Fireman Thomas Matthews and Brakeman Benjamin Everist, the victims of the collision on the Grand Trunk last Wednesday night, was found by the searching party yesterday. The charred remains of Matthews were discovered in the morning and were absolutely unrecognizable. The top part of the body was burned almost to a crisp, and the left arm had been evidently torn off. The back of the skull and the skull were found, but only on the legs was there any flesh. He was identified by the trousers and the smouldering remnants of a woollen vest he wore. His father and two brothers have been diligently searching night and day for the body since the wreck.

The badly charred remains of Brakeman Everist were dug from beneath the wreck last evening by the wrecking crew, and were brought here, where they are laid beside those of the other victim. His left arm had been torn off.

The wreckage is not yet all cleared away, but the line is open for regular traffic.

HU-LIEN-SEN PROTEST FAILS.

Notorious During Boxer Troubles, Is Now Governor of Shang-Si.

Pekin, Jan. 27.—Hu-Lien-Sun, Governor of Hunan, one of the officials blacklisted by the powers after the Boxer troubles on account of the complicity in the massacre of missionaries, has been appointed Governor of Shang-Si. The Ministers ignored the failure of the Chinese Government to observe the agreement to dismiss him from office, but now the American, British and French Ministers are sending a note to the Government, saying, that, considering the former and recent missionary murders in the territory under his jurisdiction, it is not wise to send him to a province where the missionary interests are exceedingly important.

New Prints

SPRING—1903—DESIGNS.

Never, we believe, has been gathered a more representative lot of New Prints than will be exhibited at our store this week. It's to be "PRINT WEEK," and all the new features that can be brought into these staple commodities you will find developed here.

MEDALLION EFFECTS of Blue, Black, Green, Pink or Red on white grounds, or combination of medallion and stripe on white ground—the "pre-eminently new" feature of the season.... 12 1/2c

REGATTA STRIPES for Blouses and Outing Dresses, with all the clearness, the "clean-ness" that could be sought for. White grounds, with Rose, Sky, Delf Navy, Pink, and Black stripes yd, 12½c and 10c

REGATTA SPOTS AND SMALL FIGURES for Men's and Boys' Shirts, Boys' Blouses, etc, in the daintiest of small designs on clear white grounds, 12½c and 10c

LIGHT GROUNDS in Rosedas, Greys, Pinks, Sky Blues and Nile Greens in effective floral and conventional designs. To look at them you'd imagine you were looking at fine French Organdies, the designs are so splendid, per yard 12 1/2c

RED GROUNDS with spots, stripes and small figures, in White, Black or Turkey Red grounds, indestructible washing colours, for Aprons, Wrappers, Girls' and Boys' Blouses, Children's Pinafores, etc., per yard, 12½c and 10c

NAVY INDIGO GROUNDS in spots, stripes, small figures, conventional and floral designs, also Plain Navy to match, 12½c and.... 10c

BLACK GROUNDS, with, we fancy, every sized spot and stripe, conventional, floral, small figure grounds, aniline dye, a yd, 12½c and 10c

POPULAR GREY, BLUE and LILAC GROUNDS for elderly and matronly ladies—a clean looking, clean wearing, good washing print in clever effects, per yard 12 1/2c

DUTCH PRINTS—Solid Indigo Blue grounds, with white spots and stripes and the typical Dutch colourings of yellow and white—guaranteed absolutely fast colours and positively wear-resisting—specially adaptable for boys' wear.

In selecting this big pile of Prints you may rest assured that neither time nor energy was spared to see to the washing qualities. We believe them to be the most satisfactory that are on the market. We have picked on two especial cloths for our 10 and 12½c lines that have excellent previous reputations. We feel assured there are none better.

TO MAKE IT WORTH WHILE—Some women—most women—plan their sewing in the winter months. 'Tis for the women we have gathered our Prints so early; but other women do not buy until they actually need their Prints. Is the latter a mistake? We think so. The assortment is not so good—the prints not so fresh—the "just-the-pattern-you-wanted" gone. Now to make it worth every woman's while to inspect this Eleven Thousand Yards of New Prints, we are going to offer a few extra specials in prices :—

LOT I—Comprising Fast Black Aniline Dye Prints with self satin stripes and white spots, figures and scroll patterns, 28 inches wide, made to sell at 12½c. Soft Finished Prints in coloured grounds, good patterns, usual width, worth 8c, for, per yard.... 5c

LOT II—In Dark Grounds, a few Black and Navy Grounds. Buffs, Reds, Lilacs, etc., in fast colours. Some new goods—some a clean-up of our present stock. Were 10 and 12½c per yard, now, per yard 8c

WHITEWEAR—The biggest of the big items of our January White Sale unfortunately is crowded out of this ad. for want of time before going to press. When we say better things await you than ever before during this sale it means much. Many odds and ends, perhaps, just your size, have a clear up price on them. See them.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL MET

Elected Mr. Richard Crowe as Warden

And Appointed Messrs. Wm. O'Brien and George W. Bennett as Auditors.

The inaugural meeting of the Peterborough County Council was held in the County Council Chamber on Tuesday afternoon, the following members being present: Richard Crowe, Dennis Moloney, W. T. Curtis, Wm. T. Buck, T. Johnston, E. A. Peck, T. M. Hunter and G. W. Fitzgerald, John Monogue, Robert Shaw.

The clerk asked the council to elect a Warden.

Mr. Shaw nominated Mr. Richard Crowe as Warden, the nomination being seconded by Mr. W. T. Buck.

The clerk asked for further nominations, and there being no others forthcoming he declared Mr. Crowe elected Warden by acclamation, amid the applause of his fellow councillors.

Mr. Crowe was escorted to the chair by the mover and seconder. He thanked them for the honour conferred upon him, and assured them that he would endeavour to fill the position to the best of his ability, and with honour to themselves and himself. He said further that when he first entered the council some years ago he never expected to be elected to the position he had just been called to.

The minutes of the last session of the council were read, and on motion, adopted.

Mr. Peck moved that Mr. Wm. O'Brien be appointed auditor for the ensuing year. Mr. Fitzgerald nominated Mr. George W. Bennett, Mr. Buck nominated Mr. W. E. Roxburgh and Mr. Shaw nominated Mr. T. G. Eastland.

After several votes had been taken Messrs. O'Brien and Bennett were elected as auditors.

Upon motion of Mr. Monogue, seconded by Mr. Shaw, Mr. R. P. Watt was appointed sessional clerk, pro tem.

Upon motion of Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Hunter, the council went into Committee of the Whole to strike the Standing Committees.

Council then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

Concerning the Port Hope and Peterborough Railway.

The Toronto Globe each day publishes extracts of interest from its files of 50 years ago. The following item may be of particular interest to Peterborough. It appeared in the Globe of Jan. 22nd, 1853 :—

"Information has been received that the Government has sanctioned the Port Hope and Township of Hope by-laws for taking stock in the Peterborough and Port Hope Railway. The stock now subscribed amounts to £80,000. Tenders for the contracts are immediately to be advertised for. No doubt exists that this railway will now go on."

No Danger.

Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, has proved by analysis that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-"made soap, and has a thorough "cleansing power, without danger to "the clothing or skin."

Clothing is worn more in the wash than in use where common soaps are used, and the hands are liable to eczema. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 222

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 TRADE MARK ROGERS BROS

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

THE CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Magic Transformation Through Advertising.

History Repeats Itself—There is Still a Lesson in This Far-fetched History.

Cserep, Bogacs, Zoercz, NoszVaj, Szomolya, Kacs, Darocz.

Webster will not help you any this time! Still these seven words which you would rather spell than pronounce, have some meaning as you will see. They are the names of villages in the county of Borsod, Hungary, and all of them are situated within a radius of ten square miles.

Thirty years ago Cserep, my native place, had about four hundred inhabitants, most of whom dwelt in a straggling line of one-story cabins, extending along both sides of an extremely wide irregular and mirry street. With the exception, perhaps of a few ill-kept garden patches, nothing was inclosed. The cabins were uniformly whitewashed, and for the greater part thatched with reeds Usually two windows, often mere peepholes, admitted a feeble light into the single living-room of the household. The floor of this room was of stamped earth, and a large part of it was taken up by the stove. This was constructed of blocks of stone, the smoke usually finding vent through a hole in the roof. My father's house was enclosed by a stone wall; and was known as "Kastely," which means in English, castle.

It was one of the sights of the village.

Money was almost unknown as a circulating medium. Let me cite, for example, the case of the village shoemaker Born with a dislocation of the hip-joint, he became permanently lame—for, of course, there was no Dr. Lorens to be had in Cserep for love or money. So the poor fellow supported himself by boot-making, receiving cucumbers, salt, cabbages, and other necessaries of life in return for his work. Only on Thursday, which was market day, was there any sign of early life in the village. Then lights blinked through the little windows before daybreak, and the women from twenty to fifty in number, prepared to go to the neighboring towns to sell their garden produce. The men remained at home to attend to business, the product of which was a little live stock and the gleanings of four or five patches of wheat, corn, etc. They disposed of these commodities at the annual market usually receiving in exchange some wearing apparel for their families, other necessities of life and a little cash.

A visit from a neighboring village was a great event, and when a guest was entertained all immediately knew it. Marriages between persons of different villages were rare, and when they did occur it was merely a question of dowry. As a new settler only came to our place every two or three years the increase of population came with each successive generation. When a couple married a new house was built, not by dividing the property, but by adding land at the end of the village; and if the couple had 25 or 50 guilders and did not care live in the furthermost house, they exchanged for this cash premium with a neighbor who had a more centrally located house. The wealthiest man in the place was worth, independently of real estate, about 500 guldens, or less than $700.

Within two years the village had experienced a complete transformation. The number of inhabitants had increased to nearly 1,000; in other words it had more than doubled. The houses had been enlarged; in two (!) cases an additional story had been built; but more frequently, an annex added. The rooms, also were wider and loftier, and the porches, paved with brick, had been converted into spacious, well-lit passages or walled corridors, extending along the entire length of the dwellings. Instead of a uniform white, the houses were painted blue, green, and sometimes a darker color, which contrasted prettily with the prevading white background. The colors were obtained from various kinds of earth and from the juices of berries. The floors of the rooms were boarded; many comfortable appliances had been procured, and shingles or roof tiles supplanted the reed thatch of the roofs.

Peasants now flocked from the neighboring villages to procure work and returned home only at nightfall; new settlers from large cities were attracted, and business men, people of wealth and refinement, were frequent visitors. Five years before the privilege to sell meat and liquor had been leased on a five years' contract by the Prince of Coburg for a yearly fee of 460 guldens; at the expiration of that term the privilege was leased at auction for $2,750, an increase of nearly six hundred per cent.

A spirit of enterprise now affected the whole population. The fields and gardens were improved and extended; greater attention was paid to education; intercourse with the outside world was cultivated; and the condition of complete stagnation, which had existed before, now gave place to intense activity. In short, the place boomed, and became a centre of industry.

In 1874 I was fifteen years old. My father owned quarries, limekilns, wineyards, and was also engaged in manufacturing wheelbarrows, selling his output through travelling men. He also travelled considerably himself, soliciting orders. One day I read in the papers that a railroad 500 miles in length was to be built from Budapest. After ascertaining the name of the contractor I wrote to the latter, expatiating upon the natural resources of the village, which, prior to that time, had been practically unknown. In reply we received an order for a load of lime and 100 wheelbarrows, to be sent as a sample. Soon thereafter we received additional orders for lime, quarry stone, coal and lumber, which proved most valuable to my father, who owned considerable real estate in and around the village. As he also possessed extensive vineyards I concluded that what was good for lime might also be turned to profitable use for wine. At that time there were not many directories in Hungary, and I soon found that I had a difficult task on my hands. Finally, however, I succeeded in obtaining the addresses of a number of wine merchants in Budapest and Vienna. These I informed that we had good wine for sale, including several vintages for preceeding years—all of which we would be willing to sell at a reasonable price. I also advertised the fact in the "For Sale" column of three newspapers.

Prior to that time wine merchants used to come to our village at the time of the vintage and bought up wine by the barrel for which they paid from 10 to 20 guldens, which in American coinage would be from $4 to $8. In answer to my letters and ads, there now came requests for samples; and the result was that we sold not only all the wine we had in our cellars but practically all the wine of the country, realizing three times the price we had formerly received.

In Kacs, one of the seven villages already mentioned there were sulphur baths, which for many years had annually attracted about thirty visitors, who usually spent a week or more at this resort. We decided to advertise the baths in one of the leading daily papers of Hungary. The consequence was that within one year the number of visitors had trebled. The value of the property increased in proportion. Prince Cobourg who owned the springs, had leased them for seven years at an annual rental of 60 guldens, with the proviso that a building was to be erected by the tenant. Within three years it was found necessary to provide accommodation for 700 guests, and, remarkable as it will appear, people from the surrounding towns and villages were chiefly the visitors—they who lived, so to say, within a stone's throw from the place, waited to be attracted to it by advertising.

Advertising accomplished this wonderful transformation. There is no question about that, or at least there was none in 1879 when I incorporated this story of th[illegible]omenal growth of my native [illegible] paper on the "Future of [illegible] that I read before a Congress of [illegible]blishers held at the Hungarian National Exhibition in Szekes Feher Var.

History repeats itself—and now nearly three decades later—there is still a lesson in this far-fetched history, which to the auditorium I was addressing, seemed like a miracle, or a "wondertale."

VIGOUROUS AT EIGHTY-THREE.

Mr. Jas. Walker Attributes his Good Health to Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

They Cured Him of Swelling of the Limbs, Urinary Troubles and Violent Backache.

Those who desire a hale and hearty old age, full of vim and vigour and freedom from kidney ailments, should take Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. It is simply wonderful how they allay the irritation of the urinary passages, render unnecessary the frequent rising at night, and give healthful vigour to the whole system. Many old people write and tell us that they feel ten years younger since taking the Tablets.

Mr. Jas. Walker, whose address is Sheldon, Iowa, U.S.A., is one of the old folks who is enthusiastic about Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Just read what he says, and write him for further particulars if you like:

"Along last September I began to be troubled with my urine. It gave me pain at times, and I had to go quite often, sometimes having to rise out of bed four or five times during the night. I had a great thirst and a violent headache. My limbs swelled to twice their natural size, and my appetite left me.

"I happened to get an Ontario paper, the Lindsay Post, and saw there that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets were highly spoken of. I determined to try them and after using them for one week I got great relief. The pain left my back and I did not need to get up so often during the night. I continued their use and the results have been wonderful for a man of my age, 83. I am not bothered with that terrible thirst, my appetite is good, and the swelling has left my limbs, and I can tell you that the Tablets have proved a great boon to me. You are at liberty to use my letter in any way you choose, as what I say is the truth."

(Signed) "Jas. Walker."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a bottle, or 3 for $1.25, at druggists, or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

ASPHODEL COUNCIL.

Westwood, Jan. 12th, 1903.

The Council elect for the year 1903 met, and after having subscribed the necessary declarations and qualifications of office took their seats as follows:

Patrick MacNulty, Esq., Reeve; Wm. H. Comstock, Geo. Magee, John Francis and Fredrick Warner, Esqs., Councillors.

Minutes of last meeting were read and signed.

Communications received from Sick Childrens' Hospital, asking aid. From T. M. Grover, asking pay for gravel taken by pathmasters. From Hastings Star and Norwood Register, re printing.

A bylaw appointing certain township officers with the salaries they are to receive was passed through its several readings as follows:

John Brackenridge, clerk, including postage and stationery, $80.00; Wm. Sharpe, treasurer, $65.00; M. R. Elmhirst, assessor, $45.00; E. J. Lynch, collector, $45.00; Board of Health, M. Walsh for three years, salary each per diem, $2.00; Auditors, J. B. Moore and T. J. O'Neil, each, $4.00; High School Trustee, Hugh N. Drain.

Tenders were received for the Township printing for 1903 from the Hastings Star and Norwood Register.

Moved by Wm. Magee, seconded by Mr. Francis, that the printing be given to the Hastings Star at their tender and the copying of the minutes to the Norwood Register.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Comstock that the Township printing be given to the Norwood Register at their tender and the copying of the minutes to the Hastings Star. (No seconder.)

The Reeve then declared the original motion carried.

A petition was presented, signed by Thos. Cardwell, M. F. Lynch, F. Burnet, F. Birdsall, Rev. Mr. McDonald and some 60 others, asking to have the concession line between the 1st and east concession, opened up from the churches southward.

Petition received and left over for further consideration.

Moved by Mr. Comstock, seconded by Mr. Magee, that Mr. Francis be commissioner for the south-west division; Mr. Warner for the north-west division; Mr. Magee for the south-east division; Mr. Comstock for the north-east division, and the reeve, Mr. McNulty, for the boundary, and that each commissioner have the sum of $100 to expend on the roads and bridges in their respective divisions.—Carried.

Mr. W. Sharp and Mr. M. F. Lynch addressed the council, asking to have the town hall seated with chairs, and saying that they had been requested by a number of the ratepayers to interview the council in the matter, and that the parties would pay a portion of the expense, if necessary.

After consideration it was moved by Mr. Magee, seconded by Mr. Warner, that Mr. Comstock and Mr. Francis, be a committee to work in conjunction with Mr. Sharp, and Mr. Lynch, with power to act.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Comstock, seconded by Mr. Magee, that Mr. Sherry be retained as solicitor.—Carried.

H. C. Elmhirst was appointed caretaker of the hall at the same salary as last year, viz., $20.

Moved by Mr. Comstock, seconded by Mr. Magee, that the following orders be drawn on the treasurer:

London, Jan. 27.—Within a few days it is expected that the last of those injured in the Wanstead disaster will have been discharged from Victoria Hospital. There still remain seventeen patients from the wreck, but all are well on the way to complete recovery.

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia.

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Toothache. Better try a 25c bottle; it's all right.

I Will Cure You of

Rheumatism

Else No Money is Wanted.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer.

I am a specialist in Rheumatism and have treated more cases than any other physician, I think. For sixteen years I made 2,000 experiments with different drugs, testing all known remedies while searching the world for something better. Nine years ago I found a costly chemical in Germany which, with my previous discoveries, gives me a certain cure.

I don't mean that it can turn bony joints into flesh again; but it can cure the disease at any stage, completely and forever,. I have done it fully 100,000 times.

I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal for my book on Rheumatism, and I will mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. Take it for a month at my risk. If it succeeds the cost is only $5.50. If it fails I will pay the druggist myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

I mean that exactly. If you say the results are not what I claim, I don't expect a penny from you.

I have no samples. Any mere sample that can affect chronic Rheumatism, must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. It has cured the oldest cases that I ever met And in all my experience —in all my 2,000 tests— I never found another remedy that would cure one chronic case in ten.

Write me, and I will send you the order. Try my remedy for a month, as it can't harm you anyway. If it fails, it is free.

Address, Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases, not chronic, are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

HIS BEAUTY SPOILED.

Famous Mommsen, However, Showed Admirable Presence of Mind.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Prof. Mommsen, whose flowing white locks are conings in Berlin, almost lost his hair yesterday. He climbed on a ladder to the topmost bookshelf of his library to get a volume, and held a candle too near his head, with the result that his hair caught fire. The Professor succeeded in throwing the skirts of his study gown over his head and smothered the flames. His face was considerably scorched and his locks partly consumed. The Professor remarked to the members of his family, who ran to his assistance: "It is all over with my beauty."

THEORIES ABOUT CATARRH.

Peculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head, was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case; his plan was to eat nothing for twenty-four hours, or presumably until the trouble had disappeared.

Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy, but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties.

Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head, and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become a fad, would make of us a nation of fasters, an army emulating the example of the immortal Tanner, who achieved world wide fame by fasting forty days.

Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease, and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly over eating, is a very common cause.

Most people, however, are more interested in the cure of the trouble than in the trouble, and modern medical science has produced more effective and less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's.

Hydrastin is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of Catarrh. Red Gum is another, which on account of its antiseptic properties, is very valuable, while many severe cases of Chronic Catarrh have been entirely cured by the sanguinaria or Extract of Blood Root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable and convenient, and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is aso apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular demand.

They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of travelling men, because they can be carried in the pocket, and used at any time and in any quantity, being free from Cocaine, opiate or any poisonous drugs.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours time.

For nasal Catarrh they are far superior to any wash, lotion or ointment, the use of which is often as inconvenient and annoying as the disease itself.

For coughs, colds, bronchial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach, these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure, where lotions, inhalers and douches make no impression whatever.

This preparation is a boon to catarrh sufferers, and any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Carrh Tablets is a remedy that has come to stay.

May Die From Fall.

London, Jan. 27.—Walter Fitzsimmons, a married man, engaged in the erection of a bridge over the north beanch of the Thames, near Thorndale, fell from the top of the structure to the ground, a distance of thirty feet. He was found unconscious from injuries received, and slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Declared Off.

Winnipeg, Jan. 27.—The strike of the United Brotherhood of Employes on the Canadian Northern Railway was officially declared off last night.

THE BOUNDARY CASE

No Exception in the Matter of Skaguay and Dyea.

THE EFFECT OF THE TREATY

There Is Nothing to Prevent a Disagreement of the Commission—Sir Wilfrid Laurier Makes It Clear That the Whole Question Will Be Submitted to Arbitration—Satisfaction in Great Britain.

Ottawa, Jan. 27. — Canada has made no concessions whatever to the United States in the matter of the Alaska boundary. This is stated on the highest authority. The treaty which has been signed at Washington provides for the appointment of six jurists of repute, three to represent the United States and three to represent Great Britain and Canada, in order to determine the boundary between Canada and Alaska, in accordance with the treaty between Russia and Great Britain of 1825.

No Territory Reserved.

From consideration by this tribunal no territory will be reserved on the plea that it belongs to the United States. If a majority of the members of the judicial tribunal, after careful investigation, shall decide that Dyea and Skaguay belong to the United States, Canada will loyally accept the award. If the decision shall be that these towns are in Canadian territory, it is to be assumed that the United States will accept it in good faith. There is, of course, a probability that the tribunal may be equally divided in their opinion, in which event there will be no award.

It is said in certain newspapers that Canada has agreed to the proposition submitted by the United States representatives to the Joint High Commission in 1899. This is altogether erroneous. Undoubtedly the United States proposition provided for an arbitral tribunal of six members, but it was coupled with the condition that Dyea and Skaguay should remain within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, no matter whether they were found to be within Canada or not. To quote from the actual wording of the United States proposition:—"All towns and settlements on tidewater, settled under the authority of the United States, and under the jurisdiction of the United States at the date of this treaty, shall remain within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States."

No Reservations This Time.

To this condition the British representatives refused to agree, and Canada is still as stoutly opposed to it as ever. The reference to the judicial tribunal is untrammelled by any such condition, the question for the six jurists to determine being what is the boundary from the southernmost point of Prince of Wales Island to Mount St. Elias. The jurists have not yet been selected, that being a matter, in the Government's opinion, which requires the utmost care. There will, however, be two British jurists and one Canadian. As to the text of the treaty, the Prime Minister doubtless regards it as a State paper, which should be presented to Parliament before it is published. The likelihood, therefore, is that it will be laid before Congress in advance of its publication.

Sir Wilfrid Interviewed.

The Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Montreal. Seen at the depot the Premier was asked as to whether or not there were any conditions attached to the treaty for the settlement of the Alaskan boundary.

"There are no conditions," replied Sir Wilfrid. "The arbitrators are appointed to interpret the treaty."

"That is the treaty of 1825?"

"Yes, the treaty of 1825. The arbitrators will not be hampered by any conditions. They will have the whole case before them as shown by the convention of 1825."

"What are the provisions as to the selection of arbitrators?"

"The only provision is that they are to be jurists of repute. There will be three jurists of repute on each side?"

"Canada will be represented?"

"Of course Canada will be represented It is needless to ask that."

"And if the arbitration be against Canada, what then?"

"Canada must just bear it. We will have to abide by decision of tribunal."

Satisfaction in London.

London, Jan. 27. — General satisfaction is expressed over the news on the Alaska treaty and Canada's action in assenting to arbitration on United States lines. It is recognized as a concession in the interests of Anglo-American accord. The Times' correspondent at Washington attributes the present agreement to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's personal persistence, he fearing a rush of miners into the disputed territory and the consequent disturbances. It is hoped that Canada will appoint the strongest possible member on the commission, and not merely an ornamental member, as on recent similar bodies. Lord Alverstone, who, as Richard Webster, kept so tight a grip on Canada's case in the Behring Sea arbitration, will probably be one British commissioner. The name of Sir Louis Davies is also suggested.

A BRITISH VICTORY.

Coerced United States Into Acceptance of Alaskan Arbitration.

New York, Jan. 27.—Matthew F. Tighe wires The Journal from Washington a despatch that is luminous anent Venezuelan-Alaskan questions. He says: The State Department has come to an agreement with Great Britain in the German-Venezuelan crisis by which Germany has been forced to abandon its fight against the Monroe Doctrine, and the State Department has surrendered to Great Britain the American principle that there was nothing to arbitrate on the question of the Alaskan boundary.

The only diplomatic victory which has thus been gained in the Venezuela affair is that of Great Britain, which, to call things by the right name, has coerced the United States into an acceptance of arbitration of the Alaskan boundary or a continuation of the British-German alliance in South America.

Great Britain has thus wrenched from the State Department the opinion in writing that there is some doubt as to the true boundary of Alaska.

That is a British victory and a recession from the position of the United States that, as it got a clear title from Russia with certain defined limits, there was nothing to arbitrate.

It is now extremely probable that within a short time Great Britain will withdraw her protest, which was filed with that of Germany at the State Department, against the inconsistency of the United States policy as to the closed door in the Philippines and the open door in China. This protest was made concurrently with the arrival of British and German ships before La Guayra. It is also expected that there will be heard less from day to day about the current protest in Great Britain against the reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States.

Treaty Is a Concession.

New York, Jan. 27.—The Herald's Washington correspondent wires his paper as follows on the Alaskan matter:

"The treaty came as a surprise because the question has not recently been pressing for settlement. The American members of the Joint High Commission refused to consider this question, because they held the ground that the United States' view of the boundary was so just that there was no room for argument. By the signing of the treaty yesterday a concession is made to England which cannot fail to favorably incline that country toward the United States' desire that the Venezuelan question be settled speedily and amicably on the generous terms proposed by Mr. Bowen."

He Assures Rheumatic Sufferers That

Paine's Celery Compound

Banished His Pains and Agonies.

The startling and happy cures wrought by Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatic sufferers have deeply impressed medical men everywhere, and to-day, the best practitioners are recognizing the great value of the compound, and prescribe it with confidence.

Paine's Celery Compound stands unequalled as a cure for all the varied forms of rheumatism. At this season its good work is apparent in thousands of Canadian homes. Men and women, lame and crippled and utterly helpless from the terrible disease are being restored to activity, health and strength. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that rescues and saves the despairing victim who is told that he or she is incurable. Mr. W. Morisette, Roxton Pond, Que., says:

"Having been given up to die by some of the best doctors of the United States, I came to Canada last autumn terribly ill, and had lost all hope. Suffering agonies from inflammatory rheumatism, I was strongly urged to use Paine's Celery Compound. I gave it a trial, and the first bottle did me so much good I continued with the medicine until I had used seven bottles, when I found myself perfectly cured; indeed, I never felt better in all my life than at present. I use every possible means to tell others of Paine's Celery Compound, and will always recommend it to troubled with rheumatism."

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion aids digestion, improves nutrition, and increases weight and strength. It is pleasant to take, and agrees with the stomach.

Thousands of well-fed people cannot digest and assimilate their food. They therefore get insufficient nourishment, and are slowly starving. Angier's Petroleum Emulsion with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is for such. It helps digest and assimilate the food, cleanses the stomach and bowels, improves nutrition, tones up and invigorates the entire system and thus increases health, weight and strength. Physicians prescribe it for persons who are recovering from any illness that has left them in a weak, "run-down" condition. Get a small bottle, take according to directions and watch results.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is sold by druggists everywhere. Remember the name and insist on getting Angier's. Large size, $1.00. Small, 50c.

90,000,000 ACRES.

Grant of an Empire For the Construction of 1,200 Miles of Railway Through Hot Australian Wilderness.

New York, Jan. 27.—The Melbourne correspondent of The Times says: A project of great magnitude has just been launched by the South Australian Government. It is for the construction of a railway which, joined to the lengths already built, will connect the Indian with the South Pacific Ocean. It is to run from south to north through the State of South Australia, or through what is called the Northern Territory. The length of the line is to be 1,200 miles, and the line is to be constructed on a gauge of 3 feet 6 inches, and is to be capable of carrying traffic at a speed of twenty miles an hour, including stoppages. It is estimated to cost £6,000,000 ($30,000,000). Tenders are to be invited from Australia, the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany. Eighteen months are to be allowed for the preparation of tenders. The syndicate taking up the contract will, in return for the expenditure of £6,000,000, be granted territory to the extent of 75,000 acres per mile, or altogether 90,000,000 acres.

The area is far larger than the whole of Great Britain and Ireland, or New Zealand. There is no stipulation as to the nationality of the syndicate; consequently the ceded territory may be settled upon either by Britishers, Americans, French or Germans. The race must be white, as, according to the laws of the Commonwealth, colored immigration is forbidden.

The line will run, of course, through some of the hottest parts of Australia. The scheme has received the approval of the South Australian Parliament, and the Government will at once take steps to bring it under the notice of capitalists. About 5,000 people live in the land to be covered by the proposed railway service.

The Little Ones Love

Malt Breakfast Food

After the babies are weaned there is no necessity for feeding them with expensive infants foods. The best physicians are strongly advocating the use of Malt Breakfast Food as the best diet after weaning. One package of Malt Breakfast Food, at 15 cents, will make as many meals for baby as four packages of any 50 cent infant food.

Malt Breakfast Food is a pre-digested food, easily and quickly digested by the little ones, and while it keeps the stomach strong and vigorous, it also builds up flesh, bone and muscle. Reports coming in from mothers all over Canada tell of magnificent results from the use of Malt Breakfast Food as a diet for the babies. Try Malt Breakfast Food for your baby and note the happy results. Your grocer can supply you.

Application For Legislation.

Toronto, Jan. 27. — Application will be made to the Legislature for a railway from Dinorwic on the C. P. R., Rainy River District, north to Lake St. Joseph. A branch line will be run to Sturgeon Lake. Application is also sought for to incorporate the Point Anne Railway, to run from Point Anne to the Bay of Quinte, in Hastings County.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 27.—Yesterday George Ham, a hired man, charged with robbing his employer, Donald Munroe of Springfield, of a watch, brooch, ring and suit of clothes, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street Brantford, Ontario, suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion, headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy, I could not sleep nights but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Open Switch Causes Two Deaths.

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 27.—Two brakemen, Edward Darling and Thos. Swank, were killed, and Harley Edkins, conductor, fatally injured yesterday in a freight wreck on the Williamsport and North Branch Railroad near Satterfield. The wreck was caused by an open switch.

Succeeded After 10 Days.

Marine City, Mich., Jan. 27.—W. H. Willoughby, the Walkerville, Ont., plumber, who shot himself in the head in the basement of a local hotel ten days ago, is dead.

The Policeman's Evidence.

Policeman Peter Morris, Toronto, says that for years he was troubled with habitual constipation, and though he spent much money for medicine, was only disappointed with the results. He now recommends Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to his friends because it cured him of his troublesome ailment. You can be cured of constipation by this treatment. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Suffocated in a Mine.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 27.—The Tipple at the Hagis Landford Mine, three miles west of here, was burned yesterday. One man was killed Four men were so badly suffocated that their recovery is doubtful. The mine, which is a small one, has but one entrance. The fire destroyed the hoisting machinery, and 20 men in the workings were raised to the surface by ropes.

The Wrong Price.

A typographical error appeared in the "Beehive" advertisement in last night's Examiner. The item "A better quality of Satanna Waist," should have been priced 89 cents, not 59 cents, as was incorrectly printed. The fault was the proof reader's, not the "Beehive's."

Busy Stenographers.

Very often find the need of a good eraser. We have Faber's special stenographers' rubbers. Erasers in wood just like a lead pencil, with nickel plated brush, the handiest thing you could get and the price is 15c. each. Every up-to-date stenographer should have one. St. Luke's Church

The Quarterly Sunday School Conference of the Anglican Churches will be held in St. Luke's Sunday School on Wednesday, Feb. 4th, at 8 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt will be chairman. An interesting and profitable programme is being prepared. The last conference, held at All Saints, was such a great success that with the same interest on the part of the parents and friends of Sunday School work, a large attendance might be looked for. The programme will be published as soon as it is completed.

STRIKERS RESUME WORK.

Satisfactory Agreement Arrived at by the Commission.

The employees of the Ackerman Company, who have been on strike since Monday week, returned to work to-day, in accordance with the agreement arrived at yesterday afternoon, by a commission consisting of His Worship Mayor Roger, Rev. J. C. Davidson, and Mr. J. R. Kidd, who enquired into the alleged grievances of the men.

The agreement arrived at is satisfactory to all concerned, and the men agree to make no further demands on the company for a period of six months at least, and after that time one month's notice must be given the company. The company agrees to recognize the union.

The man Stewart, who was objected to by the strikers, is not now in the service of the company.

W. C. T. U. PRIZES.

Gained by Miss Arnabella Gray and Mr. Cecil Arnott.

A pleasant and profitable evening was spent at the Y.M.C.A. Hall last night, the chief feature was an address by Mr. J. W. Garvin on the "Effect of Alcohol on the Human System." The evening was opened by a recitation from Miss Eva Whiten, followed by the address.

Mr. Garvin spoke mainly to the children, as he thoroughly believes in the motto,—"Sow early and reap well."

If the evils of alcohol are pointed out to children they, when older, will remember and keep away from strong spirits. Alcohol, said the speaker, is excellent for preserving specimens, but if put into the human stomach its effect is fatal.

This effect was shown by accurate charts, taken from actual instances.

Rev. Mr. Kilgour then gave a few words in which he fully stated that he believed in teaching the children the effects of strong drink on the human system.

The prizes consisting of Association membership tickets were then given to Miss Arnabella Gray and Mr. Cecil Arnott for obtaining the highest number of marks in temperance and hygiene.

Mrs. McPherson, President of the local branch of the W.C.T.U., was in the chair.

WATER INSPECTORS.

Four Appointed by the Water Commissioners' Meeting Yesterday.

There was a meeting of the Water Commissioners yesterday. Four inspectors were appointed, who will be under the supervision of the Superintendent of the Water Works.

An inspection of the water will be made by them. It is expected they will commence upon their rounds on Thursday morning. The new inspectors are Messrs. Wm. Aldridge, T. W. Robinson, T. B. McGrath and Jas. Stewart.

THE GAME IN PORT HOPE.

Peterborough Defeated by a Score of 5—1.

The Boys Were Well Used—Desperate Effort to Change Score.

The Peterborough hockey team arrived home from Port Hope this morning after playing their last game of the season in the O.H.A. series. The boys have nothing much to say concerning the game and report that they were handsomely used by the Port Hope people. At the conclusion of the game they were entertained at an oyster supper and the best of good feeling existed. The Toronto Globe has the following account of the game:—

The game which decided that Port Hope will wrestle with Belleville for the O.H.A. intermediate championship in this group was played here this evening with Peterborough, before the largest crowd of the season, resulting in a score of 5 to 1 in favour of the local team. Neither team displayed much brilliancy in the first half, but Port Hope had the better of the play throughout, and at half-time the score was 2 to 1 in favour of the local team. In the second half Peterborough made a desperate effort to change the score, but the brilliant rushes of their forwards were fruitless. Their flags were in constant danger, and before full time the combination of the Port Hope team proved effectual.

Graham scored Peterborough's first and only goal in four minutes, but before half-time Port Hope scored two goals. In the second half Port Hope took the only three goals scored, in three, eight and eighteen minutes respectively. The Port Hope team, on the whole, showed marked improvement on their former games, their defence proving almost invincible and their forwards playing a good combination. Armstrong, at cover-point for Peterborough, made his usual brilliant rushes, but was sent to the fence several times for tripping, while Cavanagh's work on the forward line and Glover's at point was very effective. The ice was in good condition, and the game was an excellent exhibition of clean hockey. Referee Telfer proved a strict and impartial official. The teams:

Peterborough — Goal, Wasson; point, Glover; cover point, H. Armstrong; forwards, Whitcroft, Roy Armstrong, Cavanagh and Graham.

Port Hope—Goal, Mercer; point, Roache; cover point, Brown; forwards, McCarthy, Boney, Masterson McMillen.

TO-MORROW NIGHT.

The Dance of the 57th Regiment Will be a Grand Affair.

The annual dance of the 57th Regiment, which takes place to-morrow night in Bradburn's Opera House promises to be very largely attended. Mr. Gliddon is furnishing the orchestra for the occasion, which will include several musicians from Toronto. The Non-Coms. are going to make the annual dance one of the grandest social events of the season. Tickets may be purchased at Mr. Dickson Davidson's drug store, or at Mr. Fred Clarke's fur store.

MR. MOORE'S STORY

Regarding the Little Trouble at the Rink.

Mr. Archie Moore called at the Examiner office to-day to explain his version of the difficulty at the rink between P. C. Stewart and himself. Mr. Moore said that he had no intention of interefering with the players when he jumped over the boards but he was anxious to keep the crowd back in case they might attempt to flock on the ice. Mr. Moore acknowledges that Mr. Stewart as a policeman has authority to interfere in any disturbance, at any time, but he says his action the other evening was uncalled for, as the players had separated and were ready to proceed with the game when Mr. Stewart went to arrest the Belleville man.

PARK STREET ENTERTAINMENT.

Sunday School Annual Concert a Complete Success.

The anniversary tea and entertainment of the Park street Sunday school, was held on Friday last. A large number of scholars were present at the six o'clock tea. During the evening Mr. Stubbs gave some very fine selections on the phonograph, a large number of parents and friends being present.

The actual entertainment opened with the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer, given on the Phonograph, and illustrated on canvass. Several sets of moving pictures were then shown, greatly amusing the audience. Among the selections especially worthy of praise might be mentioned, "Tenting to-night on the Old Camp Grounds," "Curfew shall not Ring to-night, "The Story of Evangeline,"—Longfellow, "The Drunkard Reclaimed," and "Jane Conquest's Answered Prayer." A collection was taken, amounting to $15.15. The evening was a very enjoyable one and the audience was appreciative.

THE NEW WARDEN.

Mr. Richard Crowe, who was this afternoon elected Warden of the County of Peterborough, has, for a man of his years, had a long and valuable experience in municipal life. He first attained municipal honours when elected to the Township Council of Dummer, in 1884. He continued in that body as a councillor for four years, after which he was elected as Deputy Reeve of his township, giving him representation at the County Council.

For some years he efficiently filled the position of Deputy Reeve, being in and out of office several times. Two years after the new arrangement for the County Councils came into force, Mr. Crowe was elected to represent his present division. This he has continued to do for the past four years, with credit to himself and to his constituents. Mr. Crowe has been chairman of various committees, and is looked upon as a careful and energetic municipal legislator.

LONGEVITY OF PHYSICIANS.

What the Journal of the American Medical Association Thinks.

The Journal of the American Medical Association recently discussed the question as to the longevity of American physicians, and came to the conclusions that members of the faculty bear very favourable comparison in the matter of longevity with their distinguished foreign colleagues, and with other professions. Many of the greatest living physicians are over 70 years of age, most of them in the enjoyment of health and strength, though their lives have been full of faithful application to hard work. No men deserve all that life can give them more than medical men, for no men are so self-sacrificing, none so selfish.

MR. NEILL ELECTED PRESIDENT

Of the Peterborough Board of Health.

THE ANNUAL MEET[illegible]ING HELD

Medical Health Officer Bingham Makes His Annual Report Relative to Disinfection.

The [illegible]nual meeting of the Board of Health took place in the office of the town clerk at four o'clock yesterday. There were present — Messrs. Robert Neill, A. Parker, Dr. McNulty, Mayor Roger, S. R. Armstrong, Chief Roszel, Sanitary Inspector, and Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.

Mr. Robert Neill was elected chairman, on the motion of Mr. A. Parker, seconded by Dr. Bingham, after which the Board adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

At the meeting this morning there were present Messrs. R. Neill, chairman, A. Parker, G. Schneider, Dr. McNulty, W. Eyres, S. R. Armstrong, Chief Roszel and Dr. Bingham.

Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, presented his report as follows:—

To the Board of Health, Peterborough.

Gentlemen, — During the year that is past 152 deaths were reported. Many different diseases were set down as the cause of this mortality, viz., pneumonia, old age, tuberculosis, heart disease, gastritis, diphtheria, bronchitis, cerebral hemorrhage, erysipelas, apoplexy, croup, softening of the brain, constipation, peritonitis, the kidneys, abdominal tumour, suppression of the urine, scarlet fever, pernicious anemia, and cholera infantum. The appearance of small pox here in the month of January caused no small alarm, but at great financial loss, both to private citizens and to the town at large, the dreaded scourge was isolated, and thereby prevented from spreading among the people. Other infectious diseases were common enough in the town during the year. Scarlet fever was quite prevalent, but in such a mild form that during the first eleven months of the year not one death was reported as distinctly due to that cause. But in the month of December, unfortunately, diphtheria and scarlet fever, broke out in such a malignant form that the results were most deplorable. The virulence of the disease was so intense that it defied the most skilful treatment, and in some very sad cases it carried the patient away in a few hours. Under these distressing circumstances, your Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector did all in their power, not only to prevent a panic among the people but especially to stamp out the disease as quickly as possible. The houses were placarded, we visited them, we quarantined the people, we enforced private funerals, and in every instance fumigated the houses, and placed the surroundings of the patient in as sanitary a condition as the circumstances would permit. It is now gratifying to be able to state that the worst is over, and that the few cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria which still remain in town, are of the milder type, and all are in a fair way of recovery.

To enjoy good health it is necessary to have plenty of sunlight, pure air, pure water, pure food, and absolute cleanliness in all things. If these conditions were strictly obeyed by everyone infectious diseases would be less prevalent than they are at present. Among causes of infectious diseases may be named sewer gas, decaying animal or vegetable substances in any part of the dwelling houses, also stuffy sleeping apartments, which are ill ventilated, and without the healthy influence of sunshine. Bad water is another well known cause of infectious diseases. Your Sanitary Inspector and Health Officer recently visited 13 families where they had had scarlet fever or diphtheria, and we found 9 out of 13 families used well water. It is a settled opinion at present among sanitarians that wells in a town or city are a dangerous source of disease. Bad milk causes disease, and severe punishment is due to any man who would sell milk in town from any house or dairy where any infectious disease exists.

It is well known that the schools, where so many children congregate, spread infectious diseases to an alarming extent, and for this reason parents and guardians should carefully avoid sending any child to school unless the child is perfectly free from disease.

Before the schools opened, however, on Monday last your Health Officer and assistant had disinfected and fumigated every school in town, in strict accordance with the instructions of this Board at its last meeting, and the public can rest satisfied that everything has been done to place the schools in a perfectly sanitary condition.

During the year the work of the Sanitary Inspector and men were much the same as in other years. As soon as the frost had lost its grip they visited all the yards and premises in the corporation, and gave strict orders to clean up, and they ceased not from their daily task until the town was placed in a fairly good, sanitary condition. As it was, many complaints of a varied character reached the Health Officer during the year, but with the able and willing assistance of your sanitary inspector, the complaints were adjusted, generally in a satisfactory manner.

In conclusion, it may be said that with the zealous co-operation of the citizens with the Board of Health, Peterborough, with its unrivalled natural and material advantages will soon be the healthiest town or city in the Dominion.

Yours respectfully,

J. BINGHAM,
Med. H.O.

Mr. R. Neill, chairman, recommended that the board, together with the Sanitary Inspector, Chief Roszel, visit the schools and public places, and look into their sanitary arrangements, and find out if possible the causes of the contagious diseases.

Mr. Eyres said that stringent measurers were needed, but the bottom of the cause must first be fathomed. The schools, he said must be visited and inspected, but one thing above all else was that people with disease ought to be made to report at once. Severe punishment should be meted out to all defaulters in this respect. After the case had been reported it ought to be quite isolated.

Chief Roszel gave his opinion that the cause of the recent scourge was the bad well water. The ground in Peterborough was porous, and the sewage ran into the wells, thus making the water most undesirable for domestic use.

Mr. R. Neill, chairman, thought that a member of the Provincial Board of Health should be asked to come to Peterborough, and have the well water analyzed as soon as possible.

Dr. McNulty said that only one case had been reported since the 12th, and he did not think the Provincial Health Officer could give a very satisfactory report. The germ of scarlet fever had not yet been discovered, and the analyization of the well water, would not prove that scarlet fever was due to bad water.

Chief Roszel said he was sure that if the people were told the well water was bad they would close their wells and use city water as soon as it could be connected.

Mr. Armstrong thought that complete disinfection ought to be insisted upon after the disease.

Mr. Parker moved, seconded by Dr. McNulty, moved that the secretary, Mr. Armstrong, write to Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, asking him to send down a responsible man at an early date.

Mr. R. Neill remarked that he was going to Toronto, and would personally see Mr. Stratton, and get a member of the Provincial Board sent down.

The meeting then adjourned until notified concerning the visit of a Provincial Health Officer.

PRESENTATION OF TROPHIES.

To the Championship Rinks Last Night.

The Charlotte street rink was last night the scene of an interesting event, it being the occasion of the presentation of the prizes won at the recent bonspiel, to the successful rinks. There was a large attendance of curlers, there being at least 6 club members present. The chair was occupied by Mr. John A. Cameron, who expressed the pleasure he felt in being asked to preside on such a occasion. He referred to the visit of the Scottish curlers and declared it was the talk of the Province, the manner in which the Scotchmen had been treated while in Peterborough. He also alluded to the success of the bonspiel which he thought would do a great deal for the grand old game in Peterborough.

The curlers had asked Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards to make the presentation of the prizes to the winners. In doing this Col. Edwards said that the bonspiel had been well carried out and had been a most successful one. He would have preferred to have seen outside clubs winning prizes rather than Peterborough rinks, but, he said, everyone present had recognized the fact that the games were played on the best of ice and there was a fair field and no favours all through. There was a close finish in the match between Bobonygeon and Mr. Connal's rink, the former, was skipped by Mr. W. F. Read. Mr. Connal's rink won by only one point, and but for a [illegible] Read's having touched a guard in drawing to the T, the result might have been different. Col. Edwards then congratulated the Peterborough clubs on the manner in which the bonspiel had been conducted from beginning to end, and paid a high tribute to the earnest and painstaking work of Mr. J. S. Knapman, the secretary of the bonspiel, to whom its success was so largely due.

The clubs were under a great obligation to him for the tactful and efficient manner in which he had carried out the arrangements. It was something to be thankful for in such a case that there was a man in the club on whom they could depend and who was willing to give his time and work in the cause. The reference made to Mr. Knapman was received with hearty applause from the members present.

The club decided upon a re-arrangement of the skips for the tankard match, some being unable to go, the programme laid down by the Association at a meeting in October having been altered without the concurrence of the Peterborough clubs.

Mr. T. Rutherford was appointed skip instead of Mr. Neill, who will be out of town.

Mr. S. Ray will take the place of C. N. Brown, who is unable to play, and Mr. Giroux was appointed skip instead of J. H. Connal, the latter being also unable to play.

Lieut.-Col. Edwards then presented the winners of the Primary series with two pair of curling stones. They were as follows:

E. D. Hall.
T. F. Matthews.
W. G. Ferguson.
D. Davidson, skip.

The runners-up were each presented with a gold locket. The members of the runners-up rink were as follows:—

G. L. Hay.
G. Matthews.
G. Fitzgerald.
W. G. Morrow, skip.

CONSOLATION.

In the Consolation series Mr. Sam Ray's rink was presented with a pair of red hone curling stones. His rink was:

W. J. Thompson.
J. S. Knapman.
C. N. Brown.
S. Ray, skip.

For the runners-up in the Consolation series four beautiful gold pins were presented. The winners were:

S. Oke.
M. E. Green.
G. Giroux.
J. H Connal, skip.

The recipients all made suitable speeches in acknowledgment of their receiving the prizes.

ST. PAUL'S SUNDAY SCHOOL

Elected Officers for the Ensuing Year.

Encouraging Report of the Sec.-Treasurer—Other Business Transacted.

The annual meeting of the St. Paul's Sunday School was held on Friday last and the following officers were elected for 1903:

Superintendent—J. A. Fife.
Ass't Superintendent—A. J. Johnston.
Financial Secretary—W. Pringle.
Recording Secretary—Miss S. Carey.
Corresponding Secretary-Treasurer—J. H. Connal.
Librarians—Messrs. J. H. Connal, J. Carey, T. Anson, J. Watt, J. Sharpe.
Superintendent Home Department R. Harrison.
Pianist—Miss A. B. Paterson.
Teachers—J. A. Fife, W. Madill, H. Ayers, D. McLean, W. Rosenberg, Mrs. J. H. Paterson, Miss C. Dickson, Miss M. Dickson, Miss L. Best, Miss E. Hall, Miss E. Carter, Miss A. Erskin, Miss A. B. Paterson, Miss L. Davidson, Miss D. Dixon, Miss A. J. Hall, Miss M. Jordan, Miss B. Brown, Miss K. J. Drummond, Miss E. Carey, Miss M. Best, Miss M. Godfrey, Miss C. Knox, Miss A. Cromie.
Primary Teachers—Miss J. Dennistoun, Miss A. C. Dennistoun, Miss G. Dennistoun.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams will be in charge of the young men's class. Rev. J. A. Wilson in charge of the adult class.

Mr. Sheriff Hall, who for several years has been connected with the Sunday School, is retiring to take charge of the St. Paul's Mission School in the south end.

The report read by the Secretary-Treasurer ran as follows:

This report is in many respects more encouraging than the last one. The average attendance and missionary collections are greater, and a more earnest desire for greater success. The membership at present on the roll is 38 officers and teachers and 300 scholars. The average attendance for the year was 30 officers and teachers and 221 scholars, an increase of 18.

The Primary Department average was one less per Sunday; the Intermediate, 12 less, but the Senior and Adult Classes have an increase of 29. Madeline Baptie was the only scholar who was present every Sunday in the year. On the roll of membership is one Chinaman. The Missionary collections were $24.30; Home Department $12.57, interest $7.33, an increase of $22.14 for the year.

An excursion to Jubilee Point was enjoyed by all present. The financial shortage was relieved by Mr. A. Gibson, who secured the necessary amount from a few friends of the school, who had attended at some previous time.

The attendance prize offered by Mr. A. McCallum was won by Miss Carey's class. The loss of the services of the Rev. G. Yule and Mr. J. Garvin are greatly regretted.

The prize offered by Mr. Pringle for the most correct recitation of answers in shorter catechism was won by Max. Fife, who repeated them word for word.

Mr. Pringle offers a prize for the same subject for 1903.

A new feature, highly appreciated by the scholars, is the issuing of illustrated weekly papers in the intermediate department. On the whole St. Paul's Sunday School has been, during the year 1902, a great success and it is hoped that the report of 1903 will be still better.

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? COURT OF APPEAL.

Twelve Decisions Given Out—Ten Dismissed, Two Allowed.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Twelve decisions were handed out by the Court of Appeal yesterday. Ten appeals were dismissed and two were allowed in full.

The decision in the case of the City of Kingston against the Kingston Light, Heat and Power Company absolves the city from having to pay to the company the sum of $80,000, which the latter claimed was owed by the city as a result of their taking over the franchise when it had yet some time to run. The city took over the plant, paying $170,173 therefor. The company claimed the amount as being the value of the earning power of the franchise for its unexpired term. The decision upholds those of Judge McDougall and Judge McTavish. Judge Price of Kingston held that the company was entitled to the $80,000. In his judgment upon this important question, Chief Justice Moss said:

"It is far from clear that the company parted with anything in the nature of a franchise which it would be of any value to the city to acquire. The company could not, and did not, part with its corporate franchise.

"The privilege of using the streets for the purpose of a business ended naturally with the purchase of the works, plant, appliances and property, and it was not needful for the city to acquire either one or the other to enable it to carry on the business."

NO LONGER TO BE DREADED.

Gravel Permanently Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Reuben Draper, of Bristol, Gives his Experience, and it is Prepared to Furnish Proof of What he Says.

Bristol, Quebec, Jan. 25th. (Special.) — It is with feelings of intense relief that people here now admit that the operating knife is no longer necessary to cure that once dreaded disease — Gravel. Experience has shown it to be one of the numerous family of ailments arising from diseased Kidneys, and as such easily curable by those sovereign Kidney remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Reuben Draper, well known in this neighbourhood, is one of those who can speak from experience. He says:

"I was taken ill with what I thought was gravel. I consulted two doctors, but got no lasting relief, and I continued to grow weaker all the time. Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for he said that they had cured his mother, so I thought that I would try them.

"Just one week after starting to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and four days after I passed another about the size of a grain of barley. This gave me great relief and I began to feel better and gain strength. I have the stones in a bottle and can show them to anyone who may doubt what I say.

"That happened four years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble since."

THE COAL COMBINE.

Agricultural College Refused Coal by the Ontario Coal Association.

Guelph, Jan. 27.—This place is considerably interested in the trial before the police magistrate at Brantford of the Ontario Coal Association to destroy competition in the matter of serving coal. No less than eight Guelph firms are on the "blacklist" of the association for having dared to supply coal to their employes since the strike began. These firms are: The J. B. Armstrong Co., Agricultural College, J. M. Bond & Co., A. B. Petrie, Guelph Light and Power Company, A. R. Woodyatt & Co., J. G. Calvert and the Guelph Carpet Mills.

FAST ATLANTIC MAIL.

From London to Vancouver Within Eight Days, It Is Said.

London, Jan. 27.—The Irish Times says it has the most excellent authority for stating that the Canadian Government has absolutely determined to institute a fast steamship service as soon as possible, by which mails will be landed at Vancouver within eight days of their despatch from London.

Blacksod Bay's claims, it adds, are not likely to be overlooked as a place of call. The Canadian Government just as soon as the ports of call are fixed will establish a bi-weekly service for mails and passengers.

EVENING COIFFURE.

The Low Coil Finds Comparatively Few Wearers.

There is immense variety in the coiffure, but despite the lowering of the collar the low type of hairdressing has comparatively few followers. It is seen mostly in the evening. The tucked in pompadour arrangement with a cue at the back has been too extensively patronized to be much in favor with the smart woman, and it is certainly a fashion which lacks distinction when not completed by a handsome picture hat.

There is very little novelty in decorations for the hair, and the little wreaths of small flowers or foliage are still popular. The geisha arrangement of flowers is rather heavy. A cluster of rosebuds or violets with two or three wires headed by well cut stones which quiver with every movement has many admirers, and the wisp of tulle still has its adherents.

The coronet combs worn in front of the coil suggest the modified tiara, and the newest side and the back combs are thickly incrusted with gems.

A smart evening cloak is shown in the cut. It is made of pearl gray bengaline silk and maltese lace, with a lining of accordion plaited chiffon and lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Dread of an Operation

Stares Many Pile Sufferers in the Face—The Safest and Surest Cure is

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Possibly you are a sufferer from piles and have been disheartened and discouraged because your physician has told you that nothing short of an operation will cure you.

You dread the thought of a surgical operation, for, besides the expense and strain on the nervous system, there is the risk of life itself. It is only a few months since a member of the Ontario Legislature lost his life as the result of an operation for piles. The risk of an operation is too great, and, besides, it is unnecessary.

Dr. Chase's Ointment has frequently cured piles after surgical operations have failed. It is every day curing cases which physicians have stated to be incurable by any treatment short of an operation.

If you could read a few of the letters we receive from persons who have been cured of piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment you would soon be convinced of its wonderful control over this frightfully common disease.

Rev. S. A. Dupray, Methodist minister, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., states:—"I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained to a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses formed so that it was with great difficulty and considerable pain that I was able to stoop. At this severe crisis I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but I had little or no faith in it, as I had tried various remedies before and to no purpose.

"Now, imagine how great and joyous was my surprise to find that just the one box cured me, so that the lumps disappeared and also the external swelling. I feel like a different man to-day, and have not the least doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and many years of suffering. It is with the greatest pleasure and with a thankful heart that I give this testimonial, knowing that Dr. Chase's Ointment has done so much for me. You are at perfect liberty to use this testimonial as you see fit for the benefit of others similarly afflicted."

Dr. Chase's Ointment 60 cents a box. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WHAT SHE WEARS.

Fine Furs—Red Cloth—New Silky Velveteens—Long Skirts.

Ermine takes the lead in furs for full dress wear upon wraps, coats of all lengths, the trimming of hats, as well as those separate fur set additions, as muffs, capes and stoles. The quantity of fur used in such long, wide stoles, as well as upon large muffs, makes the cost in expensive furs beyond all former ermine wear. Miniver shares the prestige of ermine in a less degree, but will no doubt rise in favor, since white fur is so much in demand.

Red has much chic this season not only in many of the novelty suitings, but in surface cloth itself, broken by white and black, all black or all white flecks. Then come emplecements, pipings, straps or tabs of red velvet or cloth to assist in emphasizing this color, which is a most becoming feature. Red sibeline is conspicuous for a walking suit, but it has won favor in that line and will be worn with black fox furs and black beaver hats and plumes. Picturesque it is beyond question and for a driving suit holds its best place.

New silky velveteens carry the day. Mingled with smooth or shaggy cloths or without any such additions such suits promise no end of smartness. This new velveteen is so pliable that the skirts plait admirably. All silk velvets have their appointed full dress elegance, and emplecements of fur and passementerie ornaments will combine to make their smartest trimming effects, together with chenille and silk short fringes and passementerie drops. Besides all this variety are the lovely laces in black and white, in cream and pearl tones, which are used for velvet coats.

As an example of velveteen and cloth is a lovely myrtle green two piece suit. A broad squirrel stole and huge muff, both lined with white satin, insure the extremely modish air of this suit.

Apropos of stoles, the cut shows a beautiful stole boa of blue lynx with a cluster of tails at the waist line and across the ends and a large, soft muff to match. The other soft, flat affair, called a shawl boa, is of sable lined with ermine and finished across the ends with sable tails, the muff to match being of the fashionable large, flat order.

Long broadcloth skirts, if untrimmed except for bottom stitchings two inches wide, have a simple grace that is charming. With such a skirt, recently encountered, its color a warm bright wood shade, was a charming blouse bodice, slightly so in the back and with more of a pouch in the front. Stitchings at the top of the skirt defined a yoke, while pinched tucks gave this blouse the proper bolero line. Stitched also were the double capes, in two rows, above a black and white velvet in narrow stripes, being piped on the edges in narrow folds and continued down the fronts, which merely rolled over with cloth facings and with piped edging. The belt was bordered in the same way, with an inset black velvet in front. Collar band and wrist and wrist attachments carried out the same black and white effect, velvet and cloth mingling in the prettiest way with the addition of small buttons covered to match. The sleeves, by the way, were otherwise untrimmed and of the modified bishop model.—Vogue.

Little Tips For the Toiler.

One part beeswax to two parts turpentine, dissolved in heating, makes a good paste for polishing hardwood floors.

Dry oatmeal, cornmeal or bran rubbed on the hands after washing with warm water and soap will gradually soften and whiten them.

Try boiling potatoes half done before putting them to bake in the oven.

Those who do not go out of the house often breathe over and over again the lifeless air with which the rooms are filled.

Nickel plating should be kept quite dry and polished. For this purpose use a chamois leather.

To make meat and fowls tender put a spoonful of vinegar into the boiling water.

Do not be afraid to burn up trash. It is astonishing how rubbish will accumulate.

Starting and Staying.

At the start in a long race, the advantage often appears to be with an outsider. But the race is won not in starting but in staying. The quality which wins is staying power. It is so in the race of life. Staying power wins, and as a rule the best stayer is the man with the best stomach. All physical strength is derived from food which is properly digested and assimilated. When the food eaten is only partly digested and assimilated there is a loss of nutrition which means a loss of strength and the general result is physical break-down.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery gives strength and staying power, because it cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of the food eaten, and so strengthens the body naturally by the nutrition derived from food.

"I was troubled with indigestion for about two years," writes Wm. Bowker, Esq., of Julietta, Latah Co., Idaho. "I tried different doctors and remedies but to no avail, until I wrote to you and you told me what to do. I suffered with a pain in my stomach and left side and thought that it would kill me. Now I am glad to write this and let you know that I am all right. I can do my work now without pain and I don't have that tired feeling that I used to have. Five bottles of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his Pleasant Pellets cured me."

Accept no substitute for Golden Medical Discovery. There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative.

THEY CURE

Nervousness—Sleeplessness—Palpitation of the Heart—Nervous Prostration—Faint and Dizzy Spells—Brain Fag—After Effects of La Grippe—Anaemia—And all Troubles Arising from a Run-down System.

Read what T. L. Foster, Minesing, Ont., has to say about them:—I was greatly troubled with palpitation of the heart, a sudden blindness would come over me, and floating specks before my eyes caused me great inconvenience. Often I would have to gasp for breath, and my nerves were in a terrible condition. I took MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS, and they have proved a blessing to me. I cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers from heart and nerve trouble.

A HOME CONVENIENCE.

A Clear Working Brain and What You Can Do With It.

The most practical convenience in the household is a good, clear brain that can plan work and execute it with the least labor and fewest steps. Many women go about their work without a plan and seem to think of but one or two things at a time, and this is more noticeable in the kitchen and dining room. There is where thousands of steps are daily taken, amounting to miles of travel at the best, but many a mile of needless travel just for want of plan and thought that should precede action.

Are you going up stairs with just one thing? There may be others that need to be taken up, or, in coming down, more than one thing to bring down. Are you setting the table? Take as many dishes at one visit to the china closet as possible on a tray or in the hands, having the things most needed nearest the hand, and in putting the dishes away make as few trips as you can.

If you go to the cellar for dinner supplies, bring in a pan or a basket all you need. If you are about to bake, get everything together or have things so handy that you need only to reach out or turn around to get what you need. Make one dish and spoon useful for several things without washing if you have much to cook.

Have plenty of wood, coal and hot and cold water at hand before you begin to cook. It will save hands and aprons to have plenty of holders and small towels to use about the stove. Wash them once or twice a week. Asbestus paper is durable to use in the oven to protect food from burning.

Plan to sit down all you can while at work, for there are many things done while standing that when sitting in a chair of suitable height, with a rest for the feet, would save many an aching back.

When ironing it is a great relief to sit down a part of the time at least and get out of the habit of walking to the clothes frames with each separate article ironed. There are many things that do not require any special airing and may be put away at once.—Health Culture.

For a Wooden Wedding.

Stationers now supply special paper for invitations for such an anniversary. Small wooden plates or strips of birch bark could also be used. The newest idea is to have the invitations written in the bowl of small wooden spoons. In such form it will be necessary to deliver by special messenger, but this will not be difficult if the entertainment is limited to a dinner party.

There are many beautiful designs, inexpensive as well as unique, that lend a rare charm to the appointments commemorative of this anniversary.

One of the most ornate forms of woodenware now on the market is the Russian lacquered, the decorations being in red and black. Bowls, spoons and trays are the most common, but it may be possible to obtain plates. If not, however, the bowls and trays could be used as serving dishes. Birch bark could be used in many ways as decoration, and wooden bowls could conceal the glass dishes in which flowers are placed.—Table Talk.

Great Loss of Life.

Christiana, Norway, Jan. 26.—The steamer Adekke of Bergen, and having on board a crew of 13 men, is reported to have foundered in the North Sea in a storm Friday.

A fishing smack was sunk in Randoe-Sund, and three men were drowned, and a ferry boat was wrecked at Vaadoe, with the loss of five lives.

BU HAMARA'S MARCH.

Advancing at Head of Large Forces and Is Near Fez.

Tangier, Jan. 26.—News from Fez, dated January 21, states that the Pretender Bu Hamara was then advancing at the head of large forces and had arrived at a point twenty-five miles from Fez. A decisive battle was expected, and in the event of the defeat of the Sultan's main army, which was posted on the Sebu River, it was thought that the city of Fez would inevitably fall into the hands of Bu Hamara.

Late of Scotch Greys.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—Donald Cameron, aged 84, at one time a member of the famed Scots Greys, died here yesterday. He often escorted Queen Victoria on her visits to Scotland as one of the guard of honor.

Four Moulders Fined.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Four moulders, on trial for conspiracy to injure non-union workmen during the labor troubles of 1902, were found guilty Saturday. They were fined sums ranging up to $1,250.

Starved to Death in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Lottie Odell, who was taken to the General Hospital some days ago very faint from starvation, died on Saturday. A post mortem examination will be made to-day.

Col. Velasco Banished.

La Paz, Bolivia, Jan. 26.—At noon Saturday the First Vice-President, Col. Velasco, was banished. A police patrol conducted him to the Peruvian frontier.

"A Voice from Japan."

Some time ago, says The London Chronicle, we described a remarkable postcard which had been received from a Japanese boy to the editor of the boys' paper of St. John's, East Dulwich. Now from Iwabuchi, Japan, comes from the same boy a letter that is really worth printing in full. We select a passage or two. The boy had received a copy of "Our Monthly Paper" he asked for. "In it I have found my bad English was published with the title 'A Voice From Japan,'" he writes. "This makes me very shameful, and I am afraid it might spoil your good innocent paper. . . . I am a boy ignorant in every branch of learning, and not now a pupil of a school. My dwelling cottage stands at a remote hamlet—so much remote that I can hardly get any knowledge that is the best food to the mind of a boy. . . . I am improving my knowledge by self-culture. Most of my poor stock of English has been reared by this way." Etsudo Miyadera—that is his name—writes out his name and address in Chinese characters for the benefit of his unseen English friend. And having described his feelings as a Japanese boy reading of the coronation, he continues: "In this Empire education is not so advanced as in yours. There are only two universities—at Tokyo and Kyoto—and six high schools, 258 middle schools, 80 girls' high schools and some colleges throughout the country. We have an elementary school in every village nowadays, where the poor and the rich are equally instructed. Speaking thus about the topic, I highly envy the civilization of your kingdom." If this extraordinary letter were not so ingenuous one would suspect the Japanese boy of chaffing our advanced education. It would puzzle us to find an English village boy who could write so good a letter in his own language, to say nothing of a foreign one.

BLOOD DISEASED MEN

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Have you any of the following symptoms? Sore throat, ulcers on the tongue or in the mouth, hair falling out, aching pains, itchiness of the skin, sores or blotches on the body eyes red and smart, dyspeptic stomach, sexual weakness—indications of the secondary stage. Don't ruin your system with the old fogy treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time only to break out again when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantee is backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over 20 years. No names used without written consent.

Mr. E. A. C. writes: "Your remedies have done me more good than Hot Springs and all the doctors and medicines I had previously tried. I have not felt any of those pains or seen any ulcers or blotches for over seven years and the outward symptoms of the loathsome disease have entirely disappeared. My hair has grown in fully again and I am married and happy."

Messrs. E. M. Proussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

New York, Jan. 27.—The news to-day is bearish, but looks like Armour supported the market at the opening. Most all of the large commission houses had good buying orders under 81 1-2 for May. Local traders best sellers. Think wheat sold on the rallies will bring good returns.

DENISON.

New York, Jan. 27.—Foreign Exchange weak down about 10 points demand sterling 486.80. There is a large supply of commercial bills and less demand for remittances from abroad. Money continues easy abundant call money at 4 p.c. also time 4 3-4. London a moderate buyer on bal but not a factor. Most common houses inclined to bull side and have taken position of advising purchases, especially on any dip in market. Outside buz continues light but expected it will develop.

Grain; common stock big seller of May wheat has sold over a million May so far. Cash and export business are almost nill. Believed the edge is all off market for time being.

LOCAL LEGAL.

Fitzgerald v. Fitzgerald.—Judgment (C.) on appeal by plaintiff from judgment of Falconbridge, C.J., at trial dismissing action without costs. The action was brought by the plaintiff, as widow of James W. Fitzgerald, against his son and plaintiff's stepson, claiming dower out of certain lands conveyed by the deceased to defendent, subject to existing mortgages, the granter retaining a life estate and taking back a mortgage for an amount which, with the existing mortgages made up the whole consideration. Plaintiff also asked to have his conveyance declared null and void as against her right of dower. The appellant contended that she was induced to marry the deceased upon the faith of his promise to convey to her the lands in question, and that the conveyance to the son was therefore a fraud upon her. Appeal dismissed without costs. A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., and J. W. Bennet (Peterborough) for appellant. G. H. Watson, K. C., and H. B. Edwards, K. C., for defendants.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirerevolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES.

Peterborough's Grand Record in the O. H. A.

TO-NIGHT'S JUNIOR GAME.

The Ottawa Winter Races—Notes of Interest to Sporting Enthusiasts.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough Hockey Club is down and out of the O.H.A. Series already this season. Not only is this the case in the Intermediate Series, but it is the case with the Juniors as well. "How cruel!" some of the ladies may say, but the calm and cool-headed observer will perhaps be content with the remark, "How strange!"

* * *

Peterborough being down and out at this stage of the proceedings, is truly not by any means an ordinary occurrence, for perhaps no club has been more prominently before the hockey public in Ontario during the past ten years. Indeed, it began to look as if no finals were complete without a Peterborough team figuring in them.

Peterborough commenced winning championships in the O.H.A. in the year 1894, just three years after the Association came into existence. Since that time the club has won four championships, and been runners-up on three other occasions. This record is only beaten by Queen's, which during the same period has won four championships, and have been the runners-up in a like number of times. Queen's has won the same number of matches as Peterborough, but its team has been runners-up four times to Peterborough's three times. Of course Queen's record is in the Senior series, while Peterborough's championships were in the intermediate or junior series, but this makes Peterborough's record scarcely the less creditable. In 1894 Peterborough defeated the old Toronto Granites for the junior O.H.A. championship. It must be remembered, however, that there was no age limit in the junior series then, and there was nothing to prevent a grandfather from playing against his grandson. In 1895 Peterborough again defeated the Granites of Toronto, for the junior championship, but in the following year the Granites defeated Peterborough in the finals. Four years later Peterborough lost to Stratford in the the junior series, there having been an age limit put on the players by this time, but the following season the Colts trimmed their old rivals and Peterborough for the third time carried off the junior championship. The next heard of Peterborough in championship series was last year when they carried off the O.H.A. intermediate championship. This year while it is to be regretted that the teams are out of the running so early in the season, still the public of Peterborough cannot but admit that they have had a fair share of championship honours, at the same time however, admitting that they would take more could they have succeeded in winning them. Peterborough this year had equally as good a team as last year, but they were not in condition soon enough, a fact that can only be regretted. It will perhaps do the boys no harm to look on for the remainder of the season and next year they will surely enter the race with greater determination than ever to uphold the colours of one of the leading hockey towns in Canada.

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The Peterborough Juniors are out of the running for the championship of the O.H.A. Junior Series, but the game this evening between the Port Hope Juniors and the Peterborough Juniors promises to be none the less interesting. The Juniors of the town may spring a surprise by turning down the youngsters from the lakeside town.

WHAT NEXT.

Now that the Peterborough seven are out of the running entirely in the Intermediate O.H.A. series, many may wonder what the programme for the remainder of the winter will be. If, however, Port Hope is compelled to take a back seat to Belleville, it is not unlikely but home and home games will be arranged between Port Hope and Peterborough for valuable prizes.

HOW PETERBOROUGH LOST.

In commenting on the Peterborough-Belleville game, the Intelligencer says:

"The Peterboroughs lost the series because they failed to realize that here in Belleville we had a team which was going to make any of them travel in record time. Had Peterborough gotten into the game earlier, trotted out their best men, worked up their condition, and looked after their condition properly they would probably have tied Belleville on the round. As it was, they smiled disdainfully, said, "Oh, we've been playing hockey while Belleville has been asleep," and then found, when too late, that the team they laughed at was going to put it all over them. And just here it may be remarked that Belleville's O. H. A. team this year is the best that ever upheld the name of the city. The boys have worked hard, showed themselves to be gentlemen, on and off the ice, and deserve all the bouquets which anybody can hand them."

WHAT KINGSTON THINKS.

The Kingston Whig says—"Belleville's victory at Peterborough proves the oft-repeated contention that Peterborough's past wins at home were due to the extraordinary advantage it had on a tiny, billiard-board rink. With a fair-sized ice surface, Peterborough can now be defeated in its own town, despite the hostile crowd."

The Whig is dealing in rather extravagant assertions, when it imagines that Peterborough won its championships of former years by reason of the small size of its own rink. The fact of the matter is that Kingston people are sore ever since the time Peterborough trimmed Queen's here on Peterborough ice and then for certain reasons defaulted to the Collegians. The Whig should know that in a championship series, as many matches are played away from home as are played at home; therefor one team has no advantage over another. Again did not Peterborough defeat Port Hope on neutral ice last year, and did they not go into Galt's own Wig-wam and carry off the scalps of their opponents in the final game for the intermediate championship? As to Peterborough's failure to climb up into the finals this year, the team has an excellent reason for such failure. The Belleville and Port Hope teams had the advantage of at least three weeks' practice over Peterborough, owing to the fact that the rink here was in an incomplete state. But now that Peterborough has what the Whig must admit a grand new rink, let Kingston trot along the best aggregation they can muster together and Peterborough will play them home and home games, in order that they may see what the intermediate champions of the O.H.A. of last year can do.

A SENIOR SERIES.

Next year the O.H.A. may have a senior series that may do it proud. There are in the west such teams as Paris, Simcoe, Galt and one or two others, who can play fast enough to suit any kind of company. In the east Belleville, Peterborough and Port Hope are the making of another group, while the far east will furnish yet another, and Barrie, Collingwood, et al., would furnish one more in the north.

OTTAWA'S ICE RACES.

Everything is now in readiness for the tap of the bell on February 2nd, the first day of the Central Canada Racing Association meeting at Ottawa. The track, betting enclosure, cooling off sheds, grand stand and judges' stand have all been completed along most modern lines and those who attend the races will be surprised at the most perfect arrangements made by this energetic and enterprising club. Good judges, who have been over the track, pronounce it one of the finest of its kind ever surveyed and as it is very fast, sport of the highest degree will be seen in the Capital for one solid week.

The entry list is the largest in the history of the Association and there is the quality as well as the quantity. The directors fully anticipate that patrons of the meet will witness something, the like of which has never been attempted before in Canada. So satisfied are the officials that their expectations will be realized that they are clothed in smiles that suggest more confidence in the success of the meeting than in years previous.

The betting privilege is in the very competent hands of Fred Haskins, Canada's greatest bookmaker, which is an assurance that this part of the game will be carried on on up-to-date principles. The fact that the Association is a member of the National Trotting Association, and that its board of officers include some of the most influential and reputable gentlemen of Ottawa, is sufficient assurance to the public that their interests will be guarded and their money protected.

Mr. Frank G. Smith, of Buffalo, recognized as the most competent wielder of the flag in America will officiate as starter while the judges and timekeepers will be Ottawa men. The Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific, Canada Atlantic and Ottawa and New York Railways are offering a special rate of a fare and one-third over their lines good going on the 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th, and returning on the 9th of February.

Lovers of sport should not miss this golden opportunity of attending Canada's Greatest Ice Meet. The Central Canada Racing Association is offering the liberal sum of $4,000 in purses.

CURLING.

The only scheduled match at the curling rink last night was between two rinks skipped by S. Ray and Dr. Greer, and resulted in a win for the former, the scores being 21 to 16.

The Cobourg World says: It is supposed that the Cobourg curlers who went to Peterborough to play the Scotchmen, and take part in the bonspiel, miserably perished in the G.T.R. smashup on Wednesday, as they have not been heard from since. We have not yet learned the verdict of the jury empanelled by Coroner Ferris to view the remains when brought from the night train by Coroner Tait.

An' noo, ma freens, I crave the space
Ta offer up a curler's grace,
An' wish success
Ta a' wha play Life's slippery game,
An' may that blessin' be yerse ain,
A well-filled press.

Upon Life's crampets tae feet firm,
An' face the world without a mourn,
Be open—free.
Grip true the handle o' ye're kert,
Ye canna grip a nobler pert,
Ta mak the tee.

The world may seem ice bound and hard
But, brithers, plant a richt guid guard,
Be sure, ye're straight;
Be o'er the "ring"—be a' the length,
Be in the hoose—ye ken ye're strength,
An' ye'll be richt.

Aye play Life's game wi' canny care,
An' whan Life's game is played na mair
Side curling hoose,
Oor Skip aboon, in tender tone,
He'll call the curler ta his own
Within the hoose.

LACROSSE.

OSHAWA TEAM.

At a representative meeting held in the town hall on Friday evening last, the Oshawa Lacrosse Club was re-organized for the year 1903. Nearly all last year's officers were present besides a number of the players. Speeches were made, referring to the successful record made by the club last year and discussing ways and means for the proper conducting ing of the club next season. The management committee will commence work now in earnest, and with this early start, should succeed in placing a winning team in the C.L.A. this year.

TOO GREAT EXPENSE.

Not the Reason.

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and bona-fide; especially so those who have realized the suffering incident to piles is it incredible that anyone who has been afflicted twenty-five and thirty years with the worst forms of protruding and bleeding piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation?

This is rightfully viewed with dread by all those afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system, with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death; in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that the cause is not removed.

The proprietors of the Pyramid Pile Cure agree to forfeit one thousand dollars to anyone who will show a single published testimonial to be not genuine and unsolicited; this latter feature is most gratifying, inasmuch as these letters are written solely out of gratitude, and with the hope that those who are afflicted as the writers have been may learn that relief is at hand, at a comparatively trifling expense. Pyramid Pile Cure is for sale by druggists at fifty cents a package, or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price.

Mr. Wm. Lichtenwalter, head of the largest printing house in Canton, Ohio, says: "It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I can say I believe I am cured of protruding and bleeding piles, after suffering more than twenty-five years. I have been in bed for two weeks at a time. I have not suffered in the least for over a year, and I used only three fifty cent boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure. "I advise every person suffering with this distressing and painful complaint to give this remedy a trial. I have every confidence in it." Write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall Mich., for their book on the causes and cure of piles.

New Prints

SPRING—1903—DESIGNS.

Never, we believe, has been gathered a more representative lot of New Prints than will be exhibited at our store this week. It's to be "PRINT WEEK," and all the new features that can be brought into these staple commodities you will find developed here.

MEDALLION EFFECTS of Blue, Black, Green, Pink or Red on white grounds, or combination of medallion and stripe on white ground—the "pre-eminently new" feature of the season.... 12 1/2c

REGATTA STRIPES for Blouses and Outing Dresses, with all the clearness, the "clean-ness" that could be sought for. White grounds, with Reseda Rose, Sky, Delf Navy, Pink, and Black stripes yd, 12½c and 10c

REGATTA SPOTS AND SMALL FIGURES for Men's and Boys' Shirts, Boys' Blouses, etc, in the daintiest of small designs on clear white grounds, 12½c and 10c

LIGHT GROUNDS in Resedas, Greys, Pinks, Sky Blues and Nile Greens in effective floral and conventional designs. To look at them you'd imagine you were looking at fine French Organdies, the designs are so splendid, per yard 12 1/2c

RED GROUNDS with spots, stripes and small figures, in White, Black or Turkey Red grounds, indestructible washing colours, for Aprons, Wrappers, Girls' and Boys' Blouses, Children's Pinafores, etc., per yard, 12½c and 10c

NAVY INDIGO GROUNDS in spots, stripes, small figures, conventional and floral designs, also Plain Navy to match, 12½c and.... 10c

BLACK GROUNDS, with, we fancy, every sized spot and stripe, conventional, floral, small figure grounds, aniline dye, a yd, 12½c and 10c

POPULAR GREY, BLUE and LILAC GROUNDS for elderly and matronly ladies—a clean looking, clean wearing, good washing print in clever effects, per yard 12 1/2c

DUTCH PRINTS—Solid Indigo Blue grounds, with white spots and stripes and the typical Dutch colourings of yellow and white—guaranteed absolutely fast colours and positively wear-resisting—specially adaptable for boys' wear.

In selecting this big pile of Prints you may rest assured that neither time nor energy was spared to see to the washing qualities. We believe them to be the most satisfactory that are on the market. We have picked on two especial cloths for our 10 and 12½c lines that have excellent previous reputations. We feel assured there are none better.

TO MAKE IT WORTH WHILE—Some women—most women—plan their sewing in the winter months. 'Tis for the women we have gathered our Prints so early; but other women do not buy until they actually need their Prints. Is the latter a mistake? We think so. The assortment is not so good—the prints not so fresh—the "just-the-pattern-you-wanted" gone. Now to make it worth every woman's while to inspect this Eleven Thousand Yards of New Prints, we are going to offer a few extra specials in prices :—

LOT I—Comprising Fast Black Aniline Dye Prints with self satin stripes and white spots, figures and scroll patterns, 28 inches wide, made to sell at 12½c. Soft Finished Prints in coloured grounds, good patterns, usual width, worth 8c, for, per yard.... 5c

LOT II—In Dark Grounds, a few Black and Navy Grounds, Buffs, Reds, Lilacs, etc., in fast colours. Some new goods—some a clean-up of our present stock. Were 10 and 12½c per yard, now, per yard 8c

WHITEWEAR—The biggest of the big items of our January White Sale unfortunately is crowded out of this ad. for want of time before going to press. When we say better things await you then ever before during this sale it means much. Many oddments, perhaps, just your size, have a clear up price on them. See them.

TWO MILLIONS MORE

Provinces Wish a Share of Canada's Fast Growing Revenue.

WHAT THE PREMIERS ASK.

At Ottawa on Tuesday They Submitted to the Dominion Government the Conclusions Reached by the Interprovincial Conference—Payments Now Made Are Totally Inadequate—Cost Increased.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The case which the Premiers of the provinces presented to the Dominion Government yesterday afternoon in favor of a readjustment of subsidies pointed out that at Confederation, when the customs and excise duties were transferred from the provinces to the Dominion, as well as certain other revenues, it was provided that the following sums should be paid yearly by the Dominion to the several provinces for the support of their governments and Legislatures: Ontario, $80,000; Quebec, $70,000; Nova Scotia, $60,000; New Brunswick, $50,000. An annual grant in aid of each province was also to be made equal to 80 cents per head of the population as ascertained by the census of 1861, with a special provision in the cases of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The revenue of the Dominion at the inception of Confederation was $18,716,786, of which 20 per cent., or $2,753,906, went to the provinces for provincial purposes, 80 per cent., or $10,962,880, going to the Dominion. To-day the Dominion revenue stands at $58,050,790, but, while the increased taxation is paid by the people of the provinces, and the increase of population imposes upon the provinces largely increased burdens, no corresponding increase of subsidy has been granted to them, 7½ per cent. only, instead of 20 per cent., of the revenue of the Dominion, or, $4,402,098, going to the provinces, while instead of 80 per cent., 92½ per cent., or $53,648,692, is retained by the Dominion.

The Premiers say that the yearly payments heretofore made by the Dominion to the several provinces have proved totally inadequate for the purposes intended, that the actual expenses of civil government and legislation in the several provinces greatly exceed the amount provided therefor by the act, and that the other expenditure necessary for these local purposes, which before Confederation was provided for out of provincial revenue, has largely increased since.

The Premiers therefore recommend the following proposal as a basis for a final and unalterable settlement of the amounts to be yearly paid by the Dominion to the several provinces for their local purposes and the support of their governments and Legislatures, viz.:

Instead of the amounts now paid the sums hereafter payable yearly by Canada to the several provinces for the support of their governments and Legislatures to be according to population, and as follows: Where the population is under 150,000, $100,000; where the population is 150,000, but does not exceed 200,000, $150,000; where the population is 200,000, but does not exceed 400,000, $188,000; where the population is 400,000, but does not exceed 800,000, $190,000; where the population is 800,000, but does not exceed 1,500,000, $220,000; when the population exceeds 1,500,000, $240,000.

Instead of an annual grant per head of population now allowed the annual payment hereafter be at the same rate of 80 cents per head, but on the population of each province ascertained from time to time by the last decennial census until such population exceeds 2,500,000; and at the rate of 60 cents per head for so much of said population as may exceed 2,500,000, the population as ascertained by the last decennial census to govern, except, as to British Columbia and Manitoba; and, as to these two provinces the population to be taken to be that upon which, under the respective statutes in that behalf the annual payments now made to them respectively by the Dominion are fixed until the actual population, is by the census ascertained to be greater and thereafter the actual population to govern.

In order to place the provinces in a position to meet such increased expenditure, the annual per capita subsidy should be calculated according to the population of the several provinces ascertained by the preceding decennial census, and upon this basis the subsidies to be granted would be as follows:

	Population.	Increase.
Ontario...	...1,746,358	$ 629,484
Quebec...	1,319,118	429,865
Nova Scotia .	367,659	47,659
New Brunswick	264,896	7,855
Manitoba...	203,957	81,952
British Columbia...	140,595	61,987
P. E. Island ...	82,607	.....

INSANE BURNED TO DEATH.

London Asylum on Fire—52 Fatalities—600 Panic-Stricken Lunatics Were Nearly All Saved.

London, Jan. 28.—Fifty-two women insane patients were burned to death by a fire at the Colney Hatch Asylum yesterday morning.

The outbreak occurred in the Jewish wing of the institution. The flames spread with great rapidity and before they could be got under control five wooden buildings, including dormitories and the doctors' apartments were gutted.

All the efforts of the officials were directed to removing the insane inmates, but the latter became wild with excitement and so panic-stricken that not only were they unable to help themselves, but greatly impeded the operations of those trying to save them.

There were nearly 600 women in the burned annex at the time the fire was discovered. The work of searching the ruins continues. The officials admit that fifty-two bodies have been recovered, but it is feared that the full extent of the disaster is not yet known. All the victims were lunatics.

ONE CAR FILLED WITH DEAD

Three of the Shattered Cars Took Fire, and the Scene of Many Wounded, Who Were Pinned Fast by the Debris, Could Not Be Rescued—Scene of Anguish and Desperate Leapings.

New York, Jan. 28.—One of the most appalling railroad wrecks that has occurred in the vicinity of New York for many years, the estimated loss of life ranging from 12 to 30 persons, took place last night at Graceland, on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, near Westfield, N.J., when the Royal Blue Line Express plowed at top speed into the rear of a local train. Immediately after the crash three of the shattered cars of the local train took fire, rendering impossible the rescue of many of the wounded, who were pinned fast in the wreck. Many bodies are believed to have been consumed. On board the flyer all the passengers, although badly shaken up, escaped uninjured, save for trifling bruises.

When the engine plowed into the rear car it partly split the car open, and at the same time lifted it up and onto itself. In this manner those in that car, besides being crushed, were scalded and burned by the engine. This car was the first to take fire, and most of those in it are dead. Some of them are believed to be beneath the overturned engine. The imprisoned ones begged for death to end their agonies, and implored those who were laboring to get them free to crush their heads with the axes they were using to chop away the wreckage. Some begged for water, some raved, more prayed, some cursed and prayed alternately.

Killed at London.

London, Ont., Jan. 28. — John Walker, a car inspector, who lived at No. 708 Colborne street, was killed at the G. T. R. depot here last night about 7.40 o'clock. He was engaged in coupling the air brakes on the engine of the Pacific express, and was caught between the engine and the baggage coach and had the top of his head almost cut off.

THE CLOSING DAYS.

The Long Drawn Out Strike Commission Sees Daylight Now.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Considerable progress was made yesterday by the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission, and it is probable that the independent operators will have concluded their cases by to-night.

The Reading Company will follow, and will occupy the attention of the commission during the remainder of the week. The testimony presented yesterday was varied and interesting, an important witness being Albert C. Leisenring, superintendent of the Upper Lehigh Coal Company. Mr. Leisenring said he believed the meetings of employer and employe to be beneficial to both parties, and, when asked if he preferred to allow his mine to fill with water rather than grant his men an eight-hour working day, he said he would rather not break the classified rates, not on his own account, however.

Brantford Coal Trial.

Brantford, Jan. 28.—The investigation into the Ontario Coal Association commenced here yesterday. The issue is that the Ontario Coal Association combined to suppress competition in the purchase and sale of coal, the same being in restraint of trade, etc. To which a plea of not guilty is presented. Ashley Sayles said he concluded to go into the fuel business last June, and went to Buffalo to buy his stock. He could not buy fuel, and was told flatly that he must become a member of the Ontario Coal Association if he wanted to get any coal there. He came back to Brantford and made application to the association, and was told there were enough in the business already. The other witnesses testified generally to existence of the association, and denied that they knew why the price of fuel was always the same from each yard. If the court finds that the organization is illegal, the members will be fined, and the association enjoined from continuing.

Fell Into a Furnace.

Winnipeg, Jan. 28.—The City Crematory almost consumed Benjamin Hart, a teamster, who fell head first into the mouth of the furnace, and now lies at the Winnipeg General Hospital suffering from the burns.

All Crew Landed.

London, Jan. 28.—The crew of the American Line steamer reported ashore at Aberdraw landed in safety.

Mrs. F. Wright, of Delweln, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure:—

"My trouble was with the ovaries; I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work, for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse.

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctor's bills without getting any help as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PEARL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City." — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

NEWS FROM LIVE LAKEFIELD.

Mr. MacKenzie met With an Accident.

The Annual Meeting of the Presbyterian Church—Personal.

Rev. A. W. McKenzie, of Grove Preparatory School, was adjusting his acyetelene gas machine by the light of a candle, when the escaping gas caught fire and caused an explosion, throwing him a considerable distance. Mr. McKenzie was not much hurt, but his eyes were slightly injured.

Misses Eve and Helen Smith left Monday for Calgary, N.W.T., where they will reside in future. The Misses Smith were highly esteemed by all who knew them, and their departure will leave a vacancy not easily filled. They will be missed especially in the Presbyterian church where they assisted in the choir, and on the eve of their departure they were presented with purses, both of which were well filled. Accompaning the purses was an address read by the pastor.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church held their annual meeting on Wednesday evening of last week. After the usual devotional exercises, Rev. C. A. Campbell was voted to the chair and Mr. A. Fairbairn acted as secretary. The Moderator of the session presented a most favourable report, showing growth in membership during the past year and expressing regret at the loss sustained by death of several members during this period. The Treasurer, Mr. E. A. Tanner, presented the statement of the finances, which revealed the very satisfactory condition of this department. After payment of all fixed expenditures and $380.00 on building account, a comfortable balance was left to begin the New Year. The Missionary and Benevolent schemes were also contributed to to the amount of $273.00 from all sources.

The Lakefield hockey team drove to Bobcaygeon to give the team of that village their return match in the Trent Valley League on Saturday night. Although the manager experienced some difficulty in getting a team to drive so far in such cold weather, those that did go were successful in defeating Bobcaygeon team. The score being 8—6.

The Misses Fox and Miss Robinson, of Peterborough, are visiting in the village, the guests of Mrs. Wm. Cox, Jr.

Mr. Joseph Madill, of Napanee, is back to the village for a couple of days, attending the funeral of the late Mr. Roseborough, of Smith.

SILICATE BRICK.

Public notice is given that I have acquired the exclusive right to manufacture and sell, within the Province of Ontario, Silicate Brick, made out of sand lime and other materials, mixed and treated under the invention and processes of O. Hugo Anderson, for which Letters Patent for Canada were granted on 10th December 1901, under No. 74,067. Companies have been formed at Montreal, Sydney and Ottawa, to operate under this patent. The works at Sydney and Montreal will be turning out brick in February, and at Ottawa in April next.

I am prepared to sell rights under the above patent in Ontario and solicit correspondence.

Any person infringing these Patents Rights will be prosecuted. Address

Hugh Hill and His Revolver—The Local Board of Health.

The local Board of Health met in the Town Hall on January 23rd. Members present,—Thomas Fraser, J. Davidson, A. Brenult, Jas. Calder, secretary; and John Finlay, reeve.

Moved by John Finlay, seconded by Jno. Davidson, that Thomas Fraser be chairman for ensuing year.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read. It was moved that the Board adjourn until called together by the chairman.

Rev. Hyde, of Peterborough, conducted the services in the Presbyterian church last Sunday.

Miss Kate Sperry is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Hugh Bertram, of Peterborough.

Mrs. J. B. Pearce and her daughter, Miss Blanche, were in Peterborough this week.

A rather exciting incident occurred in the King Hotel, better known as the McGregor House, one night last week, when Mr. Hugh Hill, under the influence of liquor, drew and presented a revolver at the proprietor, then changing his mind, fired into the floor. The floor being oiled hardwood, the ball glanced, striking the wall, and then rebounded at the feet of one of the guests, fortunately not doing any harm.

County Constable Cochrane was in town to-day serving a subpoena on Mr. Hugh Hill to appear before His Honour Judge Edmison of Peterborough, on Tuesday.

Mr. T. Crawford, of Lakefield, was the guest of friends in town this week.

Mr. H. Nichol, of the Union Bank of Canada, attended the hockey match in Peterborough on Friday night, between Belleville and Peterborough.

Mr. Wm. Carnham and family leave on Thursday for Shelburne, where they intend making it their home.

FROM MT. PLEASANT.

Horse Falls Dead—Another had to be Shot—Lots of Snow in Swamp.

A horse owned by ex-Reeve Hooten while with his mate pulling a load of wood up a hill, fell dead. Cause of death not given.

Farmers are busy threshing. The hum of the engine is heard daily.

Those who have to cut their firewood in the swamp find it very difficult, as the frost has not penetrated the ground sufficiently to allow hauling it out.

A few days ago a man trying to draw a load of lumber into the swamp, lost one of his horses. He broke his leg and his owner had to shoot him. The snow is very deep, which keeps the frost out of the ground.

Mr. Windram of the township of Emily, sustained a very heavy loss last week by having his barn with its contents destroyed by fire.

Mr. Beatty of Omemee has come to the rescue with the best coal in the market. He sells it at a reasonable price, considering the great difficulty and delay he has in getting it. Come one, come all, and get a first-class coal from Beatty, of Omemee, dealer in farm produce, etc. We tried his coal and find it the best we have ever burned.

We hope that Ontario will be able to find fuel within her own territory, so that we may be independent of any foreign power. How about peat manufacturing?

BENSFORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The farmers are very busy at present drawing their grain to market. Quite a number of them are drawing building material home for next summer's work.

Mr. Isaac Kerr is building a stone foundation under his barns.

Mr. Herman Thompson, who has been very sick for some time, is recovering.

Mr. John Fletcher has George Smithson engaged in building a storehouse and refrigerator for the purpose of keeping meats of all kinds. This will supply a long felt want, as we have had no butcher shop in our village for several years.

A horse belonging to Mr. Orde of Otonabee, came into our village on Thursday of last week, hitched to a cutter. The driver was far in the rear.

On Saturday afternoon of last week some of our lady friends proposed to go for a three mile tramp on their snowshoes. Several entered the contest, but there were only two of them who covered the entire distance, arriving home much refreshed by the exercise.

Miss Boakill of Lakeview, spent a few hours very pleasantly with her friend, Miss Marett, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Albert Nurse has built a handsome residence on the north end of his farm. He has it all completed except the painting, and has promised the boys an oyster supper and dance just as soon as he gets moved into it.

Mr. John Poe has his brick house ready to build just as soon as spring opens.

The Board of Health met at Centreville last Monday for the transaction of business.

On Friday night of last week, a number of young people of Otonabee and several Monaghan people were entertained at the home of Mr. T Wood.

Fishing through the ice seems to be good sport this winter, and some who cannot find time to go during the week, just steal away on Sunday afternoon to try their luck.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities, where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory with arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton, must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of nature.

Our forefathers had other things to do beside formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nourishment in a concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remnrson, on this subject says: "Nervous people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless to rindigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

CHANDOS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The roads are in goo dcondition for this time of the year in Chandos.

Mr. John Menogue, County Councillor for the Lakehurst Division, is in town, this week, attending the County Council.

Mr. Jas. Scott was in town last week.

Messrs. John Mahoney and Stephen Scott are working at Coe Hill.

Misses Nellie O'Brien and Clara Scott were the guests of Mr. John Menogue on Sunday.

Mr. Jas. Menogue was the guest of Robert Hawkes on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Wm. Nugent, the popular agent for the Massey-Harris Co., was in the vicinity last week. Mr. Nugent is doing a rushing business for the company.

Mr. Patrick Scott is home from the shanties. The weather is too cold for him at present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gooley were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O'Brien on Sunday.

The Chandos council will meet on Saturday, the 31st, at Clydesdale.

The many friends of Mr. Dennis Mahoney will be glad to see him around again.

The Better Way With a Cold.

When a slight cold fastens on you in early winter you are apt to regard it merely as an annoyance—not a thing worth serious consideration. You usually feel like taking something syrupy, with perhaps a touch of spirits in it, to warm you up and stop the cough. But there is a better way.

The cough, the red eyes and uncomfortable head are not the cold. They are only the symptoms. They are like the leaves of a weed sticking above ground. The surest way to get rid of them and prevent their sprouting again is to pull up the root.

You sometimes say, "This cold is all over me." Every cold you have is, to a certain degree, all over you. It is evidence of a slight general weakness. It usually steals in on you at a time when the body is a little below its normal tone and the surest way to get rid of it is to bring the whole system up to its right level.

You may need some medicine. Your doctor will know. But a mere expectorant will do nothing toward restoring the body to a healthy standard. At the best its action is merely local and gives only temporary relief. Scott's Emulsion does this and more.

A small quantity of the emulsion taken regularly for a few days will supply the lack of proper nourishment in ordinary food. It is rich in the substances of which healthy blood is composed, and makes itself quickly felt in the throat and bronchial tubes. It starts the flow of mucous and relieves an obstinate cough sooner than any expectorant will do.

The emulsion does more than rid you of a cough. It rids you of the cold which is the root of the cough. Still more, it helps to protect you against a return of the trouble and against its going deeper.

Scott's Emulsion is aptly termed a food-medicine. It contains the nourishing properties of the whole cod liver oil, emulsified and combined with the medicinal qualities of hypophosphites, of lime and soda. It is probably more widely recommended by physicians for use in coughs and colds than any other preparation.

So-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil do not contain the value of the whole oil and are worthless in cases where a pure reliable cod liver oil preparation is needed. Scott's Emulsion has been the standard for over twenty-five years.

We will send a sample free to anyone on request.

NORTH YORK BYE-ELECTION.

Stalwart Liberals Rally and Cheer Hon. E. J. Davis.

MR. LENNOX, TOO, WAS ANXIOUS TO AVOID TRIAL.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Newmarket Hears Mr. Davis' Statement—Judge Morgan's Statement Clears Up Points—Liberals Enthusiastically Endorse Their Representative on Tuesday.

Newmarket, Jan. 28.—An early election in North York, with the Liberals more enthusiastic than ever before—such are the signs from yesterday's meeting, addressed by Hon. E. J. Davis. This meeting, arranged originally as a small executive gathering to hear a personal statement by Mr. Davis regarding the recent protest negotiations, developed into an assemblage of nearly five hundred people, and after foregathering in Temperance Hall, a removal to the larger Town Hall was found absolutely necessary. Every part of the riding, from Schomberg to Sutton, was represented.

The statement of Mr. Davis seemed to give the greatest satisfaction, and at the close a resolution expressing the utmost confidence in him was passed, amidst tremendous enthusiasm, and cries to bring on the election at once. In accordance with this feeling, a mass meeting and convention will be held here next Tuesday afternoon, at which Premier Ross and Sir William Mulock will speak, in addition to Mr. Davis. The indications are that the campaign will be entered upon at once and the election held before the House meets, Mr. Davis having the option to resign at any day.

Amid loud cheers Mr. Davis declared that he had not resigned because of fear of exposure of corruption, but rather, as the Judge had said of both of them, to avoid the political bitterness, and, on his own account, to avoid the expense.

The Protest Negotiations.

Hon. Mr. Davis, who was received with loud cheers, read from a statement which he had prepared, as follows:

"As the petition and cross-petition in the North York election trial were dismissed by the judges at Osgoode Halls on Saturday last, without costs, I am now at liberty to make a full explanation to the electors of North York as to the arrangements by which this end was reached and about which, during the past few weeks, many statements of a more or less erroneous character have been made in the press.

"It is obvious that the result could only have been brought about by mutual understanding between the Conservative candidate and myself, and that understanding was arrived at in the following way: On the morning of the 2nd inst. we met on the train coming to Toronto, and, in conversation about other matters, I broached the question of the protest, expressing my regret that it seemed necessary to keep alive the bitterness and strife of the late campaign, and expressed my willingness to consider with him whether some satisfactory mode of settlement could not be arrived at to avoid the conditions above indicated. He acquiesced in the desirability of the proposal and expressed his willingness to discuss the question in a fair spirit. It was finally agreed to lay the whole matter before Judge Morgan as a mutual friend, and, on arriving in the city, we met at his office for that purpose.

"In stating to the judge the object of our visit it was clearly set forth that the basis upon which negotiations would proceed was, first, to avoid the bitterness and rancor which would surely result from the trial, no matter what the result would be as affecting the seat, and, secondly, the enormous cost incident to a trial of this character.

"The matter was considered from various standpoints, the discussion lasting an hour and a half to two hours, and an understanding was reached which appeared to be satisfactory to both parties. An adjournment was then made until a late hour in the afternoon, allowing each party time to consult his solicitors. On meeting again at the hour agreed upon it was decided that an arrangement on that basis should be consummated. As the judge was the mutual arbitrator in the case, probably it would be better to let him state in his own language what that arrangement was:

Judge Morgan's Statement.

On Jan. 2, 1903, Hon. E. J. Davis and Mr. T. H. Lennox came to my chambers and told me they had been discussing the North York election protest and cross-petition, and that they were desirous of avoiding the political and other bitterness that would surely arise in the constituency if the petition and cross-petition were prosecuted, and the enormous costs that would result. They said they had come to me to see if I could mediate between them in making some satisfactory settlement by which the petitions could be disposed of without trial. Mr. Lennox contended that he had ample material on which to void the election, and Mr. Davis claimed that he was assured by his solicitors that they had numerous counter-charges of a personal character against Lennox that would result in his disqualification, but, rather than involve the constituency in the personal and political enmities a trial would involve, and the enormous costs that would be incurred, he would prefer to resign the seat and have another contest.

"It was finally agreed that no particulars were to be filed by either side, so as to have as little bitter feeling as possible excited, that the place of trial was to be changed from Newmarket to Toronto, and that the petition and cross-petition were to be dismissed without costs. The solicitors on both sides were then sent for.

"The question of costs was raised by Mr. Lennox, who claimed that he had expended some hundreds of dollars in subpoenaing witnesses and incurring counsel fees and other disbursements, while Mr. Davis had not subpoenaed any witnesses, and, in some other respects, the costs incurred by him were much less.

"Mr. Davis stated positively that he would not consider a settlement on the basis of paying the costs of Mr. Lennox in full, as that would be his admission which he would not make, but stated he was quite willing that each party should make representations to me as to the costs they had incurred and would abide by my decision as to what amount of excess costs were properly payable to Lennox. As a result of this the solicitors on both sides had a discussion with reference to costs, together with me, and I ruled, as set out in the agreement and initialled by me, that the sum of $900 was a fair amount to be paid Lennox for excess of costs.

"The question of resignation was then discussed, and it was mutually agreed that Mr. Davis should place his resignation in my hands, bearing date Feb. 2, before which date his resignation could not be asked for on behalf of Mr. Lennox, who was also bound to make his request within three months thereafter, if at all, but Mr. Davis reserved to himself the right to resign at any time, either before the 20th of February, or at any date thereafter that he might consider desirable, even if not called upon.

"This understanding was consummated in an agreement drawn up by the solicitors and signed by all parties, and I initialled the adjustment of costs.

"Mr. Davis then signed his notice of resignation, and both documents were left in my keeping, to be used as occasion required. No copies of either of these documents were held by anyone else. I understand the parties came to me as a mutual friend of long-standing and because they felt that I would, from my long experience, be able to assist them in reaching a result which would meet their views, and because they had confidence that if a settlement was reached, I would keep the documents confided to me, and only permit same to be used on the terms thereof, and as occasion required.

"The following are copies of the agreement and notice of resignation:

(Signed) "E. Morgan, Judge."
Jan. 24, 1903.

The Agreement.

Memorandum of agreement made this 2nd day of January, 1903, between Elihu James Davis and T. H. Lennox:

1. The said E. J. Davis agrees to resign his seat in the legislative assembly of Ontario and place his resignation in the hands of Judge Morgan, the resignation to bear date the 20th February, 1903, and to be used if requested by said Lennox, said request to be made within three months thereafter.

2. Both parties agree that they shall not deliver any particulars under the petitions filed, and will give consent to have same transferred to Toronto for trial and that they shall be dismissed without costs.

3. Judge Morgan is to settle what costs should be paid as between said Davis and said Lennox, which costs are to be paid before petitions are transfevred for trial.

4. The resignation to be addressed to the proper party or parties and their names to be filled in when resignation is required by said Lennox.

(Signed) T. Herbert Lennox and E. J. Davis. (James Baird for T. H. Lennox; R. A. Grant for E. J. Davis).

(Marginal Memo.)—

In consideration of question referred to me, I fix the amount of costs at $900, to be paid Lennox, after moderating both bills of costs.

(Signed) E. M., Judge.

Copy of Resignation Left With the Judge.

In the matter of the election for member for the north riding of the County of York to the Legislative Assembly for the Province of Ontario:

To.....

I, Elihu James Davis, hereby declare my intention to resign my seat as member-elect to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario for the North Riding of the County of York.

(Signed) E. J. Davis.

Witnesses—R. A. Grant and James Baird.

Dated Feb. 20, 1903.

Countersigned—E. Morgan, Judge.

All the Documents.

"The above are all the documents in connection with this matter, and I thought it was only right that you should be frankly placed in possession of all the information bearing thereon.

"The judge informed me that his statement, the agreement, and the declaration of intention to resign had been prepared in duplicate since the disposal of the case by the judges on Saturday last, all signed by his own hand, and that Mr. Lennox and myself had each been furnished with a copy.

"It is stated in the Conservative press that I had paid all my opponent's costs and Mr. Lennox is reported to have taken that same position. You will see the judge says that I absolutely refused to consider a settlement on that basis, and that I only paid what he considered was a fair excess of costs.

"From the same sources numerous statements have been made that I had resigned. From the foregoing documents you will see the untruthfulness of these statements. I had not resigned.

"My opponent is reported to have said on a number of occasions that he could call on me to resign at any moment. Such a statement, if made, is not correct.

His Chief Reasons.

"A portion of the Conservative press, in scare head-lines, state that I was compelled to resign by the exposure of electoral corruption in North York, made by my opponent, and he, apparently, endorses that view. In reply to that, I would say the papers indicate that I was not compelled to resign by anybody for any reason, but it was my own proposition for the purpose of avoiding bitterness and expense, and there was no other reason, or reasons, which led to that course. Further, he has not exposed any electoral corruption in North York against either my friends or myself, and any statement to the contrary is not correct.

"For months he and some of his friends have been reported as stating they would disqualify me and drive me from public life. A day or two ago, at Aurora, in his address, he is reported to have stated that he never said he would disqualify me. Can anyone imagine a man who has introduced into his election matters the bitterness, personalities and tactics of my opponent, having a mass of information showing that there was corruption on the part of myself or my supporters, that he would have missed the opportunity of exposing that in the courts, the result of which would mean that not only would the seat have been opened but that the Liberal party would have been placed at a great disadvantage in a new election. He was evidently satisfied he could not establish corruption and was apparently equally desirous with myself, as the judge's statement shows, to have the petition and cross-petition disposed of in this way.

"I have been a candidate in a number of contests in North York, and have always endeavored to have them conducted in an honest, straightforward manner, and I think the general consensus of opinion in the riding will be that I have succeeded in that respect.

"Some may say: 'You have resigned your seat for the purpose of avoiding bitterness and legal contention. As that involves another election contest will not bitterness and strife be renewed?'

"My answer to that is that, although there is no doubt I was honestly and legally elected by a majority of over 200 in the general election of May last, I was willing to make the sacrifice of resigning my seat to avoid contention and bitterness, and Mr. Lennox and his friends, by allowing my re-election by acclamation, would avoid a continuance of this condition of affairs, and if they force on a contest on them will rest the responsibility for the turmoil, excitement and inconvenience to the electors incident thereto.

"He and his friends are reported to have said on various occasions that they had the agreement of settlement and a copy of my resignation signed by me, while you will observe the judge states that there were no copies of the original of either document up to the time of the disposal of the case on the 24th, immediately after which copies were made in duplicate and handed to each of the parties, as stated above.

"They even went so far as to have printed in The Toronto News, on Jan. 7, what purported to be my resignation, dated Jan. 2, 1903, and signed by me. No such document was ever signed by me, the one held by the judge being the only one in existence, and that was dated Feb. 20, 1903.

"In Mr. Lennox's speech at Aurora the other day, he stated that he had been offered $5,000 on my behalf to have the trial dropped. All I have to say in reply to that is that I never offered him myself, or through any other person, directly or indirectly, at any time, anything for that purpose."

Mr. Davis' concluding paragraph was as follows: "As you know, I have lived practically all my life in the riding. My interests are here, and are identical with yours, and my record for many years as your representative in municipal and Parliamentary matters is well known to you. I desire to express my thanks and appreciation to those electors who were kind enough in the late contest to favor me with their vote and their influence, and if we are to have a contest in the near future, if you think my past record justifies it, and have confidence that I can be of service to the Province generally, and the riding of North York, in the future, I will be glad to have a renewal of that confidence, as expressed by your vote and influence." (Cheers.)

A strong resolution, endorsing Mr. Davis in every particular, was then passed.

In response to a request for an expression of opinion, it was made clear that the audience desired an early election, which Mr. Davis intimated would be before the House met, or as soon as the formality of his resignation could be arranged. A mass meeting for Tuesday afternoon next in the Town Hall, Newmarket, was arranged, with Premier Ross and Sir William Mulock as additional speakers.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Special Meeting Held Last Night to Revise the Rules.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night to consider and pass the new rules of order and regulations of the Board, the old rules having become through age somewhat antiquated.

A committee of the whole, with Mr. W. G. Ferguson, in the chair, considered the report and the rules of order.

After considering and passing the report embracing the rules of order and the regulations, the committee rose and the Board met in special session with Mr. W. H. Hill in the chair, the following members being present: Messrs. Hayes, Stevenson, Ferguson, Kennedy, Hartley, Fair and Jameson.

The Committee of the Whole presented the report, which on motion was adopted, and ordered to be printed, after which the Board adjourned.

The Board has changed the nights of their regular meeting from the first Tuesday to the first Monday in each month.

MR. DUMBLE ELECTED PRESIDENT

Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society.

HELD ANNUAL MEETING.

Good Live Board of Directors—The Secretary's Interesting Report.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society took place last night in the Council Chamber, the President, Mr. Adam Hall, being in the chair.

There were present: — Messrs. H. C. Rogers, G. M. Roger, F. Mason, B. Cooney, J. Giles, W. Head, F. Saunders, H. Nesbitt, F. Wise, J. English, W. H. Robertson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The Secretary-Treasurer then read his report for 1902, which was as follows:

To the Members of Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I beg herewith to present you with the annual report of the Society for the year ending December 31st, 1902.

The following improvements have been made to the parks: In the Central Park there has been planted forty-two new trees, there has also been laid three hundred feet of water pipe, together with four hydrants. The flower beds have all been enlarged, and two extra beds have been put in. The park has also been well fertilized so that it is now in a very good state of cultivation. Your Directors propose that next season if they have the necessary funds to have the drinking fountain put in working order, so as to have a good supply of drinking water always there.

In the Victoria Park we have had to remove some of the trees where they were growing too close together in order to allow the grass to grow properly. There has also been planted for next spring's flowering one thousand eight hundred tulips and one bed of Perennial Phlox, the park has also been thoroughly top-dressed so that next season it should look better than ever.

The membership for the year was 105, which was about the same as usual. Your Directors revised the Prize List increasing quite a number of the prizes. The prize money paid out at the annual show amounted to $145.25, and there was a slight increase in the number of entries. The number of entries would have been twice as many as those for 1901, if we had not had to change the date advertised on the prize list, owing to it conflicting with the West Peterborough Exhibition.

The attendance at the annual show was very small, and your Directors would suggest that a committee be appointed to devise ways and means of having a better attendance. As instructed at your last annual meeting, your Directors procured seeds for the juvenile department. Eight children obtained seeds, but only two complied with the conditions and entered the flowers grown at the show.

I would urge upon you the necessity of appointing a committee to wait on the Council, re Park Commissioners.

In closing my report I beg to thank Mr. R. H. Leary for supplying the parks with manure free of cost, also to Mr. Cooney for the pains taken to make the parks look their best.

H. L. BEAL,
Secretary.

Peterborough January, 15th, 1903.

The chairman remarked that the parks had never looked better than they did last year, and that fresh flowers were planted each year. During 1902 a debt of only $36 had been incurred.

Mr. Dumble said that parks were a necessity and he had never seen them in a better state. It was very refreshing to go into them, but the trees needed trimming up so that the scenery is not obscured, but at the same time the necessary shade must be had. A park is a poor man's garden and as such everyone should help in keeping them beautiful. The parks had, he remarked, been well kept and not much bad behaviour had occurred in them. Strangers who see the parks, know that the people who can make such places must be people of refinement, and thus it entices them to live in Peterborough. The money spent on the parks, is spent profitably and not extravagantly as many people imagine. The Society ought to be congratulated in the beautiful way they have kept the town. The one failure was the show which he, (Mr. Dumble,) hoped would be more attractive next fall.

The back garden to each private house ought to be beautiful instead of a depository for all the rubbish of the household.

Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers proposed the purchase of Burnham's Point, which he said was up for sale in the near future. Burnham's Point runs along the Little Lake and would make a most desirable park.

Mr. Frank Wise thought that the younger people should be trained to the necessity of horticulture.

Mr. Frank Mason said that the show should be made more attractive. A string band, he thought, would be better than the usual brass band. Unless something was done the show would certainly be a continued failure. At Lindsay art work and ladies' embroidery greatly increased the attendance at the Horticultural show. He then went on to say that more trees ought to be taken out of the Court House Park, as it was very dark at night, and a certain class of undesirables gather there.

Mr. Adam Hall expressed the belief that the show took place at the wrong time. Ladies' fancy work was not allowed to be exhibited by the Government. The Society had money enough to give a really good prize, which would be done if more people attended the show.

THE OFFICERS.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:

President—Mr. D. W. Dumble.
Vice-President—Lt.-Col. Rogers.
2nd Vice-President—Mr. Henderson Nesbitt.
Directors — Hon. J. R. Stratton, Messrs. Frank Mason, Percy Hamilton, Jas. English, F. Sanders, F. Wise, E. A. Peck, T. A. S. Hay, W. H. Hill, Dr. G. Burnham and James Stevenson.

Park Committee — Messrs. W. H. Hill, chairman, Henderson Nesbitt, F. Wise, Adam Hall.

Prize List Committee — Messrs. D. W. Dumble, Percy Hamilton, F. Wise, F. Saunders, T. A. S. Hay.

The following committee was appointed to wait on the Council — Messrs. W. H. Hill, D. W. Dumble and Dr. Burnham.

Auditors — Messrs. T. A. S. Hay and Arthur Stevenson.

Sec.-Treasurer—Mr. Beale.

Some of those present thought the town council ought to appoint commissioners, as anyone doing wilful damage to the parks could not be prosecuted. Mr. Nesbitt said that six or seven seats had either been broken or carried away.

Mr. Mason remarked that the band stand was in a bad state of repair, and was an utter disgrace to the town.

The appointed committee will wait on the council on Thursday night.

Lt.-Col. Roger suggested that instead of spending the money on the show it would be more profitable to spend it in giving the children botanical lessons.

Mr. Adam Hall said that if the show was abolished the Government grant would be lost.

Mr. Dumble said the children ought to be taken to the parks and a practical bontanical lesson given them. He furthermore suggested that the committee wait on the Principal of the school for this purpose.

The meeting then adjourned.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. M. A McNamara.

After a protracted illness of eight months, borne with fortitude and Christian resign ion, Mrs. M. A. McNamara died this morning at the residence, No. 735 Water street. The deceased lady's maiden name was Johannah A. Moran, daughter of the late John Moran, of Otonabee. During her lifetime deceased was a highly respected resident of Peterborough, excepting a period of ten years, when she resided in New York with one of her sisters, thea living on the Hudson River. On the 3rd of October, 1899, she was married to Mr. McNamara, their happy union having been cut short by her untimely demise after only a few months over three years' duration. Two sisters and two brothers survive her. These are,—Mrs. Chas. Morrisey, of Fairfax, South Dakota; Mrs. F. J. Crowley, of Scheyenne, Wyoming; Mr. J. T. Moran, of Chinook, Montana, a member of the State Legislature; Mr. — Moran, of Chicago, a commission merchant, doing an extensive shipping business with South Africa. Mr. Thos. Slattery, of Otonabee is an uncle of deceased.

Mrs. McNamara was a devout member of St. Peter's congregation, and was held in high esteem by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She gave liberally of her means to various local institutions, and to the poor. Her bounty was bestowed regardless of religious claims or creeds, and always in the most unostentatious manner. She will be missed by the poor especially, upon whom she bestowed many favours. Her illness baffled the skill of some of our best local physicians as well as specialists called in for consultation. She leaves no family behind. The bereaved husband will have the sympathy of the community in his great loss.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning, Jan. 30th, at 9 o'clock, to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Cathoic Cemetery.

THE ONTARIO BANK WON

In Hockey Match Against Combined Banks.

Another Game to be Arranged at an Early Date—Good Work by Referee McPherson.

Great interest was taken by the friends of the rival hockey teams consisting of seven members from the combined Banks and seven from the Ontario Bank. There teams met in full war paint in battle royal yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. As they skated onto the ice, the members showed signs of careful training, and the agility of 10-year-old children. A large number of spectators including a fair number of ladies, whose sympathies seemed about equally divided between the teams, were present.

The game was refereed by Mr. A. W. McPherson, the Secretary-Treasurer and general manager of the Peterborough Hockey Club, who, judging from the ability displayed in handling the bell, will soon develop into a Schooley, a Rose, or a James T. McCabe. The teams lined up as follows:—

Ontario Bank — Goal, Sawers; point, Hollingshead; cover point, Roy Armstrong; forwards, Dumble, Ferguson, Trew, Mulhern.

Combination — Goal, Rosmond, (Montreal); point, McPherson, (Montreal); cover point, Sandy Hall, (Toronto); forwards, McLellan, (Toronto); Lundy, (Toronto); Watson, (Montreal); Perks, (Commerce.)

Referee—A. W. McPherson.

It will be observed that the Ontario Bank team contained some members who are prominent in hockey circles. Amongst the latter were Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, the ex-captain of the Peterborough seniors and Mr. Roy Armstrong, the dashing forward of the present Peterborough aggregation.

The chief characteristic of the combination team was the lack of combination displayed, but the individual work of Watson and Jim Lundy was excellent. At half time the score was 3 to 1 in favour of the Ontario Bank team, and at the conclusion it was 6 to 2 in favour of Mr. Crane's athletes. The excitement was such that the ice in the south-east corner melted and the concussion from the roars of applause blew out the electric lights. It is expected that another game will be arranged at an early date.

JUNIORS' GAME WITH PORT HOPE.

Exhibition of Wood Chopping by Juveniles.

THE SCORE WAS 6 TO 5.

Referee McCabe had Many Players Adorning the Fence—Played Extra Time.

The Peterborough Juniors didn't win last night, but they came so near doing so that there was a heap of satisfaction to the boys over the result. There was not much satisfaction to the spectators, however, as the opinion seemed to be that the locals had the fastest seven, and should have come out on top, thereby having it go abroad to the world that Peterborough won one O.H.A. this year. They would have, too, had they behaved themselves, but throughout the game and more particularly in the first half, they slashed and body checked, kicked the puck, and tried to do almost everything but bite. No one player carried this on to any extent however, not because they did not want to, but because Referee Jimmy McCabe would not allow it. He had a Peterborough man on the fence nearly all the time and no one was more pleased at his ruling than the management, who regretted exceedingly to see these youngsters persist in such ungentlemanly tactics.

The game was between the Peterborough Juniors and the Port Hope Juniors, in the junior series of the O.H.A., for this district, and as there was nothing very much depending on the result there was not a great deal of interest displayed in the game, and only a few hundred spectators were in attendance. As the game progressed however, the enthusiasm waxed warmer, and when at the expiration of the two thirty minute halves the score was 4—4, matters had became decidedly lively. Referee McCabe gave the boys a few minutes rest and then ordered them to play five minutes each way, during which time each team scored a goal, leaving the match still a tie. Another ten minutes play was ordered, but neither side scored. Once again Mr. McCabe set the boys at it. In about ten minutes time Boney scored for Port Hope, thereby giving them the match by a score of 6—5.

It was truly an extraordinary game — some thirty minutes extra play being required to decide the battle, but the chief feature of the evening was the number of times the Peterborough boys were pulled off. Every man on the team, excepting the goal keeper was off at some period of the game, and McFarlane and McGrath were particularly offensive. It is to be regretted that these youngsters should start out in this manner. They have the ability to play the game, but seeing that it was the last of the season, they evidently th[illegible] thing counted. Such players should be muzzled and locked up in [illegible] for several days as a punishment for persistent violations of the rules.

Of course the visitors had their faults too, but the Port Hope management can look after their own prodigy. It would be unjust, too, to over-look the good qualities of the locals. They are a swift lot of skaters, and Lee at cover point is developing into a brilliant player. Thornton, too, displayed great nerve in goal and stopped many red-hot shots for which he was heartily applauded. The team on the whole, with careful watching should make things interesting in the junior series next year.

The teams werte as follows:—

Port Hope—Goal, Byam; point, S. Lockington; cover point, P. Sowden; forwards, L. Boney, Alcott, C. Brown, and Gill.

Peterborough — Goal, Thornton; point, Moore; cover point, Lee; forwards, McGrath, McFarlane, I. Hamilton and Grose.

Umpires—W. Nelson, H. R. H. Kenner.

Referee—Jas. T. McCabe.

Timekeepers — W. Breene, and Laurenson, Port Hope.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Men's Union Entertained the Men of Congregation.

The Men's Union of All Saint's church, entertained the men of the congregation last night. There were about fifty present, who enjoyed an evening of games, conversation, songs and story. Mr. Joe Halpany and Mr. Bert Cranfield, contributed most acceptably to the evening's enjoyment.

The ladies of All Saints intend giving an oyster supper on the evening of Tuesday, February 10th.

The Girls' Guild hold an at home on Friday, the 13th of February.

Rev. W. L. Armitage will hold service in the Riverdale Mission on Friday evening next at 7.30 o'clock.

WARSAW.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The anniversary services at the Methodist church, Warsaw,, on Sunday and Monday evening last, were very successful. The Rev. J. Bartrop of Toronto, preached on Sunday to a large congregation.

On Monday evening tea was served in the basement of the church to a large number. In connection with the services subscriptions were taken on behalf of the personage fund, which totalled $400, being the sum required, and the church is now quite free from debt. Inspiring and profitable addresses were delivered on Monday evening by Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of the Presbyterian church, and by Rev. Mr. Bartrop. Rev. Mr. McQuade ,the pastor, under whose supervision the evening's programme was arranged ,is to be congratulated on the complete financial success of the project.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

MR. O'TOOLE, the contractor of the new dam at the foot of London street, is accomplishing a "blasted" good job. However, Mr. O'Toole should remember that these blasts which are set off, might result in more serious damage than merely breaking windows. There is the further danger of breaking the prolonged sleep of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

• • •

THE VERY SATISFACTORY settlement that has been arrived at in the case of the Ackerman strike is only another instance of the fact that differences such as, these, between employer and employees, can be settled in a fair and equitable manner by the employment of conciliatory, rather than coercive measures. The men all express satisfaction, the employers are satisfied, so they say, and the members of the commission are satisfied. In fact it is like the result of the general elections last May—all parties are satisfied.

THE ACTIVITY that is being shown by the citizens of Port Hope in their endeavour to have the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal at that place dispels the belief of many that the people of the Cemetery Town are content with Smith's creek and Beamish's pond for inland navigation purposes. If the energy being displayed by the people of Port Hope, together with East Durham's "pull" with the Dominion Government is such as will procure an outlet of the canal at Port Hope, there may be some people in Peterborough, who might not object, providing of course, the job is completed forthwith. The general opinion is, however, that if the good people of Port Hope ever want to take a trip up the Trent Valley Canal they will have to paddle by way of Trenton.

WHILST THE MEMBERS of the Peterborough County Council, are, as a rule, a very unassuming lot of gentlemen, they have something to "Crowe" about just now. Mr. Richard Crowe, who had the honour conferred upon him yesterday of being elected Warden of the County, is an able and thoughtful representative. Mr. Crowe is not a speech-making man,—he is a legislator. His record in the Council has been such that he was elected unopposed to the highest office in the gift of his fellow-members.

even of corporations falling into such repose, the "city" of Belleville has more jokes poked at it than any other hamlet in the country. A Toronto paper in commenting upon the success of Belleville's hockey team, and the enthusiasm accompanying such success, ventures to predict that a horse will run away on the front street some of these days and smash a plate glass window, and then there will be some excitement in the Quinte town.

THE ACTION of the Peterborough Board of Education in changing their regular meeting night from the first Tuesday in each month to the first Monday in each month, will cause a sort of congestion of business in the newspaper business. At the present time the Town Council of Peterborough meets on the first Monday of the month, the Ashburnham council does likewise, and besides these there are various other monthly meetings that are held on Monday evenings. To cover these with an ordinary reportorial staff is an easy matter, and it is needless to say that the newspaper men of the town do not fall in line with the change that has been announced in this regard.

• • •

IT IS SAID that the reason the change was brought about was to accommodate the members of the Board who are also members of the local Regiment. The regimental weekly drill is of course always held on Tuesday evening, and it made it inconvenient for the military men. We have nothing to say against the proposition to adjust the meeting night of the Board to suit the convenience of the military men, but perhaps the military men, the members of the Board in general, and the newspaper men, too, might have been just as well satisfied had the meeting night been changed to the second Monday of each month.

INTERMEDIATE CLUB

Met in Special Session Monday Night—About 30 in Attendance.

On Monday evening at the Y.M.C.A. parlours the Senior Intermediates met for a social time from 8 till 10.30, and participated in many interesting games. The affair concluded satisfying the wants of the inner man. Great interest was aroused in a contest, known as "A penny for your thoughts." In this Gordon Fitzgerald and S. Caniff divided honours for the box of bonbon pea nuts which answered for the reward of their task. In the railroad exchange there were many fatalities, some of the tourists not being able to make connections. While the boys were engaged at progressive crokinole, Mr. Bert Peters favoured the boys with piano selections, which Bert can do to perfection.

After all had thoroughly enjoyed themselves the party dispersed with singing, "Take the name of Jesus with you," and a brief prayer by Mr. G. Galley.

33RD PROVINCIAL Y. M. C. A.

An Appeal to the Citizens of Peterborough.

Dear Friend,—You are no doubt aware of the coming Provincial Y. M. C. A. Convention from Feb. 5 to 8, to be held in Peterborough.

There will be 200 delegates in attendance from all parts of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, the entertainment of the majority of whom rests with you.

On former occasions the citizens have very kindly opened their homes to Convention gatherings and the committee feel confident that this will be no exception—when the need becomes known and that so general will the response be that the duties of the committee will be materially lessened.

The benefits of such a Convention to a town are scarcely capable of measurement.

Any who can entertain delegates either at their homes or hotels are asked to communicate with the secretary by telephone as soon as possible.

Trusting for the favourable co-operation of the citizens in this

IDEALS OF CITIZENSHIP.

Ailments of Society to Be Remedied Only by Unselfish Men.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle addressed the members of the Toronto Canadian Club recently at the noon-day meeting on "Ideals of Citizenship." He began his talk by a reference to a writer who had said that no process could be more harmful than one which would cast all men in one mould. Every human being had a character distinct and unlike any other, an individual work to carry on and influences to exert peculiarly its own, and a mind which no conscience but its own could teach. One of the faults of our existence had been the failure to observe the soundness of the statements of this writer.

People were apt to select a certain course for themselves, which they believed to be right, but were not content unless they endeavored to compel all others to follow in the same course. The referendum campaign was an instance of this. He knew of no reason why one section of the people should sit in judgment upon the actions of another. It was not only ungenerous, it was very close to being impertinent. Men had failed to recognize the right of other men to work out for themselves the principles that would govern their lives. Was there any principle underlying conduct which would produce ideal citizenship upon which each man could build his own superstructure? The speaker dealt with the substitution of the law of Moses for the savagery of the world, and of the higher laws which came through the teachings of the Saviour. The underlying principle of ideal citizenship was then that men should view their relations with other men in the light of the service that they could render others. If this idea of service was before them would it not lift commercial life to a higher plane, and make it something more than a mere money-making machine? There were in public life a breed of men who believed that the public existed to keep them in office. The nation had had the Pacific scandals of history and the burnt ballots, the stuffed ballots and the switched ballots of to-day, and they had Brunet of Montreal, who, it appeared, had dealt in every form of political iniquity for the purpose of what — of sitting in Parliament to represent the people. The remedy for the ailments and ills of society would only be found in men having underlying their actions a purpose and a desire to serve the community and to build up the character and life of those surrounding them. And, having done this, they could rest at ease as to whether they pleased or displeased those with whom they were associated.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirely revolutionized. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. STRIKERS TURNED DOWN.

Markle Miners Guilty of No Criminal Action, Hope of List After the Commission Modus Vivendi.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—The attention of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission was yesterday directed to the claims and charges of the independent operators. The first case presented is that of G. B. Markle & Company, whose collieries are located in and about Jeddo, in the Lehigh region. Ten witnesses for the company were examined, among them General Superintendent Sidney Williams. His testimony was based upon the company's answer to the miners' demands. He was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by Attorney Darrow for the Miners' Union, and was compelled to admit that, although thirteen men were refused employment by the company for alleged criminal acts during the recent strike, he had no knowledge that any one of them had ever been guilty of a criminal action.

Mr. Darrow read from a letter written, by Mr. Markle to Recorder Wright of the commission, a paragraph stating that it was the intention of the company to take back all the former employes excepting a few who had been guilty of criminal acts. He asked the witness if he saw and approved the letters before it was forwarded, and received an affirmative reply.

"Is there one of the thirteen men mentioned who has ever been guilty of a criminal act, so far as you know?" queried Mr. Darrow.

"No," said the witness.

"Why were these men turned out?"

"Because Mr. Markle said they had committed acts for which he did not care to re-employ them."

Frank Walk of Jeddo, general storekeeper, testified that up to 1890 ninety per cent. of the Markle Company employes had dealt at his store. The credit system, he said, was discontinued in July, 1901.

After the credit system had been abolished, witness said he had made reduction in the prices of his goods amounting to about ten per cent. He said also that he had lost about two-thirds of his custom.

All Old Officers Elected.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—At yesterday's session of the United Mine Workers' convention the report of the tellers on the referendum vote for national officers showed the re-election of all the old officers. Delegates to the American Federation of Labor were also chosen. Indianapolis was selected for the next convention.

Dealers Have Cold Feet.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 27.—A preliminary injunction was issued yesterday against the Detroit Coal Exchange, an organization of thirty dealers, restraining the Exchange from fixing the minimum prices at which coal shall be sold. The fact was brought out that fourteen of the largest dealers have resigned from the Exchange, leaving the smaller dealers to settle with the law.

A CANADIAN WITNESS.

Coal Investigating Committee in Boston Begins Its Work.

Boston, Jan. 27.—The Coal Investigating Committee appointed by the National House of Representatives began its work here yesterday.

Henry T. Shaffer, a salesman of the Sterling Coal Company, shipping over the Pennsylvania road, explained trade conditions. He did not think many small vessels are carrying coal at present which in former years had been driven out of the business, owing to low freights. He thought that the McCall resolution, suspending the coastwise law, might relieve the situation in a measure, but most foreign vessels are not adapted for carrying coal, and it might not have much effect.

Whitfield Tucke of Winchester asked the committee to request the presence as a witness of H. A. Channell of Stanstead, Quebec, a dealer who is said to be buying coal in Pennsylvania and selling it in Canada at $7.50 a ton.

NO LONGER TO BE DREADED.

Gravel Permanently Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Reuben Draper, of Bristol, Gives his Experience, and it is Prepared to Furnish Proof of What he Says.

Bristol, Quebec, Jan. 25th. (Special.) — It is with feelings of intense relief that people here now admit that the operating knife is no longer necessary to cure that once dreaded disease — Gravel. Experience has shown it to be one of the numerous family of ailments arising from diseased Kidneys, and as such easily curable by those sovereign Kidney remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Reuben Draper, well known in this neighbourhood, is one of those who can speak from experience. He says: "I was taken ill with what I thought was gravel. I consulted two doctors, but got no lasting relief, and I continued to grow weaker all the time. Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for he said that they had cured his mother, so I thought that I would try them.

"Just one week after starting to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and four days after I passed another about the size of a grain of barley. This gave me great relief and I began to feel better and gain strength. I have the stones in a bottle and can show them to anyone who may doubt what I say.

"That happened four years ago, and I have had no return of the trouble since."

Smart Carriage Wraps—Fur Lined Coats.

The fur day and evening wraps are anything if not classic, and the effect of Greek and Roman draperies is aimed at in the manipulations of velvets and furs.

Some very lovely carriage wraps are made in cloth, but cloth is no longer represented by hard and serviceable fabrics. It has a beautiful and supple finish, which renders it most becoming as well as warm and cosy. In these wraps the pale pastel shades are much in evidence.

One wrap recently seen was of pale cream cloth lined with emerald green satin. It had a big collar of green panne, decorated with black and white bobs, and showed inner frills of lace and accordion plaited green chiffon. It was cut in the form of a coat of three-quarter length, stitched and strapped.

USEFUL COAT.

Some of the cloths, which have long hairy surfaces somewhat like zibeline, are smart for wraps.

Many warm and at the same time elegant coats are lined with squirrel, but the collar need not be necessarily of the same fur.

The garment in the cut follows this idea. It is of gray cloth lined with squirrel, but having a sable collar.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Somewhat Mixed.

The story is told of an Assiniboian editor who one morning received two letters from subscribers. The first, an anxious father, wrote to find out the best way to bring up his twin babies in health and happiness, while the other, a farmer, wanted to know the quickest method of getting rid of grasshoppers.

The editor hesitated then; out of the fullness of his knowledge, he wrote two letters in reply. But in the haste of business he wrote the letters into the wrong envelopes.

The next morning the father of the twins received this interesting answer:

"Cover them carefully with straw and set fire to it. After jumping in the flames a few moments the little pests will be speedily done for."

And the man who was troubled with grasshoppers was bidden to "Give castor-oil regularly in moderate doses and rub their gums with a bone."

A Memory Lesson.

"It seems to me," said the worried looking man, "that memory is very much a matter of habit. Now, for instance, there's the umbrella, generally supposed to be the most easily forgotten of all things. I never forget mine, for I am accustomed to carry it daily, rain or shine, and I should miss it almost as much as I would my hat.

"But I am not accustomed to carry parcels home, so in order to remember them I manage in this way:

"I carry my luggage in a certain number of pieces. I have, say, big parcel, little parcel, two overcoats and umbrella. When I enter or leave the train, I know that I ought to have five pieces, and I never forget them. Another way of remembering is to put the package on the floor of the carriage where I must stumble over it in going out. The other way is to carry it in my lap or to lean it up against me so that it will fall and attract my attention when I get up. If I neglect to take one of these precautionary measures the package is gone."

MARIAN

I.

She can be as wise as we,
And wiser when she wished;
She can knit with cunning wit,
And dress the homely dishes.
She can flourish staff or pen,
And deal a wound that lingers;
She can talk the talk of men,
And touch with thrilling fingers.

II.

Match her, ye across the sea,
Natures fond and fiery;
Ye who nest the turtle's nest
With the eagle's eyrie.
Soft and loving is her soul,
Swift and lofty soaring;
Mixing with its dovelike dole
Passionate adoring.

III.

Such a she who'll match with me?
In flying or pursuing,
Subtle wiles are in her smiles
To vex the world a-wooing.
She is steadfast as a star,
And yet the maddest maiden;
She can wage a gallant war,
And give the peace of Eden.

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia.

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Toothache. Better try a 25c bottle; it's all right.

No Pills like Dr. Hamilton's.

Fashion's Echoes.

The Irish laces are first in favor.

The popularity of plaid fabrics increases.

Shaded tulles are lovely new material for evening gowns.

Two piece costumes are a prevailing mode.

Much ribbon embroidery is used on evening gowns.

The cape is the evening wrap par excellence.

The plaid waist correctly accompanies the tailored skirt.

Separate waists present a host of attractive modes.

Norfolk jackets are stylish and popular this winter.

Winter shirt waist costumes are almost as well liked as were the summer ones.

The Monte Carlo coat or the kimono suggests the lines for the smartest of topcoats.

The very plain skirt is relegated to the past and is supplanted by the plaited, kilted and slot seamed model.

Velvets include metallic dots, color stripes, printed Persian effects, brocades, plaids and mirror effects.

The plain gored skirt appears this season, but the gores are many—six, seven or eight—and give the right flare around the bottom.

To "Do Up" a Veil.

To renovate a veil that is soiled, make a lather of soap and water, simmer the veil in it for twenty minutes, then squeeze out the soap with the hand and rinse in clear water, to which have been added a few lumps of sugar. Shake out the veil and flap it; do not wring it. Pin it to a clean cloth, and when dry cover it with a handkerchief and iron.

For Colds and Worry Over Little Things.

Feelings of Languor and Despondency the First Symptoms of Nervous Exhaustion—Reconstruct the Wasted Nerve Tissues by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

When you become restless and peevish, worry over little things, and are afflicted with dyspepsia, which cannot be attributed to error in diet, you may be sure that the trouble arises from nervous disorders.

Other symptoms are sleeplessness, headache, low spirits, and a tendency to put off the duties of the day. Life seems to lose its brightness, and things go wrong. When in such a condition you will find yourself very susceptible to change of air. When the atmosphere is fresh and clear you have plenty of vitality, but with heavy weather you drag yourself about feeling more dead than alive.

The first necessity is rest from work and worry, and as much fresh air as possible. Then the system must be built up and the wasted nerve force restored by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

So much mystery and uncertainty has formerly surrounded diseases of the nerves that people often make the dreadful mistake of neglecting them. They feel weak, miserable, and nervous, but try to console themselves that it will wear away. Not so. Nervous diseases do not get well of themselves, but gradually weaken the system until there is nothing left to build on.

Mrs. S. Derocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—

"I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and sleeplessness and began a treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the Ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food may not cure you in a week or even a month, but it is bound to benefit you, and will naturally and certainly restore vigour to body and nerves. There is no treatment so thourough and effective in curing nervous disorders and none which has been so generously endorsed by physicians and laymen alike. The secret of its remarkable power lies in the fact that it is a food for the nerves, and acts in accordance with nature's laws. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 10

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and bear when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

A LIFE'S MISTAKE.

Many Men Go Down Because They "Failed to Take Their Profits."

A well-known broker has said that the mistake made by so many people in their recent stock speculations was that they "failed to take their profits." That is not by any means a new mistake for men to make, nor is the error confined to dabblers in stocks, says The Toronto Star. On all sides of us are men failing to take their profits—holding on, enduring, and waiting for the large reward. They pyramid their winnings, and sometimes they make a great haul in the end, but oftener they lose in the high game when it is most promising.

A young man goes into business so that he may earn the right to lead a life worth living. He desires to live well and be independent, but he gets drawn into the vortex of affairs, and instead of "taking his profits," and enjoying life as he goes along he denies himself much and promises himself rich rewards when he retires. He doubles his business, increases his cares, and, although he doubtless learns to find a certain degree of pleasure in the strife he engages in, he has always ahead of him the goal that he had in view at the outset—the means and the time to do as he likes, have what he wants, and go where he pleases. The years begin to pass him with increasing velocity, his interest with matters unconnected with money-making declines, and eventually he is out of touch with life, except where he is in business contact with it. If he retires he cannot remain in retirement. He has money that he must invest, and when it is invested he must protect his interests. If he tries to take his ease at home, he gets drawn into speculation, but if he travels he sees fine openings for capital and such business faculties as are rusting within him.

Young men are quite sure they would be content with a stated sum if they could get it, but would they be? As S. E. Kiser puts it:

If I were rich perhaps I, too,
Would sigh as other rich men do
For greater wealth, and strive away
To win more ducats, e'en as they,
Still toiling as I richer grew.

Would life assume a fairer hue
And heaven take on a deeper blue?
Would trouble look for other prey,
If I were rich?

It is not likely the sky would be bluer and life fairer for more than a few days if a poor man acquired wealth. There would be new burdens fitted to the changed shape of a man's back. There is need for the teaching of philosophy, reconciling men to their financial lot, and teaching those who are prospering to enjoy prosperity for its own sake and while it endures, rather than seek to hoard it all for an ultimate enjoyment. The future day a man looks for may never come. Health may slowly but surely depart, leaving a man incapable of finding sound pleasure in living. The home may lose its high priestess, the children may go wrong, and, after the best part of life is spent in gathering money, the wealth collected may not be able to purchase one single thing of all that was promised or hoped for.

Men should therefore take some part at least of their profits as they go along. They should make life as nearly as possible what they want it to be, not leaving everything for some future golden day that they may never see.

DRESSED FOR THE ICE.

A Flecked Green Frieze Gown—Chinchilla Boa, Muff and Toque.

A pheasant green frieze, flecked with long white hairs, is responsible for the skating costume shown. The plaits in the skirt cease either side the front, beneath bands of plain green cloth, a material again used for the vest, revers and cape to the little banded bolero. There is worn with the gown one of the new empire stoles of fur realized in chinchilla, with toque and "granny" muff en suite. This empire fur stole is one of the most cherished details of the present modes, and it is an eminently useful possession, inasmuch as it can be disposed in various positions. The reverse side usually discovers a handsome brocade or silk covered with lace, while in some ultra extravagant instances this doubiure is created of a contrasting fur.

THE TRYING TIME

In a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood from womanhood. Ignorance and neglect at this critical period are largely responsible for much of the after misery of womanhood. Not only does Nature often need help in the regular establishment of the womanly function, but there is almost always need of some safe, strengthening tonic, to overcome the languor, nervousness and weakness, commonly experienced at this time.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity. It is a strengthening tonic, soothing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing restful sleep. It contains no alcohol neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

"I wish to tell you the benefit we have received from using your remedies," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead, Green Co., Wis. "Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail. Everything that could be thought of was done to help her, but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170, the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen, then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. She kept failing and I gave up, thinking there was no use, she must die. Friends all said, 'You will lose your daughter.' I said I fear I shall. I must say, doctor, that only for your 'Favorite Prescription' my daughter would have been in her grave to-day. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

JUST A COLD SETTLED IN THE KIDNEYS,

IT WAS CURED BY

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Read of This Wonderful Cure.
It May Do You or Your Friends Some Good to Know About It.

Miss Agnes Creelman, Upper Smithfield, N.S., writes:—About 18 months ago I caught cold. It settled in my kidneys, and finally turned into Dropsy. My face, limbs, and feet were very much bloated, and if I pressed my finger on them it would make a white impression that would last fully a minute before the flesh regained its natural color. I was advised to try DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, and before I had used half a box I could notice an improvement, and the one box completely cured me. I have never been troubled with it since, thanks to DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS.

LONG BROS. TWO STORES—
Nos. 536 and 414 George-St.

A STATESMAN ABROAD.

Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, Tells New York Canadians Something of their Country.

At the recent banquet of the Canadian Society in New York, Sir Frederick W. Borden, Minister of Militia, said:

"I know that in speaking for the people of my own country," he said, "I can say it is their desire to weld together as firmly and as strongly as possible the sentiment which actuates this country as well as Great Britain to strive together for the improvement of the human race. I doubt if such a meeting as this could take place under any other flag than the Stars and Stripe. Such meetings as this will do good work toward binding together the two great Anglo-Saxon nations. The people of Canada are a unit to this end. One hundred and twenty-five years ago a few colonies along the Atlantic coast became tired of boarding and decided to go housekeeping by themselves. Later the colonists of Canada decided to form a young nation, under the guiding hand of England, but fortunately the latter country was settled in a peaceful manner. In 1896 the aggregate foreign trade of Canada was two hundred and thirty-nine millions, and in 1902 it has mounted to four hundred and thirty-three millions. In both exports and imports the increase has been startling. Canada is more than holding her own with the progressive nations. It is said that Canadians go to the United States, but out of the 600,000 people who came to Canada last year 26,000 came from the United States. One-fiftieth of the population of the United States are Canadian-born, but more than one-fiftieth of the population of Canada came from the States. We hear a great deal to-day of reciprocity, and we are all waiting for something to assist in this direction. After all our efforts to try and sell our potatoes, barley and other products to the United States we were finally compelled to seek a European market, and we found the open market of Britain waiting for us. Now we want to thank the United States for turning us away and teaching us a lesson in self-reliance. About fifteen years ago, the Canadian Pacific was built across the continent and Canadians were of the opinion that the road would never pay. We all know now how wholly inadequate the system is. This shows the growth of Canada and ought to quell the often expressed opinion in the States that Canada consists of only a few border towns. Canada has not only grown in industry and commerce, but is making great strides in art and science. I believe there is no better equipped university on this continent than McGill. You hear a great deal said about the destiny of Canada, but we are perfectly satisfied to proceed upon our present lines, and we feel that we have no better friend to help us to do this that the United States. Some one once bounded Canada as follows: On the north by the north pole, on the east by the Atlantic Ocean, on the west by the Pacific Ocean and on the south by the Monroe doctrine. This Monroe doctrine stands just as much for freedom and liberty in Canada as it does in the United States. It is a guarantee against coercion and oppression. When it was promulgated the leading British statesmen approved it. Canadians know what it means to them, and believe in it in every form. Our mother country will always look to her daughters for counsel, and a separation from Great Britain would be almost impossible. If a war should occur between Great Britain and the United States the result would be more terrible than the war of the rebellion, but we all hope that if the two countries are drawn into any war they will both be on the same side, and marching in the same direction."

Doukhobors the Salt of the Earth.

R. Rautenberg, who has been investigating the Doukhobors since their pilgrimage was stopped. He says:

As a result of my investigations, I have come to the conclusion that the world does not possess a better, purer, more moral class of people, and that they differ from their detractors mainly in that they are actually trying to live up to the principles of Christianity which they profess. They refuse to fight; they will not bear arms; they persist in turning the other cheek. Are they right from the standpoint of Jesus, or does the hypocritical, bloodthirsty mob which glories in the destruction of the weak better represent the principles of the "Man of Peace?"

They believe that God is the Father of all life; that He loves His creatures with a tender, fatherly love. To serve Him means to the Doukhobor to serve His creatures, for he claims we cannot serve God in any other way than to love and do good to all his offspring, human and animal. Like all high and holy doctrine, this appears extreme from our standpoint, but are not the Doukhobors far nearer to the truth than those men who, while professing to love God, flock in season by thousands into the north to kill and, maim, in cruel sport, the innocent deer which harmlessly enjoy their God given life and existence? In my opinion, nothing shows more glaringly the fallen, hideous nature of man than his lust for innocent blood. Tigers only kill to eat; man is the only creature who kills his fellow-creatures for pure sport. Who is right—the Doukhobor or the sportsman?

Just Like a Woman.

The coffee was weak, the toast burned to a cinder and the ham as hard as leather, or at least he said so. His wife's long patience gave way.

"John Henry," said she, "I've tried faithfully to cook for you for twelve long years. No one in the town has better cooked food, yet you are always finding fault. Why can't you praise me once in awhile? I'd like to know that!"

He looked up in astonishment.

"Well, if you ain't the most unreasonable woman I ever saw!" he ejaculated. "Why, many and many is the time I've sat down to a meal and never said a word about it! Anybody would know there wasn't any fault to be found or I'd 'a' found it, and yet you want a better compliment than that! That's just like a woman; she can't tell a compliment when she gets one!"

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other powders, as it is both soap and disinfectant. 34

Over 102 Years of Age.

Last Tuesday Mr. John Small of Mimosa, Erin township's Grand Old Man, slipped on the ice at his own back door and fell, breaking his left leg at the thigh. Mr. Small is by long odds the oldest man in this part of Ontario, having celebrated his 102nd birthday last August. A couple of years ago Mr. Small had a severe attack of grippe, and it is rather curious that, whereas before this attack he was a man of slight build, he has since then, though over 100 years of age, put on considerable flesh. He is doing well, and, though it is not expected that the limb will heal as quickly or well as in a younger man, he has a good chance of recovery. It is to be remarked as a coincidence that he met with his accident on exactly the same spot on which his wife received a fall a few years ago, which resulted in her death.—Fergus News Record.

Messrs. E. M. Proussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

New York, Jan. 28.—We look for a good trading market with a steady tone and possibly some improvement in prices on easy money and good railway earnings.

M. & M.

It is expected blockade will gradually be relaxed as negotiations at Washington progress. There has been scattered liquidation in Pennsylvania since opening. Markets dead. Business very light, and traders inclined to sell. Apathy of Public, undoubtedly disappointment to market leaders. Underlying conditions of market good, and we don't expect much lower prices, but we do not see what is going to pull it out of rut.

J. G. MARSHALL.

Farnham sold over a million of wheat but I don't think it is for Armour; but for a big local professional, who took on a big line around 80 cents, and is throwing it overboard now.

Farnham a big seller of May wheat. I think this about bottom. Buy wheat on this break. Liverpool 1 30 p.m. Wheat 7-8 lower; Corn, 1-8 lower

DENISON.

Pressed Steel Car declared 1, 3-4 regular quarterly dividend on preferred, and 1 p.c. quarterly, also an extra 1 p.c. on common, to be divided in 1-4 dividends This is practically 5 p.c. for a progressive stock, selling around 65.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Fenelon Falls Defeated Lindsay Last Night.

The Drug Clerks Want to Play the Thos. Barrie Team—Curling Notes.

HOCKEY.

Concerning the game in Port Hope the Guide of that town says:

The game to decide whether Port Hope should go "down and out," and Belleville become champions, or if the Ontarios would still have a chance for the championship, was played at the covered rink on Monday night, and resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 5—1.

Of course Peterborough was out of the running and a large number of Port Hopers thought that they would not try to win, but before the end of the game they saw their mistake, for never did a team put up a stronger fight.

As Bobbie Mercer stepped on the ice, followed by the rest of the seven it is needless to say that they were received with cheers, as the excitement was at fever heat.

The Peterborough boys soon followed and looked quite natty in their blue and white suits. Both teams shot the puck around for some time and it was quite noticeable that the Peterborough seven were great shooters.

The game throughout was a fast, clean exhibition of hockey, and was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone who was present. Although several players adorned the fence it was for minor offences, such as tripping. During the early part of the first half the Ontarios did not play up to their usual style, but got going before the last and scored two goals to their opponents one.

In the second half as usual they played a far superior game and kept the puck in the neighbourhood of the Peterborough goal most of the time. Wasson, in goal was picking out some nice ones, but they managed to send in three that found the net, making the score 5—1.

The material of the Peterborough team this year is excellent and no doubt a number of their defeats are due to lack of practice.

The Port Hope team showed much improvement over their previous games, and if they keep the good work up the game on Friday night in Belleville will be a dandy.

Figure it out — Belleville defeated Peterborough at Belleville; score 5—2. Port Hope defeated Peterborough at Port Hope, score 5—1. Belleville defeated Peterborough at Peterborough, score 4—3. Port Hope defeated Peterborough at Peterborough, score 6—5.

McCarthy and Bonev at centre played very fast and never missed a chance to score.

On the wings, Masterson and McMillan could not be beat. They check hard and close and are very tricky. Brown, Roach and Mercer on the defence are a great trio. What one misses the other gets and it takes a pretty fast forward line to get through them.

BELLEVILLE'S VIEW OF IT.

The Belleville Intelligencer sizes up matters thus:—

Well, the Ports beat the Petes last night by a top heavy score, and to many people it looks as though the lads from out north did not make any very desperate attempts to win. They were out of the running, anyhow, and probably felt like side-stepping the bruises when there was no chance for glory.

In conversation with a gentleman who witnessed the game, however, we learned that the above view is very much off-side. Our informant says the Petes played their very hardest, and their friends were on hand with all sorts of money to back them. The Port Hopers out-played them completely and won all the way.

Rumour says that the Port Hope hockeyists have hired a Toronto trainer to get them in the best possible shape for next Friday night's match. That's nothing. The Belleville boys have been up against tall stories before. But say, there will be something doing next Friday night, sure as you're born.

FENELON FALLS BEAT LINDSAY.

Fenelon Falls, Jan. 27. — Possibly one of the fastest games of hockey ever played on Fenelon Falls rink was presented to a large crowd of spectators to-night in the return game between Lindsay and Fenelon Falls in the T.V.L. series, when the visiting team again went down before the superior and stronger combination of the home team by a score of 10 to 4. The features of the game were Bell's long lifts and the fine combination of Fenelon's forwards.

The teams lined up as follows: —

Fenelon Falls — Goal, Ellis, point, McKillen; cover point, Bell; forwards, Boyce, Dryman, Beteau, Aldous.

Lindsay — Goal, Scully; point, Tuchburn; cover point, Duffus; forwards, Parkins, Taylor, Sylvester, Cameron.

Referee — Lynch, of Peterborough.

CAMPBELLFORD SHUT OUT.

Stirling, Jan. 27.—The third game in the Trent Valley League was played here to-night between Campbellford and Stirling, on very soft ice. Result, 5 to 0 in favour of Stirling. The teams:—

Campbellford—Shaw, goal; Townsend, point; Taite, cover point; Lowry, Shannon, Donald, Shea, forwards.

Stirling — Whitty, goal; Shaw, point; Pousette, cover point; Fletcher, Airheart, Bisonette, Hewitt, forwards.

* * * *

The drug clerks of the town have accepted the challenge of the team from Mr. Thos. Barrie's. Mr. George Reilley is captain of the drug clerks.

The St. George's, of Toronto will play here on Saturday night.

Pell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street Brantford, Ontario, suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion, headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

PETERBORO' COUNTY COUNCIL

Standing Committees Have Been Appointed.

This Morning's Very Short Session—Council now in Committee.

The County Council went into session at ten o'clock this morning, the Warden in the chair. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last session were read and adopted.

Councillor Johnston submitted the report of the committee to strike the Standing Committees. It was as follows:

The Committee appointed to strike the standing Committees for the year 1903 beg leave to report, recommending as follows:

County Property — Messrs. Johnston, Moloney, Hunter, Peck and Menogue. Mr. Menogue to be chairman.

Appointments to Office — Messrs. Menogue, Johnston, Curtis and Shaw. Mr. Shaw to be chairman.

Roads and Bridges. — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck, Curtis, Moloney. Mr. Fitzgerald to be chairman.

Schools. — Messrs. Peck, Curtis, Fitzgerald, Buck and Moloney. Mr. Curtis to be chairman.

Petitions — Messrs. Johnston, Fitzgerald, Menogue, Shaw, Buck and Hunter. Mr. Hunter to be chairman.

Printing — Messrs. Shaw, Johnston, Menogue, Hunter and Buck. Mr. Buck to be chairman.

Finance — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck Curtis and Moloney. Mr. Peck to be chairman.

Equalization and Assessment. — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck, Curtis and Moloney. Mr. Moloney to be chairman.

Joint Committee — Messrs. Menogue, Curtis, Peck, Moloney, Johnston, and Shaw. Mr. Johnston to be chairman.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. J. JOHNSTON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The Warden announced that he had a number of letters from treasurers of the various municipalities, stating the amount paid by them to the Country Treasurer during the year.

The letters were referred to the Finance Committee.

Upon motion of Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, council adjourned and went into committee work.

THIS AFTERNOON'S SESSION.

The County Council went into session at 2 o'clock.

A deputation from Hiawatha was on motion first heard.

Mr. Davis, a trustee of the Hiawatha school, said he would like to have a new school built there, the present one having been condemned by the Heath Officer and the School Inspector, and the section is now practically without a school.

Mr. Troop said there was no school in the section; there certainly was a temporary building, which had been condemned. It would only hold 15 scholars and the teacher. At present, he remarked, there were 30 scholars attending this school. To get a proper school section a portion of the Indian Reserve must be obtained. This question had been before the Council at previous sessions.

Mr. Mather said that a new teacher and a new school were badly needed, but that no other teacher could be obtained. The school was, he said, in a shocking state. The Indians were quite willing to give up some of their reserve.

Mr. Thompson said the school had been re-fitted inside and out only seven years ago and he did not see how the school could be in such a shocking state as is alleged.

Mr. Gray said that Mr. Thompson was the first one to ask for a new school seven years ago, and now did not want one.

Mr. Troop read the minutes of a special meeting of the School Board, held in Feb., 1876, and said all that is wanted is a fair site for a school house, some children had to walk three miles to school, he thought the best thing would be to belong to another section.

Mr. Fitzgerald moved that the question be brought before the School Committee. This was done.

Dr. Gray wanted the County Council to allow him to appoint a stenographer for inquests, as it would be a great saving to the county.

Mr. Hunter said that the western people died natural deaths, and required no inquests, and moved that it be referred to the Finance Committee.

GOOD BLOOD.

Is the Secret of Health, Vigour and Happiness.

Good blood—rich, red blood—is the greatest enemy that disease can have. It stimulates every organ to throw off any ailment that may attack it. Good blood is the only positive cure for such complaints as anaemia, nervousness, neuralgia, skin eruptions, indigestions, rheumatism, etc., because these diseases cannot exist where the blood is good. The secret of good blood—rich, red, life-giving blood— is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Where these pills are used it means life, health and vigour. Mr. Robert Lee, a well known resident of New Westminster, B.C., says:—"Before I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, my blood was in a very impure condition, and as a result, itchy pimples broke out all over my body. My appetite was fickle and I was easily tired. I tried several medicines, but they did not help me. Then my wife urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got half a dozen boxes, and by the time I had used them, I was fully restored to health, and my skin was smooth and clear. The pills are the best medicine I know of for purifying the blood." Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not take a substitute, or something said to be "just as good." The "just as good" medicines never cured anyone.

Wife Beater Gets Six Months.

Brockville, Jan. 27.—Judge McDonald yesterday imposed sentence of six months with hard labor in the Central Prison on Patrick Travis for maltreating his wife. While his trial was pending he had arranged for a separation, granting his wife $1,000 and $100 annuity. Had it not been for this he would have been sentenced for three years instead of six months. The parties reside in Spencerville, Ont.

Inquest at Port Hope.

Port Hope, Jan. 28.—At the inquest held here last night on the remains of Fireman Matthews, and Brakeman Everist, who were killed in the G.T.R. wreck on Wednesday last, the story was re-told, and the inquest was adjourned until this morning, when it will be resumed at 10 o'clock.

IMPERIAL LIFE.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto * * The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

New Prints

SPRING—1903—DESIGNS.

Never, we believe, has been gathered a more representative lot of New Prints than will be exhibited at our store this week. It's to be "PRINT WEEK," and all the new features that can be brought into these staple commodities you will find developed here.

MEDALLION EFFECTS of Blue, Black, Green, Pink or Red on white grounds, or combination of medallion and stripe on white ground—the "pre-eminently new" feature of the season.... 12 1/2c

REGATTA STRIPES for Blouses and Outing Dresses, with all the clearness, the "clean-ness" that could be sought for. White grounds, with Reseda Rose, Sky, Delf Navy, Pink, and Black stripes yd, 12½c and 10c

REGATTA SPOTS AND SMALL FIGURES for Men's and Boys' Shirts, Boys' Blouses, etc, in the daintiest of small designs on clear white grounds, 12½c and 10c

LIGHT GROUNDS in Resedas, Greys, Pinks, Sky Blues and Nile Greens in effective floral and conventional designs. To look at them you'd imagine you were looking at fine French Organdies, the designs are so splendid, per yard 12 1/2c

RED GROUNDS with spots, stripes and small figures, in White, Black or Turkey Red grounds, indestructible washing colours, for Aprons, Wrappers, Girls' and Boys' Blouses, Children's Pinafores, etc., per yard, 12½c and 10c

NAVY INDIGO GROUNDS in spots, stripes, small figures, conventional and floral designs, also Plain Navy to match, 12½c and.... 10c

BLACK GROUNDS, with, we fancy, every sized spot and stripe, conventional, floral, small figure grounds, aniline dye, a yd, 12½c and 10c

POPULAR GREY, BLUE and LILAC GROUNDS for elderly and matronly ladies—a clean looking, clean wearing, good washing print in clever effects, per yard..... 12 1/2c

DUTCH PRINTS—Solid Indigo Blue grounds, with white spots and stripes and the typical Dutch colourings of yellow and white—guaranteed absolutely fast colours and positively wear-resisting—specially adaptable for boys' wear.

In selecting this big pile of Prints you may rest assured that neither time nor energy was spared to see to the washing qualities. We believe them to be the most satisfactory that are on the market. We have picked on two especial cloths for our 10 and 12½c lines that have excellent previous reputations. We feel assured there are none better.

TO MAKE IT WORTH WHILE—Some women—most women—plan their sewing in the winter months. 'Tis for the women we have gathered our Prints so early; but other women do not buy until they actually need their Prints. Is the latter a mistake? We think so. The assortment is not so good—the prints not so fresh—the "just-the-pattern-you-wanted" gone. Now to make it worth every woman's while to inspect this Eleven Thousand Yards of New Prints, we are going to offer a few extra specials in prices :—

LOT I—Comprising Fast Black Aniline Dye Prints with self satin stripes and white spots, figures and scroll patterns, 28 inches wide, made to sell at 12½c. Soft Finished Prints in coloured grounds, good patterns, usual width, worth 8c, for, per yard.... 5c

LOT II—In Dark Grounds, a few Black and Navy Grounds, Buffs, Reds, Lilacs, etc., in fast colours. Some new goods—some a clean-up of our present stock. Were 10 and 12½c per yard, now, per yard..... 8c

WHITEWEAR—The biggest of the big items of our January White Sale unfortunately is crowded out of this ad. for want of time before going to press. When we say better things await you than ever before during this sale it means much. Many oddments, perhaps, just your size, have a clear up price on them. See them.

Eight to Twenty People Killed Near Tucson, Ariz.

ENGINE BEYOND CONTROL.

Three Men Hurt and Several Cars Smashed at Tilsonburg—23 Dead in Disaster at Graceland, N.J.—More Than 50 Persons Were Injured—Jury at Port Hope Agrees That McDougall Is to Blame.

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 29.—Two Southern Pacific passenger trains collided head-on yesterday when running at full speed near Vails, fifteen miles east of Tucson. Eleven cars were consumed in a few minutes. The number of killed is estimated at twenty. Engineer Bruce and his fireman and Engineer Wilsia were burned to death, and the latter's fireman seriously injured. Eight bodies have been found. How many were consumed is not known. A relief train has brought seventeen injured here. The first known of the collision was the coming of the tourist car, which broke loose from one of the trains and ran down grade to Tucson, where it was captured.

A RUNAWAY ENGINE.

Slippery Track Made It Unmanageable and the Driver Jumped Off.

Tilsonburg, Jan. 29.—Yesterday morning, as a T.L.T. and P. railway engine, with two cars loaded with lumber and one box car, was backing down the Tilson siding to the mills, the engine became unmanageable, and started down the grade. Engineer Richards reversed, but the rails were slippery, and, when he saw the engine could not be controlled, he jumped.

The train backed down to the mills at a good rate of speed, and ran into some cars being loaded with flour. Mr. Meanie, who was packing the barrels in the car, was seriously injured, and two other men, Markle and Raison, were also hurt.

The runaway train then went on to the oatmeal mill, crashing into a couple more cars standing there, knocking them off the track and smashing in the ends.

The jar caused by the last collision gave the engine a start forward. The reverse acted this time. One of the crew met the train slowly ascending the grade. He jumped on and got the engine under control before further damage was done.

TWENTY-THREE DEAD.

Counting Cost of the Appalling Railway Disaster at Graceland, N.J.—Blame Placed on Engineer.

New York, Jan. 29.—Up to noon yesterday the total loss of life by Tuesday night's train wreck on the Central Railroad of New Jersey at Graceland, N.J., was believed to be 23. Thirteen bodies had been identified, and 10 were held at Plainfield for identification. From the wreckage 21 bodies were taken, and two men—W. E. Davis, engineer of the Philadelphia and Reading Express, and Thomas McCarthy, fireman of the same train—died in a hospital yesterday.

More than 50 persons were injured, some of them very severely. The hospital reports to-day, however, were that, with one or two exceptions, all will recover. The blame for the dreadful occurrence is placed by the officials of the Jersey Central on W. E. Davis, engineer of the Philadelphia and Reading Express, and, according to a policeman who took Davis from the wrecked engine, Davis is admitted that he had taken chances, regarding the danger signals displayed, expecting to see the red and green lights change to white, as he neared them. They did not change. It was too late to stop, and, in an instant, the crash came, carrying death to more than a score of human beings. The scenes following the wreck were unusually horrible.

THE JURY AGREED.

Alex. McDougall Said He Was to Blame For G.T.R. Wreck and the Verdict Fixes It.

Port Hope, Jan. 29.—The inquest, to place the cause of the death of Fireman Matthews and Brakeman Everist, was resumed here yesterday morning. Several witnesses were examined and told the story of the wreck and their duties.

Then Alex. McDougall was called, and concluded his evidence thus:

"I want it distinctly understood that it was my fault, and I do not want to blame the company in any way, as I do not think I was overworked. It was not carelessness, but an oversight."

Mr. Ward then addressed the jury, and, after about 20 minutes' discussion, they brought in the following verdict:

"We find that Thomas Matthews and Benjamin Everist came to their deaths as the result of a collision between trains extra west 895 and eastbound train third 84, engine 926, on the G.T.R., on Wednesday, Jan. 21. And we further find that the said collision was caused by an unfortunate oversight on the part of Alex. McDougall, the agent at Newtonville."

The remains of the two unfortunate men were taken to Toronto on the evening train, where they will be buried to-day.

WHAT THE ALLIES WANT.

In Conference With Mr. Bowen They Claim Preferential Treatment Over Nations Which Did Not Blockade.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The British and Italian ambassadors and Count Quadt, the German Charge d'Affaires, called on Mr. Bowen, Venezuela's representative in the negotiations looking to a raising of the blockade, and a settlement of the claims against Venezuela, about 10.30 o'clock last night, and were still in conference with him at 11.30 o'clock. This conference was by appointment, and at the request of the representatives of the allies.

It is believed that the purpose was to present the claims of the allies to the preferential treatment in payments over those nations which have not exerted physical pressure on Venezuela, but it was impossible to get any direct information on this point.

Alliance Criticised.

London, Jan. 29.—The Right Hon. Herbert Henry Asquith, M.P., speaking at Hull last evening, severely criticised the Anglo-German alliance in Venezuela, which he characterized as an ill-conceived adventure, from the risks and humiliation of which the British Government should speedily extricate themselves and the country. Mr. Asquith congratulated the Government on the agreement between the United States and Canada, to adjust the Alaskan boundary question.

JUDGE M'DOUGALL DEAD.

Suddenly Stricken While Visiting at St. Catharines.

St. Catharines, Jan. 29.—3. a.m.—Judge McDougall of Toronto died a few minutes before 3 o'clock this morning at the Welland Hotel, where he had been staying with Mrs. McDougall during the past week.

England to Keep Coal Tax.

London, Jan. 19.—Replying yesterday to a delegation of coal exporters, who asked for a hint in regard to the probability of the retention of the coal tax in the next budget, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, said: "Do not speculate on a reduction."

HUGH CLARK IS OUT

Treating by His Agent Proved at Walkerton.

CENTRE BRRCE IS VACANT.

A Sudden Ending to What Was Expected to Be a Long Trial—Evidence of Agency Given Proved Conclusive—Petitioners' Counsel Could Have Proved a Dozen Charges — Cross-Petition Dismissed.

Walkerton, Jan. 29. — The Centre Bruce election trial came to a sudden end yesterday morning, fifteen minutes after the court had opened, and the seat has been vacated. The reading of the respondent's examination for discovery Tuesday established the agency of Donald McClure of Paisley, and the evidence of Donald Galbraith of Elderslie as given yesterday morning was to the effect that during the hours of polling McClure had treated several men, the witness among them, to rye whiskey at his tavern in Paisley.

The first witness called was Alexander Rose, a liveryman of Paisley, who, however, could not assist the petitioners' case at all.

Donald Galbraith, a farmer of the Township of Elderslie, was the next witness, and he was only a few minutes in giving the evidence that decided the case. He admitted that John Munn, Malcolm Blue and John Flood had all been given rye whiskey during polling hours by Donald McClure.

Mr. Bristol, for the respondent, then admitted that, as agency and treating by McClure had both been proven, there was no use in proceeding any further.

"That will be fatal, if true," said Chancellor Boyd.

"Absolutely," was Mr. Bristol's reply, "and we need not proceed any further."

"And we need go no further," said Mr. Riddell.

"Unless you want to snow them in deeper," replied the Chancellor.

"Oh, I could prove a dozen different charges," said Mr. Riddell, but he did not intend to proceed further.

"Then the seat will be declared vacant," said Mr. Justice Maclennan.

Mr. Bristol obtained the consent permission to put the respondent in the box, and Mr. H. Clark was then questioned as to his knowledge of the existence of treating. It had been done without his consent, he said, and on many occasions he had said publicly that he wanted a clean election. He honestly desired a clean election and had said so in his own committee rooms numbers of times.

"I think I should tell you," said Mr. Justice Maclennan to the respondent, "that your examination reads very satisfactorily, and that, notwithstanding that you refused to answer some questions, I think your evidence was very fairly given."

Chancellor Boyd explained to Mr. Clark that his counsel at the examination had taken the responsibility for the refusal to answer certain questions.

"The seat is vacated," Chancellor Boyd, continued, "on the admission of counsel, and that ends the question."

Mr. Riddel then announced that, in view of the great saving of expense to his client, he would not press for costs.

Mr. Bristol, in return, stated that the cross-petition would be dropped. There were 149 charges in the petitioner's statement of particulars, and there were over a hundred witnesses to be examined, so that had the case been pressed through it would probably have lasted into next week.

Arrested in Winnipeg.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Provincial Constable McElwain arrived in the city last night from Winnipeg, having in custody Clarence Donaghy of the village of Brighton. Donaghy was for some time in the employ of the Frost & Wood Co. of Smith's Falls as agent, and is alleged to have embezzled funds to the amount of $500 and took his departure to the Western city. He spent last night in the jail, and will be taken to-day to Brighton.

Not Canada's Fault.

London, Jan. 29.—Yesterday's papers publish a lengthy statement from Lord Strathcona, the Canadian High Commissioner, in defence of the Canadian preferential tariff, Uhichc oncludes by saying that if the British manufacturer has not fully availed himself of the benefits of this preference it is not the fault of the Canadian Government or the Canadian fiscal policy.

THE CITY OF THE DEAD.

Rules and Regulations of Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Adopted at the Last Meeting of the Shareholders—Valuable Information.

At a recent meeting of the shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company the following rules and regulations were adopted:—

The main objects desired to be attained by the Directors of the Company, in the discharge of their duties, being the improvement and embellishment of the Cemetery, and the becoming and respectful burial of the dead, it is with the utmost confidence that they appeal to those who are interested and the public generally, to aid them in carrying out the following Rules and Regulations which have been adopted for the better securing these ends, and which must be strictly observed.

All purchasers of Lots who do not pay in full therefor at the time of purchase, will be required to sign (in duplicate, one being kept by the Company,) the form of agreement adopted and provided by the Company, and such purchase shall be subject to the present and all future rules and regulations of the Company.

All lots purchased of the Company, when paid for in full, will be conveyed to the purchaser in fee, but the conveyance, which shall be in duplicate, (one being kept by the Company,) will be subject to the present and all future Rules and Regulations of the Company, as if embodied therein at large.

A duplicate of any transfer or conveyance, by a purchaser from the Company to another person, shall, with proper proof of execution, be filed with the Superintendent immediately after execution of it, and retained by him that the same may be entered in the Company's Register of Lots.

Before recording the transfer of lots acquired by inheritance, an affidavit or statutory declaration by one or more of the heirs at law, providing that such heirship to the satisfaction of the Directors must be deposited with the Superintendent, in case of a devise a certified copy of the will or probate must be deposited with the necessary proof of the same being genuine, the title of the claimant in either case being made to the satisfaction of the Directors.

The proprietor of each lot, except as hereinafter provided, shall have the right to erect dressed monuments and head and foot stones and cultivate trees, shrubs and plants in the same, subject to these and future Regulations and the approval of the Directors or Superintendent for the time being.

If any monument or structure be erected or placed upon any lot, or if any inscription be placed on such monument or structure which shall be deemed by the Directors to be unbecoming or offence, or if any tree or shrub becomes detrimental to monuments on the same or adjoining lots or to the growth of the grass, the Directors or the Superintendent shall have the right to enter upon the lot or lots and remove the same respectively.

The owner of a lot or lots shall, within sixty days from the time of purchase, erect at his or her own expense, suitable land marks of stone or concrete at the corners of the plot purchased, and shall also cause the number of the lot and range to be legibly and permanently marked thereon, the tops of such posts to be level with the surrounding ground, and in case of neglect herein, the Company may place such landmarks and charge the cost against the lot or lots in said plot.

Fences, railings, walls, iron rails and hedges, in, around or upon any lot or lots are prohibited, and stone copings around plots will be allowed only when placed under the direction of the Superintendent and the top set level with the adjoining soil.

A proprietor of a lot may, with the consent of the Directors, improve the fragment or part of a lot adjoining his own, by planting trees or shrubs thereon, and the same may be purchased FROM THE COMPANY for the purpose of erecting a monument thereon, but in no case will an interment be allowed thereon.

All owners of lots must at all times keep the same properly sodded and graded, and the trees and shrubbery trimmed, and also keep in proper repair all Head Stones and Monuments erected on the lots to the satisfaction of the Directors and the Superintendent.

Tombs may be erected on lots only after approval shall have been given by the Directors to the plans and specifications therefor, submitted to them. Bodies are to be placed in them in single compartments, and each tomb must be hermetically sealed, and tablets of stone or marble, with the inscription desired must be erected or placed at the time of interment.

Foundations for Monuments and Headstones must be built of solid masonry with cement, and not be less than four feet deep. All lot and grave makers must be flat on top and set level with the ground so that a lawn mower may safely pass over them.

All contractors and workmen employed about the Cemetery shall be under the control and direction of the Superintendent, and any contractor or workman failing to conform to this regulation will not be permitted to work in the grounds.

Masons, stone-cutters and other workmen must lay planks on the paths on or over which heavy materials are intended to be placed or moved, before placing or moving the same, to protect the paths from injury. Stone cutting will not be allowed in any part OF THE CEMETERY where the grass is mown, and then only where directed by the Superintendent.

Material to be used in the erection of monuments or excavating Vaults, during the course of erection or excavation shall be placed where designated by the Superintendent.

Implements or materials used in performing any work within the Cemetery, and any earth or stones that may be left on any lot or any ground adjacent thereto, must be removed by the owner therefrom, without delay, in default of which the same will be removed by the Superintendent and the expenses thereof charged to the owner or owners of such lot or ground.

Heavy loads will not be allowed to enter the Cemetery when the paths are in a condition to be easily injured thereby.

Owners who may wish to construct vaults on their lots, or to have their boundaries more fully defined, or to make any improvements thereon, must first apply to the Superintendent, who will be present to execute and oversee such construction or improvements, and whose directions must be conformed to.

Lot owners must obtain a permit from the Superintendent before planting any tree or shrub on any lot or lots, and any tree or shrub planted without such permit will be liable to immediate removal by the Superintendent. No locust or Lilac, nor any tree or shrub that throws out suckers, shall be permitted to be planted, and all such may be removed at any time by the Superintendent, and not more than one tree or shrub shall be allowed to be planted on any one lot.

The price of lots (which are laid out to contain five graves each) in the various parts of the Cemetery, have been fixed by the Directors, according to location, desirability and value, and information relating to the purchase of the same can be obtained from the Superintendent.

Headstones erected shall not exceed three feet in height, including base, and shall not in any part be less than five inches in thickness, and the same must be set on a foundation as hereinbefore provided, and no structure that interfers with the general effect or obstructs the view will be allowed.

(To be concluded to-morrow)

Two rinks of our curling enthusiasts went to Peterborough and participated in the reception tendered the Scotchmen. They report a good time. Sandy had a "grand nicht."

Quite a pleasant evening was spent here on Monday, when the Y.P.S.C.E. of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, were entertained by the Westwood and local branches.

The public was disappointed in the Campbellford hockey match here.

Don't forget the citizens' concert on Monday night. An excellent entertainment in an excellent cause deserves an excellent house.

The young ladies who represented the hockey team at the carnival were treated to an oyster supper Saturday night, when an all-round good time was enjoyed.

Mrs. Eaton, Sr., of Norwood, is staying with her neice, Miss M. Eason.

Mr. Bainy Shearer, of Denver, Col., is home again after an absence of thirty years.

Miss Cavanagh, of Peterborough, is the guest of Miss Harrison this week.

The Y.P.S.C.E. of the Methodist church from Zion and Bethel joined the local branch here on Tuesday in a very enthusiastic meeting.

Mr. John Walsh, of Hastings, is in the village this week.

Great satisfaction is felt here in the racing capabilities exhibited in Peterborough last week by Mr. Jas. Elmhirst's handsome pacing stallion, Prince Hal., Jr. During the first day's race he had the mishap of a break down, which threw him out of the race. On the second day he won the race in straight heats. This did not suit the idea of some of the horsemen and pressure was brought to bear, to have him matched with Re-elected for $50. In the most handsome manner he won this race also in straight heats, and was pronounced by the horsemen present to be —considering it was his third day racing—the gamiest, neatest, and most promising horse in the district, a credit to the county and to his owner.

Mrs. W. J. Fortune, of Chasley, is visiting friends in this vicinity at present.

Miss Flo. Robertson left last week for a term in the Ottawa Normal School.

Mr. Lewis Smith left for Rochester to seek his fortune.

Mr. Richard Dundas has sold his farm to Mr. Jos. Staples, of Indian Point, who takes possession at once. Mr. Dundass' removal will be a distinct loss to the community.

The new manse is soon to be a reality, the sand and other material is now being placed on the ground.

OTONABEE COUNCIL

The newly elected council met pursuant to statutory enactment, composed of the following gentlemen;—John Devell, Reeve, and Councillors John H. Fife, John Carey, W. J. Porter and John J. Moore.

The following officers were appointed;—Andrew Shearer and Thos. Saucie, auditors; John C. Hope, assessor; Wm. Drummond, Collector; W. J. Porter and J. J. Moore, members of the local Board of Health; John Dingsdale and Wm. McCallister, Sanitary Inspector.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, of Peterborough, was present asking for aid for Thos. Crowley who is afflicted with cancer, who has been a resident of Otonabee for a long time but has recently moved into Peterborough which has granted him $3.00 per week. On motion the council granted him $2.00 per week.

The following persons are to be allowed for charity; the sums set opposite their names;—Jas. Douglas, $3.00 per month and $21.45 overdrawn in 1902 and $1.00 per month for W. G. Read for house rent; John Doris, $5.00 per month and $2.50 per month to Miss Sinclair for house rent; Wm. Wedlock, $1.00 per week for keep of Jas. Kain; Jas. Rennie, $3.00 per month; Mrs. McDermott, $3.50 per month.

Messrs. John Troop, Jas. Grey, D. Mather, J. R. Davies, were present, representing the minority side of the Hiawatha School dispute, asking the council to have the following grievances remedied; To have a new school house built on a more central site; that the old building is unfit for a school, being condemned by the Inspector, who has withheld the government grant. The late Medical Health Officer was also present and stated that it is in an unsanitary condition; not sufficient air space—no ventilation except through the floor. The council took no action, as it is not aware of what jurisdiction it could have in th ematter.

The following communications were received;—From the Ontario Bank, showing $3,513.00 to the township's credit on the 31st of Dec. 1902. From the Children's Hospital Toronto, asking for aid. No action taken. From the Times Printing Co. asking for the 1903 printing. On motion the Examiner Printing Co. was awarded the printing.

FEET SWELLED. BACK ACHED.

Dr. Pitcher Completely Cured a Young Lady Subject for Years to Serious Kidney Trouble.

There are many young women at the present time earning an honorable livelihood as clerks in stores, operators in factories, dressmakers, bookkeepers, typewriters, etc., whose occupation, from its very nature, renders them more or less susceptible to pain in the back or side, frequent headaches, constipation and many other ailments resulting from disordered kidney and sluggish liver.

Any young lady suffering from the effects of kidney trouble will find no other remedy prove so effectual as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They are small and pleasant to take, and their action, while thoroughly curative, does not disturb the weakest system.

Miss L. Francis, whose address is 14 St. Patrick Street, Toronto, Ont., after being cured by the Tablets, gave the following statement:—"I procured Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets two weeks before Christmas, and they worked like a charm in my case. I was a victim to kidney trouble and weak, painful back for a number of years, and have taken a great many patent medicines, but while some gave temporary relief, others made me worse, and I never expected to get anything to cure me this side of the grave. Dr. Pitcher's wonderful Kidney Tablets, however, have done me a world of good. They have taken away that awful pain in the small of the back that used to bother me so, especially in damp, cold weather. The swelling of my feet which worried and inconvenienced me greatly, has left, and I am in better health now than I have been in the past two years."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are 50c. a bottle, at all druggists, or by mail. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

A STUMBLING BLOCK.

Alaska Boundary Must Come First—Other Questions Between Canada and U.S. to Wait Until It Is Settled.

Washington, Jan. 29. — Senator Foster of Washington recently presented to Secretary Hay the request of some of his constituents for the establishment of a fish hatchery on the Fraser River in British Columbia, which has called forth a general statement from the Secretary showing it to be the policy of the State Department to take no action upon any minor questions affecting the relations between the United States and Canada so long as the dispute over the boundary between British America and Alaska remains undetermined.

In a letter to Senator Foster the Secretary says:

"The recommendations of the Joint High Commission, so far as they touched upon the subjects upon which concurrent opinions were reached, are still in abeyance, the drift of sentiment on both sides being that while an agreement upon the subjects brought before the commission appeared to be desirable, and for the most part obtainable, it seemed appropriate to dispose of them as a whole, subject to the adjustment of the main question of the Alaskan boundary.

"The indisposition of the Canadian Government to assent to the settlement of the subordinate questions pending the disposal of the boundary question makes it unlikely that a particular detail of the general plan would be favorably considered by the British Government at this time.

"Moreover, the legal question as to the jurisdiction or authority of the Federal Government to deal with the matter is still unsettled, the preponderance of opinion, however being that it should properly be settled by treaty rather than by concurrent legislation or local understanding."

No Advance Made.

London, Jan. 29.—The Graphic, in commenting on the Alaska Treaty, says: "As for the prospect of a final settlement of the question, it requires a good deal of optimism to discover that it is much advanced by the new treaty."

PLEASANT PROSPECT

Premier Ross Believes Provinces Will Get the Subsidies.

THE OTTAWA CONFERENCE,

Ontario Could Spend the Additional Money Usefully—An Opportunity to Invest a Portion of It in the Trust Funds Due to the Dominion on the Common School Lands.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Premier Ross returned from Ottawa last night, after attending the conference of Provincial Premiers. When seen at his residence, the Premier expressed his satisfaction with the interview with the Dominion Cabinet on Tuesday afternoon. All the Provinces had been represented, some by one member of the Government as well as the Premier. The conference of the various Provincial Premiers and their colleagues before approaching the Government was very satisfactory. There seemed to be no desire on the part of one Province to gain any advantage over the others, as each accepted the basis of population as entirely satisfactory. The reception of the Provincial Premiers by the Government had been most cordial, and Mr. Ross expressed his confidence that the application would be entertained. Whether any condition would be attached to the grant or not he was unable to say, but he felt convinced that no condition would be attached, if any, that would interfere with Provincial autonomy or curtail the constitutional privileges now enjoyed by the Provinces.

Concurrence Necessary.

The arrangement could not be carried out without the concurrence of the Legislatures of the different Provinces—or, at least, a majority of them—the House of Commons and the Imperial Parliament. In a matter affecting a change of the constitution, it was not unreasonable, Mr. Ross said, to ask the concurrence of the Provincial Legislatures, and even their concurrence would probably be ineffective with the Imperial Government unless it was confirmed by the Parliament of Canada. If the parties to the ratification of the proposed adjustment of the constitution on this side of the Atlantic all concurred, the Imperial Parliament would, no doubt, unhesitatingly grant the desired amendment. The alteration of a few words in the British North America act, so as to provide that the per capita subsidy to the Provinces was to be based on the last decennial census, rather than on the census of 1861, would be the only change necessary.

The Effect on Ontario.

Mr. Ross was able to say that, for the present session, there was not likely to be any deficit, and the means of the Province were ample to carry on every enterprise just now under contemplation. "With a larger revenue, there are, however," he added, "large spheres of usefulness to which the money could be applied. The demand for technical education has become very urgent, and in view of the rapid growth of our manufactures it is of the utmost importance to Canada, if we are to get a foothold in the markets of the world. Agriculture makes many calls, and, although we are doing a great deal with our limited means, there is vast room for development in that direction And similarly with the demands for development of our natural resources, such as our minerals, and the opening up of new Ontario.

A Chance For Investment.

"In the adjustment of the accounts between Ontario and the Dominion, the Province of Ontario will no doubt be called upon in a very short time to place to the credit of the trust funds of the Dominion the unpaid arrears on common school lands. This fund yields the Province interest at 5 per cent. It would appear to be wise to invest in this trust fund as much of the additional grant from the Dominion as practicable, in order to increase the permanent income of the Province for the future. This cannot be done all at once, but, extended over a few years, will leave a considerable margin for immediate use. Once this account was squared, the whole additional grant from the Dominion could then be applied for the present necessities of the Province. The policy of the Liberal party, that Ontario, should keep its investments intact, and if possible increase them, might as well be considered in connection with this additional source of income.

$2,159,832 MORE.

Total Increase in Subsidies Asked by Provincial Premiers.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—The total increase in provincial subsidies as demanded by the provinces would amount to $2,159,832, but of this amount, under the present arrangement, the Dominion has to pay, under the increase in census, to Manitoba, British Columbia and New Brunswick sums amounting in all to $151,824.

Premier Murray and Attorney-General Longley, Nova Scotia, left for home yesterday. Before leaving, both expressed the opinion that the increased subsidies would be given by the Dominion.

Other Provinces' Wants.

The provincial representatives of P.E.I. now in the city had an interview with the members of the Cabinet yesterday and put in a strong plea in favor of not having their representation in Parliament reduced, notwithstanding that the population has declined Mr. McKinnon, M.P., was along with the delegation.

After the Chinese.

Premier Prior and Attorney-General Eberts, British Columbia, had an interview with the members of the Dominion Government in the forenoon in regard to Chinese immigration. They asked for an increased head tax. When the last increase was made Sir Wilfrid said that it was put on as an experiment and if not found satisfactory then it could be augmented.

The Halifax Award.

The provincial representatives of Quebec, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island had an interview with the Minister of Justice and Hon. Jas. Sutherland, in reference to the Halifax award, of which these provinces want their proportion handed over to them. They presented a test case to the Minister of Justice, which in due course will likely be submitted to the Supreme Court.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

Strike Commission Is Asked to Force the Heads of the Coal Carrying Roads to Limited Supply.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 29.—Counsel for the miners yesterday asked the commission to require the attendance of the presidents of the coal carrying roads, as it was desired to prove by them that they had limited the output in order to force up prices. This charge is an offset to the constant claim of the operators that the Miners' Union limited the production.

The commission took the position that there was a natural limitation to the production of coal, which limit was the consuming capacity of the country. Chairman Gray took the position that a miner may say he will work but three days a week, but that the union has no right to say that no other men may work but three days a week. There was considerable discussion as to the right of the owner of a mine to get out all the fuel he could at all hours of the day.

There seems to be no question that the production of coal has been limited, but each side charges the other with responsibility for this limitation and each side contends that it has the right to limit the output.

PRINCE KILLED HIMSELF.

Driver of His Carriage Tells a Story Pointing to This.

Nordhausen, Prussian Saxony, Jan. 29.—Prince Wolfgang Zu Stolberg-Stolberg, who was found shot in the head early Tuesday in the park of his castle at Rottleberode, probably committed suicide. His father lay dead in the castle of Stolberg, and the son started to drive from his own castle at Rottleberode to spend the night by his father's body. The Prince took a hunting rifle with him in the carriage. As the family explains, it was his custom to shoot game during his drive. While his carriage was still in Rottleberode Park, the Prince told the driver to stop, got out and walked, carrying his rifle into the thick woods. The driver later heard a shot, and waited a long time for the Prince's return. Then the men searched the woods and found the Prince dead, shot in the head, and his hands still clutching the rifle.

The Prince, who was 53 years of age, was the hereditary member of the Prussian House of Lords. His father was elevated from the rank of count to that of Prince this year. The bodies of the father and son probably will be buried side by side.

THEORIES ABOUT CATARRH.

Peculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head, was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case; his plan was to eat nothing for twenty-four hours, or presumably until the trouble had disappeared.

Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy, but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties.

Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head, and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become a fad, would make of us a nation of fasters, an army emulating the example of the immortal Tanner, who achieved world wide fame by fasting forty days.

Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease, and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly over eating, is a very common cause.

Most people, however, are more interested in the cure of the trouble than in the trouble, and modern medical science has produced more effective and less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's.

Hydrastin is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of Catarrh. Red Gum is another, which on account of its antiseptic properties, is very valuable, while many severe cases of Chronic Catarrh have been entirely cured by the sanguinaria or Extract of Blood Root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable and convenient, and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is aso apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular demand.

They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of travelling men, because they can be carried in the pocket, and used at any time and in any quantity, being free from Cocaine, opiate or any poisonous drugs.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours time.

For nasal Catarrh they are far superior to any wash, lotion or ointment, the use of which is often as inconvenient and annoying as the disease itself.

For coughs, colds, bronchial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach, these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure, where lotions, inhalers and douches make no impression whatever.

This preparation is a boon to catarrh sufferers, and any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Carrh Tablets is a remedy that has come to stay.

DEPLORABLE CONDITION.

Of Quebec Educational System Commented on by Mr. Tarte.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—"In the Province of Quebec we have no mechanical schools worthy of the name. Our educational system is in a deplorable condition, and when I was at the head of the Public Works Department we were actually obliged to employ marine engineers on tugs and dredges at Sorel and other places in Quebec who could neither read nor write. These men were very good mechanics, but how can illiterate workmen compete with the rest of the world?"

Thus spoke the Hon. J. Israel Tarte at yesterday morning's session of the National Association of Marine Engineers at Rideau Hall.

Mr. Tarte went on to say that he had just returned from an extended tour in the United States, and while he was in Lowell, Mass., he had visited a technical school which had cost the enormous sum of $500,000.

INCREASE OF $37,000,000.

What the Annual Report of Trade and Commerce Shows.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—According to the annual report of the Department of Trade and Commerce, the aggregate trade has exceeded that of the previous year to the extent of over $37,000,000. The increase over 1895 is $199,500,000. It is pointed out that Canada leads the procession in trade increases, the percentage being as follows:—Canada, 96.05; Japan, 89.06; Commonwealth of Australia, 62.21; United States, 48.58; Netherlands, 43.80; Italy, 39.01; Germany, 32.45; Belgium, 32.08; Argentine Republic, 30.91; United Kingdom, 24.77; France, 18.16; Spain, 3.65; Cape Colony, 2.62.

Our trade during the year per capita of population figures at a little over $77, that of the United States at between $30 and $31; Great Britain, $102; France, between $53 and $54; Germany, about $41.

DEATH OF MR. W. J. BELL,

A Highly Respected Employee of the Stanley Piano Co.

The sad death of Mr. Wellington J. Bell, occurred yesterday afternoon at his father's residence, on Reid street. Mr. Bell, whose age is 17 years, succumbed to the effects of scarlet fever, after an illness of five weeks. The deceased was an employee of the Stanley Piano Company, and a valuable member of the 57th Band, and the Charlotte street Sunday School Orchestra. Great regret is expressed by his many friends and among these are his employers, who held him in great respect.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery and was private.

They went to St. Catharines last Friday in the hope that the Judge, who had been in ill health for some time, would recuperate. His illness was due to overwork.

Mrs. McDougall was awakened this morning by her husband moaning. Dr. Radcliffe was immediately summoned, but when he arived the Judge was dead.

The deceased was the father of Mrs. Dr. Young of town, whose many friends here will extend their most sincere sympathy.

AN ACCIDENT.

North Country Lumberman Crushed by Rolling Logs.

Monday morning about daylight a man named Pat Sweeney, employed in one of the Dickson Company's camps, about 20 miles from Gooderham, met with a very serious accident. He was driving a team attached to a big load of saw logs, and while descending a small declevity the binding chain gave way and the logs rolled off the sleigh. Several of them fell on Sweeney, and pinned him down in the snow. When released it was found that his back had been severely sprained, and indications pointed to internal injuries as well. He was taken to his home near Peterborough.

THE NON-COMS. SUCCESSFUL ASSEMBLY

Held in Bradburn's Opera House Last Night.

MOST EXCELLENT MUSIC.

A Large Number Took in the Event—Energetic Work of the Committee A Delightful Evening.

The Non-Coms. of the 57th Regiment scored another triumphant success last night in the "At Home" which was given in the Opera House under their auspices. It was the annual dance of the Non-Coms. of the 57th, Regiment and in view of the fact that the previous assemblies gotten up by the boys in scarlet have been attended with such significant success, the event of last night had been eagerly awaited by many. Truly the ball was one of, if not, the most magnificent social functions given in Peterborough for many a day, and was well attended by the members and friends of the Rangers.

Most elaborate preparations had been made, and now, that it is over the Non-Coms. may congratulate themselves upon the energy displayed, and the success which crowned their efforts.

The interior of Bradburn's Opera House, perhaps never looked prettier, it being decorated on a most elaborate scale. The many extra electric lights was sufficient to set the hearts of every one aglow. The chief feature of the decorations was perhaps the display of electric lights. In this regard especial mention might be made of the figure, "Non-Coms., 57th," which was displayed in electric lights above the stage. In the centre of the hall, hanging from the ceiling, was a magnificent chandelier of electric lights, beautifully draped in regimental colours, and made a pretty effect on the costumes of the ladies and the glorious uniforms of the military men. The general decorations perhaps surpassed anything of the kind attempted in the Opera House and that is saying a good deal. Flags and bunting were used in profusion, while every where throughout the hall were displayed firearms, bayonets, swords and the like, very neatly arranged. A feature of the decorations was the table in the north-west corner of the hall, on which there was a very valuable display of trophies won by the different teams of the Regiment in rifle competitions, and were much admired throughout the evening.

The music for the dance was supplied by Mr. R. Gliddon's orchestra and it proved to be most excellent. It provided less noise than the band, and of course the time was well marked. Mr. Gliddon is to be congratulated upon the splendid orchestra which he raised for the occasion and it is hoped that it will continue to except engagements of this sort. The orchestra occupied the stage during the evening.

It is quite safe in saying that the dance held in the Opera House last night was the most successful of the season's many dances. The Non-Coms. to a large extent denied themselves the pleasure of dancing and performed guard and piquuet duty in the cloak rooms and at the door, and various other ways throughout the evening.

Th eopening set of honour was composed as follows:—

Mrs. C. B. McAllister and Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Mrs. F. Lount and Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton and Major Stevenson, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun and Major Dennistoun, Mrs. Stevenson and Major L. M. Hayes, Mrs. Crane and Capt. Walker, Mrs. T. A. S. Hay and Capt. Vernon McGill, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson and Capt. W. H. Hill, Miss Dennistoun and Capt. W. H. Cluxton, Miss Baldwin and Lieut. Walker, (Queen's Own,) Mrs. Peter Campbell and Lieut. E. O. Bradburn, Mrs. W. T. Hall and Capt. Hall.

The handsome uniforms of the military men was a novel feature of the dance. There were representatives from the local regiments and from some of the outside regiments.

The patronesses of the dance were: Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton. Mrs. T. A. S. Hay, Mrs. E. B. Edwards, Mrs. J. Crane, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, Mrs. A. Stevenson, Mrs. J. W. Miller and Mrs. P. Campbell.

The committee which had charge of the arrangements was composed of the following Non.-Coms.:—Ambulance-Sergt. Sharpe, Sergt. Paddon, Col.-Sergt. Edwards, Sergt. Best, Col.-Sergt. Cottrell, Corp. J. G. Gemmell, Sergt. Batten, Corp. Henderson. Mr. A. F. Paddon, honourary secretary, is being showered with congratulations upon the excellent work he did and the faithful manner in which he discharged the duties of his onerous office He was ably assisted by his fallow Non-Coms.

The committee wish to thank Messrs. R. Hall, H. LeBrun, J. C. Turnbull & Co., T. Barrie, F. H. Clarke, R. Neill and others for assistance rendered them.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons had charge of the decorations, and the supper was supplied by Mr. Harry Long, Peterborough's well-known caterer, in his usual capable manner.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

OPERA COMING.

The Grau Opera Company will appear in the Opera House here on Feb. 16th, presenting "The Wizard of the Nile." It is four years since the people of Peterborough have been able to see an opera in their own house, and Mr. Bradburn is displaying great energy in bringing this well known Opera Company to the town.

GRAND COUNCIL OF INDIANS.

Three Reserves to Meet in Consultation.

Mr. McClary From Toronto to be Present—Pleasant Social at Hiawatha.

A grand council of the Indians of the three reserves of Hiawatha, Scugog and Chemong will be held at Chemong, the Indian Village, to-morrow. It is estimated that 100 Indians will be there including the chiefs of the reserves. Owing to the illness of Chief Paudash his son, Mr. J. Paudash, will represent him. At 10 o'clock to-morrow a grand Council-of-War will be held, and another one at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The council will last for two days.

Owing to the illness of Mr. G. Leeks, the councillor, Mr. Madden Howard will substitute him.

Mr. McClary, of the Indian Department, will be present, he having been asked by the Indians to look after their claims. On Thursday and Friday evenings there will be a social meeting.

Last night a social was held at Hiawatha, there was a large attendance and the evening was a very pleasant one.

TRADES AND LABOUR COUNCIL.

New Delegates Hand in Their Credentials—Report of Auditors.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Trades and Labour Council was held on Wednesday evening in the Central Labour Hall, Water street.

Under the order of Reception of Credentials, a number of new delegates presented their official papers which were on motion received and confirmed.

The Recording Secretary presented accounts amounting to $4.75 which were on motion ordered to be paid.

Thos. Stenton, on behalf of the Auditors, made a verbal report, stating they had examined the books and vouchers of the Treasurer and Financial Secretary and found them well kept and correct. A written report would be presented at next meeting.

Chas. Murty, on behalf of the Committee on Revision of Constitution reported. Additions to a number of the clauses were recommended and on motion adopted.

F.F. Garden, on behalf of the Committee appointed to wait upon Mr. Hampden Burnham with the view of securing his consent to deliver his interesting lecture on Trades Unionism, reported that Mr. Burnham had cordially met the wishes of the committee, but advised that the lecture be delivered in the Opera House instead of the Labour Hall. A discussion resulted in the committee being instructed to engage the Opera House for this lecture and provide other attractions to vary the programme of the evening.

The council then adjourned.

POLICE COURT.

Five Boys who Appeared on Charge of Theft.

At the Police Court to-day before Mr. Dumble, the Chief Magistrate, five boys whose ages ranged from 10 to 14 years, were charged with stealing five fox skins, two sweaters, two caps, two toques and several pairs of moccasins from different stores in town. The articles, it appears were on exhibition outside the several stores and were stolen on Jan. 23rd. Four of the boys pleaded guilty, while the fifth, not guilty. They were remanded in gaol till Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when they will be tried by Mr. Dumble.

A SLEIGH DRIVE

Accompanied With an Unpleasant Incident.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt entertained the choir of St. Luke's church in driving round the town. Whilst driving on Water street, north of Smith street, a number of boys proceeded to bombard the sleigh and its occupants with snow balls, which were aimed with telling effect, several ladies being injured in the face by the hard missiles. Luckily a physician was with the party and his services were at once brought into practice.

This is not the first instance of sleighing parties receiving ill usage by a crowd of young hoodlums who make their presence obnoxious in that particular vicinity.

SNOW BYLAW.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I thought we had a bylaw to compel people to clean their sidewalks in front of their own property. If we have such a bylaw I think the council ought to instruct the proper authorities to enforce it and make everybody clean their sidewalks in front of their property and the back and sides, and any vacant property, the Town should send men to do the work and send the bill to the owner. I certainly think it a shame and a disgrace the state our sidewalks are allowed to get into, some people clean off their portion and their neighbour leaves his on. There is also one place on Charlotte street, in front of the curling rink, that you almost need a canoe to get across in soft weather like the present. I suppose the Rink Company think they have no right to clean it. However, I hope the council will take this matter up seriously and compel the police to do their duty. I notice that in the Village of Campbellford several persons were fined for not removing the snow from the front of their premises, and in the town the size of Peterborough it is "go as you please."

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

ST. PAUL'S ANNUAL MEETING.

Very Satisfactory Reports Were Presented.

THE NEW MISSION CHURCH.

Finances of Church—Remarks by Prominent Members—the Young Men's Guild Doing Excellent Work.

The St. Paul's annual congregational meeting took place in the church last night at 8 o'clock, a large attendance being present. The proceedings were opened by a hymn followed by a prayer given by Rev. J. A. Wilson. On motion, Mr. J. Carnegie was elected chairman.

Rev. Dr. Torrance then read the report of session which was as follows:

The work of the church has been carried on with some degree of encouragement during the past year. The attendance at Sabbath services and at week day meetings has been good. The ammounts raised for the mission schemes as well as the number of contributions have been larger than for some years. The membership continues about the same—the additions by certificate and profession of faith having been forty-three, and the losses by death and by removal, forty-two. The losses by death were eighteen—the largest number which we have ever had to record.

In the month of ——Mr.. John Crane, who had been our organist and choir-master for the past number of years, resigned his position. It was with great regret that his resignation was accepted, as he had occupied the position with complete satisfaction to the choir and the congregation at large. In the autumn Mr. Wildgust was appointed as his successor.

In the month of April Mr. Yule's engagement as assistant minister terminated. The congregation would gladly have retained his services for another ear, but he was unwilling to receive the engagement as he desired ordination and settlement.

Mr. Wilson has been the assistant since Mr. Yule left and has discharged his duties with great fidelity and earnestness. He has built up a large bible class and has been most diligent in pastoral work.

The session regard with much satisfaction the formation of a Young Men's Guild. There can be little doubt that this Guild will be a blessing to the young men and a help to the congregation.

With the opening of the new mission building next Sabbath, the responsibilities of the congregation will be largely increased, and it is hoped that the members and adherents will do all in their power to advance the cause of Christ in our midst.

E. F. TORRANCE,
Moderator of Session.

The report was adopted.

MANAGERS' REPORT.

Mr. J. W. Bennett then read the mangers' report, which was as follows:—

It is not with very comfortable feelings that the Board of Managers present their report on this occasion, as they have to announce a deficit of $559.00 with the prospect next year of increasing this sum to one thousand dollars unless some radical changes are made in the financial operations of the church.

It must be noted tha tthe year began with a deficit of $205 so that the actual shortage for the year is $[illegible]. This sum can be accounted for [illegible] the extra cost of the musical services, extra plumbing account, and the triennial insurance of $240, but each year brings its own burdens and the means must be provided or the usual fixed expenditure reduced.

In their last report the Board of Managers anticipated an expenditure of $300 for painting the outside of the church which has not yet been done. There is likewise an estimated additional expenditure this year of $350 in connection with the ordinary running expenseas of the Mission School. It is true that there should be an additional revenue from the same source, but to what extent can only be known by actual experience.

The revenue during 1902 was slightly in excess of last year, but it should be several hundred dollars better.

The number contributing by envelope was only 340, and in many cases two or three of these belong to the same family. When it is recalled that we have 400 families connected with the congregation and 740 members, to say nothing of adherants, it is apparent that a large proportion are not paying anything by envelope towards current expenses.

As to the 340 contributors a committee of the Board has p epared a list of those whom the commitee think might increase a certain per centage in view of the additional advantages derived from the employment of an assistant minister. To avoid personal solicitation the Committee would be very pleased if contributors would voluntarily increase their present yearly subscriptions.

There is however a bright side to this report, namely, that the revenue for the past year is $575.00 greater than that of 1900, $770.00 greater than that of 1899.

Upon an examination of the expenditure for the last year or two we find that an annual fixed increase has been made of about $1,000 as follows:—

Assistant Minister,...	$300 00
Organist, ...	100 00
Sabbath School Grant,...	50 00
Music Grant,...	25 00
Records,...	15 00
	$490 00

The retiring members of the Board are Messrs. R. Innes, P. Hamilton, Thos. Tucker and Dr. Greer, all of whom are eligible for re-election.

The place of Mr. R. E. Wood, who resigned during the term should be filled.

Auditors for 1903 should also be appointed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. W. BENNET,
Secretary.

MISSIONARY REPORT.

The Missionary report read by Mr. Innes ran as follows:

The total amount contributed for Missions during the year is $1,735.53.

We are much pleased again to state that of this sum $750 was specially contributed for the support of three missionaries in the North West during 1903 in renewal of a similar contribution for 1902, and from the same source.

The balance of $1,035.53 is the actual amount contributed by envelope on the first Sabbath of each month and has to be allocated at this meeting between Home and Foreign Missions and French Evangelization.

There were 180 monthly and annual contributors totalling $302.27 and 22 envelopes without name or number amounting to $26.40. These two amounts, with $8.86 of accrued interest on Bank deposit make up the above sum of $1,035.53.

It is gratifying to note an increase this year both in the amount contributed and in the number of contributors.

The total number of contributors to Missions this year is 362, which is about 140 less than those contributing to the ordinary or current expenses of the congregation.

Respectfully submitted,

R. INNES,
Secretary Treasurer.

The report was adopted.

BUILDING COMMITTEE.

The report of the Building Committee was then read by Mr. R. E. Wood, being as follows:

The report of the Building Committee entrusted with the erection of the Mission Building on Reid street in the Town of Peterborough.

Your Committee have to report that pursuant from instructions from the congregation they procurred subscriptions for the sum of $1,781.50 promised by 96 subscribers, which with the sum of $815.23 subscribed to the Century fund and $438.88 received from the Sunday School fund makes in all $3,035.60 being $35.60 in excess of the sum of $3,000.00, estimated to be the cost of erecting a building of the dimensions proposed.

Your Committee then advertised for tenders but found that the cost of material, labour etc. had so advanced that the best tender they were able to get for the erection of the building exceeded $4,000.00.

Your Committee, thereupon, consulted with the Session and the Board of Managers at a joint meeting and were directed to proceed with the work which they accordingly did and let the contract for the building to C. Rutherford & Co., at the sum of $4,037.00—the lowest tender.

Upon locating the foundation of the building and keeping in view the probable erection of a church edifice upon the same plot at some future time your Committee found it necessary to purchase a strip of land 15 feet in width north of and adjoining the lot already owned by the church, which they did at a cost of $135.00.

The sum subscribed has all been paid except $105.00.

PETERBORO' COUNTY COUNCIL

North Monaghan Deputation Given a Hearing.

They Want a Bridge—Also Deputation From Smith re Condition of Roads.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A deputation from North Monaghan was then given a hearing. came about a bridge condemned by about a bridge that is condemned by the County Engineer, as being unsafe. He said that the sum of $100 had been granted, but had not been claimed, as the expense would be greater than that amount. The bridge, he said, was on the main road in the Township of Monaghan, and that there were in that township 23 bridges to be kept up.

Mr. Brown said the township was a small one, lying just outside Peterborough, and there was a great deal of traffic in the district. The bridge had been closed and patched up, but it must now be rebuilt, but to do that the small township would incur a heavy debt.

Mr. Morrow said he was one who was appointed to view the bridge a short time ago. The bridge was an absolute necessity.

Mr. Bradburn said the bridge was a necessity to Peterborough and must be rebuilt. The cost of the bridge, he estimated, would be about $700.

Mr. Fowler said he could assure the councillors that the bridge was a necessity.

Mr. Shaw moved that the matter be referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

A deputation from the Township of Smith was then given a hearing.

Mr. Elliott was the first speaker. He said that a certain road up a hill in that township was in a deplorable condition. A great amount of cheese was shipped over this hill and several accidents had occurred. He thought that $200 would mend matters.

Mr. Scott said that he knew the road very well, and the worst part was the aforesaid hill, which was impassible for heavy vehicles, traction engines, etc., to traverse it

Mr. Hunter moved that it be referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

The council then adjourned to take up committee work.

BLAIRTON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The nomination on Wednesday, 21st inst., for councillor, to fill the place of H. Chase, who resigned, resulted in placing in the field Mr. J. W. Johnston and Mr. A. Waller. An election will be held.

On Saturday, 24th inst., Mr. Francis Froats, one of Blairton's first settlers, aged over 80 years, died at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. W. Dafoe, of Cordova.

CONCERNING PUNCTUALITY.

Being Mostly a Complaint About People Who Are "Too Previous."

Tiresome as the guests are who spoil a dinner and keep all their fellow guests waiting twenty minutes longer than necessary, thus prolonging the dreary before dinner interval, I think one feels even more exasperated, from a hostess' point of view, with those who come too early. While the anxious giver of the feast is hurrying into her dinner dress, perhaps mindful of one or two small items yet undone, it is trying even to the most placid temperament to hear a peal from the hall door bell a quarter of an hour before the earliest expectation, announcing the advent of the first arrival, who must be admitted and smiled upon and conversed with in spite of aggrieved feelings.

Who does not know also those painfully early risers who will get up long before breakfast, to the annoyance of housemaids and their own discomfort, who greet their host and hostess with a reproachful "We have been down some time!"

Then there is the fussy host, who speeds his parting guests half an hour too soon to catch a train, thus inflicting on his victims a long wait at a dull, drafty station till they are bored and tired before they commence their journey.

Life is too short to spend so much of it in unnecessary waiting as is done by these "too previous" spirits and the unfortunates they drag in their train. Punctuality does not consist in always being too soon for everything, as those householders seem to think who keep their clocks habitually ten minutes too fast. The happy knack of real punctuality is a royal gift, the outcome of forethought and kindly consideration for the feelings of those with whom we have to do.

As it has often been remarked that it is never safe to count upon our deaf friends being always dull of hearing, in the same way it is not wise on all occasions to reckon even on the most confirmed habit of procrastination. Dilatory people can and will sometimes unexpectedly bestir themselves, like a bride whose relatives so impressed upon her the necessity of being in good time on her wedding day that she arrived at the church before even the officiating clergy had put in an appearance.—Lady Onslow.

A CRY OF RELIEF.

"I Think I Could not live Without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets" Says Mrs. Thos. Board.

"I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets." These are strong words. But people who have suffered the tortures of dyspepsia and found relief are not mild in their statements. They alone fully realize what they have suffered. They alone know how great the relief is. For having once laid off the burden of weariness, the aches, the pains that are the portion of every sufferer from dyspepsia, they feel that to take them up again would practically mean to quit living.

Thus, when Mrs. Thomas Board, of Glen Williams, exclaims, "I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," you can read thankfulness in every word of her statement. It is a message, too, to other sufferers from dyspepsia that their case is not hopeless. That if they will but try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they will once more find pleasure in life; they will feel as if they had dropped a heavy load; they will feel light and chsery and happy and they will join thousands of others in singing the praises of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

STORY OF A WORKSTAND.

An Easily Removable, Quickly Adjustable Folding Bag and Stand.

One day in the waning year, when for the first time the mercury was seeking the small figures in the neighborhood of zero, I was sitting by the window sewing; by the window principally because my rather heavy workstand, with all its conveniences, stood there. As my blood congealed from weather and inaction united, the "too faraway" fire looked very inviting.

But every woman knows what it is to gather up a big pile of work and all the tools of her trade and move from one location to another, even if that location be a more comfortable one.

FOLDING BAG STAND.

Just then in came Sally Sharp, under whose feet the grass never grown. She took in the situation at a glance. First she assisted in "the moving;" then she said firmly, "What you need is a combined easily removable quickly adjustable bag stand for needlework of every description, and you shall have it!"

And here it is as it appeared on Christmas morning—a nicely stained wood frame and a beautiful bag of mercerised cotton with rows of handy inside pockets that do not show in the design. The morri of this tale lies in the application of it.—Florence Gay.

THE RIGHTS OF MAN.

Jules Roche and Others Call For Revision of French Constitution.

Paris, Jan. 29.—A proposition, backed by Jules Roche and other deputies, was introduced in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, calling for a revision of the constitution. The main features of the measure consist in the incorporation, as its first paragraph, of the declaration of the rights of man of the constitution of 1791, and in the conversion of the Court of Cassation into a Supreme Court, empowered to pass upon the claims of citizens that their constitutional rights have been violated by the legislative and executive branches of the Government.

A second bill was introduced by Charles Benoist, providing for the establishment of a Supreme Court entrusted with the protection of the rights and liberties of the citizens, and organized on the same lines as the Supreme Court of the United States.

At the conclusion of the day's sitting Deputies Cadenat and Chapus got into a heated discussion, which culminated in a personal encounter. M. Cadenat badly scratched his adversary's face. The colleagues of the two deputies intervened and separated them.

CROMWELL'S DESCENDANTS.

Several Well-Known Families In Which His Blood Still Flows.

It is a curious example of the persistence of the English governing families and of their close intermarriages, says Mr. Harrison in his "Cromwell," that the blood of Oliver Cromwell still runs through female lines in the veins of the following well-known persons: Marquis of Ripon. Earls of Chichester, Morley, Clarendon, Cowper, heir presumptive to the Earldom of Derby, Lord Ampthill, Lord Walsingham, Countess of Rothes, Mr. Charles Villiers, M.P., Sir John Lubbock, M.P., Sir F. W. Frankland, Sir Charles Strickland, Sir H. E. F. Lewis, Sir W. Worsley, Sir W. Payne-Gallway, the Astleys of Checkers Court, the Polhills of Kent, the Tennants of Glamorganshire, the families of Vyner, Lister, Berners, Nicholas, Gosset, Prescott, Field, Mr. S. R. Gardiner, the historian, etc. During the past century at least seven persons descended from the Protector have held office under the Crown, including one Prime Minister, Lord Goderich; one Foreign Secretary, Lord Clarendon; two Lords-Lieutenant of Ireland and a Viceroy in India.

Among those who have married descendants of Cromwell are the Earls of Darnley, Lytton, Lathom, Lord Stanley of Preston, Sir W. Harcourt, M.P.; Sir A. Brothwick, M.P.; Mr. Samuel Whitebread, M.P. The late Sir George Cromwell Lewis, the statesman and author, was a descendant of the Protector, and Lady Theresa Lewis, his wife, author of a work in illustration of Lord Clarendon, was a descendant at once of Oliver the Protector and of Edward Hyde, the Chancellor. — Harrison's Cromwell.

Lord Lister's Jubilee.

It is now fifty years since Lord Lister passed his examination and was admitted a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of London, says The London Chronicle. The members of his profession in England constituted a recent issue of their official organ. The British Medical Journal, into a Lister jubilee number, devoted to an apotheosis of the man during whose remaining years, at least, British surgery will continue officially to lead all Christendom. The number opens with a reproduction of the Lister frieze from the portico of the Polyclinico Umberto in Rome, and is devoted to a series of articles specially contributed by leading living surgeons from all over the world. Professor Chicne of Edinburgh, where Lister during an historic epoch taught and revolutionized surgery (1860-1877), is to-day teaching junior students by walking up and down his wards (once Lister's) and asking en route, "Who saved the man's life?" The answer is the same in Edinburgh Infirmary or a South African hospital.

Another Railway Dream.

The matter of a railway from India to Hong Kong, dreamlike as it may sound now, must not be dismissed as a dream merely because of the scoffings of those who no doubt scoffed at the Trans-Siberian and all other great railway lines—since become accomplished facts. — Daily Press, Hong Kong.

The Food System the Source of Life

Any Derangements of Liver or Kidneys That Interfere With Digestion and Assimilation of Food Rob and Deplete the Body.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It matters not how good your appetite, how you relish your food or how much you eat, so long as there is anything to interfere with proper digestion and assimilation of the food by the body, strength and vigour will gradually decline and weakness and debility take their place.

The most frequent cause of disordered digestion is sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels. The whole alimentary canal, through which the food passes on its way through the body, becomes choked and clogged, and the system is poisoned and diseased.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been marvellously successful in exactly this class of disease, principally because they act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, regulating and invigourating their action, and restoring them to health.

Mr. R. Beach, 236 Sherbrooke street Peterborough, Ont., states: "About two years ago I became subject to cramps, which were caused, I was told, from acute indigestion. I was so bad that I would be laid up for weeks at a time. These attacks came on periodically, and distressed me greatly.

"I then began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and have found them a wonderful medicine. They have entirely prevented a recurrence of my trouble, corrected the derangement of my digestive organs, and made me feel like a different person."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 11

FASHIONABLE SHADES.

Green Overdone—The New Mulberry Red.

A good deal of striped and spotted velvet is used for afternoon reception gowns.

In Paris there is a perfect rage for white crepe de chine worn with sable even in the daytime, but naturally only for indoor festivities. Plain velvet hats are perfectly charming, and very exclusive folks are wearing emerald green velvet, with long stoles of marten and big picture hats of green beaver. Green in such fabrics cannot get very common, though this charming color is slightly on the wane.

The coming color is a dull red, almost a mulberry shade, which is very chic and has already found its way into the world of millinery. Hats of this color are trimmed with chiffon and roses of many hues or autumnal berries.

The best milliners keep one color throughout a hat, using several tones. No longer are startling bits of color seen in contrast on one hat.

There is a good deal of chenille being used, mixed in all sorts of ways, some of it forming network decoration for the brims of hats or toques.

The cut shows a sable toque trimmed with a long white feather, held in place by a jeweled buckle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

EVENING DRESSES.

Net and Veiling Gowns Are the Height of Fashion.

Imported dancing frocks are shown with skirts which barely reach the ground.

A Vienna model seen recently had a skirt made in the new double style, the two skirts appliqued with guipure of the applique type and with narrow velvet ribbon running in stripes over the seam of each gore and finished with a fringe and a motif of pearls.

These long stripes from the waist are exceedingly fashionable, and a ball gown of point d'esprit was recently trimmed with satin ribbons about an inch wide placed in groups of three and finishing with deep loops left loose at the end. Rows of fine punched insertion encircled the skirt at intervals of eight or nine inches, and these rows of lace went over the ribbon and kept it in place.

Net gowns are very fashionable, and a fine brussels net with tiny ring spots is much used in cream and ficelle. There are usually many flounces on this type of gown, and it is quite smart to have three graduated ribbons on each flounce, the deepest at the edge.

The evening gown shown is of veiling trimmed with narrow ribbon and embroidery. JUDIC CHOLLET.

BRITISH JUDICIAL JESTS.

Witty and Wise Obiter Dicta by a London Police Court Justice.

Little more than twelvemonth after his retirement from the position of the judge of the City of London Court, an office he has filled for a period of 42 years, Mr. Commissioner Kerr has passed away at his residence at Northwood, near Rickmansworth, at the ripe old age of 81. As a judge Robert Malcolm Kerr was remarkable for the expeditious discharge of the business of his court—where, perhaps, the law's delays were less known than in any other—and for his scathing criticisms on legal usages, and not unfrequently on members of the profession practicing before him. They were unconventional and unsparing to a degree unknown elsewhere. In a light and airy fashion he dealt with many a dispute, which, in his opinion, ought never to have come into court at all but none the less was he always ready to bestow a patient hearing upon any action that demanded serious consideration. Whatever offhandedness might seem to be betrayed in his "obiter dicta," he took his duties seriously and conscientiously. During the many years that he presided in the court he was but once late in commencing his duties, and that was on an extremely frosty day when one of his horses fell in the street. Among some of his famous sayings in court the following may be recalled; the circumstances which evoked them may be conjectured:—

"I am not here to lecture upon law; otherwise I should be here all day and night teaching the profession their business."

"King David said in his haste 'All men are liars.' If he had sat here as I have for over forty years he would have said it in his leisure."

"The moment that you, a foreigner, land at Dover, you are supposed to know the whole law of England—which nobody every knew."

"Always put everything into writing. Pens are cheap, ink is cheap, and paper is cheap."

"People contradict each other so much that by and by every commercial transaction will have to be reduced into writing. When you go to buy even a penny loaf you will have to take an order for it in writing, to prevent a contradiction arising."

"Men who have not any money always go about well dressed. They cannot afford to dress shabbily."

"I cannot help costs accumulating. Lawyers must live, you know. If you want to establish the doctrine that lawyers were only to get a commission on what they recover there would be no adjournments, no refreshers—no anything. People would be made honest then. It would be a sad thing for the lawyers, but that would not matter."

"Counter-claims are an abomination, and are simply the modern substitute for the dilatory and fraudulent pleas with which the public were familiar forty years ago."

"I hope the system of giving credit for coals will be stopped. I pay for my coals 'down on the nail.' Why should not everyone else? In fact, I would abolish credit altogether in this country if I could."

"A man who does not pay his debts ought to be made a social outcast."

"Never go to law under any circumstances. You had much better lose your money than go to law. As a rule, it only puts money into the pockets of the lawyers — the very worst form in which it can be spent."

"Have you not lived long enough to know that promises are made to be broken! If a man breaks one promise, never believe him again."

"The man who promises to pay his debts never does it. The man who does it pays instead of promising."

"I will give you a hint which will be of service to you for the rest of your professional life as a solicitor. Always let evidence of perjury go in without objection, because it does more harm to the man who imports it than to the person whom he tries to damage by the prejudice."

"Never sign a hire-purchase agreement. They are generally snares and delusions. In fact, never sigh anything for the rest of your life."—London Telegraph.

PUNISHMENT.

Social progress has done away with a great many forms of punishment once administered under the laws of enlightened people. But nature never changes or modifies her penalties. She still has the same punishment for the man who neglects or abuses his stomach as she had in the far off days "when Adam delved and Eve span."

The physical discomfort, dullness, sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which are visited upon the man who eats carelessly or irregularly have been from the beginning the evidences of disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the diseased stomach and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, so that the sluggishness, irritability, nervousness and sleeplessness which result from innutrition are cured also.

"I was taken sick nine years ago with fever," writes Mr. M. M Wardwell, of Linwood, Leavenworth Co., Kansas. "Had the doctor and he broke up the fever all right, but I took diarrhœa right away; he couldn't cure it and it became chronic, and then he gave up the case. I got so weak with it and had piles so badly I couldn't lie down, nor hardly sit up. Was that way two or three months; thought I would never be well again, but picked up one of Dr. Pierce's Memorandum Books one day and saw your description of catarrh of the stomach. I thought it fit my case. We had a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house that was got for mother. You recommend it for catarrh of the stomach, so I went to taking it. The one bottle nearly cured me. I got two bottles next time and took one and one-half and was well. I haven't been bothered with diarrhœa since."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

Indian Griddlecakes.

For Indian griddlecakes put in a large bowl half a pint of yellow meal, a level teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of sugar. Pour over this one pint of boiling water, and, when thoroughly mixed, add one and one-half cupfuls of cold milk. Let the mixture stand at one side until perfectly cold, then stir in one cupful of flour in which one teaspoonful of baking powder has been sifted, and last add two well beaten eggs. Indian cakes should be cooked slowly and thoroughly.

People With Bad Breath.

Generally suffer from catarrh and should use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily, and be cured. The pleasant scented Catarrhozone vapour spread through every air passage of the breathing organs, and reaches the very root of the disease at once. It kills the germs, purifies and cleanses the mucous surfaces and eradicates every vestige of catarrh in a short time.

Pure, sweet breath, free from headache, sneezing and discharge are quickly deprived from the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler. Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure, costs $1. Trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Latest canes for men are square instead of round.

The revival of the cameo has brought to life enamel portraiture.

Very neat are the new sets of six individual soupspoons and a ladle, all in colonial style and nicely cased.

Drawstring chain bags, large or small, have much increased their vogue.

Flat frames carry nearly everything before them in chain purses and bags, gilt and gold leading in favor.

Single strings of round beads for the neck come in coral—white, pink or red—in silver, gold, amber, turquoise, chrysoprase and artificial pearls.

Sketch of Mr. Charles Mair.

Mr. Mair is best known to Canadian readers as the author of "Tecumseh," a dramatic poem of great interest, well conceived, and containing many fine passages. Recall the lines in act IV., scene 4, in which the American General, Hull, is asked to give reasons for his proposed withdrawal from Canada (1812), and explains that his proclamation to the Canadian people had not met with the response he anticipated. One of his officers remarks:

Why, yes; there's something lacking in this people,
If we must conquer them to set them free."

Mr. Mair's verse is robust in quality and breathes the broadest patriotism, writes Pharos in The Globe. A characteristic specimen, ringing in measure, is his "Open the Bay," an appeal for the short route to the Canadian Northwest by Hudson Bay. The most reflective and finished of his poems is "Dreamland," which entitled his first volume, published in 1868. Mr. Mair is a Canadian by birth, and was educated at Perth Grammar School and Queen's University, Kingston. He was early a contributor to the press, and while living at Fort Garry acted as correspondent for The Montreal Gazette. He was one of the founders of the "Canada First" party in 1870, and his recent volume containing his complete poems, under the title of "Tecumseh; A Drama, and Canadian Poems," is dedicated to the "survivors" of that association. Mr. Mair is now resident in Winnipeg.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

St. Georges of Toronto, Here on Saturday.

Norwood Defeated Keene Last Night—Some Gossip on Sport—Review vs. Examiner.

It may have been thought by many hockey enthusiasts in town that, when the local seniors were put out of the running in the O.H.A. intermediate series, all possibility of seeing some fast and interesting hockey matches were over. This is a rather erroneous idea as the management of the Peterborough Club is making arrangements for a series of first-class exhibition matches. The first of these will take place in the Brock street rink on Saturday night, when the locals will meet the St. George's of Toronto. The St. George's, as is well known, play senior hockey and were put out of the running for the senior championship only after several hard battles, with the celebrated Wellingtons of the same city. The game here on Saturday night should be most interesting to watch.

• • • •

An effort is also being made to arrange several exhibition matches for the Peterborough juniors. It is felt by the management that the juniors have been somewhat neglected this season and with a view of rectifying matters as far as possible, games with T.C.S., Port Hope and other towns are talked of. It is most likely that the college boys will come out to Peterborough next week and play the juniors on the same evening as the Fenelon Falls—Peterborough game. A double-header will be a novel feature in hockey circles here.

• • • •

Our back door contemporary appears to be anxious for a game of hockey. They have not as yet announced the personnel of the team but it is understood that Sam Moore has been alotted for point, Norman Jolliffe cover point, Ormy Bradburn 1st defence—beg pardon — thought we were speaking of lacrosse, and the Review never likes to have recalled the lacrosse days of some years ago when they were so badly worsted that they gave away their sticks to the small boys at the conclusion of the game.

• • • •

The Toronto Star persists in publishing photogravures of the members of the Peterborough Hockey Club. Jimmy McCabe is the last victim. President Kenner is authority for the statement that the news boys' supply was exhausted before they reached Charlotte street. Next!

• • • •

The defeat of the Keene Hockey Club last night by the Norwood seven leaves the two teams a tie for the championship of the Eastern District of the Trent Valley Hockey League. The match aroused great interest last night and there was a large attendance. The tie will likely be played offf here next week.

HOCKEY.

FROM TORONTO STAR.

The Toronto Star says:—Peterborough and Upper Canada College who won the championship of the intermediate and junior series of the O. H. A., respectively last season, are already down and out, not even having had a chance to win the honours in their districts. Peterborough did not win a solitary game. The Belleville papers say the champions were travelling on their reputation, while Belleville and Port Hope teams trained faithfully for the games. This is hardly correct. The probable reason was the delay in the completion of the new rink at Peterborough, which did not give the players a fair chance to get in shape. The Peterborough juniors played in just as hard luck as their seniors. They went through the season with continuous defeats, their one chance of victory being taken away last night by Port Hope juniors after 30 minutes of extra play.

MR. J. A. CULVERWELL'S REPLY

Not Anxious to Change Peterborough's Name.

Never Claimed That he Discovered Peterborough—Has Faith in our Water Power.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—Permit me to reply to a letter over the alias "Peter" in your issue of the 26th inst., which is directed at me.

Whatever J. Alexander Culverwell has done or endeavoured to do to benefit Peterborough, and therefor his own interests, all has been done openly and above board, and not like the cur, who snarling and snapping, escapes a well-merited and thoroughly expected kick, owing to the darkness in which he has easconced himself.

Any who have read my letters in the press, must see instead of instructions—only suggestions anent the annexation of Ashburnham and the incorporation of both into the "City of Peterborough,"—which I hoped might meet the views of the councils and citizens of both communities.

That my suggestions— as well as those of others viewing the future from the same standpoint as myself—have borne fruit, is proven by the energetic action of the Mayor, Reeve, members of both Councils and citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham, and last, but not least, our local press, and which has no doubt disturbed the bile of our "Peter," and his disciples, if any there be.

As to his reference to the "Hamlet on the bank of the untamed Otonabee," I may say that it is citizens of like calibre to "Peter" who would make such conditions possible.

If "Peter" objects to what I have not accomplished in Peterborough, doubtless the more I will accomplish, such as bringing factories to Peterborough and furnishing them with cheap water power, the greater will be my offence to him.

Unfortunately for my business transactions, there was already too much of the "untamed Otonabee" in and around Peterborough, better geographically situated than my portion, and instead, therefor of running into opposition with these several idle developed and undeveloped water powers, I "made haste slowly" rather than run into useless competition. "Peter" will now, no doubt, be sorry to learn that the days of waiting are past, and the many dollars, that I and my associates have invested in deeds of water power property, and in advertising Peterborough, will return a good interest.

In conclusion, I have never claimed that I brought the "Aladdin Lamp" condition of manufacturing to Peterborough, which "Peter" describes, but I do think that I have ever had the interest of Peterborough at heart, and have made it at least a little better known to the outside manufacturing world, and who knows but that also possibly others have been awakened to the fact that there was "a good thing" in the great quantities of "untamed Otonabee" lying in and at Peterborough, and which now is being at last utilized, and is probably producing "that good thing."

Again, the end is not yet.

Permit me to decline at once and forever the honour "Peter" would confer upon me in naming the new proposed City of Peterborough either "Alexandria" or "Culverwell." "Peterborough" is good enough for me.

J. ALEX. CULVERWELL

The report was adopted.

The Sunday School report was then read by Mr. H. Johnson and was as published in the Examiner a few days ago.

This report was received and adopted.

The reports of the Foreign Missions Society, the Faithful Workers and the Fraser Missions were taken as read.

Miss McQuay then read the report of the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavour, which was of a very pleasing and satisfactory nature.

The report of the Ladies' Aid Society was next read by Mr. T. A. S. Hay, and adopted by the meeting.

Mr. James Connal then read the report of the Young Men's Guild.

This Guild is quite a new organization, and this was its first annual report; the Guild has been a very successful one and the report was adopted.

Officers for the ensuing year were were then elected, and are as follows:—

Board of Managers—Messrs. J. H. Connal, J. Crane, R. Innes, W. Pringle, P. Hamilton, H. S. Macdonand, C. N. Brown, T. A. S. Hay, A. Hall, W. G. Ferguson, A. G. Loch and W. J. Bennet.

Auditors—Messrs. R. E. Wood and R. F. McWilliams.

Mr. D. H. Moore said that he hoped Rev. J. A. Wilson would remain at St. Paul's as his services, especially in the Young Men's Guild had been invaluable.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams as a member of the Young Men's Guild, said that great harm was done by continually changing the assistant pastor.; the Young Men's Guild had been greatly benefitted by the Rev. J. A. Wilson, and he hoped for the good of all that Mr. Wilson would remain on at St. Paul's church.

Mr. Fife and several others then expressed the same opinion concerning Mr. Wilson's work, as had the two previous speakers.

It was, on motion, resolved that the officers endeavour to retain the services of Mr. Wilson for another year.

Mr. Wilson in a few simple words thanked the congregation for their kind appreciation of the manner in which he had but done his duty.

Mr. Sheriff Hall said that he thought every family should be provided with a missionary envelope.

Mr. T.A.S. Hay then moved a vote of thanks to the choir.

Mr. Adam Hall moved that the names of the contributors together with their respective amounts be not published in the annual report.

After a hymn had been sung and the blessing given by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Torrance, the meeting adjourned.

Lifebuoy Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases.

TRIBE OF BLACK JEWS.

Alleged Recent Discovery in the Interior of Australia.

The Christmas season of 1902 did not pass without furnishing a topic for Jews fascinating enough to occupy their minds during the holiday leisure and after. The December number of The Jewish Chronicle, the most influential organ of the race in England, publishes an amazing account by Sidney Klein of the discovery of a tribe of black Jews in the interior of Western Australia.

Klein is a London Jew who emigrated some years ago to Western Australia and engaged in the furniture business. From there he went to Coolgardie and afterward, with eleven others, explored the interior of the country as a Government expedition, to report on its resources. At the farthest point reached, about 1,000 miles beyond the Leopold range, they came upon a new tribe of blacks. The difference between them and the other tribes was very marked. They received the travelers hospitably and offered them wild apples and goats' milk. They were remarkably clean and they were taller than the other tribes. Klein and another member of the expedition witnessed the rite of circumcision performed on an infant with a piece of flint. The tribe had a place of worship made of timber and bushes, and at one end there were two tablets, which they appeared to prize greatly. They offered burnt offerings of goats and birds, but never hunted food on Saturdays, which they observed as a sacred holiday, when they conducted their religious exercises. Although pigs ran wild they did not partake of the flesh of swine, and ate only fish having fins and scales. Their laws and prayers seemed to have been handed down from generation to generation. Mr. Klein showed them a Hebrew prayerbook, a word or two of which they understood. One very old man said it was an extinct language which their forefathers used to speak. He could read part of it.

The men of this peculiar tribe married only women of their own race and kept strictly aloof from the other blacks. In Mr. Klein's opinion they were, undoubtedly, Jews.

On his return Mr. Klein was offered several hundred pounds by a Christian missionary to conduct him to the spot, but in view of the many dangers, he refused to undertake the task.

The Jewish Chronicle thinks Klein's narrative must be regarded as wanting confirmation. Other colonists who have been in the country say there is no tribe that is acquainted with the art of reading and writing. They are also sceptical in regard to the presence of the territory mentioned of wild apples, pigs and goats. Klein gave his remarkable account in a letter to his parents.

MR. KENNEDY NOMINATED.

Liberal Candidate For the Commons in North Grey Chosen.

Owen Sound, Jan. 20.—So large was the attendance at the Liberal convention here yesterday that the gathering had more the appearance of an assemblage celebrating a victory than a meeting for the choosing of a candidate to enter upon a fight. The occasion of the meeting was to choose a candidate to succeed the late Dr. Horsey, M.P., in the House of Commons, as the representative of North Grey. In addition to the 183 delegates, Liberals from all parts of the constituency were in attendance Mr. J. R. Brown, President of the riding association, presided, and the business of the meeting was well conducted. When nominations were called Mr. W. J. Hatton nominated Mr. Matthew Kennedy, manufacturer, Owen Sound; Mr. Keith Webster nominated Mr. W. H. Wright, barrister of Owen Sound; Mr. James Leslie, jun., nominated Mr. F. W. Harrison, Owen Sound; Dr. McCullough nominated Mr. D. Allen, Owen Sound, and Mr. H. F. McDonald nominated Mr. R. J. Doyle, jun. The first ballot gave Mr. Kennedy a large majority, who thanked them and accepted the honor. Mr. A. G. Mackay, M.P.P., and Hon. Dr. Landerkin made short addresses.

Banquet to Mr. Monk.

Montreal, Jan. 30.—"Canada for the Canadians" was the theme of all of the speakers at the banquet tendered to Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P., last night. Mr. Monk devoted his remarks chiefly to the tariff, and demanded increased protection. He was supported in this policy by Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party, Mr. J. P. Whitney, M.P.P. and Premier Roblin.

Must Serve His Life Term.

Buffalo, Jan. 30.—Justice Stover of the Supreme Court has denied the motion for a new trial in the Ernest Stanton case. Stanton, who is of Hamilton, Ont., was recently sentenced to serve a life term in Auburn Prison for the murder of his sweetheart, Edna Conrad.

HON. MR. ROSS' MAJORITY IS NOW SEVEN.

Mr. Gamey, of Manitoulin, Supports Government.

WILL BUILD UP ONTARIO.

Liberal Policy Should be Encouraged.

An Exhaustive and Interesting Statement by one who Wants to see the Government Sustained.

The Toronto Globe.

The Provincial situation is considerably clarified and the position of the Ross Government appreciably brightened by the announcement made yesterday by Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P., for Manitoulin, that he would give the Liberal Government an independent support. Mr. Gamey was elected last May as an independent Conservative, and has always been counted in the Opposition column. He now announces his belief that the Ross Government will remain in power during this parliamentary term, and in view of this they deserve cordial support in their policy of developing new Ontario. The effect of Mr. Gamey's action will be to make the majority of the Government seven, not counting Hon. E. J. Davis, who has announced his intentions of resigning shortly. There are two open seats—North Renfrew and centre Bruce—besides North York, which Mr. Davis will vacate; while in addition there are four petitions still in the courts—Lennox, South Oxford and Sault Ste. Marie, against Conservatives, and East Middlesex against a Liberal.

Mr. Gamey is a comparatively young man. He has for years carried on an insurance agency at Gore Bay, and now lives on a farm near that village. He is a man of force, and has been prominent in asserting the requests of the people of the north.

Mr. Gamey Gives Reasons.

When Mr. Gamey, who is a guest at the Walker House, was seen yesterday by a representative of the Globe he was asked in reference to a rumour touching his relations with the Ontario Government.

"There is a rumour that you are inclined to be friendly to the Government and their policy. Would you care to say anything on the subject?"

"I have no objection," Mr. Gamey replied, "to saying that I have for some time been seriously considering the matter you mention. I have thought it over very seriously, and have come to the conclusion that it would be best in the interests of my constituency, as well as new Ontario generally, that any Government in power should have a strong support to carry on the work.

"I believe that with a strong following the Ross Government will carry out their policy of developing new Ontario. I am chiefly interested in that; for my own constituency must get a big share of the benefit, and in this respect Manitoulin is my politics, and I feel that I have a right to do the best that I can for its welfare. And I feel that I can do this best by helping the Government with an independent support, for I realize as well as anybody can what the development policy of the Ross Government has done, as well as what it is doing, and also what it is calculated to do for the advancement of new Ontario.

An Independent Support.

"My desire to see this policy carried out has led me to decide to give the Government an independent support. I will not be a staunch supporter, but will stand firmly by the Government on all questions where they need my help to carry out any good development policy. I want to see the Government kept in power by a fairly strong support and will stand by them on all questions which may involve a vote of want of confidence in matters that I am satisfied with. There is no doubt that the Government are sustained, and will continue to carry on the affairs of the Province. I believe they should be strong enough to carry out their work well, and then if they do not do what is right they will have all the more reason to fear the electors

Build Up Ontario.

"For my part, and for the part of my riding, I want to see new Ontario opened up and built up, and I believe I am right in helping on the work, for I want it done without any delay. So, the Ontario Government being in power for another term, and willing to do this work, I intend helping them carry it out. I believe I can, by independently supporting the Government, induce them to introduce changes in mining laws, timber and settlers' regulations, and appointment of officials, that will be in the interests of new Ontario. I find that the members of the Legislature in the past have often erred through lack of knowledge rather than intentionally in regard to new Ontario questions. I have travelled that country and mingled with the people for many years, and feel that I can materially assist any Government that are anxious to do the best for us, and I am convinced that this Government have the best interests of that country at heart, as it is nonsense to say that any body of intelligent men are wilfully desirous of continuing or enacting legislation that is detrimental to so important a part of this Province as the newer portions are."

Mr. Gamey, in reply to further questions, said business on Manitoulin Island was better than it had ever been in the past. The farmers had a big crop last year, and prices generally had been good. They had recently given stock raising the preference as against grain growing. Large quantities of cedar ties and timber were going out daily, for which high prices had been paid this year. One buyer had estimated that 500,000 railway ties would be taken from the island this year, which would bring the people from $125,000 to $150,000. Perhaps no farmers in northern Ontario were as well off as those on the Manitoulin. The Manitoulin and North Shore Railway had been anxiously expected, but he feared it would be some time under present circumstances, before anything would be done. In the mining section business was active, with the prospect of a very busy season next summer. There was also the greatest activity in the lumber camps and for this the weather was most favourable.

Mr. Gamey will return to the north in a day or two.

EVIDENCE OF BOYCOTT.

Case in Brantford Coal Inquiry Resumed and Adjourned Again.

Brantford, Jan. 30.—The suit against President Thomas Elliott of the Ontario Coal Association was resumed yesterday morning, and at noon adjourned till next Wednesday, when it will be concluded.

William Frank, coal dealer, of Port Dover, swore that a Buffalo firm wrote him that no more coal could be furnished him unless he made arrangements with the Ontario Coal Association. He did, and got coal.

Mr. Stewart, an independent dealer, since the strike bought hard coal at $5.50 a ton and sold it for $6.50 and $7.00.

Fred Mason of the Brantford Coal Co. said since the strike coal had been sold in Brantford at $9 a ton. His company fixed its own prices.

Mrs. Hattie Matthews swore that she attempted to buy coal from L. Walsh, but although her order was accepted it was not filled, presumably because her husband had procured a half-ton of coal from the Waterous Engine Co., a firm which is on the "lockout list."

William B. Wood, secretary of the Mechanics' Coal Co., related his experiences in endeavoring to buy coal in Buffalo, claiming that his company was on the "lockout list" and no dealers would fill their orders. In Hamilton he was also boycotted by Myles & Sons, who were going to sell him coal, but refused on learning what company he represented.

ONE CHILD IN FORTY

All children need the elements of fat in their food because it is of first importance in proper nourishment. Doctors say one child in forty is properly fed — the other thirty-nine don't get a right amount of fat in their food at the right time.

If more children were given Scott's Emulsion it wouldn't take long before more than one in forty was properly fed. There is in Scott's Emulsion something that seems to take hold of children who do not get enough and proper nourishment from their every-day food.

First there is that important element of fat; this is contained in the cod liver oil in the very best and most desirable form. Then there are the hypophosphites of lime and soda which tone the blood and strengthen and nourish the bones. The perfect combination of these food principles in Scott's Emulsion makes this preparation of great value to all children.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

JUDGE M'DOUGALL'S DEATH.

Flags in Toronto Fly at Half Mast—Sketch of His Career.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The news of the death of Judge McDougall, senior judge of the County Court, was received with surprise throughout the city, and flags were half-masted on all the public buildings as a mark of respect.

Touching references to the death of Judge McDougall were made at the opening of the law courts yesterday morning, and also in the Police Court which adjourned.

His Career.

Hon. Joseph Easton McDougall was the son of Hon. William McDougall, C. B., and was born in Toronto, March 25, 1846. He was educated at the Grammar School and at Upper Canada College. Called to the Bar in 1870, he practiced for a time with his father, then entered the firm of Bain, McDougall, Gordon & Shepley, succeeding there Mr. Justice Ferguson. He practiced for 23 years and was appointed Junior Judge of the County of York. In the course of his practice he became a lecturer to the Law Society and an examiner in criminal law and torts. In 1885 he became Senior Judge of the County of York and Judge of the Maritime Court. In 1885 also he was appointed a commissioner for the revision of the Provincial statutes. In religion he was an Anglican. He married in 1871 a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Howard.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street Brantford, Ontario, suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion, headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy, I could not sleep nights but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

VENEZUELA'S PLIGHT

Militant Allies and Interest of Other Creditors Clash.

ALLIES WANT PREFERENCE.

A Breach Was Perilously Near in the Negotiations on Thursday—Mr. Bowen's Powers Will Have to Be Enlarged to Meet Demands—Why France and other Creditors Want Fair Play.

Washington, Jan. 30.—There was a pause in the Venezuelan negotiations yesterday that approached perilously near a breach. It grew out of the attitude of the allies in insisting upon preferential treatment for themselves in the settlement of their claims. As foreshadowed in the London despatches, Mr. Bowen has been informed of the decision of the allies to insist upon adhering to this method of procedure, and he has come to a stand in his work for the moment.

For half an hour yesterday he was in consultation with Secretary Hay at the State Department, though the Secretary is taking no part in the negotiations in any official sense. Mr. Bowen is believed to have taken steps to acquaint President Castro with the demands of the allies, a sure sign that these demands exceed the concessions that Mr. Bowen expected to make. Possibly fresh and enlarged powers will be necessary to enable him to meet the demands.

Venezuela's plight at this moment lies in the fact that she is between two fires. The allies demand preferential treatment, while France and other creditors look to Venezuela for fair treatment, pointing out that to discriminate against their claims when their attitude had been correct and even magnanimous, would not be fair treatment.

ARRESTED FOR DESERTION.

Ambrose Johnston and Andy Bell Have a Good Time Cut Short.

Hamilton, Jan. 30. — Yesterday morning Acting Detective Miller arrested Ambrose Johnston in the Public Library on suspicion that he was a deserter from Stanley Barracks. When arrested Johnston was in company with a man named Andrew Bell, but as the latter was unknown he was allowed to go. Yesterday afternoon guards arrived from Toronto, who identified Johnston, and it was decided to take him back on the 5.10 train. It happened, however, that the party was a little late and were forced to wait till a later train. While they were waiting Bell came and began to talk to his friend. He was recognized by Detective Coulter as another deserter from the battery and as a result Andy was marched off to Toronto handcuffed to Johnston.

RETALIATION.

Policy Newfoundland Will Advocate If Treaty Is Rejected.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 30.—The agitation in favor of a retaliatory policy against the United States, should the Bond-Hay treaty be defeated, is growing in force.

The Free Press, an independent opposition journal, declares that if the treaty is rejected the Government owes it to the dignity of the British colony to act promptly and decisively. It is thought the retaliatory legislation will probably be adopted without meeting with opposition in either branch of the Legislature.

DOMINION "DRUMMERS."

Canada's Public Works.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—The annual report of the Public Works Department for the past fiscal year will be issued shortly. The report will show that $6,086,799 has been expended on public works, of which $2,277,765 was expended on harbors and rivers, 22,040,188 on public buildings, $847,500 on dredging and plant, $629,211 on telegraphs, $400,000 on bridges and roads, and $260,700 on slides and booms. The revenue for the year from various sources was $230,169.

Coming to Canada.

London, Jan. 30.—The detachment of the Honorable Artillery Company which will visit Boston during the coming summer, under the command of the Earl of Denbigh, will also visit Canada, taking in the cities of Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, together with a run to Niagara Falls.

BOY FATALLY SHOT.

Russell Power Wounded by a Companion While Practising With a New Gun —No Hope For His Life.

Bowmanville, Jan. 30.—What is likely to prove a fatal gunning accident occurred on the farm of George Power, Maple Grove, one and a half miles west of this town Wednesday afternoon when Russell Power, only son of Chester Power, aged about 14 years, was shot in the side by a discharge from a shot gun in the hands of Howard Foley, another school boy.

Foley was on his way home from the High School, and young Power was practising at a target with a new double barrelled gun he had recently bought. Foley was invited to try a shot and did so. Then both boys ran towards the target to see how many shots Foley had lodged within the circle.

Young Power was a few feet ahead when by some unexplained means the other barrel was discharged. The charge entered his hip and penetrated his bowels. Drs. Beith, Reid and Hillier were summoned and did all they could for the young lad, but very slight hope is entertained for his surviving more than a few hours at most as peritonitis has set in.

He is an only child.

Accidental Death.

Chatham, Jan. 30.—The coroner's jury to investigate the death of Harry McGarry, who shot himself on Jan. 27, brought in the following verdict: Harry McGarry met death by accident of a revolver in his own hands, being under impression it was broken. In view of the frequency of accidents, the jury recommends the keeping of firearms out of the reach of children.

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD.

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the larger cities, where no meat, pastry or coffee is served, and the food crank is in his glory with arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for the human stomach, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton, must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of nature.

Our forefathers had other things to do beside formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to acorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nourishment in a concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remnrson, on this subject says: "Nervous people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, diastase, fruit acids and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless fo rindigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles.

BAD BLOOD.

Miss Mary E. Allen, Aylmer, Que., says:—For twenty years I was troubled with pimples on my face. I tried several remedies but none of them seemed to help me until I got Burdock Blood Bitters. I think it is a grand remedy for bad blood, and take pleasure in letting you know that it did me more good than all the other remedies I tried.

B.B.B. Cures Boils, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, and all Skin Diseases.

DYSPEPSIA.

Miss Alberta Murray, Campbellton, N.B., says:—For five years I was troubled with Dyspepsia, and whenever I ate anything I suffered untold agony. My parents gave me medicines for the best part of one summer, but got no relief. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised and something seemed to say, "get a bottle." I did so, and to my surprise before I finished the bottle I felt relief. I took all told 3 bottles, and have had no return of the trouble.

B

HEADACHES.

Mrs. Peter Sanderson, Glen Levith, N.B., says:—It is with pleasure and gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful power of Burdock Blood Bitters. My daughter was ailing for three years with headache and run down system. I tried several kinds of medicine but to no effect. At last a friend urged me to try B.B.B. for her, and after using two bottles she was like another being. I can never praise it enough. It is a God-send to all.

CONSTIPATION.

Miss Hollie Hagan, Musquodoboit, N.S., says:—I was troubled with constipation for a year and tried different medicines, but they did me no good. I then took Burdock Blood Bitters and it cured me so that I have not been troubled since.

Mr. Wheeler Barkley, Merrisburg, Ont., says:—I took three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters for constipation and found a complete cure effected.

42 WOMEN STABBED.

Terrible Charge Against a Barber Under Arrest in Prussia.

TOO GREAT EXPENSE.

Not the Reason.

It is not because Pyramid Pile Cure is so expensive that many people decline to give it a trial, but because they find it too great a tax on their credulity to believe that the published letters bearing testimony to the merit of this remedy are genuine and bona-fide; especially to those who have realized the suffering incident to piles is it incredible that anyone who has been afflicted twenty-five and thirty years with the worst forms of protruding and bleeding piles should be cured by the application of a simple remedy, when their physician has assured them that the only relief is in a surgical operation?

This is rightfully viewed with dread by all those afflicted, as it means at the least a great shock to the nervous system, with more than a possibility of utter collapse and death; in the majority of cases, too, there is a return of the complaint, owing to the fact that the cause is not removed.

The proprietors of the Pyramid Pile Cure agree to forfeit one thousand dollars to anyone who will show a single published testimonial to be not genuine and unsolicited; this latter feature is most gratifying, inasmuch as these letters are written solely out of gratitude, and with the hope that those who are afflicted as the writers have been may learn that relief is at hand, at a comparatively trifling expense. Pyramid Pile Cure is for sale by druggists at fifty cents a package, or will be mailed by the makers to any address upon receipt of price.

Mr. Wm. Lichtenwalter, head of the largest printing house in Canton, Ohio, says: "It is with the utmost pleasure and satisfaction that I can say I believe I am cured of protruding and bleeding piles, after suffering more than twenty-five years. I have been in bed for two weeks at a time. I have not suffered in the least for over a year, and I used only three fifty cent boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure.

"I advise every person suffering with this distressing and painful complaint to give this remedy a trial. I have every confidence in it." Write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall Mich., for their book on the causes and cure of piles.

Frozen and Drowned.

Strathclair, Man., Jan., 30.— Two deaths occurred in the Galicians' settlement north of here recently. One man was lost during a blizzard and was not found for three days. He was discovered on section 34 frozen to death. The other fell through an air hole in one of the lakes and was drowned before help reached him.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

Two Freights Collide on Grand Trunk Near Newtonville.

BRAKEMAN'S ARM BROKEN.

No Loss of Life—Cars Destroyed by Fire and Traffic Delayed—At St. Catharines a Brakeman Was Run Down and May Die—Verdict of the Jury in the Case of Charles Chubb Blames the Grand Trunk.

Port Hope, Jan. 30.—"They are keeping me busy," said G.T.R. Surgeon Powers, when asked about the injured of the wreck that occurred one mile west of Newtonville at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. "Just a week ago last night I was called to the wreck about four miles west of the present one, and outside of the killed the injuries were not nearly so serious as at yesterday's accident. That one trouble never comes alone is certainly the case of the G. T. R.; for twice within eight days the traffic on the main line has been blocked a day, thereby delaying all through passenger and mail trains."

The pick-up train was at Newcastle and was given a signal by westbound train first 82 to wait for second 82. They answered the signal "All right," but did not wait, however, and collided with the train about one mile from Newtonville. There was a heavy fog at the time, and the train crews did not see the lights until they nearly struck. The wonder is how they escaped alive. They are all more or less badly bruised, but probably the worst is John Frost of York, a brakeman on the east-bound train, whose arm was broken and who received internal injuries.

There were fourteen cars and two of the new mogul engines destroyed, and the loss will be nearly $100,000. The cars were loaded with tobacco, boots and shoes and groceries, and as they are all on fire there will not be much chance of saving the cargo, which was nearly all consigned to Port Hope merchants. The track was cleared about 5 p.m., and the flyer and express passed down about seven hours later.

BRAKEMAN RUN DOWN.

Frank Miller, as a Result, Will Likely Die.

St. Catharines, Jan. 30.—Frank Miller, a Grand Trunk brakeman, aged 26, and unmarried, met with an accident yesterday that will in all probability prove fatal. He was at work in the G.T.R. yards at Niagara Falls, Ont., when a train of freight cars was backed down on him, knocking him down. Several cars passed over his body before he could be rescued. He was brought to this city at half-past one yesterday afternoon and taken in the ambulance to the General and Marine Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. The hospital surgeons are as yet unable to state whether or not the accident will have a fatal result. Miller was terribly mutilated.

VERDICT IN CHUBB CASE.

Jury Blames G.T.R. For Not Living Up to Statute Law.

Windsor, Jan. 30. — The verdict rendered by the coroner's jury in the case of Charles Chubb is: "That Charles Chubb came to his death by a freight train through the carelessness of the Grand Trunk Railway in not living up to the statute of the Railway Act of Canada, we having reference particularly to section 260, chapter 29, 51 Victoria."

Young Chubb was a trackman in the employ of the Grand Trunk and was run over and killed by a train of cars in the railroad yards at Windsor on Friday afternoon last. His home was at Essex, where his widowed mother lives.

Witnesses showed by the book of rules of the railway that they were not ordered to have a man on top of the train to see that the tracks are clear. This is provided for by the law referred to.

Walton Citizen Killed.

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—A sad fatality occurred this morning on the G.T.R. near the Harrisburg station, which resulted in the death of Thomas Johnstone, whose home is at Walton. Johnstone was a fireman on a freight train running from the Sarnia tunnel to Toronto, and yesterday he fell beneath the wheels of his engine and they passed over the centre of his body. When it was stopped the poor fellow was found to be terribly crushed, but was conscious and suffering fearful agony. He was carried on the train to this city, and on reaching here was transferred to the city hospital. He died about half an hour after reaching the hospital.

PETERBORO' COUNTY COUNCIL

Held a Rather Short Sitting This Morning.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Dumble and Mr. Hill ask Assistance for the Horticultural Society—Sugar Beet Industry.

The County Council met at 11.20 o'clock on Friday morning, the warden in the chair, and all the members members present.

THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The special committee re the beet sugar industry, reported as follows:

The committee appointed at the last January session of this Council, to ascertain the prospect of securing in this county a beet sugar factory, and to act, if desirable, in co-operation with other committees, beg to report:

That they were requested to unite with a deputation of the council of the Town of Peterborough, and with the provisional directors of a company formed for the above purpose, in arranging a visit to the beet sugar factory at Berlin, and after obtaining the approval of the Warden, an inspection of this factory by the members of this council, of the town council, and of others interested in promoting such industry, was arranged for the 27th day of November last.

The deputation was received by the manager of the company, and Mr. Shuttleworth, Provincial Analyist, also the Mayor of the town, and the members of the County Council, who very kindly showed the deputation through the factory, explaining the whole process very fully and furnishing the deputation with a good deal of information.

A full account of the process of manufacturing, etc., was published in the newspapers at the time, and it is not necessary to go at all into detail.

The committee, however, desire to emphasise the following points of which their visit convinced them:

1. The article produced is of an excellent quality, and meets with a ready sale.

2. Several million dollars are at present sent out of the country in purchase of sugar and such industries tend to retain money in circulation among the people of the country.

3. The directors appeared well satisfied with the result of their venture, and under proper management a factory at Peterborough should become a permanent industry.

4. The farmers who had furnished beets to the factory, and who were consulted by the members of this deputation, as a rule, expressed themselves as very well satisfied with the results, and stated they intended to take additional acreage this year. The few who complained were those who had undertaken too much, and your committee concluded that a farmer taking from two to five acres would find his enterprise rewarded with a very profitable return for his labour.

On behalf of the committee,

G. W. FITZGERALD.

Councillor Shaw moved, seconded by Mr. Buck, the adoption of the report, which was carried.

Councillor Hunter spoke at some length concerning the sugar beet industry, in which he claimed that the farmers were now beginning to realize that there was more profit in growing beets than in growing wheat. He thought that the farmers would make a great mistake if they did not take up the industry. He referred to the very excellent tests that had been made in this locality, and dwelt upon the advantages to be derived from the location of a sugar beet factory in Peterborough. The company, which had been organized with local capital, is not asking for any bonus, but merely asking that the farmers would supply them with beets for the manufacture of sugar.

THE LATE JUDGE McDOUGALL

His Death is Universally Regretted.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning His Life—Was a Hard Worker.

Concerning the death of His Honour Judge McDougall, father of Mrs. (Dr.) Young, of town, the Toronto Globe says:

The surviving members of his family are Mrs. McDougall, two sons, Gordon, who is living in New York, and Eric, who is attending Ridley College, and four daughters, three of whom are at home, and one, Mrs. (Dr.) Young, who resides in Peterborough. The remains were brought to Toronto yesterday, and the funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon from the residence, 121 Carlton street.

Mr. Thos. Bengough, who was associated with the late Judge McDougall in all the nineteen years that the latter was upon the bench, was greatly shocked on hearing of his sudden demise. Speaking of the late judge Mr. Bengough said:

"His chief characteristic, to my mind, was his geniality. He was always in the best of humour, and in all our relations I never had the least misunderstanding with him. He was an extremely hard working man, and seemed to tax his mental powers to the utmost, while failing to indulge in any recreation. As a member of the Library Board he took a large share of the work in connection with the library, being largely instrumental in securing the Carnegie offer. As a member of the Board of Police Commissioners he was forward in initiating movements to improve the police service. He was really the chief founder of Grace Hospital, and had watched with interest the welfare of that institution up to the very last. He took a deep interest in the Union Trust Company, having been chairman of the valuation board which included no little attention and labour in itself. Another matter that received his attention was the White Bear Mining Company of British Columbia, with which he was associated. There was a meeting of the board of this company in his office at six o'clock on Saturday last, the day he left for St. Catharines, this consequently being the last business transaction of his earthly career. During that day he was extremely busy with Surrogate Court work, and other matters.

CALL FOR BILLETS

Y. M. C. A Convention at Peterborough only 85 Secured—100 More Wanted.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. convention report that only 85 billets have thus far been secured for delegates. There will be more than double that number to provide for, and it is earnestly hoped that the Town of Peterborough will not be lacking in its hospitality at this time when such an important gathering is to take place.

Those who can entertain one or more delegates are asked to report at once to the Association building.

Those who cannot entertain in their homes will assist the committee very much by providing for entertainment at the hotel.

A MISTAKE.

Early Closing for Macfarlane Wilson, China Hall.

A day or two ago the Examiner published the names of several stationery and fancy goods stores, who had agreed to close at 6 o'clock in the evenings, the name of Macfarlane Wilson, Co., China Hall, was omitted.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Mary O'Brian of Millbrook, is in town, the guest of Miss Nellie McKee.

Mr. Stanley Burton of the Bank of Montreal, Belleville, son of Mr. E. J. W. Burton, of the Customs, has been promoted to the Montreal Bank, Winnipeg.—Port Hope Guide.

Mr. W. H. Casement of Lakefield, was in town to-day, and visited the County Council in session. Mr. Casement is qualified by many years useful connection with that body for giving a reliable opinion on the subject.

The Marmora Herald.—Mr. Arthur Mitchell left the employ of Mr. W. A. Sanderson on Monday to learn cutting at Ackerman's, Peterborough. Mr. Mitchell is a very ambitious young fellow who is bound to succeed in the world.

Mr. George Alsdorf and Miss Alsdorf, of Inkster, North Dakota, are in Lakefield, visiting Mrs. Aldorf's brother, Mr. W. H. Casement, and other friends. The present is Mrs. Alsdorf's first visit to her native place in nineteen years, and she notices very great changes and improvements in both Lakefield and Peterborough.

ORDER OF ODDFELLOWS.

Peterborough Members Entertain Their Lindsay Brethren.

Last night a very enjoyable time was spent by the members of the Peterborough Lodge, I.O.O.F., it being the occasion of a visit from their Lindsay brethren. The Lindsay brethren, to the number of 35, arrived per special train at 8.30 o'clock. At the lodge room some team work was first put on, the Peterborough Lodge conferring 1st and 3rd degrees. After the lodge meeting, the members and the visitors sat down to dinner in the dining room prepared by Mr. W. H. McCallum. Mr. McCallum provided a most excellent hot dinner which was fully appreciated by all present. After full justice had been done to the constituents of the menu, an impromptu toast list was run off. The chair was occupied by Dr. Eastwood. Songs were given by Mr. Joe Halpany and Mr. Joe Legg, and capital speeches were made by the members of the Peterborough Lodge, who expressed great pleasure in having to entertain the Lindsay Order. Gratifying replies were ably made by their visitors. The festivities broke up at 2 o'clock this morning.

POLICE COURT.

Three Cases Dealt With This Morning—Two Discharged With Warning.

The following cases were brought up before Mr. Dumble at the Police Court this morning:

Thomas Morrison, an Indian from Scugog, was discharged with a warning for being drunk and disorderly.

William Jordan was fined $2.00, payable in 10 days, for moving night soil during the day time, through the streets of Peterborough, contrary to the bylaw.

Thomas Flannery was charged with assaulting Mrs. Curtis, with snowballs, he was discharged with a severe warning.

REV. MR. KERR'S LETTER

In Reply to Rev. Dr. Milligan, of St. Andrew's.

Regarding Scotch Curlers Visiting Niagara Falls on Sunday.

A Toronto exchange last Monday said:—"Rev. Dr. Milligan, of St. Andrew's church, Jarvis street, does not approve of the journey of the Scottish curlers to see the wonders of Niagara on the Lord's day, and he said so on Sunday morning to this effect; If they have gone they should be ashamed of themselves, and if there is a minister among them the matter is still worse. The fight to keep Sunday free from the secularities of the world is hard enough now, and these friends who come from the old land and Scotchmen, should not make things harder by setting an example which too many will be willing to follow. As a Scotchman, I feel it my duty to enter a protest. I had hoped for and expected, better than the spectacle of Scotchmen, with a minister at their head, on a Sunday jaunt to Niagara Falls."

REV. KERR'S REPLY.

Rev. Mr. Kerr, the captain of the Scottish team replied in the Globe as follows:—

"I see in your issue of to-day that the Rev. Dr. Milligan of St. Andrew's church, Jarvis street, has been making some strictures from his pulpit on the visiting of Niagara Falls by the Scottish team of curlers on Sunday. He says the members of the team ought to be ashamed of themselves, and if there was a minister among them the matter was still worse. In the absence of members of the team from the city I write on their behalf to say that I am sure no one had any idea that they would offend Dr. Milligan or anybody else by taking the opportunity that was offered them, of visiting one of the most wonderful and awe-inspiring works of the great Creator, whose majesty and glory are revealed in nature as well as in revelation, sometimes more attractively than in some of our churches, where 'new presbyter is but old priest writ large.'

Since we came to Canada our team has regularly attended church, and surely a day off to worship the Almighty at such a magnificent shrine might be permitted us without our being held up, with the minister at the head, for the reprobation of the Toronto people by Dr. Milligan, whose censure becomes the only fly in the pot of ointment in the grand reception given us by our brother Scots and our Canadian cousins. I have no doubt that the doctor means well, but I venture as a minister to say that such narrow Judaistic conceptions as he seems to hold, in my opinion, do more harm to true religion than any visits of ours to Niagara on a Sunday can ever do. I pity the prospect of the churches in this great and promising country if they cannot go beyond the rev. doctor's conception of good conduct and good taste. Since I render him the honour of 'all the sages,' the rev. doctor will pardon me for slightly transposing a stanza from nature's great poet, Wordsworth, who was also a good Christian:

"One impulse from Niagara
Will teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than Dr. Milligan."

JOHN KERR,
Captain of the Curling Team.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

At the opera house last night Marks Bros., ably assisted by Miss May A. Bell-Marks, successfully performed "At the Point of the Sword," a melodrama in four acts. Miss May A. Bell-Marks, as Nadine, the Gipsey Queen, and Mr. W. L. Stewart, as Arthur Haviland, acted their parts with great success. There were no waits between the acts, as there was a continual flow of comic songs, magic lantern and moving pictures. Mr. Will C. Millard's marvellous bicycle feats greatly astonished a crowded house.

TURF CLUB

Meeting at Lakefield—Oval to be Made a Recreation Ground.

There was a meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club at Lakefield yesterday, the license holders of that village taking a great interest in the movements of the association to which several of them belong. The success of the Turf Club, which has only been in existence for a year has inspired the directors to increase their energy in improving their next meet. An excellent programme for the summer races has already been very nearly completed.

The club is going to put the oval at the driving park into good condition in order that sports of different denominations may be played there. The only difficulty to be surmounted is that of getting to the driving park, etc. If some enterprising capitalist were to organize a systematic means of transportation to the races it would be not only convenient to the public at large, but no doubt profitable to the contractor.

AN ACCIDENT

To an Italian Employed on the New Concrete Dam.

An Italian, who was employed on the construction works of the new dam at the foot of London street, met with an accident at about 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Italian was engaged in operating the derrick which in some manner struck him and knocked him into the pit. No bones were broken, but he complained of being hurt internally. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

MR. STRATTON ON POWER.

Toronto's Application for Niagara Privileges.

A Matter in Which the City Alone is Concerned—Only Restriction is the Consent of the Electors.

(Toronto Globe.)

Although no definite plan has yet been submitted by the Government with respect to the development and transmission and sale by the municipality of electric power, the subject is nevertheless one of interest in the Parliament Buildings. Premier Ross did not care yesterday to announce his attitude on the question, pending the receipt of the city's proposals. On the broad question of municipal ownership or transmission of power, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, expressed his views, which were favourable to such an enterprise, providing it was endorsed by a vote of the electors.

Mr. Stratton's statement was as follows: "You ask me my opinion regarding the franchise granted to the Canadian Power Company for development of power at Niagara Falls. I have all along been of the opinion that every effort to develop our immense latent water-power should be encouraged and assisted, and that the work should be attended with as little delay as possible. Anything the Government can do to facilitate this development should be done. When the first franchise was granted—that to the Niagara Falls Power Company—a monopoly clause was included, which was afterwards withdrawn and new terms made. A second franchise was given the Ontario Power Company. Then another company was organized and application made for a franchise to develop power.

"If the City of Toronto desires to go into the development of electrical energy for its own purposes and uses, I have, speaking for myself, no objection, provided, of course, the city authorities act with the approval of the ratepayers of the city. It is estimated that the development of enterprises already authorized to operate at Niagara Falls, will involve an expenditure of between fifteen and twenty millions. Of the three companies, large sums have been spent by two, and the third is about to begin operations. If the City of Toronto desires to go into the business of developing electrical energy, there is plenty of reserve power available for the purpose at the falls, but it should be remembered that with these first-mentioned power companies in operation there will be a supply of electric power far in excess of any probable demand for years to come.

"If Toronto thinks it wise to go to an expenditure of five or seven millions of dollars to manufacture electric power for its own use and purposes, if the citizens give their consent, I don't know who, besides, can have reason for objection. There is another power just as good as any yet granted, and if Toronto wants to develop power let them go ahead. I have no doubt the park commissioners and the Lieutenant-Governor in Council will give full and just consideration to all applications. These powers have been dormant a sufficiently long time. Everybody will be benefitted by development, and that as quickly as possible.

During the afternoon Mr. J. W. Langmuir and Mr. James Wilson, Chairman and Secretary respectively of the Niagara Falls Park Commission, called on Premier Ross and submitted their report on the application by the Mackenzie syndicate. Mr. Langmuir confirmed the previous intimations that the commissioners had decided to report favourably. He would not discuss the terms of the agreement, but it is understood that it contains clauses providing against amalgamation or pooling with either or both the other Niagara power companies, also that the power shall be sold on this side as cheaply as on the American side of the river. The recommendation subsequently came before Council, and is understood to have been approved, though the terms were not made public.

IMPERIAL LIFE.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto • • The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

WHY ?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? Why not call at Lindsay & Might's Real Estate and Insurance Office for any of these?

THE DOMAIN OF DESPAIR.

That Awful Great Basin Between the Rockies and the Sierras.

There are various kinds and degrees of deserts in this country, but the most utterly hopeless are found in the so called Great basin between the Rockies and the Sierras. This is a vast region of deserts, with here and there an area where nature in prankish mood seems actually to have made an effort to produce spectacular effects of horror. From the Wasatch mountains to the Sierra Nevada extends a ghastly stretch of territory which is intersected by a series of high mountain ranges running parallel north and south, with valleys between.

A birdseye view of the landscape shows three principal ranges, two of which are known as the Amargosa and Panamint, and between these is Death valley, so called because it is the very abode of death.

Imagine a narrow strip of arid plain shut in between two mighty mountain walls, the peaks stretching up 10,000 feet into a burning sky. The surface of this plain, which is 175 feet below sea level, is a mere crust of salt and alkali, through which a ridden horse breaks up to his knees into a horrid paste than eats both hair and hide.

A gray haze that never lifts makes everything indistinct and puzzling to the view. No vegetation is to be seen save a very scanty sagebrush, with leaves that are not green, but gray, and here and there a sort of cactus that grows to five or six feet in height, with extended branches. It is called the "dead man" because in the night each stalk looks like a corpse by the wayside.

But the supreme horror of the place is the heat, which is unspeakable. There is a breeze, but it is so scorching hot as to blister your face. Streams flow from springs down toward the valley, but never reach it, because the heat dries them up on the way.

NATIONAL SPECIALISM IN MEDICAL TREATMENT.

Almost every community has some one physician who has had remarkable success in the treatment of certain diseases. Other doctors envy him and sometimes malign him. But he doesn't give the other doctors the secret of his cures. He worked to win that secret. Its discovery demanded time, thought and brains. He keeps the secret he won, goes on curing these special diseases and presently develops into a specialist. People come at last thousands of miles to be treated by him and to take the medicine which has cured so many others of a similar disease.

But people to come thousands of miles must be rich, and the number of patients who can be personally treated must be limited. Let us suppose this successful physician who becomes a specialist, takes another view of specialism. Let us suppose that he says: "If I treat only the few who are near me or can afford to come to me and pay large fees, I can reach but few people. There must thousands die whom those other doctors can't cure, because they haven't my secret and because they can't reach me, and in many cases don't know me. Why not go out to the people instead of their coming to me? Why not give my medicine to the many at a small cost rather than to the few for fat fees? Why not put up my successful preparations, place them in every drug store within reach of the sick, and tell the people through the newspapers what this medicine will do?

That is the thought that came to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y. He had succeeded with two prescriptions in a remarkable way. He came to the place where the call for his services along the line of the cures he effected compelled him to become a specialist. He could not give time to the treatment of other forms of disease which many another physician could cure as well as he. He was compelled to specialize his work along the lines of his success. Now the question came, shall I be a narrow specialist or a broad one? Shall I be a local specialist or a national specialist? Shall I take the few fat fees and know that there are thousands who can't pay me or reach my treatment, or shall I put up this medicine, send it all over the country and sell it at a price within the reach of all?

Dr. Pierce decided to be a National Specialist, to accept for his put up prescriptions the odious title of "patent medicines" and trust to their successful cures to vindicate his action.

How thorough this vindication has been is witnessed by thousands and hundreds of thousands of healthy men and women who owe health and even life to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription, which cures womanly diseases.

Modern conditions demand that we do not class medicines like Dr. Pierce's with the "patents" of the past, but call them in proper terms, put-up prescriptions.

Heedlessness.

Heedlessness may not be one of the seven deadly sins, but could the perpetrator oftener witness the result of his act a whole list of casualties would become obsolete. A little Italian boy, lightly clad, was recently helping to sort out bottles from a city dump heap. In trying to remove a stopper from a condemned milk jar he accidentally broke the glass, and a powerful acid poured down his side. The child fell screaming to the ground, terribly burned. He will be crippled for life. The person who, after finishing some experiment or process, corked the cupful of innocent looking acid in the bottle and threw it into the ash barrel "didn't think."

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia.

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgic pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Toothache. Better try a 25c bottle; it's all right.

No Pills like Dr. Hamilton's.

A CRY OF RELIEF.

"I Think I Could not live Without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets" Says Mrs. Thos. Board.

"I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets." These are strong words. But people who have suffered the tortures of dyspepsia and found relief are not mild in their statements. They alone fully realize what they have suffered. They alone know how great the relief is. For having once laid off the burden of weariness, the aches, the pains that are the portion of every sufferer from dyspepsia, they feel that to take them up again would practically mean to quit living.

Thus, when Mrs. Thomas Board, of Glen Williams, exclaims, "I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," you can read thankfulness in every word of her statement. It is a message, too, to other sufferers from dyspepsia that their case is not hopeless. That if they will but try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they will once more find pleasure in life; they will feel as if they had dropped a heavy load; they will feel light and cheery and happy and they will join thousands of others in singing the praises of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

IMPROVED ON NATURE.

A Point That Won a Lawsuit For William McKinley.

A year or two after William McKinley had begun the practice of the law at Canton, O., he distinguished himself in a humorous fashion in one of his first successful cases. As often happens in court, the humor was not merely for the sake of the joke, but for serious purpose. Mr. Edward T. Roe in "The Life Work of William McKinley" tells the story.

The case was a suit against a surgeon, whom the plaintiff charged with having set his leg so badly that it was bowed. McKinley defended the surgeon and found himself pitted against John McSweeney, one of the most brilliant lawyers of the Ohio bar.

McSweeney brought his client into court and had him expose the injured limb to the jury. It was very crooked, and the case looked bad for the surgeon. But McKinley had both his eyes open, as usual, and fixed them keenly on the other man's leg.

As soon as the plaintiff was turned over to him he asked that the other leg should also be bared. The plaintiff and McSweeney objected vigorously, but the judge ordered it done. Then it appeared that his second leg was still more crooked than that which the surgeon had set.

"My client seems to have done better by this man than nature itself did," said McKinley, "and I move that the suit be dismissed, with a recommendation to the plaintiff that he have the other leg broken and then set by the surgeon who set the first one."

The Only Exception.

"She's unusually conscientious, you say?"

"Yes, indeed; even in the smallest details of life."

"Able to resist any sort of a temptation?"

"Unquestionably."

"Has she ever been to Europe?"

The champion of woman looked startled.

"Oh, well," he said, "of course, if she had a chance to smuggle a few gowns into the country, why—why—that's a different matter."

Secondhand Book Habit.

One of the novel habits of the present day is one that takes one to secondhand bookstores, says the Philadelphia North American. Dealers in dissipated libraries call it aptly enough the "secondhand book habit."

A clerk whose duty it is to stand at the front of the secondhand bookstore and watch out for possible purchasers is the one who first made note of this queer habit. He noticed that the same men and women were wont to stop and cursorily inspect the same dusty volumes day after day, year in and year out. They come every day—the same old faces—and they look over the same old books, and they never say anything, and they never buy anything, and after awhile, when their time is up, they go away as silently as they came.

An Embarrassing Answer.

A man sent a note to a rich neighbor with whom he was on friendly terms to know if he could borrow an ass for a few hours. The worthy old man was no scholar and happened to have a guest sitting with him at the time, to whom he did not wish to expose his ignorance. Opening the note and pretending to read it, he reflected a moment and turned to the servant. "Very good," said he. "Tell your master I'll come myself presently."

The Inventor's Triumph.

"You say that Arbeiter's inventions have made several men millionaires, but did he ever make anything out of them?"

"Oh, yes. He was singularly successful with his devices in that respect. He made enough to perfect all of them."

All in Vain.

TWO ELECTION PROTESTS.

Laval and Maisonneuve Seats Are Now Safe to Holders.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—The contestation of J. Emile Leonard's election as member for Laval and that of Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Fisheries, member for Maisonneuve, were yesterday dismissed with costs.

The contestation of Mr. Leonard's election was carried to the Supreme Court on an appeal from the decision on preliminary objections. When the parties yesterday appeared in court before Justice Taschereau and Justice Pagnuelo, Solomon Roy, attorney for the petitioner, Labelle, declared that the petitioner had no further evidence to offer. The judges, therefore, declared the case dismissed with costs.

The Prefontaine contestation came before Justice Lavergne in the Practice Court on the preliminary objections. Rodolph Monty, who represented the petitioner, Dr. Asselin, declared that he was not prepared to submit evidence to prove that the petitioner was a duly qualified elector of the electoral division of Maisonneuve. In consequence, the preliminary objections were maintained, and the contestation dismissed.

People With Bad Breath.

Generally suffer from catarrh and should use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily, and be cured. The pleasant scented Catarrhozone vapour spread through every air passage of the breathing organs, and reaches the very root of the disease at once. It kills the germs, purifies and cleanses the mucous surfaces and eradicates every vestige of catarrh in a short time.

Pure, sweet breath, free from headache, sneezing and discharge are quickly deprived from the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler. Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure, costs $1. Trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Our Queen's Good Father.

King Christian of Denmark is the most beloved of European monarchs. A story is told which illustrates the affection of his people, and at the same time the freedom with which they approach him.

The King was visiting a town in northern Jutland, when a peasant advanced to him on the street and asked him if he was the King. The monarch smiled, as he answered affirmatively, and inquired if he could do anything for him.

"No," said the peasant, bluntly. "I just wanted to tell you that you are a good King—one of the best we ever had."

The King laughed.

"Do you think so? he replied. "Well, perhaps it's a matter of taste; but then, I'm a poor judge in affairs of this sort."

That the peasant, however, was not far wrong in his estimation is evidenced by another story in which King Christian was the good angel. The story has been revived by the action of the King in placing a wreath on the grave of the wife of Jensen, the famous portrait-painter.

Jensen was a poor boy in whose career His Majesty took much interest. One day the King met the young man on the street, and impressed by his sadness, asked what was the matter. The young man confessed that he was in love with the daughter of a wealthy man, who would not let her marry the son of a poor tradesman.

"O-ho!" said the King. "Is that all? We must see what we can do."

The very next day he called on the wealthy citizen, and argued the young man's case so successfully that all opposition was withdrawn. The King is a hard man to resist, and a King who uses his power wisely is a mighty instrument for good.

Itching Piles Most Annoying.

Cause Uneasiness and Often Keen Suffering—There is one Positive Cure—

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is a question whether there is another preparation for sale in this country that is so heartily endorsed by persons who have used it as Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Professional and business men and women, farmers, mechanics, railroad men, miners, labourers, all classes of men and women, use and endorse Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only actual cure for piles.

W. E. Talbot, of Talbot Bros., tobacco merchants, 382 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"It is from a desire to help other sufferers that I offer a statement of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for itching piles. I was for a long time troubled with this unpleasant and torturing disease, and though I tried very many treatments, remained uncured until I came across Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was highly recommended to me, and I find that every word of praise that is given to it is true. I can truthfully say that I am completely cured, and knowing the misery that this ailment produces, I am anxious for others to know of the surprising virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mr. John Harvey, Mayor of Arnprior, Ont., states:—"Only persons who have experienced the torture of itching piles can form any idea of what I suffered from this horrible disease. I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and can positively say that it has completely cured me. I had tried very many so-called cures for piles, and can truthfully say that there is no remedy on the face of the earth like Dr. Chase's Ointment for this purpose. I would not be without it for any amount of money, and can heartily recommend it to all sufferers, as it is the best thing I ever used."

PATIENCE AND PIETY.

Pair of Virtues Which, Coupled With a Quiet, Indomitable Spirit, Won Battles for Late Dr. Temple.

It was while the late Dr. Temple was at Rugby that he wrote and published the essay that for years afterwards brought so many bitter attacks upon him. Seven writers combined to bring out, in 1860, the famous volume of Essays and Reviews. With several of the essays exception was taken on the ground that they were not orthodox. The contribution by Dr. Temple was not fairly open to that criticism, but it was condemned severely on account of the company in which it was found. The essays, as the preface certified, "were written in entire independence of each other, and without concert or comparison." But this did not excuse Dr. Temple in the eyes of hostile critics. He contented himself with personally explaining his position to Archbishop Tait, and his assistant masters at Rugby, and advising the boys at the school that Essays and Reviews was not a book they should read. To make his position clear to the public he published "Sermons Preached at Rugby Chapel, 1858-1860," the piety and soundness of which could not be questioned. Yet the battle was maintained against him for many years.

At nearly every stage of the advancement of Dr. Temple the battle broke out afresh. When he was appointed Bishop of Exeter, the celebrated Dr. Pusey declared that "the choice was the most frightful enormity that had ever been perpetrated by a Prime Minister." Six members of the chapter of Exeter that ratified the selection signed a protest declaring that he was "totally unfit for the office of bishop." An endeavor was made to get up a public petition against the appointment, but only sixty-nine out of a million people could be got to sign it. Four bishops sent in written protests against the consecration. One ecclesiastic, Archdeacon Denison, publicly announced that the day of the consecration would be observed in his church as one of special humiliation and supplication. A church newspaper declared that the appointment was "the darkest crime that had ever been perpetrated in the English Church."

Yet Dr. Temple was undismayed. Pale, but calm, he bore the attack. "Many of those who have taken part against me," he said, "think it necessary to hold aloof for conscience sake. If it please God to send me here, and to give me a little time, I have no fear about winning them." By the Diocese of Exeter he was received with coolness. At a deanery meeting, when "The Hindrances to the Spritual Life of the Diocese" were being discussed, one speaker, Rev. W. J. Phillpots, declared that the great hindrance to the spiritual life of the diocese was none other than the bishop himself. "I repeat it," said the speaker, calmly, "our reverend father in God is very far from being a father to any of us."

Yet Dr. Temple won over his people completely. "In no instance," says a contemporary writer, "was the quiet, indomitable spirit of the man shown more conspicuously than by the way in which he passed from the shadow of doubt into the full sunlight of solid appreciation." Leaving controversy aside, he applied himself with unaffected piety, industry, and talent to his work. The longer he lived among the people the more revered he became with all classes, until "when he was called to London the west felt that it had lost a great man."

No protest was raised when Dr. Temple became Bishop of London, but his opponents had not forgotten the old controversy. While he was Bishop of London Dr. Benson wrote of him as the "tenderest-hearted, most self-denying, most enduring and patient, most laborious of men." He labored until increasing blindness induced him to resign, but as his sight improved he reconsidered his decision.

At a time when most men are laying aside burdens, in his seventy-sixth year Dr. Temple became the Primate of all England. To him many blessings had come late in life. He had married at fifty-five, and his two sons inherit their father's strength of body and intellect. At his confirmation as archbishop a feeble attempt was made to revive the old controversy when Rev. S. D. Brownjohn protested on the ground that Dr. Temple was "a self-confessed believer in the full doctrine of evolution." But this echo awakened no response, and was the final gasp of the dying campaign. As Primate Dr. Temple's vindication was complete and final. His practical piety has outlived all assailants. As a leader of the religious life of Great Britain, as an unyielding advocate of temperance, and as a manly man, Dr. Temple is enshrined in the hearts of the English people wherever they are to be found the world over.

A Minister's Uselessness.

The "meenister" of a certain parish was walking one misty night through a street in the village when he fell into a deep hole on the top of the water pipes, which were being repaired.

There was no ladder by which he could make his escape, and he began to shout for help.

A laborer passing heard his cries and, looking down, asked who he was.

The minister told him, whereupon the laborer remarked:

"Weel, weel, ye needna kick up sic a noise. You'll no' be needed afore Sawbath, an' this is only Thursday nicht!"

The Black Cap.

The black cap has no specific relation to the hanging of a criminal. Its sinister reputation, its color, and the fact that a judge when pronouncing a capital sentence always wears it, have combined to attach to it a meaning and symbolism which it does not possess. It is really nothing more than a part of the full dress of a judge.—Genealogical Magazine.

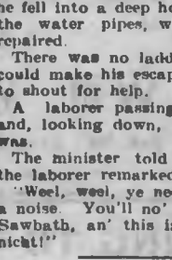
A Quart Baby.

Now and again there is an item in the newspapers concerning the birth of a puny baby so small that a quart cup holds it comfortably. If the article told all the facts it would probably tell also of a mother who in weakness and misery had looked forward to the baby's advent with shrinking and fear.

To have fine, healthy children the mother must be healthy, and it is the common testimony of mothers that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only promotes the mother's health but also gives her strength to give to her child.



"Favorite Prescription" accomplishes these results by tranquilizing the nerves, promoting a healthy appetite, and giving refreshing sleep. It increases physical vigor and gives great muscular elasticity, so that the baby's advent is practically painless. It is the best of tonics for nursing mothers.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, of Mills, Northumberland County, Va. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I ever did before. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 31 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HANDMADE LACES.

THE NEW KILTED TAPE LACE EASY TO MAKE AND VERY STRONG.

With Good Tapes and Braids, Finest Crochet Cotton and Sewing Cotton No. 100—Various Patterns For Borders and Insertion.

Lace is so much to the front just now, from all the popular sorts to the very latest idea in cobwebby filigree, that any novelty in lace only requires to be known to recommend itself.

In the illustrations are given a few specimens of kilted tape lace, an entirely new and original work, handmade, not difficult to produce and very strong.

NO. 3

KILTED TAPE LACE.

The materials required are good narrow tape or braid and very fine crochet cotton, with a strip of thick brown glazed paper, which is better if used double.

The first two patterns are composed of the best makes of twill tape, the narrowest width. The next pattern is made of the narrowest plain linen tape, which is little more than half the width of the twill tape.

In Nos. 4 and 5 the patterns are formed with very fine French braid, the width of the plain linen tape, although when worked it looks wider, being easily stretched. This braid looks softer than the tape. The finest crochet cotton should be used for all connecting stitches and best sewing cotton, No. 100, for sewing the plaits.

For the scallop pattern in No. 1 prepare a strip of paper the length required and two inches wide; make a chain of crochet the length of the paper and tack upon it about a quarter of an inch from the edge. Next prepare the kilting. Make twelve very small plaits; sew them at one edge with a very fine needle and cotton No. 100; it should have three stitches to each plait, and between each set of twelve leave a space about three-quarters of an inch, which must be folded to form a point between each scallop. When sufficient sets are ready, tack them in position upon the paper, and make separate pieces of kilting for the upper part of the pattern; allow half an inch plain at each end. Make twelve plaits in each, but fold each plait half way over the next, so as to make it look full when spread out; tack these on, leaving the ends of tape just tucked over the chain to be hemmed down when the paper is removed; then, using very fine crochet cotton, complete the pattern with needle point stitches. Commence with the half wheel, unite the point of the outer kilt with the chain.

Next work double buttonhole stitch into the under fold of the upper kilt; three rows will fill the space, but at the third row, between each double stitch, turn the work round, and put a double stitch to attach the upper edge of the lower kilt; then work three or four rows upon the outer edge, observing the same rules.

The ingenious worker will be able to follow out or obtain useful suggestions from the other designs illustrated. Pattern No. 5 shows the very pretty and really lacelike effect that can be obtained in this kind of work when it is sufficiently elaborated.

Fame.

One thing is certain in regard to fame; for most of us it will be very brief in itself; for all of us it will be transient in our enjoyment of it. When death has dropped the curtain we shall hear no more applause. And though we fondly dream that it will continue after we have left the stage, we do not realize how quickly it will die away in silence while the audience turns to look at the next actor and the next scene. Our position in society will be filled as soon as it is vacated, and our name remembered for only a moment— except, please God, by a few who have learned to love us, not because of fame, but because we have helped them and done them some good. —Henry Van Dyke.

DOMINION OIL CO., LIMITED.

Operating Raleigh Oil Fields, Chatham.

The first development of oil in Ontario was at Bothwell, in 1862; the next at Oil Springs, in 1863; and the next at Petrolia, in 1865. All three of these fields, 37 TO 40 YEARS OLD, have been steadily yielding oil ever since, and are to-day, demonstrating the permanency of the Ontario deposits.

None of these fields is farther than 40 miles from the Raleigh district. Oil Springs, with only half the area of the Raleigh, has produced over 2,000,000 barrels; Petrolia, with but slightly larger area than Raleigh, has produced over 30,000,000 barrels.

WITH SUCH PRECEDENTS, IS IT NOT ENTIRELY REASONABLE TO ANTICIPATE FOR THE RALEIGH OIL DISTRICT CORRESPONDING LIFE AND OUTPUT?

The Associated Press Dispatch which appeared in the leading Canadian papers of the 12th contained the following statements: "The Gurd Gusher was the first strike, and ITS LARGE YIELD KEEPS IT TODAY THE BIGGEST OF THE FIELD.

Yesterday afternoon, however, a good strike was made which would be considered a wonderful find if it had not to compare with the Gusher. The well was 'shot' in the afternoon, and after the operation produced a flow that will yield 25 barrels an hour. This is but one-half the capacity of the GURD GUSHER, but is greatly in advance of the other wells. . . . . .

"The most satisfactory feature of the Raleigh oil is its quality. The gravity is 34 degrees, which is 2 degrees higher than any other Canadian oil. As an illuminant it can scarcely be excelled . . . . As to permanency, it is believed that these wells will compare favourably with any others in the world."

The usual reckoning in oil fields is one well to an acre. The property through which the Dominion Oil Company, Limited, offers an opportunity to secure an interest in this new and rich field, consists of the 1,530 acre tract which comprises THE CREAM OF THE DISTRICT, and includes the famous Gurd Gusher. The Standard Oil Company is now paying $1.99 per barrel at the well for this oil, and the Independent Refinery of Petrolia offers $2.00 per barrel as soon as its connection to the fields is completed.

Let the Raleigh District prove as long-lived as the other Ontario fields and the earnings of this company will prove phenomenal, to say nothing of the enormous profits accruing from the rise in value of its stock.

THE DOMINION OIL COMPANY, Limited, will pay from its net earnings one per cent. dividend the 1st of each month, to all stockholders of record the 25th of the preceding month, commencing FEBRUARY 1st, 1903. This means 12 per cent. per annum on the par value of the stock ($1.00 per share, full paid and non-assessable.) A limited issue of the treasury stock is now offered at the exceptionally low price of 35 Cents Per Share.

this being the OPENING and the LOWEST price at which a share of the stock has ever been offered; and at this price the investor who goes in NOW receives almost THREE PER CENT. PER MONTH on his investment.

This issue is for the purpose of immediately sinking additional wells and building tankage, thus more rapidly getting the property to its FULL PRODUCING POWER.

No investor can afford not to investigate this opportunity to the fullest extent. Call or write for prospectus.

Make all checks, drafts, etc., payable to the order of the Fiscal Agents.

Messrs. E. M. Poussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

We look for repitition of yesterday's market. There is no bad news of any kind, money continues easy, and we believe good stocks a buy on any dip from this level

M. & M.

Best exchange authorities consider our foreign indebtedness mostly liquidation.

U. S. orders in hand largest in its history.

Some demand for Penna. in loan crowd.

Banks gained from Treasurer since Friday $211,009.

Reading Dec. net inc. $502,000 as charges and taxes inc.; $22,000 the increase in surplus is $481,000. From July 1st to Jan. 1st company net earnings show $2,783,000 and an increase of fixed charges and taxes $71,000; making deficit for six months show an increase of $2,802,000, over last year.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Grain; Liverpool wheat, 1.30 p.m., 1-4 to 3-8 higher. Corn, 1-8 to 1-4 higher. Car lots wheat 89. Corn 275. Oats 213.

We believe profits on long wheat should be taken on the rallies.

M. & M.

Traders are buying stocks and shorts covering on appearance of renewed good buying by large market interests. Buying of Pa, Stp, Erie R.I., Copper and Manhattan good, and attracted so much attention that it has induced many traders to turn to the bull side. Think U.P. one of the safest and if earnings maintained, it will with other stocks of same class, sell higher, but you must keep your eye on net earnings and iron trade and business conditions in general.

E. PERKINS.

New York, Jan. 30th.—London comes fairly firm and we look for steady traders market with trading mostly a repetition of yesterday's trading. Advices from Pittsburg say that City Council passed ordinance to permit Wabash terminal construction. This ordinance comes up for final passage on Monday and it will undoubtedly be used as a bull card on Wabash and Gould stocks. There seems to be slight hitch in Venezuelan affairs but best informed authorities believe it will be straightened satisfactorily to all. Nothing but routine business at St. Paul Directors' meeting yesterday.

M. & M.

Each day this week has made the relation between different wheat markets somewhat nearer the normal. Discounts of Western markets under Chicago have been steadily lessened and New York premium steadily increase; Car lots; wheat, 45; Corn, 250; oats, 203.

There is decidedly less probability of the bank statement to-morrow being as favourable as last week, because banks undoubtedly reducing their circ in accordance with the recent request of Gov't. to substitute Gov't. bonds for state and municipal bonds of which they took out considerable last fall, and banks have gained nothing from treasury operations this week as contrasted with average weekly gains past month of $2,000,000 to 3 million. Some increase in surplus reserve will be shown unless loan account unexpectedly turns out big increase as banks have continued to gain cash from the South and West.

VERY ERRONEOUS REPORT

Sent From Lindsay to Toronto Papers —To-morrow Night's Hockey Game.

The soft weather of the past few days has had bad effect upon the ice throughout the province, and many games have been called off. The Port Hope-Belleville match has been postponed and the Lakefield-T.A.S. match has also been called off for the present. These matches were to have been played this evening.

• • • •

Great interest is being centred in the game which takes place to-morrow night between the St. George's, of Toronto, and the local seniors. The Peterborough seven are in excellent condition and should make the Toronto aggregation hustle.

• • • •

The double-header which will take place on Tuesday night next between Fenelon Falls and Peterborough, and Peterborough juniors and T.C.S., promises to be an unique affair. The Fenelon team is making a strong bid for the championship of the league, but the Trent Valley team from town may spring a surprise on them.

• • • •

Great Scott! Where are the ladies year? Not a game yet and the season half over. The ladies'-hockey matches last year were well worth seeing and aroused mush interest.

• • • •

Mr. A. H. Stratton, Hon. President of the Trent Valley League says that from what he can learn Fenelon is going to carry off the championship of the league. Should they do so they will have complied with the necessary conditions, viz., won the Stratton Cup three times consecutively, and will therefore be entitled to retain possession of it for all time to come.

CURLING.

A Lindsay despatch to the Toronto papers says: To-day the first games in the northern half of group 5 of the Ontario Tankard competition were played in Lindsay. Beaverton had been drawn against the Peterborough Thistles, and Lindsay against the Peterborough Granites. After two postponements at Peterborough's request they failed to show up and defaulted. This left Beaverton drawn against Lindsay. Though the weather has been mild the ice in Lindsay has been good all week and rink matches in progress, and although towards the end of the game it was a little sticky the players found no difficulty in getting the stones up, and a good game resulted. Both Lindsay teams were up, Mr. Flavelle 12 points, and Mr. McLennan 7 points—total 19.

The above despatch is not according to the facts of the case. The statement that Peterborough defaulted is utterly untrue, as is also the statement that the match was several times postponed at Peterborough's request. Local curlers are highly disatisfied at the manner in which the schedule for this district has been run off. The draw was originally arranged to take place on Monday, but for reasons best known to Lindsay people, it was postponed. It was next set for Wednesday. However, owing to the soft spell the O.C.A's secretary telephoned Peterborough curlers not to proceed to Lindsay, but he did not state on what day the draw would be played off. The Peterborough curlers, two rinks strong, were thus ready to start. Not receiving any intimation that they should report in Lindsay on Thursday, the Peterborough curlers of course did not go, and the next news they heard concerning the draw was the rather alarming news contained in the above despatch. It is rumoured on the street that the Peterborough curlers will withdraw from the Association, not at all assuming that it will disrupt that body but merely as a protest against the unfair measures meted out to them.

HOCKEY.

The packers and the box-makers of the Quaker Oats Company will play a game of hockey at the rink to-night from 10 to 11. Mr. W. Cavanagh will referee.

• • • •

The patternmakers of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, do hereby challenge the patternmakers of the Canadian General Electric Company to a friendly game of hockey to be played as soon as convenient.

• • • •

The senior hockey players will practice this evening between 7 and 8.

CRICKET.

The summer clubs are re-organizing and arranging their programmes, and it is time that a really well organised cricket club be formed in Peterborough. The young cricketers of last year showed the necessary talent which only wants to be trained a little to turn out a number of very smart players. Cricket has been the Englishman's game since prehistoric times, but there is no reason whatever why Peterborough sportsmen should not revive the old game which was played by their fathers before them, when in fact all this country was a mass of tall pine forest.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

PETERBOROUGH AND ITS CITY NAME.

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

I need hardly say that I have read with mingled feelings of disappointment and alarm the letter of Mr. J. Alexander Culverwell published in your issue of yesterday.

Is it possible that a gentleman whose rosy optimism and calm confidence have so endeared him to us all, could be so cruel as to think of kicking a little dog, or could be so rude as to speak of it as a cur? Or, worse still, are his angry words and dark threats directed against me, whose only fault was to call attention to his public spirited services and to suggest a way in which we could at once recognize those services, and at the same time honor ourselves? History shows that great men have often been stern and even cruel, and perhaps this severe language is only the natural outcome of greatness, when it finds obstacles in its path which must be brushed aside. This, I think, is fairer to Mr. Culverwell than to ascribe it to the fact that he had picked up some unkind expressions during his visits to a neighboring town alluded to in my last letter.

But my feeling of personal alarm gives way to my feeling of disappointment that Mr. J. Alexander Culverwell has over his own signature and without reservation, once and forever declined the honor proposed to be conferred upon him of naming the city which he has found, either "Alexandria" or "Culverwell". He says that "Peterborough" is good enough for him, and what is good enough for him I suppose we must put up with.

Bitter as this disappointment is, there is a ray of hope on the horizon. I had feared that I had so offended our generous benefactor that he might drop his kind efforts on our behalf, and transfer his energies to Port Hope or Lindsay. Yet there is a hint in his letter that he has not wholly cast us off, but that he will still accomplish great things, such as bringing factories to Peterborough and furnishing them with cheap water power. There is a hopeful magnanimous ring in the assurance that the days of waiting are past. There is inspiration in the mystical phrase: "Again the end is not yet," which convinces me that in spite of his modest declaimer, there is something akin to the power of Aladdin's lamp, about this wizard of the North.

I am sorry that my modesty in only signing part of my name has hurt the feelings of one who has done so much for us. I will remedy this by subscribing myself.

Yours Truly,
PETER BROUGH.

The correspondence on the above subject shows signs of becoming personal, and further letters on this subject must be declined unless the writer is willing to have his name given to the public.—Ed.

FAST EXPRESS WRECKED.

A Number of Passengers Were Injured, Engineer and Fireman of Freight Killed, and Others Injured.

Hazelton, Jan. 31.—The fast express train from Wilkes-Barre for Philadelphia on the Schuylkill Valley Division of the Pennsylvania, collided head-on last evening with a freight train near Lofty, nine miles south of Hazelton. The engineer and fireman of the freight were killed. The engineer and fireman and colored porter of the passenger train were seriously hurt and seven passengers slightly injured.

Train Strikes Street Car.

Springfield, O., Jan. 31.—A southbound Big Four train struck a street car at Yellow Springs street crossing at 7.45 last night. Reported 10 injured, two probably fatally.

Another G.T.R. Collision.

Lewiston, Maine, Jan. 31.—A local passenger train off the Grand Trunk Railroad collided with a freight in the fog, near Lewiston Junction yesterday. No one was seriously injured.

Died From His Injuries.

St. Catharines, Jan. 31.—Frank Miller, the G.T.R. brakeman injured Thursday, died at noon yesterday. He was 22 years of age.

EXPRESS STRIKES LOCAL.

Cars Crushed to Pieces at Tilsonburg—No Passengers Hurt.

Tilsonburg, Jan. 31.—A rear end collision occurred in the M. C. R. yards here about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when No. 11 westbound flyer ran into a local freight train, which had just pulled out from the siding. The flyer struck the caboose of the local, smashing it into fragments, and then ploughed through five or six other cars, most of which were crushed into kindling wood and scattered all along the embankment. One car was telescoped and stands its full length in the air. The cab of the express engine was also smashed into atoms. Nobody was injured, however, except the engineer, whose knee is hurt. Very little damage was done to the flyer, the passengers not even being much disturbed by the sudden stop.

To Strike in Amsterdam.

Amsterdam, Jan. 31.—A general strike of railway employes is expected to be declared. About 17,000 men will be involved.

A LIGHTNING FLASH

Caused Serious Trouble to Niagara Falls Power Co. Plant.

FOUR MEN WERE INJURED.

After 19 Hours the Electrical Famine Which Resulted Was Ended—7,000 Feet of Cable Were Ruined and Power Company's Loss Is About $50,000 — Factories Were Shut Down.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Jan. 31.—The plant of the Niagara Falls power House was damaged from an unusual cause Thursday night by a bolt of lightning which struck a cable with defective insulation, causing a short circuit, which blew up a transformer in the power house. The large cables leading from the generating room to the transformer room were soon ablaze, the flames communicating to the transformer house. There was somewhat of a delay in the response to the alarm on the part of the firemen. When they did arrive a large amount of water was poured into the building and at 12.45 o'clock yesterday morning the flames were extinguished. No serious trouble has ever been experienced from lightning at the power house, and, coming in January, it is regarded as most extraordinary.

At 6.30 o'clock last night the temporary repairs at the Niagara Falls and Conduit Company's plant were completed, and the electrical famine along the Niagara frontier, due to the early morning fire started by a flash of lightning, was practically at an end.

Four Men Badly Burned.

Power was sent out from the plant an hour before that time, but it was not permanent, owing to a short circuit, which occurred in the power house shortly thereafter, and which seriously burned four men, one of whom may die. The short circuit and the injury of the four men came as a climax to disconcerting accidents which had marked the day, despite the fact that the repairing of the damage in so short a time is considered remarkable.

Never before since the establishment of Niagara Falls power has there been a delay of such magnitude. It was felt directly by thousands of people in Buffalo, Niagara and Lockport, and the Tonawanda and intermediate points. Hundreds of factories were shut down for the day, and the street car service was demoralized. Thousand of workmen employed in the factories along the river were temporarily thrown out of employment.

Official Statement.

The officials of the Power Company state, however, that the seriousness of the situation was not so great as was first thought probable. As a matter of fact the electrical famine lasted 19 hours. The worst of it was over last night. On the Buffalo line 10,000 horse-power was ready for distribution at 6.30. Under ordinary conditions 15,000 horse-power is used there.

Charles R. Huntley, vice-president of the company, said that by 10 o'clock last night all of the necessary additional power would be obtainable.

E. B. Rankin, vice-president of the company, made the following statement last evening: "The cause of the fire was a bolt of lightning, which entered the transformer room and set fire to one of the cables, upon which the insulation was worn. The flames communicated to the cable in the stone arch over the intake, and in a short time the roof of the arch and the transformer house were ablaze. The cables were destroyed in a short time, and it was necessary to shut down power house No. 1. Operations in power house No. 2 were not interfered with in anyway. There was no damage to machinery in either power house. In all about 7,000 feet of cable were destroyed. There was a reserve supply of cable on hand sufficient to replace it."

The loss by fire is estimated at $50,000.

Were Terribly Burned.

The men injured last night were Will Allen, H. Anderson, William H. Beam and William Milks, all of whom are electricians, and Superintendent Imlay. They were engaged in testing what is known as a feeder to No. 2 switchboard in No. 1 power house. A short circuit caused a blinding flash, which enveloped the unfortunate men. An ambulance was called, and the four electricians were taken to the hospital. Beam and Anderson were found to have been injured the worst. In places the bones of their hands were exposed to view, and in addition their faces and necks were terribly burned. Allen was burned severely about the hands and face, but not to such an extent that it was necessary to remove him to the hospital. The manner in which the short circuit was caused is unknown.

Many Factories Shut Down.

Lockport, N.Y., Jan. 31.—Twenty of Lockport's 55 factories were shut down yesterday owing to the fire at Niagara Falls. Fortunately most of the large mills are run by water and steam power. The newspaper plants and smaller factories are idle. The street car service is at a standstill, except one line, which is operated by Buffalo power, and the Buffalo line, which is reduced to one car hourly. The city lighting is not affected.

A terrific thunderstorm visited this city during the night, accompanied by vivid lightning and torrents of rain.

Trolley Lines Crippled.

Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 31.—The trolley lines in this city, which get their power from Niagara Falls, were badly crippled early yesterday, but by the use of storage battery a number of lines were operated, although but a limited number of cars were run on them. On several lines no cars were run. A number of plants in this city were without light or power, among them the City Hall.

Chamberlain at Kimberley.

Kimberley, Cape Colony, Jan. 31.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain arrived here yesterday and were accorded a remarkable reception. Mrs. Chamberlain was presented with a casket of diamonds.

THE BALKAN CRISIS

Looms Up Again to Trouble the Diplomats of Europe.

THE "SICK MAN" STRONG.

Sultan Said to Prefer War to Losing Macedonia, and Austria and Russia Said to Be Agreed Upon Reforms For That Country — Turkish Troops Defeat a Macedonian Band.

London, Jan. 31.—The publication of a French yellow book, detailing the efforts made by France and Russia during the past year to induce Turkey to institute reforms in Macedonia, which resulted in the tour through the Balkans of Count Lamsdorff, and in the Austro-Russian agreement regarding press reforms in Turkey, is held to point to the fact that an acute phase of the Balkan question has arisen. The rumors that Austria is preparing a squadron at her naval port of Pola, the passage of the Russian torpedo boats through the Dardanelles into the Black Sea, and other incidents, are being recalled, while the official denials of mobilization rumors issued by the Austrian Government are received with scepticism. There have been lately several reports of hasty purchases of war material by Roumania, the Balkan States and Turkey.

Reports are current in Odessa that Austria and Russia have agreed upon a joint naval coercion of Turkey in the coming spring to enforce the reforms in Macedonia, according to Prof. Hambery, who is supposed to be well informed as to the views entertained at Yildiz Kiosk, the Sultan believing that the intention is to wrest Macedonia from the Turkish Empire would prefer the risks of war to acquiesce in these European demands.

A Conflict in Albania.

Constantinople, Jan. 31. — A detachment of Turkish troops has defeated a strong band of Macedonians near Lake Okhrida, Albania.

The Russian Embassy is actively occupied with preparing for presentation to the Porte the Austro-Russian scheme for the improvement of Macedonia.

Odessa, Jan. 31.—Events in Macedonia are being keenly watched by the Russian military authorities. Orders have been given to the commissariat to be prepared for eventualities.

Struck by Lightning.

Sydenham, Jan. 31. — Thomas Leonard's barn, in Hartington Township, was struck by lightning in the big storm which visited this section Thursday night and was completely destroyed.

Frankville, Jan. 31.—The barns of Wesley Soper, two miles east of here, were struck by lightning and burned Thursday night, together with 21 cattle, 30 hogs, a thresher, two feed crushers and other machinery. Loss about $2,400; insured for $800.

Want a Larger Grant.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The Ontario Beet Sugar Association called on Premier Ross yesterday and asked for a larger grant to carry on their educational work. The present grant is $200 a year, but during the past couple of years, a large amount of money had been invested in the enterprise. About $2,000,000, and the output is now about 20,000,000 pounds of sugar. The Premier promised consideration.

Minister of Lands Accused.

London, Jan. 31.—The Times correspondent at Melbourne, Australia, says Victorian Minister of Lands McKenzie, who has been highly respected, has been accused of improperly obtaining public lands for his own purposes. He indignantly denies wrongdoing, and has resigned the portfolio. The courts are making an inquiry, and a select investigating committee has been appointed.

Will Likely Die.

Rat Portage, Jan. 31.—A young man named Barney Pardon was very seriously injured Thursday while working in the woods near Black Sturgeon Lake. A tree fell, hitting him on the top of the head, and also broke the left arm just below the shoulder and a rib. He lies at the hospital in a very precarious condition, being unconscious the whole time, and will likely die.

Caught at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 31. — Charles Mooney and Richard Robinson, who give Hamilton as their place of residence, were arrested at an early hour yesterday morning charged with attempting to burglarize two houses here. They secured no booty, however, having been frightened away in both cases. They will probably come up for trial to-day.

To Lower the Rates.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Sir William Mulock has applied to the Postmaster-General of Great Britain that the Dominion might be permitted to lower the rate on Canadian papers and periodicals sent to the Old Country.

Help For Working Women

The suffering and pain endured by many working women is almost beyond belief.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livlihood, or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching! She is so tired she can hardly drag about, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is quickly traced to some derangement of the female organism.

When the monthly periods are painful or irregular, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when "I-can-hardly-drag-about" sensation attacks you, when you are "so-nervous-it-seems-as-though-you-would-fly," it is certain that some female derangement is fastening itself upon you. Do not let the disease make headway; write your symptoms to Mrs. Pinkham for her free advice, and begin at once the use of

Profit by the Experience of the Women Whose Letters Follow:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to write and thank you for all you have done for me. I have been suffering with womb and ovarian trouble for about four years and tried everything, but found no relief. I went to the best specialists in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago. I thought at times I would go crazy, I suffered so. The doctors told me the only thing would be to have an operation and my ovaries taken out. I at last decided to quit the doctors and give Mrs. Pinkham's remedies a trial. I used both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash, and now find myself completely cured. I had the doctor to make an examination and he said I was cured. I cannot say enough for what your remedies have done for me, and have advised all my friends to try it."—MRS. CLARA MALL, with N. P. & Nat. Express Co., Ashland, Wis.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, 243 East 114th Street, New York, N.Y., says:

"It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now enjoying better health than I ever did. It seemed to me that I had no strength at all. I could hardly drag about. I was in pain all over.

MRS. FRANCES STAFFORD.

"I began to feel better after taking the first dose, and am now like a new woman. I know that if other suffering women would only try it, it would help them.

"I thank you with all my heart for what your medicine has done for me."

Mrs. Lou Davis, 74 Institute Place, Flat 5, Chicago, Ill., says:

"August 24, 1901.

"For the good of others I wish to testify to the merits of your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I was certainly in a very bad condition. I suffered terribly with a continual backache and headache. I had pleurisy in my right side, bearing-down pains, and those dizzy, sinking or fainting spells, was nervous, peevish and despondent.

"I was advised to try your medicine, and was greatly surprised at the benefit I derived from its use. I am now entirely cured of these ailments, and consequently feel and look like an entirely new person.

"I shall always be pleased to influence suffering women to try your Vegetable Compound. It has done wonders for me, and I am very thankful."

EUROPE AND SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Question as Regard Europe Settled.

FEEBLENESS OF PROTESTS.

British Consumers the Only People who Have Derived Benefit From Sugar Bounties—A few Facts.

The last of the many abortive attempts to get rid of the sugar bounty system has at length been made and the question so far as it regards Europe may be regarded as settled. The feebleness of the protests raised against abolition bears eloquent testimony to the weariness of everybody who was concerned, and the desire to put what has developed into an enormous industry on something like a sound economic footing. The only people who have derived benefit the last year or two have been British consumers and they have not realized it owing to it having been neutralised by the imposition of an import duty to help cover the cost of the war. On the other hand sugar has been sold for export by the producing countries in millions of tons at a dead loss of anything from $5 to $20 a ton, and somebody has had to pay this. A great deal of the money has come out of the government treasuries in the form of bounties, but of course the taxpayers who supply them have in the end to find it and this they generally do in the form of an extravagant excise tax on the sugar they themselves consume.

The situation has been greatly aggravated the last year or two by excessive over-production. The origin of this may be traced back to the war between the United States and Spain, or even earlier, the curtailment of the output in Cuba having been eagerly seized on by the European beet growers to extend their average and so rapidly did they accomplish this that the very first season they more than supplied the deficit of the Antilles. Hoping against hope they went on increasing the area until last season when, with bankruptcy right in front, they had to follow wiser councils and reduce their crops to something nearer the level of the demand for them. The losses to the growers, German and Austrian more particularly, would have been much more severe but for the supervision exercised by government over the tories which regulates the production of each and is thus able to penalize them if they are found to be treating the farmers unfairly, because, after all, the bounties were originally created in the interests of farmers and landowners more than of any other class. The brunt of the latter has in the long run fallen from whom excise duty, bounty and as much intermediate profit as could be made have all been extracted. To make matters worse, while the consumption of most ordinary food products has been increasing rapidly, especially in the industrial countries, that of sugar has not shown a corresponding expansion. It has probably nearly reached its limit per head of population in the two greatest of the consuming countries, the United States and Great Britain, while in the very one where there is most room for expansion excessive prices have killed it.

This was what the Brussels conference had to fear when it assembled last year, but previous conferences have had very much the same state of things presented to them without being able to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion. The obstacle was always France, which paid much higher bounties than any of the other countries, and maintained it could not possibly compete against them unless it did so. It was not a little surprising, therefore, to find on the last occasion that France had completely turned around, and was the most eager of all to have a settlement. Late repentance is better than none, but in this instance self-interest was once more at the bottom of it. The strain on the treasury was enormous, amounting to $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 a year when the utmost efforts failed to make both ends meet. But that very likely would have been overlooked could it have been shown that French agricultural and industrial interests were gaining any corresponding advantage. That had ceased, for though the French duty per ton was fully three times as much as that of the other principal exporters, the difference was made up by the cartels that suddenly sprang up throughout Germany and Austria and by exacting the utmost fraction the protective tariff accorded them from the home consumer, they were able to establish substantial indirect bounty on all they exported. France might have adopted the same course, but found the Law of Associations rendered illegal any combination formed to force up prices in the way the cartels were doing.

The French Government having realized its helplessness, adopted the bold course of going in for total abolition, rather with the system. It saw at the same time that the export trade would be seriously crippled — not entirely destroyed, because there are certain grades of French sugar, which like numerous other French productions, enjoy almost a monopoly—and that would mean either a great curtailment of production at home or an enormous excess in it. It has tried to provide for that also and decreed a reduction in the duty at one sweep from 64 francs the 100 kilos to 25 francs; in other words from 5 1-2c. a pound to little more than 2 cents. This looks like an immense sacrifice of revenue; it may not prove anything of the kind. In the first place the amount of the bounties will be entirely saved. In the next it is hoped that the public which will be able to buy its sugar at 3 or 4 cents a pound cheaper, will not save the money, or spend it in something else, but will buy more sugar with it, and this is by no means unlikely, because the consumption in France is very little more than one-fourth that of most English-speaking countries. Thus the revenues will profit from direct payments of duty on increased weight at well and producers will find their market at home instead of having to seek it by artificial aid

Duties elsewhere are not nearly so heavy and not capable consequently of reduction to anything like the same extent. Nor has any movement in this direction yet been made, perhaps the respective countries want to make use of the money they save from the sugar bounties for other purposes. Most of them were quite willing to agree to the settlement.

Along with France, Great Britain always previously stood in the way, though for quite different reasons. Of the one and a quarter million tons now consumed annually in the United Kingdom, not a pound is produced at home. So it is entirely a consumers' question, and unlimited supplies of good sugar retailed at three cents a pound and occasionally even less was a desideratum not to be lightly dealt with. True there were the West Indies and the home sugar refineries to be considered and Britain has other sugar growing possessions, though except to a very limited extent they have never supplied any home demand, always having more profitable outlets. India, for instance, is by far the greatest sugar producing country in the world, but consumes nearly everything within its own borders. British public opinion never felt much sympathy for the interests alluded to, because when for a very long period they had the upper hand, they did not scruple to exercise their opportunities most unmercifully, being in that respect not one whit better than the Sugar Trust. Them very powerful interests have sprung up in antagonism in the shape of industries that use sugar in large quantities and want it cheap irrespective of the causes that decide the price. It is the representatives of these that have been leading the opposition to the government ratifying the Brussels convention, but neither parliament nor the public would listen to them. The attitude of the latter has been "A plague o' both your houses." So far as it has taken any intelligent interest in the subject it has begun to at purchasing year after year huge supplies of a necessary of life at less than cost price, not from any qualms of conscience, but simply because it sees somebody must be getting heavily hit, and that sooner or later, in some way or other it may itself have to pay part of the penalty. It is rather glad than otherwise that in future the industry is likely to be conducted on a fairer basis, and is not averse to paying a little more to insure this.

The consequences of this altered condition of things are likely to be felt far beyond the confines of Europe. The countervailing of the bounties under the Dingley tariff will presumably after the 1st of September next, when the convention comes into force, be a thing of the past, and the United States need have no further differences with the countries of western Europe on that score. It may also substantially affect the Cuban situation. The American interests that have fought any concession in the past may be equally tenacious again. But Cuba will soon have another important customer to look to. If the planters of the island can grow sugar cheaper than the beet farmers of Europe there is no reason why after 1903 they should not be able to market their entire production in the United Kingdom. There are the British West Indies to be taken into account certainly, but they do not now, and are not likely for years to come, produce much more than one-fifth or one-sixth of the British consumption, while the granting of a preference in the Canadian tariff will always ensure a considerable quantity being shipped to the Dominion as long as it lasts. Java and every other cane growing country will be in the field as competitor, but in spite of all that Cuba will enjoy the advantage of being on equal terms with everybody, without having to ask it as a favour. On the other hand the United States seems to be destined to pass through the troubles Europe has experienced with its beet producers. There is something quite demoralizing about this root wherever it is grown.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. Jas. Carroll, who has been confined to his bed with a severe cold, is better.

We are much pleased to learn that Miss Hattie Northey and her brother James, are home from the hospital in London. They unfortunately were in that famous railway wreck at Wanstead before the holidays, and had a miraculous escape from death. James was pretty badly shaken up.

Mrs. J. Reid, who had a narrow escape with a runaway horse some time ago, is able to be around again.

Mrs. Michael Mober is confined to the house with a severe cold.

Mrs. T. Hockeday is ill at present with pleurisy.

Our village seems to be growing, as there are nine new houses here ready for brick. There should be a good demand for brick here in the near future.

The weather has been very mild the past week and excellent sleighing.

Hearts That are Diseased.

will never be cured by the false, unnatural stimulation of liquor. First increase your vitality, build up the system, strengthen and purify the blood — then the heart will respond and grow strong.

Ferrozone is precisely what to take. It gives you an appetite and a digestion that will look after everything that is eaten. Ferrozone improves nutrition, makes rich vitalizing blood, and is positively the most powerful restorative and strengthener known to medical science; it improves the nerve tone, regulates the heart's action, makes the feeble strong and the sick well. Ferrozone will do you untold good, and costs only 50c., at Ormond & Walsh's.

"77" FOR GRIP

"When Grip prevails, everything is Grip." That Grip is epidemic is proven by the rush orders for Dr. Humphrey's "77." The telegraph and telephone wires are kept hot by the urgency of the demand.

Taken early, cuts it short promptly.

Taken during its prevalence, it preoccupies the system and prevents its invasion.

Taken while suffering, relief is speedily realized, which is continued to an entire cure.

The use of "77" will break up an obstinate cold that hangs on.

My Boundless Faith

Deserves Your Confidence.

You who are sick should write me.

And that is all I ask. Simply send me this coupon, or write me a postal stating which book you need. I will then mail you an order on your druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. You may take it a month on trial. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.10. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself. And your mere word shall decide it.

That offer has no parallel. Such confidence has never been shown by anybody in any other remedy made. And everybody knows that such an offer would ruin me if my Restorative did not succeed.

I only wish I could show all you sick ones how well it does succeed. I will do what I can when you write me.

I have 65,000 letters from those whom I have cured, and I will send all you care to read.

On Jan. 11, 1903, I published in the Chicago papers the names and addresses of one thousand people in that city alone, whom I had cured of chronic diseases in just the past six months. I will send you the names, if you wish. Who can measure the merit of a remedy which can accomplish results like that.

My restorative succeeds because it strengthens the inside nerves. It brings back the power that alone operates every vital organ. It forms the only way known to restore that power, and I spent a lifetime to find it.

Instead of doctoring the weak organ I give it power to do its duty. I treat it like an engine that needs steam. And I assure you from a vast experience, that most of these chronic diseases cannot be cured in any other way.

My book will tell you why.

And when you are cured, my Restorative will prevent future troubles if you keep it in the house for use when you don't feel well.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON.

THEORIES ABOUT CATARRH.

Peculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head, was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case; his plan was to eat nothing for twenty-four hours, or presumably until the trouble had disappeared.

Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy, but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties.

Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head, and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become a fad, would make of us a nation of fasters, an army emulating the example of the immortal Tanner, who achieved world wide fame by fasting forty days.

Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease, and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly over eating, is a very common cause.

Most people, however, are more interested in the cure of the trouble than in the trouble, and modern medical science has produced more effective and less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's.

Hydrastin is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of Catarrh. Red Gum is another, which on account of its antiseptic properties, is very valuable, while many severe cases of Chronic Catarrh have been entirely cured by the sanguinaria or Extract of Blood Root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable and convenient, and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is aso apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular demand.

They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of travelling men, because they can be carried in the pocket, and used at any time and in any quantity, being free from Cocaine, opiate or any poisonous drugs.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours time.

For nasal Catarrh they are far superior to any wash, lotion or ointment, the use of which is often as inconvenient and annoying as the disease itself.

For coughs, colds, bronchial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach, these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure, where lotions, inhalers and douches make no impression whatever.

This preparation is a boon to catarrh sufferers, and any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Carrh Tablets is a remedy that has come to stay.

County Treasurer Dead.

Cornwall, Jan. 24.—C. J. Mattice, County Treasurer and Division Court Clerk, died at the Balmoral Hotel here yesterday morning. Mr. Mattice, who was a son of the late William Mattice, one of Cornwall's pioneer business men, had been Mayor of Cornwall, and had occupied many important positions in the county and town. He was a great friend of the poor. Mr Mattice leaves a widow, who is at present in Europe, and a son and daughter—H. S. Mattice of Montreal and Mrs. R. D. King of Waco, Texas.

To Increase Your Weight.

If you are thin, weak and emaciated and want to increase your flesh and weight you should try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. THE BYE-ELECTIONS.

North Grey, Terrebonne and Two Mountains Probably on February 24—Agony of Hon. G. E. Foster Prolonged.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—It is supposed that the bye-elections in North Grey, Terrebonne and Two Mountains will take place on February 24th.

Mr. Foster's Agony Extended.

Owing, however, to the gerrymander of North Ontario, it has been found impossible at this season of the year to get the proclamations posted up in each municipality of the riding, as required by law, so as to enable the election to be held at the same time as those in the other constituencies.

The riding of North Ontario extends from the Town of Uxbridge, which is within 20 miles of Lake Ontario, for a distance of nearly 150 miles north, into the remotest northerly parts of the district of Muskoka, it being only a few miles wide, at places not more than four. The constituency is actually longer than the distance from Toronto to London. By reason of its great length as compared with its width, the riding has for many years been known as "the fish-pole riding." It is possible that Mr. Foster, with his present practical experience as to this gerrymander, will be more favorable to its repeal than he was when a Minister.

EARL CROMER'S TRIBUTE.

Through Efforts of Missionaries Natives Are Learning That the Foreigners Visiting Them Are Not Slavers.

Khartoum, Jan. 31.—Earl Cromer, British agent in Egypt, speaking at a banquet here yesterday, paid a tribute to the work of the missionaries in the Soudan, where the natives were learning that the foreigners visiting them were no longer slave dealers but the bitter opponents of slavery. He said:

"Let me testify to the special pleasure afforded me by a visit to the admirably conducted establishment of the missionaries on the Sobat River, and to that of the Austrian missionaries on the White Nile. One is a Catholic institution and the other Protestant, but I know no distinction between such efforts among the pagans and they shall receive encouragement and assistance."

Lord Cromer spoke at length on the recent material, moral and intellectual development of the Soudan, and held out the hope of early railway communication with Suakim, which would open up the Soudan provinces to the world's trade. He said there was a prospect of finding coal in the region south of Khartoum, which, in the circumstances, was more valuable than gold.

A DISORDERLY STATE

Long Time Before U. S. Becomes Responsible for Venezuela.

IT IS ONLY CO-OPERATION.

No German or European Alliance Says Lord Cranborne — Why Britain Engaged in Coercing Venezuela—Suggested at Washington That Question May Go to The Hague Commission.

London, Jan. 31.—Lord Cranborne, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, speaking last night at the banquet of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce, said the Government's policy in Venezuela was dictated by a determination to defend the interests of British subjects, and there was no infringement of the Monroe Doctrine. This was also the view, he continued, of the United States, which would be a long time before making itself responsible for a disorderly state like Venezuela. The Foreign Office had maintained intact Great Britain's friendship with the United States. Lord Cranborne concluded by saying: "There is no German or European alliance, but Great Britain is ready to co-operate with the powers, not only in South America, but in Asia, Africa and Europe."

MR. BOWEN'S OFF DAY.

Venezuelan Question May Yet Have to Go to The Hague.

Washington, Jan. 31.—If Mr. Bowen cannot adjust the claims with the allies the purpose is to have The Hague Arbitration Tribunal pass upon them, but just how the Venezuelan question is to get before The Hague in the event of Mr. Bowen's failure to adjust the differences is not quite clear.

It is inconceivable to the administration that there should be a renewal of hostilities on the Venezuelan coast, no matter how Mr. Bowen's work shall turn out, so The Hague Tribunal comes naturally into sight as a port of safety.

But to place a case before the tribunal requires the laying down of certain basic propositions of matters to be arbitrated and agreement on the limitations to be placed on the arbitration, and it is difficult to conjecture how all hands can be brought together on the complex and difficult propositions involved in an arbitration protocol.

AFTER THREE YEARS

Mr. Joseph Rochette Released From Rheumatism.

Suffered Much Agony, His Appetite Failed, and His Strength Left Him —Hope For Similiar Sufferers.

Only those who have suffered from the pangs of rheumatism know how much agony the sufferer has at times to endure. The symptoms often vary, but among them will be found acute pains in the muscles and joints, the latter sometimes much swollen. At times the patient is unable to dress himself, and the slightest jarring sound aggravates the pain. Liniments and outward applications cannot possibly cure rheumatism; it must be treated through the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When given a fair trial, these pills never fail to cure even the most stubborn cases of rheumatism. Mr. Jos. Rochette, a well known resident of St. Jerome, Que., in an interview with a reporter of L'Avenir du Nord, offers strong proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mr. Rochette says: "For nearly three years I was a great sufferer from rheumatism. The pains seemed at times to affect every joint, and the agony I endured was terrible. Sometimes I could scarcely move about, and was unfitted for work. The trouble affected my appetite, and in this way my weakness increased and my condition became more deplorable. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and then relief came. Gradually the pains left me, my appetite improved and I became greatly strengthened. Before I had taken a dozen boxes my health and vigor was such that I felt better than I did before the trouble began. I have not since had an ache or pain, and I feel convinced that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine in the world for rheumatism."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold in every civilized land, and their enormous sale is due entirely to their great merit as a medicine. They cure all such troubles as rheumatism, sciatica, locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, nervous headache, kidney ailments, neuralgia and the weaknesses that afflict so many women. Do not let any dealer persuade you to try something else which he may say is "just as good." See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box. If in doubt, send direct to The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post paid, at 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Legislation will be introduced next session to amend the Patent Act.

Physicians say nothing is so helpful for throat and lung troubles, whether acute or chronic, and for wasting diseases, as Angier's Petroleum Emulsion with Hypophosphites. It is pleasant to take and agrees with the stomach.

It relieves congestion and irritation, soothes and heals the bronchial tubes, makes breathing easy, changes the character of expectoration, and cures the cough. Its effects are rapid. It aids digestion, helps assimilate the food, and has a healthy action upon the bowels. Pills and aperients are unnecessary.

I was troubled with bronchitis for ten years, being frequently unable to work for months at a time. I tried many remedies with poor results. I used Angier's Petroleum Emulsion, and feel like a new man. I have not been so well for many years.—Robert Weir, Toronto, Canada.

Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is sold by druggists everywhere. Remember the name and insist on getting Angier's. Large size, 50c.; Small, 25c.

THE SHEEP BREEDERS.

Met in Toronto on Friday and Elected Their Officers.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The Dominion Sheep Breeders' Association held their annual meeting here yesterday morning. President R. H. Harding of Thorndale, in opening the meeting, briefly addressed the members present. Secretary A. P. Westervelt of the Dominion Cattle, Sheep and Swine Breeders' Associations read his report, in which he drew attention to the lack of accommodation for people attending the winter fair in Guelph.

The following officers for 1902 were re-elected for the present year: R. H. Harding, Thorndale, president; J. M. Gardhouse, Highfield, vice-president; A. P. Westervelt, secretary-treasurer. The directors are: D. McCrea, Guelph; Andrew Whitelaw, Guelph; John Kelly, Shakespeare; Col. John A. McGillivray, John Jackson, Abingdon; James Tolton, Walkerton; John G. Gibson, Denfield; W. M. Smith, Scotland; D. G. Hanmer, Mount Vernon; Prof. G. E. Day, O.A.C., Guelph; auditor, J. M. Duff, Guelph; delegates to Industrial Fair Board, J. M. Gardhouse and John Jackson; Ottawa Fair Board, F. W. Hodson, London; A. W. Smith, Maple Lodge, and A. P. Westervelt; Provincial Winter Fair at Guelph, A. W. Smith, John Jackson and James Tolton; Eastern Winter Fair, the president, the other two to be elected by the executive.

Swine Breeders' Officers.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The Dominion Swine Breeders' Association met yesterday afternoon at the Palmer House and re-elected these officers:—President, G. R. Hood, Guelph; Vice-President, Thos. Teasdale, Concord; Secretary-Treasurer, A. P. Westervelt, Toronto.

NOVA SCOTIAN RAILWAY DEAL.

Mackenzie & Mann Have Secured the Nova Scotia Central.

Toronto, Jan. 31. — It is understood that Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann have secured control of the Nova Scotia Central Railway, a line 74 miles in extent, which runs from Middleton to Lunenburg, N.S. The road has a charter for an extension to the Bay of Fundy.

ITS INITIAL STAGE.

Sugar Beet Growers' Association Will Ask For Immediate Relief.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Sugar Beet Growers' Association was held yesterday at the Walker House. John Perry, president of the association, was in the chair. The report for the year was read and showed a small balance in hand, although the expenses had been heavy during the year.

The position of the beet industry in Ontario was discussed at some length, and a sub-committee was appointed to frame resolutions to be considered later. The sub-committee retired for about two hours, and presented three resolutions, which were carried unanimously. The first was to the effect that as $2,000,000 had been invested in the business in Canada, and as there were many difficulties to be overcome in evolving a successful result from the operations of such industry, and as raw material was hard to obtain the association should petition the Dominion Government to take some measures for affording immediate relief, in order that this important industry might be helped over the initial stages of its existence.

The second resolution dealt with tariff amendment, urging the Government to give a fair measure of protection to the beet sugar industry.

The third resolution was to the effect that a deputation be formed to present the views of the committee to the Dominion Government, and the Ontario Government, when the committee shall have collected the necessary information.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

SINFUL HABITS IN YOUTH MAKE NERVOUS, WEAK, DISEASED MEN.

THE RESULT of ignorance and folly in youth, overexertion of mind and body followed by lust and exposure are constantly wrecking the lives and future happiness of thousands of promising young men. Some fade and wither at an early age, at the blossom of manhood, while others are forced to drag out a weary, fruitless and melancholy existence. Others reach manhood many but find no solace or comfort there. The victims are found in all stations of life—the farm, the office, the workshop, the pulpit, the trades and the professions. SKATING.

Championship For County of Peterborough—Marvellous Jumping on Skates.

Thursday evening, Feb. 5th, is to be the occasion for a matched race for the championship of the County of Peterborough, at the Brock street rink. The following are those who will try to win this year's championship:—Oliver Dusty, champion of the Midland District; and Walter Jackson, champion of the County of Peterborough; to be skated in one mile heats, two out of three, for a valuable trophy.

Mr. W. E. Genno, of Copper Cliff, Ont., the champion barrel jumper on skates, of the world, will give an exhibition as follows:—Seven barrels forward; 3 barrels backward; 3 barrels on one foot forward; 1 barrel backwards on one foot; five barrels close together—hurdle jumping, and also an adventure jump, sailing over 2 chairs, 3 barrels, one box and three boys, a total length of 28 feet.

GRAND COUNCIL

Meeting of Indians From Three Reserves at Chemong.

A grand meeting of the principal Indians of the three Reserves of Hiawatha, Scugog and Chemong was held at the hall at the last named place this week. About 500 Red Men were present.

On Thursday evening there was a tea meeting and an oyster supper, after which an entertainment was given at 7 o'clock. The programme was a successful one, and the evening was a thoroughly enjoyable one.

Council meetings were held on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock at which some Indian claims on islands in Stony Lake, were looked into by the chiefs and principal warriors of the three bands. It was resolved to send a deputation consisting of the Chiefs and the secretaries of each Reserve, to Ottawa, to interview and lay open their claims before the Minister Hon. Clifford Sifton.

On Friday night there was another council meeting concerning the holding of the camp meeting during the first week in September. At 11 o'clock to-day Peterborough was crowded with Indians, in fact some of the white people thought the town had been taken.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

MARKS BROS.

The Marks Bros., assisted by May A. Bell-Marks, performed "The Three Musketeers" at Bradburn's Opera House last night. The success of the previous night's performance entitled "At the Point of the Sword," enticed a large number of the community at large to attend, in spite of the inclemency of the weather. Mr. Frank Gregory performed some really marvellous tricks with a quantity of hoops. Of the successful actors, in the well received play, May A. Bell-Marks, as the Queen of France, and Mr. Will Stewart, as D'Artagnan, (an adventurer,) are worthy of special mention. As a "happy-go-lucky" adventurer Mr. Stewart acted his part with remarkable reality and for stateliness as a Queen no one could have excelled May A. Bell-Marks. The three Musketeers as individuals were greatly admired by the audience, while "The Three Musketeers" as a play received the applause it well earned.

LAST NIGHT'S BLAZE.

Conflagration in Corset Maker's Store—Other Premises Damaged.

Last night, or rather about 1.30 o'clock, this morning, a fire broke out in the basement of a corset maker's store, adjoining Mr. E. B. Stone's law office. It is said that some of the panes in the basement window were broken, brown paper had been pasted over as a substitute. It is furthermore thought that a lighted cigar thrown down the grating had set the paper ablaze. Considerable damage was done, not only to the store, but to the adjoining premises of Mr. W. F. Johnston and Mr. G. K. Martin, which were damaged by water and smoke, but before the fire could secure a further grip it was extinguished by the persevering efforts of the fire brigade.

AN ENTERTAINMENT.

St. Paul's Sunday School—Successful Tea and Entertainment.

A successful entertainment was held in St. Paul's Sunday school last night, before a large audience. Tea was served between six and seven o'clock, and the actual entertainment began at seven o'clock. Mr. J. A. Fife, B.A., occupied the chair, and later on gave a few chemical experiments.

The opening chorus was given by the Primary Class. Excellent piano solos were given by the Misses Gladys Crane, Hazel Sanderson, Jean Hill, M. Muldes and M. Robertson. A class of five boys then gave a chorus, which was heartily received and encored. Recitations were next rendered by Miss Helen Harper, Miss Daisy Burgoyne, and Miss Mabel Pringle. The latter, who recited two pieces, was encored both times, as she well deserved to be. Miss Stella Davis and Mr. Harold Hatcher sang songs. Sheriff Hall gave a farewell address, as he is leaving the school to take up arduous duties in connection with the new South Ward Mission.

Miss Madeline Baptie was presented with a Bible for attending every Sunday during the year.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, the pastor, Rev. J. A. Wilson, his assistant, also gave addresses, after which God Save the King was sung and Rev. Dr. Torrance gave the benediction.

AT THE RINK.

There was a Great Crowd of Skaters Last Night.

There was a great crowd of people at the Brock street rink last night. It was band night, and notwithstanding the soft condition of the ice, owing to the mild weather, there were at least 250 skaters, who appeared to enjoy themselves immensely. There were also quite a few who occupied the benches and looked on the merry throng of skaters. Band night is a great night at the rink undoubtedly.

THE WINNERS.

Photograph of the Curling Champions on Exhibition in Town.

An excellent photograph of the winning group in the Primary Series of the Peterborough bonspiel, has been taken by Mr. G. E. Whiten, the well-known photograph artist, of Hunter street, and is on exhibition in the window of Ormond & Walsh's drug store, corner of George and Simcoe street.

The photograph, which is 10 by 12 inches, is mounted on dark drab mounting board, and consists of the following group: T. F. Matthews, D. Hall, W. G. Ferguson and Skip D. Davidson.

The frame is of golden oak, and is six inches deep, making a fine contrast with the photograph and mounting. The photograph is a living likeness of the winning team, and their smiles, as the winners of the bonspiel, are true to reality.

MR. MITCHELL LEAVING

The Employ of the Peterborough Post Office.

Mr. S. H. Mitchell, who for the past 9 years has been connected with the staff of the Peterborough post office, intends severing his connection with that department this evening to enter the employ of the Great West Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Mitchell's connection with the post office and his dealings with the public have brought him in contact with a great majority of the people of Peterborough who will regret exceedingly to lose him from his old position, at the same time, however, being pleased to learn of his advance in business life. Mr. Mitchell was always courteous and obliging in the discharge of his duties, and he was a faithful public servant. He leaves the employ of the post office with the best wishes of the members of the local staff for a prosperous future in his new sphere of labour.

Mr. R. G. Williamson, the local district agent for the Great West, has had his territory enlarged and Mr. Mitchell will assume the position of City Agent for Peterborough. Mr. Mitchell is well qualified to fill the position and his friends predict for him a prosperous future in the insurance world.

IF BABY COULD TALK.

"I am sure, if baby could only talk," says Mrs. B. Gaffney, L'Amable, Ont., "She would praise Baby's Own Tablets too. They have given better results than any other medicine I have ever used for my little one." This is the verdict of all mothers who have used Baby's Own Tablets, and it is the very best proof that no other medicine can equal them for the speedy relief and cure of the common ailments of little ones. These tablets cure colic, constipation, sour stomach, diarrhoea, and simple fevers. They break up colds, prevent croup, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, and are positively guaranteed to contain no opiate. All children take them readily and for very young infants they can be crushed to a powder. You can get Baby's Own Tablets from any druggist at 25c a box, or they will be mailed, postage paid, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Send for our book on the care of infants and young children. Every mother should have it.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Trent Waterway Association Takes Action.

BATCH OF MEMORIALS

To be Forwarded From Various Municipalities Setting Forth Advantages to be Derived From Early Completion.

It will be good news to the people of Peterborough to know that the Trent Valley Waterway Association is at the present time taking active steps to secure the early completion of the Trent Valley Canal. The following communications have been sent out by Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Secretary of the Association, to the municipal councils along the route of the canal:

To the Council of the .....

Gentlemen,—I enclose a copy of a memorial regarding the Trent Valley Waterway, which it is desired you will take into your consideration and pass, and forward, signed by the head of the Council and the Clerk, to the Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa.

It is felt that a united effort should again be made to press for the completion of this great national work, which will be of such great benefit to your district and to the country as a whole, and with this view similar resolutions have been sent to the other Municipal Councils along the route.

The Association will do all it can to back up the resolutions of the Councils, and the Executive requests that you will appoint one or more members to represent your Council on the Association, should a general meeting be required.

Yours truly,
S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Peterborough Jan. 23rd, 1903.

THE MEMORIAL.

The memorial reads as follows:

To the Honourable the Minister of Railways and Canals:

The Memorial of the Council of the ..... Respectfully sheweth:—

1. The extraordinary development of the trade and commerce of Western Ontario, Manitoba and the North West Territories, the immediate prospects of the speedy settlement of our vast unsettled, but fertile lands, and the demonstrated inability of the railways to carry the produce of the west to the seaboard, emphasize the conviction that it is an obligatory duty to enlarge the facilities for giving free outlet to the products of the labours of the settlers who are being invited and urged to settle our western heritage.

2. The construction of railways north of the Great Lakes as compared with the cheaper natural route by water is not only extravagantly expensive but very limited as to capacity; and the fact that the railway companies take from 7 days at Parry Harbour, Midland, Owen Sound, Collingwood and other ports the larger portion of the western grain is demonstration of the capacity and economy of the water route, and your memorialists submit that the time has come when this water route should be extended by the construction of the Trent Canal, which will give direct water communication between Port Arthur and Montreal, thus shortening the distance between Port Arthur and Liverpool by 727 miles as compared with the route by the Erie Canal, and by 245 miles as compared with route by the Welland Canal.

3. The barge capacity of the Trent Canal is twice as great as on the Erie, and, by reason of the great stretches of lake and river, and the rocky shores of the canal portion, the capacity of the Trent is infinitely greater than that of the Erie, even after the expenditure of the twenty millions of dollars now being spent on it.

4. Besides providing a new, cheap and safe route for through trade, by which grain may reach Montreal and return goods by the empty ships may reach Port Arthur, this water way will accommodate the domestic trade of a population greater than that of several of the provinces of the Dominion, and will add 4 to 6 cents per bushel to the value of home grown grain. The local waters on the route have a shore mileage of over 1,000 miles all of which will supply trade to this water way.

5. Your memorialists are reminded that only 32 miles out of the 200 remain to be completed and that the work done is of little value until the outlets to the lakes are opened.

Your memorialists submit that as against the Erie Canal the Trent route offers infinite advantage at a cost which is comparatively trifling, and that it is desirable that our own country should get the benefit of carrying our own produce.

Your memorialists therefor pray: That steps be taken to put the remaining incompleted sections under contract that all may be constructed simultaneously, and that with the least possible delay.

And your memorialists will ever pray.

Signed on behalf of.....

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

Chief Engineer of Trent Canal to Lecture in Montreal.

Peterborough people will be pleased to hear that the Chief Engineer of the Trent Canal, Mr. R. B. Rogers, is about to give a lecture in Montreal, pointing out the great importance of water transportation in Canada.

The Montreal Star says: "On Friday evening Mr. R. B. Rogers, chief engineer of the Trent Canal, will deliver a lecture in the course for teachers, upon the waterways of Canada, with special reference to the Trent Canal. This lecture will be illustrated by a large number of lantern slides especially prepared for this purpose. The great importance of water communication in the present commercial development of Canada, and the authorative position which the lecturer holds, should secure a large attendance. Tickets will not be required, but the doors will open at a quarter past eight as usual."

ABOUT HOCKEY IN PITTSBURG

Mr. George C. Burnham Tells Something Interesting.

He Says the Game is Very Rough in the Smoky City—Artificial Ice.

Mr. George C. Burnham, of Pittsburg, Pa., is home on a week's visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Burnham, Otonabee. Mr. Burnham in a talk with an Examiner representative gave some very interesting facts concerning the grand old game of hockey in the Smoky City.

"The games are all played on artificial ice," said Mr. Burnham, as he pulled with evident satisfaction on the end of a Havana, "but it is not hockey they play over there; it is a sort of catch-as-catch-can chopping match. Everything counts, body-checking, cross-checking, tripping and, in fact, everything excepting deliberate pugilism."

He had actually seen a player kick another with his skate, when the assaulted player was lying on the ice, and the only penalty received was two minutes on the benches.

There is only one rink in Pittsburg but it is a dandy. It is about 90 x 300 feet and has a seating capacity of at least 8,000. As before stated the ice is all made by artificial means and the remainder of the rink is heated the same as an ordinary opera house, steam pipes run along under the seats and it is a sight most unusual to see ladies at hockey matches sitting on the benches in their shirt waists. The attendance at all times is large and the rink fever is not by any means on the wane as some might imagine.

Continuing Mr. Burnham said there are four teams in the Pittsburg City League and two matches a week are played. The teams are the Bankers, Keystones, Victorias and the Pittsburg Athletic Club's team. Every member of these teams is a Canadian excepting one, viz., Steen, the point player for the "Vics."

Mr. Burnham states that the management of the Pittsburg hockey clubs are very anxious for Canadian players, but so far this season few Canadians have crossed the line.

Lively Times at LeBrun's.

Necessity knows no law, and stock-taking times make it necessary for us to clear the shelves and counter of all winter goods. If putting down the prices will do it, we are doing that "down to the ground." Every time you pass our windows you see bargains—big bargains—all the way round from George street to Hunter street. Bargains in fancy coloured cambric shirts—bargains in hosiery—bargains in caps—bargains in underwear. Winter suits and overcoats are unmercifully reduced. Ringing values in boys' clothing. Surprises for every looker after just such things as are in demand at the present time. We are getting ready to put in still more fittings in our store. This is everybody's chance. Tailoring department, etc., falls in line. All suitings, overcoats, trouserings, reduced one-third. LeBrun's fine clothes make fine bargains.

NEW CITY DAIRY COMPANY.

A Very Interesting Prospectus has Been Issued

Setting Forth the Advantages to be Derived From the Successful Operation of the System—As to Cost.

The newly organized City Dairy Co. of Peterborough, has issued its prospectus setting forth the advantages to be derived from the operation of the new concern. Dealing more directly with the objects of the company, the prospectus says:

This company will be formed for the purpose of furnishing pure milk and dairy products. It is a well known fact that many of the most fatal diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, cholera infantum, and other contagious diseases, are constantly being traced to the milk supplied by the ordinary means now prevailing in many of our cities. Diseased cows, impure water given to the cows and water used in washing utensils, no provision for sterilizing cans or bottles, filthy stables, storing the milk in damp, dirty, unventilated cellars and basements, dirty habits in milking, and carelessness in handling milk, are all prolific sources of disease and death, especially among the children.

This company proposes to secure its supply of milk from producers whose cows are given pure water, and properly fed and kept clean. Each cow will be subject to examination by the company's veterinary surgeon, and all stables and surroundings will be kept and milking done according to rules laid down by the company; and under constant inspection.

The milk will be clarified and cooled at once and kept in cold storage until delivered, cool and sweet.

All vessels and bottles used daily will be sterilized by superheated steam, and the cans used by the producers for the purpose of delivering milk at the dairy, will be washed, cleansed and sterilized by modern machinery.

The company will be prepared to supply clarified milk to all its customers, also cream, fresh creamery butter, buttermilk and other products of milk.

No ordinary milkman can afford, however willing he may be, with his limited business, to give his customers the safeguards afforded by the company against filth and disease in milk.

The cream supplied by this company will contain a definite percentage of butter fat and the butter will be of the highest creamery grade.

The company has no desire to monopolize the total milk output of Peterborough, now amounting to something over 3000 quarts daily, and in the hands of about 30 milk vendors, selling from 20 to 30 gallons per day, two or three of the largest dealers retailing about 50 gallons per day. The company is prepared to deal liberally with all milk men who wish to sell out their trade or join in with the company. Already a large number of the largest milk producers and vendors are interested in the promotion of this company and are prepared to hand over their business and good-will, which ensures the success of the venture from the very beginning.

With the co-operation of several of the largest milk dealers of this town doing at present a business of 300 to 400 gallons daily, the company feels assured of a sufficient patronage to make the business profitable from the outset.

A conservative estimate of the daily consumption of milk in the Town of Peterborough, would be about 1000 gallons, apart from the consumption of cream and fresh creamery butter. The latter trade could be largely increased by the operations of a company in a position to supply its customers with a superior article at all times when required.

It will cost about $3,000 to equip a suitable building with the necessary plant, including horses, harness and delivery wagons.

The company expects to commence with a business of from 300 to 500 gallons per day, of bottled milk. The saving in cost of delivering alone over the present wasteful small trade plan on a daily business of 500 gallons will pay a handsome profit on the money invested. A slightly increased daily expense would be sufficient for a business of 800 to 1000 gallons per day, which the company hope to secure, as the benefits, comforts and safety of using milk cool, sweet and free from disease germs, now so prevalent in this product, become appreciated.

A cold storage plant will be equipped if sufficient stock is taken to justify this being done, but the directors feel this expenditure could only be incurred when the company is the owner of suitable premises.

The right is reserved to allot such subscriptions only as the directors may see fit.

PETERBORO' COUNTY COUNCIL

Concluded its January Session This Morning.

THE COMMITTEES REPORTED

Road and Bridge Committe's Report was Amended—Grant to Peterborough Horticultural Society.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

The County Council met at 11.20 o'clock on Friday morning, the warden in the chair, and all the members members present.

A DEPUTATION.

Upon motion of Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Johnston, Mr. Dumble was heard. Mr. Dumble prefaced his remarks with a general congratulation to the Warden and members of the Council upon the honourable position they held. He referred to the prosperity of the town and county of Peterborough, and he contended that the prosperity of the county depended in no small extent on the prosperity of the town. He then intimated that he was there on behalf of the Horticultural Society to ask that they renew their subscription to the society for the purpose of keeping the parks of the town and the Court House Park which belongs to the county, in condition. The contribution they had received in the past was $75, but the society thought that they might increase the grant to $100, as the expense of keeping the parks in shape was greater and the price of labour had advanced. Mr. Dumble also referred with pleasure to the prospect of a beet sugar factory in Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Hill, who was also present on behalf of the society, advancing similar reasons.

Upon motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Menogue, the matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

PETITIONS.

The Committee on Petitions reported as follows:

The Committee on Petitions beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that the Warden and Messrs. Peck and Hunter be representatives of this Council on the Trent Valley Waterway Association should a general meeting be required.

2. Your Committee recommend that a Memorial be sent to the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa, asking that the Trent Valley Canal be completed at an early date.

3. Your Committee recommend that no action be taken in reference to the petition from the Council of the County of Gray, asking that the term of office of Councillors in towns, townships and villages be two years instead of one.

4. That a Memorial be forwarded to the Ontario Government, asking that the Act for the Improvement of Public Highways be amended.

5. That a Memorial be forwarded to the Ontario Government to amend the Statutes in reference to the fees paid to constables, etc.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. M. HUNTER,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, Jan. 30, 190.

The report was adopted on motion of Mr. Buck, seconded by Mr. Curtis.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOLS.

The Committee on Schools, reported through its chairman, Councillor Curtis, as follows:

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report, recommending as follows:

1. That the matter complained of by the ratepayers of School Section No. 11, Otonabee, be referred to the June session of this Council, as your Committee is of the opinion that the proper course has not been pursued by the parties concerned to warrant this Council to take any action in the matter at present, and that the County School Inspector be requested to write to the parties concerned in the matter to try to amicably adjust their difficulties.

2. That no action be taken in reference to the appointing of delegates to the meeting of the Trustees' Association.

3. That the report of the Public School Inspector be received.

4. Your Committee recommend that the County School Inspector and Messrs. John Davidson, Norwood; Wm. A. Evans, Lakefield; and Duncan Walker, Peterborough, be the County Board of Examiners to examine teachers and give certificates in accordance with the statutes in that behalf.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. T. CURTIS,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, Jan. 29, 190.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillor Moloney, seconded by Councillor Fitzgerald.

APPOINTMENT TO OFFICE.

The Committee on Appointments to Office reported as follows through its chairman, Councillor Shaw:

The Committee on Appointments beg leave to report, recommending as follows,—

1. That Mr. W. E. Roxburgh be re-appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.

2. That Messrs. E. A. Peck and R. C. Strickland be appointed members of the Board of Audit of accounts in connection with the Administration of Justice.

3. That Mr. John E. Belcher, C.E., be re-appointed County Engineer.

4. That Dr. Wm. Caldwell be re-appointed gaol surgeon at a yearly salary of $150, payable as formerly, the sum to cover all extras heretofore charged.

5. That Mr. Henderson Nesbitt be re-appointed caretaker of the Court House at a yearly salary of $175, payable as formerly.

6. That Mr. Thos. Flood be re-appointed caretaker of the Pigeon Creek bridge at a yearly salary of $25, payable as formerly.

7. Mr. John Purser be appointed caretaker of the Buckhorn Bridge, at a yearly salary of $5.

8. That the nomination of a student by this council to the Guelph Agricultural College be left in the hands of the Warden with power to act.

9. That the Warden and Messrs. Peck and Moloney be representatives of this county on the board of management of Peterborough Historical Society.

10. That Mr. Edward Young be appointed caretaker of the Young's Point Bridge at a yearly salary of $5.

11. That Mr. William Lockington be appointed caretaker of the Nassau bridge at a yearly salary of $5.

12. That Mr. Wm. O'Leary be appointed caretaker of the Chemong Bridge at a yearly salary of $350, payable monthly.

13. That the appointment of a caretaker of the Gannon's Narrows Ferry for 1903, be left in the hands of the Warden and Mr. Shaw with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT SHAW,
Chairman.

Peterborough, Jan. 30, 190.

The report was adopted on motion of Councillor Hunter, seconded by Mr. Curtis.

Councillor Peck introduced a by-law authorizing the raising of a sum of money for current expenses.

The bylaw passed its several readings and was duly signed and sealed.

The council then adjourned.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

County Council met at 10.30 o'clock on Saturday morning, the Warden in the chair, and all the members present.

The minutes of the last session of the council were read and on motion adopted.

ROADS AND BRIDGES COMMITTEE.

The Roads and Bridges Committee reported through its chairman, Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, as follows:

Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:—

That the matter of the salary of the caretaker of the Wallace Point bridge be left in the hands of the Chairman of the Joint Committee with power to act.

2. That the communication from the Secretary of the Western Ontario Good Roads Association be received.

3. That the matter of appointing delegates from this council to attend the convention of the Eastern Ontario Good Roads Association at Ottawa on March 12th and 13th, 1903, be left in the hands of the Warden and Chairman of this Committee with power to act.

4. That a pier, 40 feet square at the base, be erected in connection with the Mud Lake Bridge, about 100 feet from the swing opening, it appearing that a pier is necessary in order to protect the Bridge from damage by the ice in the spring, and that the matter be left in the hands of the Warden and Chairman of this Committee with power to act and to appoint a delegation to wait on the Dominion Government to ask for a grant to assist the County in the erection of the pier.

5. That the report of the county Engineer be received.

6. That the matter of the necessary repairs to Gannon's Ferry be left in the hands of the Chairman of this Committee, Mr. Shaw, and the County Engineer with power to act.

7. That the repairs to the Buckhorn Bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Shaw with power to act.

8. That the repairs to the Burleigh Bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Menogue with power to act.

9. That the repairs to Young's Point Bridge be left in the hands of the Chairman of this Committee with power to act.

10. That the repairs to the Lakefield Bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Moloney with power to act.

11. That the matter of the erection of the new Payne's bridge over Indian River in the Township of Dummer be left in the hands of the Warden, the Chairman of this Committee, and Messrs. Johnston and Moloney with power to advertise for tenders and let the contracts for the erection of the Bridge and abutments according to plans and specifications to be prepared by the County Engineer.

12. That the repairs to the Nassau Bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Moloney with power to act.

13. That the repairs to Wallace Point and Benafort Bridgess be left in the hands of the Warden, the Chairmen of this Committee, Messrs. Peck and Johnston, and the County Engineer with power to act.

14. That the matter of placing signs in reference to fast driving on the several County Bridges be referred to the June session of this Council.

15. That Mr. J. C. Bates be appointed caretaker of the Burleigh Bridge at a yearly salary of $600.

16. That the matter of reflooring and repairing P. Sullivan's Bridge in the Township of Douro, be left in the hands of Mr. Moloney and the County Engineer with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

G. W. FITZGERALD,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, Jan. 31st., 1903.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that the expenses were creeping up year after year, and he felt like doing away with special grants until the county was placed on a good financial footing.

Mr. Moloney speaking of Sutherland's bridge on the Indian River, said that the bridge was in a very bad condition, and he thought that it should be inspected by the engineer with power to act.

The report was adopted, as above amended, after considerable discussion had taken place thereon, and a number of special grant clauses were struck out.

Mr. O'Brien did not think it was right to strike out the conditional grants.

Mr. Hunter said it was shortsightedness to lose $1300 by the refusal of this council to grant $[illegible]. Other municipal councils were receiving these grants from the Ontario Government, providing the said municipalities granted a proportionate amount, and Peterborough should take advantage of this means of obtaining assistance for road making.

Mr. Moloney moved, seconded by Mr. Hunter, that the conditional grants be allowed to remain.

This was lost.

Mr. Peck said there was no good reason to show why the Ontario Government would not give this money to roads unless the municipalities gave accordingly. He saw no reason why the Government should not give this money whether the county gave any money in that regard or not. He agreed with Mr. Fitzgerald that they had not the money to vote so many special grants as there was a great amount of extra expense this year in regard to building county bridges, repairing the County Court Office, etc.

Mr. Maloney did not think that there was any more expense this year than other years.

COMMITTEE ON PRINTING.

The Committee on Printing reported as follows:—

The Committee on Printing beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the County Clerk be instructed to grant to the Norwood Register, Lakefield News, and Havelock Standard, alternately, the printing of the lists of Convictions and Assessment Schedules required to be published and printed, at the same price as last year.

2. That all other printing be divided by the County Clerk in as equal manner as possible, between the Peterborough Examiner, Peterborough Review and Peterborough Times, save and except that the County Clerk shall apportion between the Lakefield News, Norwood Register, and Havelock Standard whatever printing of letter heads, posters and other work he can conveniently give them.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. T. BUCK,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, Jan. 30th, 1903.

The report was adopted upon motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald.

COUNTY PROPERTY.

The Committee on County Property reported as follows:

The Committee on County Property beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that the necessary files be procured for use in the office of the Clerk of the County Court and that the work be done under the supervision of the Warden and Messrs. Peck and Hunter, the cost of the repairs, etc., not to exceed $550.00.

2. Your Committee recommend that the matter of repairs and supplies for the County Buildings as may be required from time to time be left in the hands of the Chairman of this Committee with power to act.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MENOGUE,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber,
Peterborough, Jan. 30th, 1903.

The report was adopted.

BY-LAWS.

A bylaw was put through appointing Wm. O'Brien and George W. Bennett auditors for the ensuing year at the same salary as was paid last year.

A bylaw was also put through, confirming the reports of the Committees on County Property, Finance, Roads and Bridges.

A bylaw was also passed authorizing the investment of the uninvested Sinking Funds of the County.

It was moved and carried that the Warden and Chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee be authorized to appoint a deputation to wait on the Ontario Government in reference to the bridge at Gannon's Narrows, if thought necessary.

Council then adjourned.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Let there be a big turn out at the game in the Brock street rink this evening between the St. George's team of Toronto, and the Peterborough seven. The St. George's boys are very popular in hockey circles in Toronto, and they gave the celebrated Wellingtons a pretty strong battle for the first place in the running for the Senior O.H.A. championship. The game is called for 8.45 o'clock.

• • • •

The Groundhogs and the Beavers are the names of two rival hockey teams in Omemee. The Beavers state that they will make the Groundhogs hunt their holes before the season is over.

HOCKEY.

The following team has been selected to meet the St. George's this evening:—Goal, Crough; point Lee or Glover; cover point, H. Armstrong; forwards, Whiteroft, R. Armstrong, Graham, Cavanagh, Morgan.

• • • •

The double header in Peterborough on Tuesday night promises to be well attended. Fenelon Falls will play Peterborough in the Trent Valley Series, and T.C.S., of Port Hope, will play Peterborough juniors at an exhibition game.

• • • •

The patternmakers of the Canadian General Electric Company, do hereby accept the challenge laid down to them by the patternmakers of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, to play a friendly game of hockey, date to be mutually afreed upon.

• • • •

Arrangements have been made whereby Lakefield and T.A.S. of Peterborough, will play their postponed game on Thursday evening next at Lakefield. Mr. Ernie Wasson will referee.

• • • •

On Wednesday evening next, the Ladies' Literary Circle, of St. Peter's T.A.S. will hold an "At Home" in the T.A.S. rooms in honour of the T.A.S. hockey team. No one seems to know any more about hockey than the ladies. They enjoy watching the game, which is proven by their being almost a majority at every game held in the local rink this season. They also appreciate their boys' work as is shown by taking a hands everything in the line of the above mentioned "At Home." Every lady and gentleman who can possible be on hand, Wednesday evening, Feb. 4th, should attend and make the affair a success.

CURLING.

FLAVELLE'S RINK.

Mr. Flavelle leaves on Monday morning for Winnipeg, with the following rink; G. A. Little vice; N.F.A. McSweyn second, and L. McIntosh, lead. They expect to travel with the Scotch curlers from Orillia up, as they leave Toronto Monday also for Winnipeg.

Longfellow's Hiawatha.

—Arrangements have been made whereby a literary and scenic presentation of Longfellow's great poem, "Hiawatha," will be given in Peterborough in about ten days, with appropriate songs accompanied by Indian musical instruments. This should have an educational as well as pleasurable effect. Particulars will be announced later.

Parties indebted to Messrs. H. LeBrun & Co. will please call and settle their accounts before Saturday, February 7th, without further notice, as we are closing our books for the past year. Anyone having accounts against the firm are requested to hand them in for settlement at once.

RURAL DEANERY MEETING

At Havelock, Feb. 2nd 3rd.—Programme of the Conference.

The clergy of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland, the Deanery in which Havelock is situated, are to meet in Havelock on Monday and Tuesday, February 2nd and 3rd. The sessions for conference and discussion are to be held at St. John's Parsonage, and papers are announced by the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M. A., Rector of Ashburnham, on "Dangers, Mental and Spiritual, of the Clerical life;" by the Rev. A. J. Reid, Rector of Campbellford and the Rev. W. Creswick, of Young's Point, on "Forms of Family Devotions;" by the Rev. H. R. James, of Hastings, on "Bible Study;" and by the Rev. W. L. Armitage, Rector of All Saints' Church, Peterborough, on "Sunday School Work in the Deanery." A discussion upon the redistribution of the Deanery boundaries is probable.

On the second day of meeting St. John's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will entertain the clergy to luncheon at the parsonage.

The opening service will be held in the church of St. John the Evangelist, on Monday at 8 p.m., when the Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M. A., will preach the sermon. On Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion, with the Rev. Rural Dean Warren, of Lakefield, as celebrant and the Rev. W. R. Tandy, M. A., Incumbent of Belmont, as Deacon. The other public services on the Tuesday will be Morning Prayer at 9.30 a. m. and Evening Prayer at 4 p. m.

Among those who have signified their intention of being present in addition to the above named clergymen, are:; Rev. J. C. Davidson, M. A., Rector of Peterborough; Rev. S. Lord, of Apsley; Rev. Mr. Harris, of Marmora; Rev. J. McK. McLennan, of Norwood; Rev. Mr. Dickinson, of Warsaw, and others.

St. Luke's Church.

The Holy Communion will be administered to-morrow after the morning service. The Rector will officiate.

Paralysis and Locomotor Ataxia

The most dreaded results of neglected nervous diseases—Study this chart and the symptoms stated here to learn if you are in danger—DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will cure you.

To understand paralysis and locomotor ataxia, which is paralysis of the limbs, and their causes, it is well to remember that every movement of the body or its members is due to the contraction of muscle, which can only take place under the influence of nerve force.

A.—The Cerebrum is the centre of intelligence and thought.
B.—The Cerebellum controls the action of the voluntary muscles.
C.—The Medulla Oblongata.
D.—The Spinal Cord carries nerve force from the brain to the nerve fibres.
E.—Cauda Equina.
F.—Sciatic Nerve, the derangement of which is known as sciatica and sciatic rheumatism.

As this all-important nerve force is created in the ..ve centres of the brain and spinal cord, and conducted along wirelike nerve fibres to the various parts of the body, any derangement of the brain, spinal cord, or nerve fibres may result in paralysis or loss of the power of movement.

Paralysis, then, is the natural result of all neglected nervous diseases.

If you find yourself nervous and irritable, oversensitive to light, sound and motion, addicted to continual movement or tapping of the fingers, twitching of the muscles, sudden startings and jerkings of the limbs during sleep; if you have nervous headaches or dyspepsia, are unable to sleep or rest, feel down-hearted and discouraged, and unfit to fight the battles of life; if your nerves are weak and exhausted, and your blood thin and watery, you have every reason to fear paralysis of at least some part of the body, and consequent suffering and helplessness.

Paralysis can always be prevented and partial paralysis actually cured by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The time to begin treatment is when any of the above-mentioned symptoms become apparent. These are indications of a degeneration of the nerve cells, and when nerve force becomes exhausted paralysis is bound to follow.

acts on the system in an entirely different way to ordinary medicines. It is neither a stimulant to whip tired nerves to renewed activity, nor a narcotic, nor opiate, to deaden the nerves. On the contrary, it is a food cure, which forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, and creates new nerve cells. Every day it is bringing back health, strength and vitality to scores and hundreds who have become discouraged through the failure of doctors and other treatments to cure them. Write for symptom blank and further particulars regarding this great food cure. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Toronto.

IN THE KING'S PRESENCE.

Dramatic Seizure of Prinetti, Italy's Foreign Minister.

Rome, Jan. 30.—Foreign Minister Prinetti had an attack of paralysis of the right side while being received in audience by King Victor Emmanuel yesterday. He was removed to his home in a serious condition.

The Ministers were holding their usual semi-weekly conference with the King at the Quirinal when Signor Prinetti, who was addressing His Majesty, suddenly threw up his arms, staggered, and would have fallen but for the fact that he was caught by his colleagues. The King rang for assistance, and Minister of Commerce Baculli, who is a physician, was able to do what was immediately necessary. The King, who is specially attached to Signor Prinetti, was much affected. His Majesty desired that the Minister be put to bed in the Quirinal, but Dr. Baculli insisted that it would be better to convey him to his own home, which was done.

Signor Prinetti, although unable to speak, retains full consciousness. A bulletin issued by the physicians reads:

"The seizure temporarily impedes the free use of the left arm and leg. The symptoms of congestion show slight but progressive improvement. The physicians are hopeful that he will soon recover."

A GUARANTEED CURE For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys.

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after the use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Ormond and Walsh, druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Hounded For Two Years.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—High Constable Merriweather of Wellington County took James Watson to Guelph yesterday, where he will wait extradition proceedings. Watson is the man who was arrested on Wednesday by Detective Davis. He is charged with stealing $1,700 from Campbell & Co., wealthy horse dealers of St. Louis, Mo. The charge is two years old, but during all that time Watson has been diligently hunted throughout the whole of Western Canada until he was at last run down while driving with two well-known citizens in a cutter on the Lake Shore road.

Fell Exhausted and Unconscious.

Mrs. R. W. Edwards, 33 McMurray street Brantford, Ontario, suffered for five years with nervous exhaustion, headache and dyspepsia. "The pains in the head would almost drive me crazy. I could not sleep nights but would walk the floor in agony until I fell exhausted and unconscious. For the past nine months I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and from a mere skeleton this medicine has built me up in flesh and weight until I am strong and well." It would be scarcely possible to produce stronger evidence of the wonderful power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

THE GLADSTONE OF CANADA.

Mr. Blake's Return to the Platform—Opinions From Ireland.

"The appearance of the Honorable Edward Blake," says The Belfast Times and News, "upon Canadian platforms, has attracted considerable notice in the Dominion, as the contents of the last mail show clearly enough. There is nothing surprising in that. The temporary return of 'the Gladstone of Canada' to the public life of the country in which his political fame was won was an event in Canadian politics, and of particular interest to the Canadian Liberal party, which he led through the wilderness for six years. It is almost ten years since he gave up his seat in the Parliament of Canada to devote his great abilities to the cause of Irish self-government, the cause to which he has devoted the remainder of his life. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has alluded to Mr. Blake as "the greatest of all Canadians." Ever since the general election of 1892 he has represented South Longford in the House of Commons.

"Few men can be better qualified," says The Daily News, "to point the ever-recurring moral of the extension of self-government to Canada than Mr Blake. There are, of course, differences at all points between the cases of Ireland and Canada, as no doubt there are between those of South Africa and Canada; but striking illustrations of the benefits of self-government have come about in Mr. Blake's colonial experience. The contrast between the rebellious Canada of 1837 and the contented Canada of the present day is one to which Mr. Gladstone pointed often enough. Again, the separation of Upper and Lower Canada was a measure based upon the same principle of gaining peace and unity by the grant of self-government. To go further still, it may be said that the rights which were at last won by the advocates of provincial management of the affairs of each province have immeasurably strengthened and not weakened the Federal union of the Dominion. 'I know of no way,' said Fox, more than one hundred years go, 'of governing mankind but by letting them have their own way.' Mr. Blake has probably seen more of the application of that sound principle than any statesman in Parliament."

Ike's Correction.

Ike is a veritable pickaninny who flings the King's English around in true negro style, much to his mistress' amusement. One day she observed that his two very prominent front teeth had disappeared, and quizzically asked: "Ike, what has become of your teeth?" "Dey dropped out," promptly replied Ike. "What?" exclaimed his mistress, as if horrified. Ike was baffled, but only for a moment, when he announced with an air of triumph at having corrected himself, "Dey dripped out!"

Went to Mistrain Judge.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Before Mr. Justice Street yesterday, at Osgoode Hall, J. A. Robinson of St. Thomas made application that Judge Bell be restrained from passing sentence on Robert Foster, Henry Branton and William Walsh, all of St. Thomas, recently found guilty by him for personation and illegal practices in connection with the referendum vote in that place. It is claimed that Judge Bell, being of Kent County, had no jurisdiction in Elgin County, and that the whole procedure was wrong.

RELIGIONS OF TORONTONIANS.

Anglicans Lead, With Methodists Next, and Presbyterians Third.

A man of studious disposition could spend many a profitable hour conning over the census volume issued at the close of 1902. Ten years ago there was only one Pagan found in the whole of Canada. That one has evidently increased, as there are 13 in Toronto and one in Ottawa, besides others scattered all over the Dominion. There are 173 Mormons in the Queen City, 221 Quakers, 95 Mennonites, 80 Adventists, 13 adherents of the Greek Church, 682 Brethren, 524 Disciples, 625 Salvation Army. The Anglicans in Toronto are the largest religious community, numbering 62,406. Next comes the Methodists with 48,278; Presbyterians, 41,629; Roman Catholics, 28,994; Baptists, 11,698; Congregationalists, 3,658, and Hebrews, 3,083.

A CRY OF RELIEF.

"I Think I Could not live Without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets" Says Mrs. Thos. Board.

"I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets." These are strong words. But people who have suffered the tortures of dyspepsia and found relief are not mild in their statements. They alone fully realize what they have suffered. They alone know how great the relief is. For having once laid off the burden of weariness, the aches, the pains that are the portion of every sufferer from dyspepsia, they feel that to take them up again would practically mean to quit living.

Thus, when Mrs. Thomas Board, of Glen Williams, exclaims, "I think I could not live without Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," you can read thankfulness in every word of her statement. It is a message, too, to other sufferers from dyspepsia that their case is not hopeless. That if they will but try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets they will once more find pleasure in life; they will feel as if they had dropped a heavy load; they will feel light and cheery and happy and they will join thousands of others in singing the praises of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Municipal Ownership in New York.

New York, Jan. 31.—Mayor Low presented a statement to the board of estimates yesterday in favor of municipal ownership of the Street Railway in one of the five boroughs of the city, the Bronx. The question of granting a franchise to a company came up and after the Mayor had been heard it was awarded with a provision which obliges the city to buy the company's property at the end of 50 years.

SILICATE BRICK.

Public notice is given that I have acquired the exclusive right to manufacture and sell, within the Province of Ontario, Silicate Brick, made out of sand lime and other materials, chemically and treated under the invention and processes of O. Hugo Anderson, for which Letters Patent for Canada were granted on 16th December 1901, under No. 74,867. Companies have been formed at Montreal, Sydney and Ottawa, to operate under this patent. The works at Sydney and Montreal will be turning out brick in February, and at Ottawa in April next.

I am prepared to sell rights under the above patent in Ontario and solicit correspondence.

Any person infringing these Patents Rights will be prosecuted. Address

ASK INCORPORATION.

Toronto-Hamilton Railway Line Seeking a Dominion Charter.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Mr. H. B. McGiverin of Ottawa gives notice that application is to be made to Parliament for an act to incorporate a company with power to construct and operate a railway from Toronto to Hamilton, passing through the Counties of York, Peel and Halton. The proposed line is to be operated by steam, electricity or other motive power, and authority is sought to amalgamate with or acquire by lease, purchase or otherwise, existing electric, street or other railways, or sell or lease to such railways, or make traffic or operating arrangements therewith, and to acquire the capital stock, bonds and other securities of other companies, and to guarantee their bonds. The proposed company likewise wishes to acquire, generate, use and sell electric force or power, and to acquire, lease, own and operate steamboats, wharfs, elevators and storehouses.

WON'T RECOGNIZE THE UNION.

Company Would Rather Drown Its Mines —Workmen and Wages.

Philadelphia, Jan. 31.—Adam Boyd, superintendent of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company at Shenandoah, continued his testimony when the Coal Strike Commission opened its sessions yesterday.

In cross-examination he said the company would rather let its mines drown than give recognition to the union.

Jacob P. Jones of Pottsville, paymaster of the Reading Co., presented a statement showing the annual earnings of the contract miners at several collieries. It shows that 24 men who worked on an average of 268 shifts during 1901, earned $1,000 and over. The lowest average in the statement was shown by 901, who worked an average of 28 shifts and earned less than $200.

THE MILITANT BOERS.

Vice-Governor Von Estorff Recalled For a Bad Move.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Vice-Governor Von Estorff of German Southwest Africa, has resigned, and is returning home because of a disagreement in Berlin with his policy towards immigrant Boers in permitting the establishment of Dutch reformed congregations under the authority of the Cape Town Presbyetry. The Colonial Office here regards this policy as dangerous, fearing that the Boers may make an attempt later to establish their independence.

Goes to the C.P.R.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—A. H. Harris, traffic manager of the Quebec Southern Railway, has resigned to accept a position with the C.P.R.

Chief of Blackfeet Dead.

Washington, Jan. 31.—White Calf, chief of the Blackfeet, who played a part in the Indian wars of the West in the sixties, is dead.

Cobb, the Sculptor, Dead.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 31.—Boston's famous sculptor, painter and musician, Cyrus Cobb, is dead, at the age of 68.

Horses Were Drowned.

Windsor, Jan. 31. — A team of horses driven by Andrew Gibbs, frightened by a street car at Sandwich yesterday, ran away towards the river and jumped over the embankment into the water. The horses were drowned, but the driver was rescued.

New Ice-Ocean.

London, Jan. 31.—The first attempt to supply incoming steamers with a news service was made yesterday by Reuter's Telegram Company, which filed with the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, 100 words of news for the Cunard Line steamer Lucania, which left New York Saturday last, and which is due to arrive at Queenstown to-day.

Power Charter Granted.

Toronto, Jan. 31. — An order-in-Council has been passed by the Ontario Government granting a franchise to a Toronto syndicate to generate Niagara Falls power. The charter awaits the signature of the Lieutenant-Governor. The company must put up a bond of $25,000. The charter provides for the development of 125,000 horse power.

Shut Up For Two Years.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—First Lieut. Werner Von Graswert, son of the Lieutenant-General of that name, who shot Dr. Aye, a lawyer of Flensburg, through the neck, cutting the spinal cord and causing instant death, in a duel fought in the Grunewald forest Jan. 16, has been sentenced by a military court to two years in a fortress.

The Horse World of London.

An ingenious writer has been making a curious computation respecting the wheels of London. He points out that it takes 300,000 horses to move these wheels. Within a radius of 12 miles there are 500 miles of railway running through 700 stations, and between morning and night the trains running over these carry 1,300,000 passengers. But the street vehicles travel 20 times as far as the trains every day, and carry more passengers, for though the latter travel 25,000 miles every 24 hours the street carriages daily accomplish a journey equal to 20 times the circumference of the globe. The 'buses and trams move 1,600,000 passengers from place to place every day, while 120,000 people ride about in cabs, and 25,000 in private carriages. Londoners travel in London something like 165,000,000 times a year, making nearly 1,000,000,000 separate journeys, while a capital of no less than £70,000,000 is invested in the wheels and horseflesh by means of which these are moved.

Diseases of the Writing Trade.

Many occupations have diseases which are more or less incidental to them, and literature is not exempt. The two most prevalent literary maladies are writer's cramp and swelled head. The unfortunate thing about writer's cramp is that it is never cured. The unfortunate thing about swelled head is that it never kills.—M. A. P.

Quarrelled Over Col. Lynch.

New York, Jan. 30. — Thomas Lynch of Brooklyn, stabbed James Golden to death yesterday, in front of a Brooklyn saloon. The men quarrelled over the conviction of Col. Lynch on the charge of high treason. Golden was an Englishman. Lynch was arrested.

Poisonous Coffee Drunk.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 30.—As a result of having drunk coffee containing a poisonous drug administered by someone whose object, according to the members of the family, was wholesale murder, Mrs. Nancy Birch, Mrs. Laura Feaman, her daughter; Mrs. Birch Cooper, her granddaughter; two guests, Mrs. Emma Ware of Louisville and Miss Frank Canon of Owensboro, and Rachael Davis, a colored servant, are ill at the residence of Mrs. Birch, east of this city. Mrs. Birch and Mrs. Feaman are not expected to live.

Carnegie to the Hague.

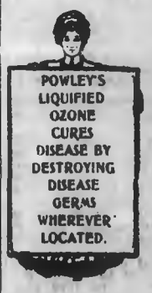
Brussels, Jan. 30.—During yesterday's debate on foreign affairs in the Dutch Second Chamber it was mentioned that Mr. Carnegie had offered $250,000 for the purpose of founding a library for The Hague Court of Arbitration.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Cured.

Mrs. R. C. Robinson, Toronto, a Very Sick Woman--Medicines and Drug Preparations Did Her No Good.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Destroyed the Disease Germs and Her Recovery Was Rapid and Permanent.

Though Sixty-five Years of Age, She is Now Gaining in Flesh and Feels Splendid---Would Not Be Without Ozone.



I glad y give you my testimonial to the wonderful virtues of your new system of treatment, Ozone. I had a very bad attack of pneumonia and bronchitis. Also with that I had terrible distress in my stomach. I tried everything I could hear of from the drug store and an excellent family physician prescribed for me, but nothing seemed to give me the least relief. I could not sleep and any position I got into I was miserable. I was advised to try Ozone, and from the very first I got relief. The Ozone loosened the phlegm in my bronchial tubes and brought a large amount of matter from my lungs. I had also nervous prostration so badly that I thought nothing would ever help me. Ozone cured all that.

How glad I was to get that awful putrid matter from my system. I began to mend rapidly. I only took three $1.00 bottles and I am feeling splendid and growing in flesh, although I am 65 years of age. We would not like to be without Ozone in our family; it seems so good for every ill. Anyone calling on me I will gladly answer any questions I can about Ozone as a great remedy.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) MRS. R. C ROBINSON,
608 Ontario st., Toronto, Ont.

HIGH TREASON. WHAT IT MEANS.

IT IS THE GREATEST OF CRIMES KNOWN TO THE LAW.

Uncommon in Modern Times—Tried in the Field by Court-Martial, in Peace by One of Two Methods—English Statutes on the Subject Date Back to 1351—Statute of Treason.

High treason, the crime for which the Australian born journalist, Arthur Lynch, who commanded the Second Irish Corps of the Boer army in the course of the recent war in South Africa, has just been indicted by the grand jury in London, bears a name so redolent of mediaeval times, when people convicted thereof were subjected to the most appalling of punishments, that many of our readers will be disposed to regard the proceedings against the imprisoned member-elect of Parliament for Galway as a piece of monarchical anachronism which would not be tolerated for one moment in this great and glorious republic. Yet the United States has to this day in its code of laws statutes dealing with high treason analogous to those of Great Britain, and under the terms of which Colonel Arthur Lynch could have been indicted in American courts of law had he been a citizen of the United States instead of a British subject, and had he borne arms against Uncle Sam instead of against John Bull. The punishment for high treason in the United States is, according to the Act of 1862, either death or imprisonment at hard labor for a period of not less than five years, a fine of not less than $10,000, and a perpetual disability from holding any office under the United States. Treason against the latter cannot, of course, be dealt with by any but federal courts. But many of the individual States have their own laws as to treason committed against their particular commonwealth, generally following, however, the lines of the United States statutes bearing on the subject. Whereas in Great Britain and in other countries of the Old World the crime of high treason—universally regarded as the most heinous of all offences—embraces a considerable number of felonies, here in the United States high treason consists exclusively in "levying war against the United States, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

Now, Colonel Lynch undoubtedly "adhered" to Great Britain's enemies, the Boers, during the South African war, and gave them "aid and comfort" at the expense of the British Empire, of which he is by birth a citizen. He, therefore, is, from a legal point of view, an offender against the laws of high treason, laws, which, while of ancient origin as far as England is concerned, are altogether modern in the case of the United States. Whether the British Government is wise or judicious in applying them to Colonel Arthur Lynch is open to question. For in the first place it is calculated to endow him in the eyes of many with a sort of halo of political martyrdom, while the legal procedure in connection with his trial is of such a ponderous and costly character, as well as so rarely employed, that it suggests the use of a harpoon in spearing a minnow. The English authorities, however, have had their hands in a measure forced by the action of the Galway Nationalists in electing Arthur Lynch to represent them in Parliament.

Indeed, there were during the conflict, two or three dozen instances, if not more, of men among the Boer prisoners who were recognized not merely as Irishmen, but likewise as full fledged Englishmen, some of them former officers of the British army and navy, who had come to grief and who had drifted down to South Africa and to the Transvaal, where they had taken service against their native country. There were five of them among the Boer prisoners on the island of St. Helena from the time of the surrender of General Cronje until the close of the Boer war. But, although the English authorities both at the Cape and at St. Helena were thoroughly aware of their antecedents, and would have been justified, both according to the rules of war and the laws punishing high treason, in bringing them before a court martial and in sending them to the gallows, they preferred to affect to ignore their identity, merely withholding from them those tokens of regard and courtesy, accorded to those of Cronje's officers and men who were either bona fide Boers or foreign soldiers of fortune. This shows conclusively that the English Government would have infinitely preferred to leave Colonel Lynch unmolested, and if it has caused his arrest, and is bringing him to trial on a charge of high treason, it is because his election to Parliament as Nationalist member for Galway rendered it impossible for the authorities to affect any longer ignorance of his violation of the statutes against high treason during the conflict on South Africa. In fact, they have had no alternative but to proceed against him.

High treason in war time in the field is, according to the British Crown, dealt with by means of court-martial. In times of peace there are two methods by which it is tried, by the House of Lords, where the proceedings are sometimes preceded by impeachment, or by a court composed usually of the Lord Chief Justice of the realm and a jury. If the offender is a peer of the realm, he has, of course, the right to demand trial by his peers. Impeachment is resorted to in cases where the culprit is a statesman, a high Government official, or a great dignitary of the realm, and is resorted to only at the instance of the House of Commons, which acts as prosecutor, the House of Lords combining the functions of judge and jury. The course which is about to be adopted in the case of Colonel Lynch is a trial by the Lord Chief Justice and a jury.

England's statutes on the subject of treason date back in the year 1351, one of the clauses thereof defining as high treason "adherence to the King's enemies in his realm, giving them aid and comfort in the realm or elsewhere," and the penalties provided for the punishment on conviction comprised burning at the stake when the offender was a woman, and, where men were concerned, of hanging, cutting down before the extinction of life, disembowelment and dismemberment, the head and four quarters of the body remaining at the disposal of the Crown. During the subsequent centuries the laws of high treason were added to in a manner to comprise all sorts of offences against the Sovereign and against the State, King Henry VIII. actually securing from Parliament the enactment of a law rendering it high treason for the Consort of the monarch to have been guilty of any indiscretion prior to becoming his Queen. This statute was, I need hardly add, devised for the purpose of enabling this Royal Blue Beard to rid himself of one of his numerous consorts by sending her to the scaffold for the crime of high treason. But by successive Acts of Parliament in 1817, 1848, and lastly in 1870, high treason was defined within more reasonable limits, and the penalties restricted in the cases enumerated to death by hanging and penal servitude, the burning at the stake, the hanging, the drawing on the hurdle to the place of execution, the beheading and quartering being abolished.

As the "Statutes of Treasons" now stands, it provides for the punishment as an act of high treason the assassination of the Sovereign, of his consort or of the heir apparent; the attempt to assassinate, the conspiring to do so, and even the endeavor to harm or maim them. The consort of the monarch can, according to the present state of the law, no longer be held guilty of treason in the case of matrimonial misconduct, but the correspondent in the case would be punishable as such, while in the event of the throne being occupied by a Queen Regent, the Prince Consort would, in the event of indiscretions, render himself liable to the penalties provided for high treason. Any attempt whether successful or not, to imprison or restrain the monarch, to abduct him or engage in any conspiracy with one of these objects in view, constitutes high treason, and so, too, do acts of warfare and rebellion by British citizens against the established Government.

Owing to the peculiar wording of these amendments of 1848 and 1870 considerable doubt prevails as to whether the particular offence of Arthur Lynch has been specially included therein. If that is not the case he could only be tried under the Act of 1351, in the reign of King Edward III.; and, inasmuch as the abolition of the drawing and quartering merely relates to those cases of treason covered by the amendments of 1848 and 1870, the member for Galway, will be, theoretically speaking, in danger of these penalties in the event of conviction. Moreover, if condemned to capital punishment his execution would, according to statute, have to take place in public instead of in private. It is probable, however, that the court will deal leniently with the former colonel of the Irish Transvaal brigade, and that no advantage will be taken of the terrible barbarities provided by the Act of 1351 under which he is apparently to be tried. In all probability he will escape with a forfeiture of franchise, and, ipso facto, of his seat in Parliament and a term of imprisonment, which is almost certain to be abbreviated by an act of clemency on the part of the Crown.

The last trial on the charge of high treason in England took place just twenty years ago, when MacLean was tried at Reading by a court presided over by Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, assisted by Baron Huddleston, for shooting at the late Queen Victoria as she was leaving the railroad station at Windsor. He was acquitted on the ground of insanity, and ordered to be confined as a criminal lunatic at Broadmoor Asylum "during her Majesty's pleasure." The indictment against him was for high treason, which must not be confounded with the so-called "treason felony," for which Fenian dynamiters were sentenced to penal servitude for life in 1887. Previous to the case of MacLean there was that of William Smith O'Brien, M.P., who was tried for high treason in September, 1848, at Clonmel, Ireland, found guilty of the charge, and sentenced by the Lord Chief Justice to be hanged, afterward beheaded and then quartered. The Queen, however, commuted this terrible sentence passed upon the leader of the sanguinary encounter between the insurgents and the police, known as the Ballingarry affray, to one of penal servitude for life, and some fifteen years later he was pardoned and allowed to return home from Australia, to which he had been deported. Some eight years earlier the Chartist leader, John Frost, a magistrate for the County of Monmouth, was indicted for high treason, but had the capital sentence pronounced against him commuted, and was afterward pardoned. Indeed, the last cases of execution for high treason were those of the so-called Cato Street conspirators in the year 1820, who were arrested when about to murder the members of the Cabinet, a crime which was to be followed by the assassination of King George. They met with death on the gallows, being subsequently beheaded, but were spared the ignominy of disemboweling and quartering. Nor is there any instance of these barbarous practices being resorted to in cases of high treason in Great Britain since the eighteenth century, so that there is but small prospect of the member from Galway being cut up if convicted.—Ex-Attache.

A Quart Baby.

Now and again there is an item in the newspapers concerning the birth of a puny baby so small that a quart cup holds it comfortably. If the article told all the facts it would probably tell also of a mother who in weakness and misery had looked forward to the baby's advent with shrinking and fear.

To have fine, healthy children the mother must be healthy, and it is the common testimony of mothers that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only promotes the mother's health but also gives her strength to give to her child.

"Favorite Prescription" accomplishes these results by tranquilizing the nerves, promoting a healthy appetite, and giving refreshing sleep. It increases physical vigor and gives great muscular elasticity, so that the baby's advent is practically painless. It is the best of tonics for nursing mothers.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. O. Stephens, of Mills, Northumberland County, Va. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I ever did before. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HANDSOME SILKS.

Chine and Pompadour Silks Used as Trimmings.

Chine and pompadour silks are intermixed with lace on the more sumptuous evening gowns. A deep flounce of ivory silk with lovely groups of rosebuds and foliage in natural tints was arranged on a gown of moss green velvet of rather a light shade. At the edge of the flounce was a border or tuck of velvet overlaid at intervals with motifs of lace. The velvet fell over the chine flounce in deep slender points which were tasseled in green silk. The bodice was almost indescribable, so intermixed were the three materials—lace, velvet and chine silk. The very abbreviated bolero of velvet had a deep flounce of lace, and the low neck had a quaintly shaped bertha of the silk opening in vandykes over the velvet.

DINNER WAIST.

Pompadour taffeta in a delicate iris design was used as a trimming to a lace gown. These fancy silks make admirable trimmings used in strips or medallions.

The smart black and white waist in the illustration is of black chiffon shirred into bands and livened by a collar and front of all over lace.

BRET HART'S LAST POEM.

In Harper's for October Bret Harte's last poem, found after his death, is printed for the first time. It was written at the time of the death of Queen Victoria. The poem is reprinted in full:

When your mom bowed heads together,
With naked lips,
And the globe swung out from gladness
To eclipse,

When your drums from the Equator
To the Pole
Carried round it an unending
Funeral roll,

When your capitals from Norway
To the Cape
Through their streets and from their houses
Trailed their crape,

Still the sun awoke to gladness,
As of old,
And the stars their midnight beauty
Still unrolled,

For the glory of Goodness
Never dies,
And its flag is not half-masted
In the skies.

The Eyes and the Temper.

There are experts on the eyes who hold stoutly to the theory that troubles in vision often cause serious lapses from a well ordered life among children and that disobedience, ill temper, cruelty, wanton destructiveness and hysterics are frequently due among youngsters to aberrations and to ailments which affect the sense of sight. Such a theory may appear to be carried so far as to be almost a fad, yet there may be something in it.

The Anchor.

"Sailors are awful forgetful, ain't they?" asked little Elsie.

"Why, what makes you think that?" inquired her papa.

"Because every time they leave a place they have to weigh their anchor. If they weren't forgetful, they'd remember the weight."

Baker's Backache.

Working long hours in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms, exposure to extremes of heat and cold, these and many other things incident to a baker's occupation, bring on backache and kidney disorders. In fact there seems to be no class of men more prone to kidney trouble. When you find your back beginning to bother you, the urine to scald or leave a sediment, if you are running down in health and scarce know why, it is time to start taking Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. Kidney troubles are too serious to neglect and too dangerous to experiment with. When you take Dr. Pitcher's Tablets you know you are having the best kidney treatment a skilled specialist can give you, and can feel assured of a certain and speedy cure.

BAD BACK FOR 3 YEARS.

Mr. Geo. Bell, baker and confectioner, River Street, Paris, Ont., made this positive statement: "My back has been in bad shape for three years, and at 64 years of age we do not expect too much. I lay the trouble to an attack of inflammation of the back which left the back painful and the kidneys weak. I have tried all sorts of medicine with no relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at Paul L. Scott's drug store, and so rapid and great was the relief that I quit on one-half bottle, and have no symptoms of any trouble at all since. I am, so far as I can see, completely cured. This is wonderful to me."

WHY?

Why hunt in vain for cheap houses to rent when it is easier to buy? Why pay seven to ten per cent. in rent to be turned out, when five to six would pay interest on investment and own your house? Why look for farms to rent when we have lots of them for sale? Why run your own risk of fire when you should be insured? Why run all risks without protection when you should have an accident policy? Why trouble your friends when you can get a guarantee policy? Why leave your wife and family to scrub and beg when a life policy would prevent it? DOMINION OIL CO., LIMITED.

Operating Raleigh Oil Fields, Chatham.

The first development of oil in Ontario was at Bothwell, in 1862; the next at Oil Springs, in 1863; and the next at Petrolia, in 1865. All three of these fields, 37 TO 40 YEARS OLD, have been steadily yielding oil ever since, and are to-day, demonstrating the permanency of the Ontario deposits.

None of these fields is farther than 40 miles from the Raleigh district. Oil Springs, with only half the area of the Raleigh, has produced over 2,000,000 barrels; Petrolia, with but slightly larger area than Raleigh, has produced over 30,000,000 barrels.

WITH SUCH PRECEDENTS, IS IT NOT ENTIRELY REASONABLE TO ANTICIPATE FOR THE RALEIGH OIL DISTRICT CORRESPONDING LIFE AND OUTPUT?

The Associated Press Dispatch which appeared in the leading Canadian papers of the 12th contained the following statements: "The Gurd Gusher was the first strike, and ITS LARGE YIELD KEEPS IT TODAY THE BIGGEST OF THE FIELD.

Yesterday afternoon, however, a good strike was made which would be considered a wonderful find if it had not to compare with the Gusher. The well was 'shot' in the afternoon, and after the operation produced a flow that will yield 25 barrels an hour. This is but one-half the capacity of the GURD GUSHER, but is greatly in advance of the other wells. . . . . .

"The most satisfactory feature of the Raleigh oil is its quality. The gravity is 34 degrees, which is 2 degrees higher than any other Canadian oil. As an illuminant it can scarcely be excelled . . . . . As to permanency, it is believed that these wells will compare favourably with any others in the world."

The usual reckoning in oil fields is one well to an acre. The property through which the Dominion Oil Company, Limited, offers an opportunity to secure an interest in this new and rich field, consists of the 1,530 acre tract which comprises THE CREAM OF THE DISTRICT, and includes the famous Gurd Gusher. The Standard Oil Company is now paying $1.99 per barrel at the well for this oil, and the Independent Refinery of Petrolia offers $2.00 per barrel as soon as its connection to the fields is completed.

Let the Raleigh District prove as long-lived as the other Ontario fields and the earnings of this company will prove phenomenal, to say nothing of the enormous profits accruing from the rise in value of its stock.

THE DOMINION OIL COMPANY, Limited, will pay from its net earnings one per cent. dividend the 1st of each month, to all stockholders of record the 20th of the preceding month, commencing FEBRUARY 1st, 1903. This means 12 per cent. per annum on the par value of the stock ($1.00 per share, full paid and non-assessable.) A limited issue of the treasury stock is now offered at the exceptionally low price of 35 Cents Per Share.

this being the OPENING and the LOWEST price at which a share of the stock has ever been offered; and at this price the investor who goes in NOW receives almost THREE PER CENT. PER MONTH on his investment.

This issue is for the purpose of immediately sinking additional wells and building tankage, thus more rapidly getting the property to its FULL PRODUCING POWER.

No investor can afford not to investigate this opportunity to the fullest extent. Call or write for prospectus.

Make all checks, drafts, etc., payable to the order of the Fiscal Agents.

THE WALL STREET MARKET

Messrs. Haight & Freese have received the following:—

New York, Jan. 30.—The early buying yesterday was by traders who have been in the habit of putting prices up in the morning with a view of getting a better base for taking profits at end of the day. President Earling of St. Paul said he did not care to be quoted on the North Western Railway question. He confirmed the statement that storms and cold weather in the north west last month would have been able to show considerable increases in net earnings.

Willett and Grays, New York, estimate the Cuban sugar crop this year at 240,000 tons as against 850,181 tons last year.

New York, Jan. 30.—Liverpool opening, wheat, May, 6-8 higher; March, 1 1-8 higher; Corn, Jan. 1-8 higher; May, 11-8 higher.

New York, Jan. 30.—Developments favour improvements in low priced stocks to-day. It is not belived that the hitch in Venezuelan question will break off negotiations. The money situation is in excellent shape. A large short interest should help Erie which is tipped with the the first and second preferred forrhigher prices.

There are indications that Wabash preferred will work higher. But points are put out on Rubber Goods. We remain bullish on A.C.F.

TOPICS.

New York, Jan. 30.—It is for strategem and spoils, the delay may be vexatious but it is not alarming, however, those who sell stocks will find their pardon will come after their execution.

It will do them little good. The market will be fitful, moving within a feverish range. Average long pacific Reddings, Atch. Moderate dips but do not look for material decline. There is very little activity in lead com. but Washington says an important upward movemen tis coming.

JOSEPH.

Messrs. E. M. Proussett & Co. have received the following despatches:—

New York, Jan. 31st, 1 p.m. — Speculation in the stock market continues narrow and of a professional character. This suspended animation developed when the Venezuela matter first assumed threatening aspect, and although the fundamental conditions surrounding the market situation and outlook were seldom so favourable as now, the disposition of operators generally has been to hold off from assuming further operations until there was a definite settlement of the Venezuela matter. It seems to be the best opinion at Washington and on Wall street that the worst effects of whole business on stock market, however, has been felt, and the announcement of the raising of the blockade would entirely remove it from further consideration, and be made the basis of a resumption of activity on bull side, especially in the various pools which have now so much at stake, particularly in the Gould stocks, the tractions, Erie, Readings and Trunk Lines.

The labour trouble on the Union Pacific is serious and threatens to spread to the Southern Pacific and other connecting lines. This was made the pretext for a selling movement against these stocks and the general railroad list yesterday afternoon, and there was further selling from this source to-day. This however is purely a local matter, and could easily be adjusted through some compromise, and consequently it is not to be considered of sufficient importance to injure general market except in a sentimental way. Speculation does not respond to the favourable conditions just now, but this appears to be due mainly because generality of traders are waiting for larger operators and principal market interests to take the initiative, and this the latter are not inclined to do until the Venezuela matter has been settled. To-day's market was a trader's affair entirely.

OBITUARY.

The Late David Lewis, of Peterborough.

David Lewis, who died on the 18th of January, 1903, at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Robert Miller, No. 61 Bonacord street, was a highly respected resident of Peterborough. His death was due to a chronic disease and he proved to be a patient sufferer throughout his illness. The deceased was a native of Port Hope but lived the greater part of his life at Ballieboro. Eleven years ago he moved to Peterborough and for the past eight years he was an employee of the pattern shop of the Canadian General Electric Company. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and was held in high esteem by all with whom he come in contact.

His wife who was Miss Isabella Gillaspie, of town, remains to mourn his demise. He also leaves Mr. Wm. Lewis, brother; Mrs. George Wannan, Orono; Mrs. J. H. Yeo, Victoria; Mrs. B. J. Hills, Manitoba, and Miss Emma Lewis, of Brandon Normal School, sisters.

The funeral took place on Jan. 20th, to Little Lake Cemetery, where interment took place.

KINMOUNT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual meeting of the Presbyterian congrega on was held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening. The treasurer's report showed a small balance to the credit of the church.

The Kinmount bridge matter is taking up our attention just now. Engineers and practical men are here taking dimensions and making estimates of the cost of building it, and we are to have a steel structure. We are to thank Hon. J. R. Stratton our member for West Peterborough, for the help we have received from the Government for this bridge.

A commencement has been made at taking out ice by a number of our villagers. The ice is not as good as it was last year.

Quite a number of farmers are drawing in logs to the sawmills, as well as wood. Wood is a good price —rather too high for those who have to buy it.

Mr. H. Austin has moved into his new house.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Craig have moved into the Presbyterian manse to live.

Mr. W. T. Morrison, and Miss Miller, one of our former teachers, were married last week, at the bride's home near Hamilton.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. James Morrison is improving and is now able to leave her bed for a few hours every day.

Mrs. George Coulter, we are sorry to say, is not much better.

We hear to-night that Mr. Gilbert Scott, of the Scott Hotel, is very low.

A sad accident occurred near hear a few days ago. A young man by the name of Hardy was felling trees, when one fell on him and broke his back. He was taken to the Lindsay Hospital, where he was attended to by Drs. McAlpine and Allen. The last accounts are to the effect that he is improving somewhat.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Board of Education will meet on Tuesday night.

Glenn Is Acquitted.

Manila, Jan. 30.—Major Edwin F. Glenn of the 5th Infantry, who was tried by court-martial on the charge of unlawfully killing prisoners of war, has been acquitted.

An Express on Description.

If Ireland is the isle of bulls, it is also the home of happy phrases. In no other country have the uneducated such an ability to express much in a few words—and this notwithstanding that other gift of fluency that makes them voluminous as well as picturesque in speech.

Canon Staveley, in a recent article chiefly devoted to the sayings of Irish critics, has given some quotations from the comments of their parishioners. He relates that two old women were overheard remarking on Canon Bagot, a dignified gentleman of impressive person, as he descended the steps of the Synod Hall.

"Biddy," queried one, "who's that big gintleman?"

"Arrah, Molly," was the reply, "sure that's none other than Canon Bagot, and isn't he the mighty foine gintleman entoirely, ivery button on his coat doing its juty?"

Deepest British Lake.

The deepest lake in the British Islands has been discovered, thanks to Sir John Murray, whose survey of the fresh water Scottish lochs is now being prepared at Edinburgh. The honor belongs to Loch Morer, in Inverness-shire, with a depth of 1,009 feet—several hundred feet more than any previously recorded depth. The survey shows some surprising results. Eighteen lochs gave soundings of 200 feet, nine 300, five gave 400 and two over 500.

CANADIANS AT HOME

THREE IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS AND ONE IN THE MINISTRY.

A Brief Sketch Indicative of Their Relations to This Country and Their Present Duties in the Old Land—In Addition to the Titled and Member of the Government We Have Six Commoners in England.

The election of Mr. C. D. Rose to the Imperial House of Commons for the constituency of Newmarket gives us six Canadains in the historic Assembly. One of these is a member of the Government. In addition there are three Canadians in the House of Lords. Our three peers are Lord Strathcona, Lord Mount-Stephen, and Baron Haliburton.

Canada in the Ministry.

Right Hon. Henry Bonar Law is the Canadian in the Ministry. He was born and educated in Kent County, New Brunswick, and is the son of a clergyman, Rev. James Law. Business took Mr. Law to Glasgow. There he acquired prominence and became chairman of the Iron Trade Association. At the last election he contested the Blackfriars Division of Glasgow. When the Ministry was reorganized Mr. Law was appointed Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade. During the recent session it became the duty of Mr. Law to defend the beet sugar convention made at Brussels, the ratification of which the Government was proposing. He replied to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, who opposed the measure, and The London Daily Telegraph, while commenting upon his "too rapid delivery," pronounced his effort a distinct success and a powerful argument. Mr. Chamberlain regarded the speech as brilliant.

Canada's Peers.

The Canadians who are members of the House of Lords are all self-made men. Lord Strathcona, of course, is familiar to us all. In boyhood, a clerk in the Hudson's Bay Company, away off on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, he rose to the position of factor in the Northwest, acquired wealth, staked his fortune in the work of constructing the trans-continental line, became a knight, and finally a peer of the realm, the owner of Glencoe and the occupant of Knebworth, Lord Lytton's old home. For his philanthropy, his hospitality, and his public spirit Lord Strathcona is famous.

Before Lord Strathcona left Scotland for Canada in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company he had as a companion in Aberdeen a lad named George Stephen. He parted with Stephen to begin his work in Labrador. After the parting George Stephen entered the linen drapery business, learned something of the trade, and emigrated to Montreal. At Montreal he became, in the course of years the head of a wholesale firm, and ultimately a banker. Identifying with Lord Strathcona in the railway enterprise he aided in ensuring its success. George Stephen is now Lord Mount-Stephen, and the colleague of the friend of his boyhood in the House of Peers.

Baron Haliburton.

The case of Baron Haliburton differs from that of the other noblemen. Nova Scotia surprised the world in the first half of the nineteenth century by the production of a remarkable book, "The Sayings of Sam Slick, the Clockmaker." The volume, which was laden with philosophy humorously presented, became the most popular work of the day. It is even now read with the deepest interest. The author was Judge Haliburton, who prior to his elevation to the bench had occupied a seat in the Nova Scotia Legislature. Judge Haliburton's home was at Windsor, N. S. There Arthur Lawrence Haliburton, the present Baron, was born. There also, at King's College, was Baron Haliburton educated. Judge Haliburton passed from Nova Scotia to the Imperial House of Commons. He, with Sir Allan MacNab, was among the first colonials to sit for an English constituency. But his experience was somewhat better than that of Sir Allan, who abandoned the honor and returned to Canada to spend the evening of his life. Judge Haliburton's son entered the War Office and became Director of Supplies and Transports. His work was warmly appreciated, and he rose to the position of permanent Under-Secretary for War. On his retirement he became the first Baron Haliburton.

The Six Commoners.

Of the six Canadians in the House of Commons, Mr. Law has already been mentioned. One of his colleagues, but sitting in a different part of the House, is Hon. Edward Blake, who represents Longford. Born in the County of Middlesex, educated at Upper Canada College, and at the University of Toronto, at one time Premier of Ontario, and at another Minister of Justice, he is identified in an especial degree with Canadian life.

A friend of Mr. Blake's in his political work in this country was Hon. George Brown. Mr. Brown married a daughter of Thomas Nelson, the Edinburgh publisher. He had a son, George Mackenzie Brown, so named after his father, and as regards the second name, after Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. This young man spent his early days in Toronto, attended Upper Canada College, and afterwards went to Edinburgh, where he became the managing trustee of the Nelson firm. George Mackenzie Brown is now a member of the House of Commons, and a strong supporter of the Liberal party.

When Mr. Blake led the Liberals in the House of Commons at Ottawa one of his opponents was General John Winburn Laurie, who represented Shelburne, N.S. This gentleman sought the representation of Pembroke in the Imperial House in 1895, with success, and has since sat for that constituency, giving the Unionist Government his support.

At the last general election Gilbert Parker, who is a native of Addington County, ran in the Conservative interests for Gravesend. The novelist won, and has since become a knight on literary and political grounds.

Mr. Rose, the latest addition to the Canadian colony, is a son of the late Sir John Rose, at one time Finance Minister of Canada in the Government of Sir John Macdonald. Sir John Rose, after retiring from the Finance Ministership, entered the banking firm of Norton, Rose & Co., and lived in London. His second son, Charles, who is now in Parliament, is also in the banking business. This gentleman spent his early years in Montreal, and was on active service as a militiaman during the Trent excitement, and on the occasion of the Fenian Raid. He also took part in the construction of the Canadian Pacific.

Other Eminent Canadians.

Canadians have become distinguished in England in ways other than politics. For example, Percy Girouard, son of Mr. Justice Girouard, of the Supreme Court, has risen to the front rank as a military and railway engineer. He constructed the railway for Lord Kitchener in the Soudan, and took charge of the South African railways during the war. His services have been recognized by the Sovereign, for he is now Sir Percy.

Sir John Murray, a scientist, who has made the ocean his life-study, was born at Cobourg.

Revolution in Newfoundland.

Since the introduction into Newfoundland, of the new Inhaler Remedy, "Catarrhozone," the treatment of catarrhal diseases has been entirerevolutionised. The old-time snuff and internal medicines have been cast aside and everyone is inhaling Catarrhozone; it clears the head and throat in two minutes, and is very agreeable and pleasant to use. Catarrhozone is a wonderful cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Lung Troubles and Deafness. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. We advise our readers to try Catarrhozone. Our 20th Year

This is Our New Year's Day—Our Business New Year.

The Golden Lion enters on its 20th Anniversary. When a policy succeeds, its authors are usually pleased. This is our state of mind to-day.

Gratitude to our friends and patrons, who have helped us to accomplish what we have, is uppermost in our minds. We appreciate the patronage of our friends, and take pleasure in saying so.

A store, like a strong character, attains success by doing well whatever it undertakes—never countenancing a policy that will in any way create distrust; never allowing misrepresentations to creep into its advertisements nor behind its counters.

THE STORY AND THE STORE ALWAYS CORRESPOND HERE.

It is through strict adherence to this straightforward policy, as well as to the high character of our merchandise, that we attribute the continual increase in the Golden Lion's business.

We are preparing for a busy New Year. A little more steam will be turned on. There is room for improvement. The store system that was perfect last year needs examining regularly as an engineer examines mechanism. As eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, so it is the price of success in retailing. All our energies during 1903 will be devoted to improving the store system in every deviation that experience has shown possible.

Our Winter Goods are now down to a pretty small compass, but we will continue to crowd them down still lower. Then for Spring.

DEADLOCK REACHED

The Allies Reject the Proposals of Venezuela.

FRENCH PRESSING CLAIMS.

Demand Made For Equality of Treatment —France Insistent Upon Her Rights— Events Construed in a Warlike Fashion Are Misleading—What It All Means—A New Proposition Stated.

Caracas, Feb. 2.—In reply to Minister Bowen's inquiry as to what Venezuela intends to do regarding the demand for preferential treatment made by the allies, President Castro has telegraphed: "The Venezuelan Government desires equal treatment for all the creditor nations in Europe and Americam keeping in mind in addition its diplomatic conventions and interior stipulations."

The French legation has notified the Venezuelan Government that, in virtue of the convention of 1866, France was allowed to collect directly a part of the revenues of several custom houses in Venezuela as a guarantee for her diplomatic claims arising out of the previous revolutions. France, it is said, renounced forever by the convention of 1885, the exercise of this right on condition that the interest on this debt should always be regularly paid. As this payment has not been made, France, without asking the authorization of Germany, England and Italy, intends to revive her right of direct collection. The French Charge d'Affaires has paid a visit to the Foreign Minister and has twice called on President Castro during the past 48 hours. This activity on the part of France is evidently in connection with her intention to revive her rights, and is considered as an answer to the attitude adopted by the allied powers.

A Deadlock Reached.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Reports of warlike preparations on the part of the United States and the powers coercing Venezuela has no relation to the pending negotiations, now temporarily broken off, for the settlement of the claims of President Castro's Government.

The discussion of a greater navy and of a program for steady increase and the hasty passage of the army staff bill by the Senate naturally looks warlike, and without explanation might give a misleading impression. The only thing to be said about these preparations is that this administration and Congress are determined to do everything possible to be prepared for any eventuality.

The situation is not so acute as to justify preparations for war. Diplomatic relations between the countries are very friendly. This Government is strongly hopeful of a settlement of all Venezuelan claims without having to participate itself in the diplomatic discussion.

At the same time the situation is irritating and is likely to remain so as long as the deadlock continues. The allied powers still insist on preferential treatment, and Venezuela, through Minister Bowen, asserts that all nations must be allowed to participate in the distribution of the customs when collected under Mr. Bowen's plan.

The French Ambassador says: France will insist upon her rights. One-eighth of the customs duties of Venezuela, until her claim has been discharged. The allies, Germany, Great Britain and Italy, cannot be permitted to interfere with the claims of France. France by arbitration has secured rights in Venezuela which Germany, Great Britain and Italy are bound to respect. Never has the feeling of friendship between France and the United States been so strong as now.

Propositions involving a compromise of the allied powers' contentions for preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela have been submitted to the Governments of Great Britain, Germany and Italy by their representatives here. It provides that for a short period, perhaps six months or a year, Great Britain, Germany and Italy shall receive exclusively 30 per cent. of the customs receipts of the ports of Puerto Cabello and La Guayra, and at the end of the period that all the claimant nations be placed upon the same footing.

Rush Order For Rifles.

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 2.—A rush order has been received at the United States armory for 100,000 Krag-Jorgensen rifles, to be shipped to arsenals throughout the country. Half of the order has been filled within the last few days, and it is expected that the other rifles will be shipped before the end of the coming week.

The order received from Washington states that the rifles are needed because of the passage of the militia bill.

Offer Ships to Germany.

Santiago, Chili, Feb. 2.—Private agents of Germany have proposed to the Government the immediate purchase of the Chilian battleship Capitan Prat, and the armored cruiser Esmeralda, and have offered to take over the warships now being built in Europe for Chili.

NO CAR ESCAPED.

Troops Called Out to Stop Rioting in Connection With the Street Car Strike at Waterbury, Conn.

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 2.—The trolley strike condition in this city Saturday night reached the proportions of a general riot. Every car sent out from the barns was greeted with a volley of stones at various points, and no car escaped without broken windows.

Thousands of people filled the streets and the police were powerless to control the mob, and were at length forced to request the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Company officials to call in their cars. The request was complied with, and the last car pulled into the barn at 11.15 p.m., escorted by the police

Eight companies of the First Regiment, Connecticut National Guard, and five companies of the Second Regiment, with two Gatling guns, were called to Waterbury last night.

Ng cars were run last evening after sunset, but during the day all the lines were operated as usual with the non-union trolley men. The cars were not molested.

Netherlands Railway Tied Up.

The Hague, Feb. 2.—The engineers of the Netherlands Railroad here struck yesterday afternoon. No trains are leaving here for Amsterdam or Rotterdam As a precautionary measure the militiamen of the 1902 levy have been ordered to rejoin the colors.

Rough Weather Off Britain.

London, Feb. 2.—The Danish steamer Xanier, from Stettin Dec. 3 for Boston, Mass., has gone ashore 25 miles from Aberdeen, and is completely submerged. Two of the crew were drowned. Rough weather prevails around the British coasts. A lifeboat crossing Swansea Bay to assist a vessel in distress was caught in a squall and capsized. Six of the lifeboat men perished.

To Protect Child Labor.

Berlin, Feb. 2.—The Reichstag Saturday passed the second reading of the bill protecting child labor in factories and shops, and prohibiting the employment of children under 15 years of age in some branches of industry and under 13 in others.

Strikers Loot Ships.

Barcelona, Spain, Feb. 2. — The supply of provisions having failed at Reus, near Tarragona, where a general strike is in progress, the strikers have looted a number of shops, most of which are now closed. Many arrests have been made.

A COMPLETE DEFEAT

Sultan of Morocco's Troops Utterly Vanquish Bu Hamara.

THE FATE OF A PRETENDER

Either Captured or Slain — His Camp Rushed and Many Killed—Even If Either of These Was Escaped by Him It Is in Vain That He Will Seek to Rehabilitate Himself —Saintship Exploded.

Tangier, Feb. 2.—The Sultan's troops have utterly routed the forces of the Moorish pretender and captured Bu Hamara himself. A special courier brought the news from Fez yesterday. He reports that at daybreak last Thursday the army of the Sultan, commanded by the War Minister, El Menebbi, attacked the pretender's position and inflicted a complete defeat on his followers, at the same time capturing Bu Hamara.

Another courier from Fez confirms the news of the defeat of the rebels, but says the pretender was not captured, and that it is not known that his body was among the great number slain. The Sultan's victory was absolute, almost the entire following of the pretender being either slain or captured. His camp, provisions, ammunition were taken, and the artillery, which was lost by the Sultan's army in the battle of Dec. 23, was recaptured. Even if Bu Hamara escaped it is hopeless for him to seek to retrieve his defeat, as his claim to be a saint is exploded. The pretender's camp was surprised and rushed at dawn.

There are great rejoicings here at the Sultan's victory.

Exhibited in a Cage.

London, Feb. 2.—A despatch from Tangier to The Morning Leader mentions a circumstantial report current in that city, that Bu Hamara was brought to Fez in a cage and exposed to public derision. The despatch adds that it is impossible to ascertain the truth, and attributes the Sultan's victory more to his bribery of the tribes than to military tactics. The bribed rebels suddenly abandoned the pretender's standard.

WAIVED EXTRADITION.

Missing Treasurer of Kent County, With a $14,000 Shortage Taken to Chatham From Detroit Hospital.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 2.—Alfred T. Shambleau, aged 46 years, former treasurer of Kent County, Ont., who it is alleged, is wanted at Chatham, Ont., on three warrants, charging theft and forgery in connection with a shortage in the county funds of about $14,000, was yesterday placed under arrest at Grace Hospital in this city, and later taken across the river by Ontario officers and started for Chatham. Shambleau consented to go without extradition proceedings being instituted. Under the name of A. W. Fish he was brought to the hospital Saturday night from Pontiac, Mich., suffering from a fractured skull, which, it is said, was received here last week in a fight.

To Limit Man's Fortune.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Senator Wellington Saturday introduced an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the holding of fortunes exceeding $10,000,000 by any one individual in the United States.

Only Drink at Meals.

London, Feb. 2.—Lord Roberts has accepted the presidency of the new Semi-teetotalers' Society, whose pledge not to drink between meals, is receiving many thousands of signatures.

E. A. PECK, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, Jan. 31, 1903.

The report was adopted.

RULERS OF THE WORLD.

Meat Eating Nations are the Leaders in Every Branch of Human Achievements.

The ruling nations of the world are meat eaters, and history records that they always have been.

Vegetarians and food cranks may explain this in any way they please, but the facts remain that the Americans, English, French, Russians and Germans, are meat eating nations, and they are also the most energetic and most progressive.

The principal food of the heroic Boer soldier known as Biltong, is a sort of dried beef, affording a great deal of nourishment in a highly concentrated form.

The weak races of people are the rice eating Chinese, Hindoos and Siamese, regarded since the dawn of history as non-productive, superstitious, and inferior physically and mentally to the meat eating nations who dominate them.

The structure of the teeth plainly indicate that human beings should subsist upon a variety of food, meats, fruits and grains, and it is unhygienic to confine one's diet to any one of those classes to the exclusion of another.

Meat is the most concentrated and most easily digested of foods, but our manner of living is often so unnatural that the digestive organs refuse to properly digest, meat, eggs and similar nutritious and wholesome food, but it is not because such food is unwholesome, but the real reason that the stomach lacks from disease or weakness some necessary digestive element; hence arising indigestion, and later on chronic dyspepsia.

Nervous people should eat plenty of meat; convalescents should make meat the principal food; hard working people have to do so, and brain workers and office men not so much meat, but at least once a day, and to insure its perfect digestion one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken after each meal, because they supply the peptones, diastase and fruit acids, lacking in every case of stomach trouble.

Nervous dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, gas and acidity are only different names for indigestion, the failure to digest wholesome food, and the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cures them all because by affording perfect digestion the stomach has a chance to rest and recover its natural tone and vigour.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the real, household medicine; it is as safe and pleasant for the stomach ache of the baby as it is for the imperfect digestion of its grand sire.

They are not a cathartic but a digestive, and no pill habit can ever follow their use; the only habit that Stuart's Tablets induce is the habit of good digestion and consequently good health.

OUR TRADE RELATIONS.

National Board of Trade at Washington Moves

In its Endeavour to Secure Equally Advantageous Trade Relations to Both Countries.

It is of great interest to Canada that the National Board of Trade at Washington has made a number of recommendations to Congress in favour of the removal of trade restrictions; more especially when, as is the case with Canada, reciprocal trade relations will be equally advantageous to both countries. They point out that the Dominion is the largest purchaser of American goods of all foreign countries and that unless more favourable trade relations can be formed between the two countries there is danger of the market being considerably curtailed. They also endorse heartily the reciprocal removal of the coal duties, on the ground that it will strengthen the influences in favour of tariff reform. If this be done by both countries the whole power of the coal industry will be thrown in favour of a lessened tariff; since if their present protection on the product be taken away they will soon feel the weight of the duties upon their tools and appliances become oppressive. For, it must be remembered that every pick and drill, every lamp, every part of their pumping, hoisting, ventilating and breaking machinery, everything used in and about the mine is increased in price by the tariff. Even the clothing and domestic supplies of the miners are enhanced in price, and, through the natural operations of the law of wages, become heavier charges on the coal industry. The removal of the duty on these things would not lead to extensive importations, but would establish the price at the natural level, as in England, instead of at the same level with the duty added, as in the United States. The ease with which a powerful interest can be enlisted in the cause of tariff removal, and also the generally unsettled state of public opinion in the United States go to show that the republic has reached the extreme of protectionism and that it is now more content to modify its customs laws than ever before in spite of its natural defense of the protective tariff clearer and more liberal opinions now prevail across the border and the prospect of reciprocity is assuming the dimensions of a live issue. The example of Germany affords an object lesson to the United States upon this point and it is evident that American business men have begun to see that it is impossible to take all and give nothing to so good a customer as Canada. Last year we absorbed $120,814,770 worth of American goods. But the United States are now confronted with active competition and a preferential tariff; and hence they perceive the advantage of reciprocal concessions that will bind the trade relations of the two countries more closely together.

RUSH OF FREIGHT.

It is encouraging to learn that nothing like the present movement in freight has been experienced by our Canadian railways at this season of the year for nearly a decade past. The railway officials counted upon a certain amount of increase in their haulage. But their estimates fell far short of the business that has actually been offered to them. In spite of the constant additions to their rolling stock there is more freight offering to-day than the railways can handle promptly, even with their increased facilities. In every class of freight an increase is noted. Merchandise and manufactuured goods have poured west as fast as wheat and oats have come east. There has been no such thing as an empty car. The Grand Trunk are handling in Ontario three hundred cars more a day than they did a year ago. They are running two thousand cars more over their system than in 1902. And even this addition to their rolling stock is insufficient to meet the demand for transportation. It is the same with the Canadian Pacific. They have increased their rolling stock by 25 per cent., and their motive power by 35 per cent., and yet cannot keep abreast of the demand. Consequently the managers have placed orders for locomotives in Scotland and have their shops busy adding to their rolling stock, both in freight cars and passenger coaches. Both railways find themselves short of motive power. There are trains of cars that require engines to move them, through no fault of the company, but simply because the rush of freight is unprecedented. As a consequence, both of our great trans-continental railroads are strictly enforcing the new per diem regulation by which other companies are charged for cars by the day instead of by the mileage hauled. Even with this, however, the railways are very careful about letting their cars go out of their own territory for fear they will be held by some other company, while, of course no car now goes into the repair shop unless it is in such shape that it cannot possibly be used with security.

The increase in the freight to be handled has naturally led to a largely increased demand for labour—more particularly for men in the yards. Men are, in fact, hard to get, and some railway officials say are harder to keep. They will work for a short time and then lay off for a while, engaging themselves again when they feel the need of work; and there are any number of men in the employ of the companies who have been engaged half a dozen times in the course of the past few months. The cartage companies have put on every man and team they can secure, and still there is some delay in the delivery. The wholesale trade, however, appears to appreciate the position of affairs, and the railway officials say the complaints of delay are not numerous, nor are they embittered. Mercantile houses recognize that the railways are doing the very best they can. And hence they are not disposed to cavil at them if they cannot handle goods as promptly as in slacker seasons.

Back of the Cough

There's more to a cough than the tickling sensation in the throat. There's a cold behind that and a weak spot to be strengthened.

Cough mixtures get as far as the tickling sensation in the throat; that is where their work stops. They may relieve the cough, but they do not cure the cold and certainly will not build up the system. Their action is therefore merely local and of necessity very limited.

Scott's Emulsion does not stop at the throat. It eases that too, but its mission is beyond that. It not only cures the cough, but it cures the cold which is back of the cough. It searches out the real cause of the trouble and corrects the wasting and weakening conditions. In its passage through the body it distributes strength to the worn out tissues, feeds the blood corpuscles and tones up the body. There is nothing better than Scott's Emulsion to build up a run down system after a cold.

We will send a sample free to anyone on request.

JEALOUSY LED TO CRIME.

Hector Barton Attempts Murder and Succeeds in Killing Himself.

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 2.—News was received here Saturday of a suicide and attempted murder at Blind River, a village a short distance from the Canadian Soo, early in the week. A man named Hector Barton, formerly from Cheboygan, shot his wife at a boarding-house, where she was employed as cook, and afterwards shot himself fatally. The woman is recovering. Barton was 40 years old and his wife 25. The cause of the shooting is said to have been jealousy.

FLOODS IN SCOTLAND.

Melting of Snow Causing Much Damage—Dee Overflows.

London, Feb. 2.—The melting of the snow has caused extensive floods and serious damage in Scotland. The River Tay has overflowed in Perthshire, and many carcases of deer, cattle and sheep, and quantities of household furniture, are floating in the streets of Perth. At Inverness the river has overflowed and the railroad bridges have been damaged. The river Dee has flooded part of Balmoral, and elsewhere has caused great destruction.

Arbitration to Settle This.

San Domingo, Feb. 2.—U. S. Minister Powell and a representative of the Dominican Government Saturday signed a protocol providing that the matter of the disputed claims of the San Domingo Improvement Co. of New York be referred to international arbitration and that the Dominican Government pay the Improvement Company the sum of $4,000,000 for all its rights and franchises

Didn't Poison Her Husband.

Fredericton, N. B., Feb 2.—The trial of Mrs. Currie, charged with poisoning her husband, at their home at Meductic, York County, was concluded here on Saturday afternoon. After three hours' consideration, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

Buffalo, Feb. 2.—James Edward Quigley is now Archbishop of Chicago. The papal brief appointing him has arrived at Washington.

NO ARBITRATION.

Sub Senate Committee Have Reported the Alaskan Boundary Bill—Secretary Hay Is Canny.

Washington, Feb. 3.—At the next executive session of the Senate Chairman Cullom of the Committee on Foreign Relations will make a favorable report on the Alaskan boundary treaty. The committee Saturday by a unanimous vote decided that this action should be taken. There is no time limit as to the ratification of the convention, but Senator Cullom hopes to put it through at this session.

The history of the negotiation of this treaty shows how carefully Secretary Hay has sought to avoid the inclusion of any matter that would make the treaty objectionable, and how he has steered clear of any reference to "arbitration." When the draft of the convention was first prepared it contained both in the preamble and the body the words "arbitral tribunal." The word "arbitral" was stricken out of the articles before the convention was signed, but was inadvertently left in the preamble.

The committee Saturday corrected this error and eliminated all reference to arbitration. The award of the tribunal, if it agrees, is to be final. It is to determine solely and only whether the boundary line as described in the third and fourth articles of the Anglo-Russian treaty of 1825 shall be drawn in a line thirty marine miles from the coast, or whether it shall be measured from the coast line of the indentations of the mainland.

The tribunal will meet in London two months after the exchange of ratifications, when the case will be presented and the counter cases at a further period of two months. These periods are not, however, arbitrary, as the tribunal has power, if the necessity should arise, to grant additional time.

INSULTS TO PREMIER.

Series of Demonstrations Made Against Sir Gordon Sprigg.

Kimberley, Cape Colony, Feb. 2.—Since the arrival here of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain a series of demonstrations against Sir John Gordon Sprigg, the Premier of Cape Colony, have occurred. He was publicly hissed on several occasions, and during Mr. Chamberlain's remarks on the situation in Cape Colony at the banquet given in his honor here Saturday evening, cries were raised of "Away with Sprigg," while the members of a deputation which waited on Mr. Chamberlain informed him in the Premier's presence that they had no faith in the Sprigg Ministry, which "pampered the Afrikander Bund, and was dependent on it for its existence." Sir John heatedly characterized these remarks as a personal insult.

Mr. Chamberlain's visit here is significant for the strong warning he addressed to Cape Colony. Discussing the prospects of the early concession of self-government and the attainment of federation, he took occasion to warn the people of Cape Colony that unless they direct their cause with more loyalty and better judgment than have been lately shown, they run very serious risk of being left out in the cold when federation comes.

TWO OVER ONE HUNDRED DIE.

Passing of a Servant 74 Years With One Family.

London, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth Alsop of Gosden Common, Guildford, died Saturday, aged 102. She was born in Swallow street, London. For seventy-four years she was with the family of the late Mr. Audrey Ridsdale, a relative of Lady Audrey Buller. She received the late Duchess of Teck's prize for the female servant who had served in one family for the longest period.

Lived in Canada Once.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Marguerite Allen, the oldest woman in the State of Washington, died at the home of her daughter in this city Saturday, aged 104 years. Mrs. Allen was born in Scotland and emigrated to Canada more than seventy years ago, moving later to Ohio. She leaves a son in Detroit.

$2 COUNTERFEITS.

Young Man Belonging to Montreal Arrested in Hull.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—For some time back, bogus $2 bills have been in circulation in Ottawa, Saturday night the Hull police arrested a man named Francis Verner, aged about 30, who belongs to Montreal, and is a native of Belgium. He confessed to the crime and gave the clue to the arrest of the principals.

To Run to Quebec.

Buffalo, Feb. 2.—The steel steamer, James S. Koef, of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company was launched at the Buffal dry docks Saturday evening. The launching of the big vessel, which will be one of the fleet of ten to ply between Quebec and upper lake ports, was witnessed by a large crowd.

TURN OF THE C. N. R.

Several Passengers Injured in an Accident Saturday.

COACHES INTO THE DITCH.

Bridge Foreman Marvin Keenan Received Severe Internal Injuries Besides Other Hurts—Passengers Were Lightly Clad, Although 20 Below Zero Was Registered at Time of the Accident—The Injured.

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Spreading rails caused a bad smashup Saturday afternoon on the Canadian Northern Railway, near Marchand, a station forty-eight miles east of Winnipeg, on the Port Arthur line, and it seems a miracle that no fatalities resulted, although several passengers were badly shaken up and cut by flying glass.

Marvin Keenan, foreman of the C. N. R. bridge building department, sustained severe internal injuries, besides being badly cut about the head and having his leg broken.

The train was behind time, and was running at a high rate of speed when the rear coach left the rails, turning over and throwing two preceding coaches into the ditch. The baggage car and engine were derailed, but remained upright upon the ties.

The rear coach turned a complete somersault and crashed into the coach ahead, but fortunately no one was caught in the wreck, though the under car was smashed into match wood.

The majority of the passengers succeeded in extricating themselves from the debris, and though lightly clad, the thermometer registering 20 below zero, successfully rescued their less fortunate fellows.

Those injured were carefully wrapped in warm clothing and taken to Marchand, where a special was sent to bring them to Winnipeg. Besides Keenan, who was immediately removed to the hospital, others more or less injured were:

Al. Mills, customs officer at Sprague, badly cut about the head.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Grimshaw, Rainy River, cut and severely bruised.

Mrs. William Campbell, Pine River, Minn., badly shaken up and slightly cut by glass.

Several Winnipeggers were on the train, but, beyond the shaking up, escaped without serious injury.

YOU CAN SCRATCH

Out the blot which defiles the clean, white page of a ledger, but you can't scratch out the poisons that defile the blood. It seems rather that you scratch them in, and the irritation grows worse with each new attempt to relieve it. There is only one thing to do in such a case, and that is to entirely cleanse the blood from the infecting poison.

People who have suffered from diseases caused by impure blood, or blood poisoning, have found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a certain and enduring cure. Lotions and liniments may alleviate, but they cannot cure. The disease is in the blood, and the cure must be in the blood also. "Golden Medical Discovery" eradicates from the blood the impurities and poisons which breed and feed disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and so increases the supply of pure, rich blood, which, nourishing each organ, builds up the whole body in health and strength.

The cures effected by "Golden Medical Discovery" are positive and permanent. In many cases of disease, such as eczema, tetter, pimples, eruptions and rheumatism, an effectual cure has been found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, after all other medicines and means had failed to help or heal.

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the larger profits paid by less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute in place of "Golden Medical Discovery" claiming that he knows it to be "just as good." There is nothing gained by trading one thing for another which is only "just as good." There is everything to risk in trading the "Discovery" with a world's record of cures for a substitute with nothing but the unsupported claim of an interested dealer behind it. If you are sick you want to be cured. That's why you want "Golden Medical Discovery" and nothing else.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

SUFFERED HORRORS.

William Floster, Esq., of Redoak, Montgomery Co., Iowa, writes: "I consider your 'Golden Medical Discovery' one of the best medicines on the face of the earth. While in the south-west, three years ago, I got poisoned with poison ivy. The poison settled in my blood and the horrors I suffered cannot be told in words. I thought I would go crazy. I could do nothing but scratch. I would go to sleep scratching, would wake up in the morning and find myself scratching. I scratched for eight months. Had it not been for 'Golden Medical Discovery' I would be scratching yet. I tried different kinds of medicine, tried different doctors, but all the relief they could give me was to make my pocket-book lighter.

"I then began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Took four bottles without any relief. Kept on taking it. I took in all ten bottles and I got entirely cured. I can say that if people would take your medicine instead of fooling with some of the quacks that infest the small and larger towns, disease would flee like chaff before the wind."

NO BENEFIT FROM DOCTORS.

"For about one year and a half my face was very badly broken out," writes Miss Carrie Adams, of 116 West Main Street, Battlecreek, Michigan. "I spent a great deal of money with doctors and for different kinds of medicine, but received no benefit. At last I read one of your advertisements in a paper, and obtained a bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Before I had taken one bottle of this medicine I noticed a change, and after taking three bottles I was entirely cured. I can well recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to any one similarly afflicted."

FREE. On receipt of stamps to defray expense on customs and mailing only, we will send Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages. This book will prove a constant friend and wise counselor to every man and woman. It deals with the great and grave questions of human origin and reproduction in plain English. Send 21 one-cent stamps for book in paper covers, or 50 stamps in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

VERDICT AGAINST AULD.

Train Despatcher Blamed For Charles Warning's Death at Merritton—Electric Signals Necessary on Road.

St. Catharines, Feb. 2. — The inquest touching the death of Charles Warning, who was killed in the collision on the Grand Trunk Railway between the Merritton station and the tunnel under the Welland Canal on January 3, was continued at the Merritton Town Hall Saturday afternoon by Coroner Dr. Goodman of this city.

The train despatcher, John Auld, was not present, as he left the locality a few days after the accident, after having first called for his pay, and his whereabouts are at this time unknown.

The two engineers, Desault and Duke, have not yet recovered from their injuries and were unable to attend to testify, but the jury concluded that they had facts before them sufficient to enable them to arrive at a verdict.

The verdict was to the effect that Charles Warning came to his death through the negligence of the train despatcher, John Auld. It was further found that the Grand Trunk should have electric signals at the tunnel to give warning to approaching trains, at least until the line is double tracked between Merritton and Niagara Falls.

People With Bad Breath.

Generally suffer from catarrh and should use Catarrhozone Inhaler four times daily, and be cured. The pleasant scented Catarrhozone vapour spread through every air passage of the breathing organs, and reaches the very root of the disease at once. It kills the germs, purifies and cleanses the mucous surfaces and eradicates every vestige of catarrh in a short time.

Pure, sweet breath, free from headache, sneezing and discharge are quickly deprived from the use of Catarrhozone Inhaler. Complete outfit, guaranteed to cure, costs $1. Trial size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

BOUGHT GREAT NORTHERN.

Canadian Northern Railway Has Taken It Over.

Montreal, Que., Feb. 2.— J. N. Greenshields, counsel for Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, in the large railway transactions of these gentlemen, is authority for the statement that the Canadian Northern Railway has absorbed the Great Northern Railway of Canada. He is now completing the legal end of the deal, and preparing the necessary papers. This will give the Canadian Northern an important connection in eastern Canada, with terminal and port facilities in the City of Quebec. A meeting of the officials of the two roads took place at Quebec a few days ago, when it is understood the deal was arranged.

An Obstinate Case of Eczema.

Mr. W. D. Johnson, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that his father was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. Though he used a great many remedies and was treated by first-class doctors no permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Certainly We Do.

"Do you mean to say that you actually sell Winter Overcoats and Suits just now at less than the manufacturers' regular price?"

Certainly we do. Why? Because it pays better than to carry them over to next winter.

This is the time of the year when we take account of stock on hand and clear shelves and counters of surplus goods. We never remember a time when you could get such good value for your money—never!

"Less than cost?"—yes, a good deal less than cost, in some cases. We could easily quote a long list to show you that a dollar spent at Gough's will do the duty of two or more on ordinary occasions.

THE CONVENTION.

Y. M. C. A Delegates—50 More Billets Wanted.

Every mail increases largely the number of delegates to be entertained this week by the local Association, and thus makes more difficult the task of the Committee in securing homes. The number of delegates at the hour of going to press is over 50 in excess of the number of billets sent in, and others will have to be yet provided for in addition. Any friends who can assist are asked to send in their names at once to the Association building. There are a number of officials who will have to be entertained at the hotels, and those who cannot entertain at their homes are asked to assist in caring for the latter at the hotels.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE MATINEE—MABLE HEATH.

At the matinee performance of Mabel Heath, a large and appreciative audience was present. Miss Bell-Marks in her role of Mabel Heath displayed her genuine artistic talent, as in her previous plays.

EVENING PERFORMANCE.

In the evening "The Crimes of London," was given by Marks Bros., with the help of Miss Bell-Marks. As has previously been the case Miss Bell-Marks and Mr. Will L. Stewart were the chief figures in the five-act melodrama. Mr. Charlie Johnston, the street singer, greatly amused the audience with jokes quite new in Peterborough. A feature of the evening's entertainment was the illustrated songs sung by Miss Marks an dillustrated on canvas. Some moving pictures were also given.

SOUSA'S GREAT "EL CAPITAN."

"El Capitan," the most popular and succesful of all comic operas, is perennial in its attractiveness, and being now in its fourth triumphant season, will soon pass its thousandth performance before the close of the year. "ElCapitan" will have been presented in every town in the United States and Canada boasting a theatre, and is now being exploited in the principal European capitals. In the exposition year of 1900 DeWolff Hopper presented "El Capitan" at the leading London theatre, with an exceptionally strong American company, and a gorgeous production. No opera ever presented in this country contains more beautiful solos, duets, quartettes, and ensemble work. This will be without doubt the greatest treat of the season.

Grau Opera Company will present this great opera at Bradburn's Opera House, Monday, Feb. 16th.

NEW MISSION CHURCH WAS OPENED.

Large Congregations at Both Services.

HAS A BRIGHT FUTURE.

Rev. J. A. Wilson Preached in the Morning and Rev. Dr. Torrance at Night—The Services.

The opening of St. Paul's new mission church in the south end of the town marks a new era in the growth of Presbyterianism in Peterborough and is only another instance of the general prosperity of the town. Judging from the enthusiasm shown by the Presbyterians of the south end it will not be very long until the little church will have outlived its spoon-fed stages and will be recognized as one of Peterborough's most flourishing congregations. The mission church in the south end has long been a dream—now it is a reality, and from this time forward services will be held in it every Sunday morning and evening. The Sunday School has been well organized with Mr. Sheriff Hall as Superintendent. Messrs. W. J. Bennett, W. W. Johnston are associated with him, whilst a well qualified staff of teachers has been chosen. The attendance for the first Sunday was most encouraging, and it will only be a Sunday or two until the affairs of the Sunday School have settled down to their normal condition. The church services yesterday were largely attended, Rev. J. A. Wilson, officiating in the morning and Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's in the evening. Both reverend gentlemen made appropriate reference to the opening of the new mission and predicted for it a bright and prosperous future.

THE NEW BUILDING.

The new church, which is situated on the corner of Wolfe and Reid streets, is a very imposing looking building of red brick, and adds very greatly to the appearance of that neighbourhood. The size of the edifice is 60 x 45 feet, and the whole building has been completed in less time than was anticipated, the work being completed in less than five months. Mr. William Blackwell, was the architect, and C. Rutherford & Co., the contractors. The lot on which the church is situated is 114 by 129 feet in size, and the new building is built well back from the front of the lot in order that a church may eventually be attached to its south side.

The inside is a large open room, well lighted by a number of plain glass windows, and some twenty 16-candle-power electric lights. The walls are plain white with a high wooden skirting, painted a buff colour, around the bottom. There are two main entrances, which are on the east and west sides of the building. To the south, built several feet into the wall, is a spacious platform, projecting some three or four feet into the room. To the east and west respectively is a library and a vestry. The upstairs is fitted with lavatories, one for the boys and one for the girs, attending the school. The seating capacity is about 400 or 500 people, and the furnishings consist of dark-stained chairs. In the basement is an excellent Kelso hot air furnace, which is quite capable of heating the entire building, both upstairs and down. After the Mission has been thoroughly established, and when the congregation is able to afford it, a gallery in the shape of a semi-circle, is to be built, but so far that seems to be a dream of the distant future.

The contractor sublet his contract as follows: The stone work was done by Robert Smith; the brickwork by Macdonald Carveth; the painting by S. Sharpe; and the wiring by Alexander & Miller.

YESTERDAY'S SERVICE.

The platform and organ were nicely decorated with ferns and palms. The seats were quickly taken, only a few being left vacant when the members of the choir took their allotted placed behind the reading desk on the platform. Rev. J. A. Wilson, assistant pastor of St. Paul's, the mother church of the new mission, officiated, the service opening by the singing of the hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty," after which followed a dedication prayer by Rev. Mr. Wilson. The hymn beginning "Thou Whose unmeasured temple stands," was sung, followed by the sermon, the text of which was chosen from the last part of the 6th verse of the 4th chapter of the Book of Joshua, the words, "What mean ye by these stones?"

Rev. Mr. Wilson then showed the resemblance of Christian people to the children of Israel. The children of Israel were on a journey, and had experienced many difficulties; so had the modern church. After, with God's help, Joshua and his hosts had crossed the Jordan, they were commanded to build a cairn of stones as a memorial, just as the too abundant congregation of St. Paul's had built a new mission as a memorial of the grace which the Lord God had bestowed on their own church. "What mean ye by these stones?" said the pastor. Why these stones which make this new mission mean that this is a place of worship, where after six days of daily toil and danger, the people come, both rich and poor, old and young, to worship God for his care during the past week. It is God's will that the seventh day be a day of rest. It is essential for us to obey His will, whose Son is the cornerstone of the church.

After the sermon, the hymn "Oh Safe to the Rock that is Higher than I," was sung, and the first dedication service in the new mission church, was finished.

Mr. Wildgust presided at the organ at both services.

SILVER WEDDING

Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Cameron of Town.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Cameron, No. 793 George street, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding. The employees of Gough Bros., where Mr. Cameron is engaged as cutter, made Mr. and Mrs. Cameron the present of a silver bread tray and fruit dish. A handsome silver tea service from friends in Toronto, was also among the presents received. A most enjoyable social evening was spent by those who were present, and Mr. and Mrs. Cameron were wished many more years of happiness.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Peter Tully to Miss Lucy Marion Tebb.

The marriage took place on Wednesday, Jan. 28th, at St. Andrew's Manse, of Miss Lucy Marion Tebb, daughter of Mr. Richard Tebb, of Peterborough, to Mr. Peter Tully, of Smith. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. G. Potter. Miss Emma Tebb, sister of the bride, was bride's maid, and Mr. Robert J. Tully, brother of the groom, best man.

The wedding party then repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, and the newly-married couple received the hearty congratulations of their host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Tully will reside near Lindsay, where Mr. Tully has located on a farm.

MAN'S LEG IN THE FIRE-BOX.

Gruesome Find of a Lindsay Train Crew at Midland.

Discovered to be Part of the Remains of a man Named Haddon. Employed in a Saw Mill at Fesserton.

A few days ago a light engine in charge of Engineer Geo. Peacock, was sent from Lindsay to Midland. On arriving at the latter place, the fireman, while cleaning the engine, discovered in the ashpan the leg of a man, and other pieces of flesh. On enquiries being made at way stations it was learned that a man named Haddon, had left Fesserton, a small station this side of Midland, bound for Victoria Harbour, and had taken to the railway track, intending to walk the distance. The man was not seen on the track, and how the accident occurred the engineer is unable to explain. The body was badly cut and mangled, portions of flesh being scattered along the track at this point for a considerable distance. The crew of the Midland way freight picked up the remains, which were taken to Fesserton for burial. We understand the unfortunate man was employed at Carter's sawmill at Fesserton.

If you want a real bargain in books, call at Sallsbury's.

LOCALS . WERE DEFEATED

By St. George's of Toronto, on Saturday Night.

The Score was 7 to 5—A Very Small Attendance—Individual Play.

The attendance at the exhibition hockey match between St. George's seven of Toronto and Peterborough at the Brock street rink, on Saturday night, was disappointingly small. It merely went to show that exhibition matches do not count for much in Peterborough, and that it is only when a team is in the running for a championship that the people of the town grow enthusiastic.

The match resulted in a victory for the Toronto men by a score of 7 to 5. The game throughout was very interesting and towards the finish the spectators grew decidedly enthusiastic, whilst the girls gave some of those sharp shrieks that make the men in front of them wish they were somewhere else. It was a great night for grand stand individual play. Both sides, evidently knowing there was nothing at stake, played to the gallery to a very great extent. The result was the match was pretty to watch and some clever work was accomplished. There was also some pretty heavy checking indulged in, but Whitcroft was the only player who was sent to the boards. This was for a minor offence, however. The St. George's are a fine looking aggragation and were considerably heavier than the Peterborough seven. The locals were in good form, but the team was somewhat changed around. Crough played goal and acquitted himself admirably throughout the game. Lee of the juniors took Glover's place at point and the experience gained by him will serve him to good advantage. The forward line was the same as in the last game Peterborough played excepting that Morgan took Graham's place at half time.

The score at half time was 5—3 in favour of St. George's, and in the second half Peterborough made a desperate effort to score.

The teams were as follows:

St. George's—Goal, Pardoe; point, Harmer; cover point, Lambe; forwards, Clems, Webster, Hynes, Mitchell.

Peterborough—Goal, Crough; point, Lee; cover point, H. Armstrong; forwards, Graham, R. Armstrong, W. Cavanagh and Whitecroft.

Referee—James T. McCabe, Peterborough.

At the conclusion of the game the visitors were handsomely entertained by the Peterborough Club.

EVANGELISTS KERBY & TURK

Union Evangelistic Services Have Been Arranged.

Will Commence Sunday Evening Next Two Gentlemen With Considerable Experience as Pastors.

The people of Peterborough are looking forward with great interest to the coming of Revs. Kerby and Turk, who are to commence a series of union evangelistic services in the town churches on Sunday next, Feb. 8th.

These men have had considerable experience as pastors, and have shown in their special work the same striking qualities which made them so successful in the work of the ministry. They are not revivalists of the ordinary kind. They are men who believe in laying wisely the foundation principles on which to build. The quiet earnestness of their methods, their forceful presentation of truth, their wonderful power of song, as well as speech, will commend them to the hearts of the most critical.

The Examiner is able to furnish its readers with the accompanyone of the combination from whom so much is expected during the next few weeks.

Stratton, R. B. McKee, A. Cox, A. L. Davis T. H. Forty were re-elected directors.

At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Mr. Stratton was elected President and Mr. R. B. McKee, Vice-President.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Prof. Wrong Prevented by Illness From Speaking on Thursday Night.

It was expected that Prof. Wrong, of Toronto University, would deliver his lecture in the club's winter course on Thursday evening next. But as Prof. Wrong is confined to his room with illness he is, of course, unable to keep his engagement, and it is not at present known when his health will be sufficiently restored to admit of his appearing in Peterborough. The Club Committee, endeavoured to get other course lecturers to take Prof. Wrong's date, but their previous engagements prevented. Due notice of the next lecture will, however, be given.

MUST BE REPORTED.

Chief Roszel Insists on Physicians Reporting Cases of Contagious Diseases.

A couple of cases of scarlet fever have been sent to the Nicholls Hospital. The attending physicians have neglected to notify the Health Department of the town, which they should have done. Should this offence be repeated Chief Roszel intends taking action against the attending physicians, and to enforce the penalties the law provides for the neglect mentioned above.

POLICE COURT.

Fined for Being Drunk and Disorderly —Boys Sent to the Reformatory.

At the police court this morning a man was fined $2 and costs, amounting in all to $4.35, for being drunk and disorderly, and using most obscene language on the streets.

Three boys, Frank Scriber, James Brooks, and Willie Fallon, were charged with stealing some fox skins, toques, caps, moccasins and the like from in frotn of different stores in town. Two of the boys ,Fallon and Brooks, pleaded guilty, while Scriber pleaded not guilty. Scriber and Brooks were sent to the Reformatory for an indefinite period, not exceeding five years, and Willie Fallon to the Industrial School also for an indefinite period, not to exceed five years. Two others who were slightly complicated, were let off on account of their youth.

OBITUARY.

Sad Death of Sarah Jane Fowler at Moosejaw—Formerly of Town.

Many Peterborough people will be grieved to hear of the death of Sarah Jane Stevenson, wife of J. P. Fowler, at the age of 32 years. The deceased was formerly of Peterborough and left about a year ago for Moosejaw, where her death occurred. She has a brother and sister living in town, who will have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their sister.

BURNHAM'S POINT.

Our evening contemporary in contending that Burnham's Point should be rescued from the grasp of commercialism and industrialism, and be acquired for aesthetic reasons, is quite justified. It is true that the southern part of the town in not proportionately or indeed in any way provided with parks at all. It is highly desirable that this condition should be remedied if possible, and it is true that Burnham's Point has for years provided a beautiful means for removing the park deficency the southern part of the town has laboured under. While it is to be regretted from considerations of this kind that this desirable park locality has not been procured, who is to blame? The present owners needed a site for their mills, displaced by an industry of which we are all proud. It is natural that they should select the best available site, and that Burnham's Point was available is the fault of the champions of the aesthetic and park interests our contemporary now calls upon when too late to take action. For many years Burnham's Point has been on the market, and the custodians of the property would have at any time entertained an offer from, and would no doubt have given preferential terms to, any proposed scheme of purchase for park purposes. But business interests cannot wait indefinitely on sentimental delay. The estate to which the property belonged has repeatedly offered it to the town, but no action was taken ,no offer was received. The present owners came along and made a business proposition, which, in default of another, was accepted. If the town had made a similar proposition—for which ample opportunity has offered the past past few years—it would, no doubt, have been accepted, and the town would have been in possession of one of the most beautiful intra-urban park sites in the province. But the chance has been allowed to pass unimproved, and it is useless to deplore the fact. For years and years our contemporary has been bewailing the fact that the water powers furnished by our river, had not been developed, and berating the company it held responsible. But the moment this development comes, it is prompt to complain of the logical consequences, in the shape of the purchase of Burnham's Point for a sawmill site. We are anxious for new industries, and we cannot afford to wait for slow waking sentiment to take advantage of opportunities, which business promptitude is quick to grasp. Locking the stable after the horse is stolen, is a very questionable form of wisdom.

HOCKEY.

The Intelligencer of Belleville says: "The Toronto Star has been publishing photogravures of Peterborough's intermediate hockey team. It used to be the fashion to print the winners' pictures, but times have changed."

Peterborough people will be obliged to the Intelligencer for this intimation. We had been labouring under the impression that the reason the boys were being photographed was because they were so good looking.

Now that the Stanley Cup matches in Montreal are causing such enthusiasm amongst hockey lovers, says the Kingston Whig, it is well to call in mind the fact that the birthplace of the game in Canada was the old Limestone City, and the Royal Military College Cadets were the originators, having obtained many hints about polo from English officers who were attached to the local military institution. The first hockey league in Canada was formed in Kingston, and was made up of Queen's, the R. M. C.'s, Athletics and Kingstons. A very exciting series of games were played, which resulted in Queen's winning the championship, the Athletics, of which "Jim" Sutherland was the captain, being beaten out for first place, on Dix's old rink, by the Presbyterian students, the score standing 3 to 0.

To-morrow evening promises to be one of great interest to all hockey enthusiasts, as Fenelon Falls will play Peterborough in the Trent Valley League Series, and T.C.S., of Port Hope, will play the Peterborough juniors in an exhibition game. In view of this double header a big turn out is expected.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Robert Fair spent Sunday in Millbrook.

Mr. W. Reynolds, of Hastings, is in town to-day.

Mr. Thomas Fraser, of Norwood, is in town to-day.

Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton has gone to Toronto for the week.

Mr. Robert Carter and Mr. Alex. Gordon spent Sunday in Havelock visiting friends.

Mr. C. Bloomfield, of Lakefield, has entered the service of the Ontario Bank, Peterborough.

Miss Lillie Stocker, daughter of Mr. Walter Stocker, is around again, after suffering for four or five weeks from an injured limb.

The many friends of Mr. A. C. McCallum will be pleased to hear of his appointment as Assistant Superintendent of the Canada Foundry Co., of Toronto.

The Toronto Globe says:—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ames, with their family and Miss Morrow, of Peterborough, have gone to Florida for a stay of some months, visiting St. Augustine, Ormond and Palm Beach.

Mr. Will Shannon, of Saginaw, Mich., returned home on Saturday after a two weeks' visit with his cousin, Mr. Jas. O'Brien, Downie street. A social evening was tendered Mr. Shannon previous to his departure, which was attended by many of his friends.

Although Mr. R. G. Williamson has been appointed District Manager for Central Ontario of the Great West Life Assurance Co., his headquarters will still be in Peterborough. Mr. Williamson's friends will be pleased to hear of his promotion, which he has so faithfully earned. His new duties will necessitate his being out of town more than in the past.

TORONTO'S NEW MAYOR.

How Mr. Urquhart Was Courteous Under Difficulties Election Night.

Two ladies who take an interest in municipal affairs went down town Monday evening about ten o'clock to hear the latest election returns, says a Toronto journalistic Man About Town. They took a Belt Line car going west on King. As they passed The Mail building one of them caught sight of a bulletin saying that Mr. Urquhart headed the poll.

"Why, Urquhart is ahead!" she said.

"Oh, no, it must be Howland," the other replied. They were both supporters of Howland.

"No; I am sure it was Urquhart."

While these remarks were being exchanged the ladies noticed a gentleman enter the car and take a seat opposite them. They noticed him especially on account of his nervous manner. They, however, continued to express their surprise at Urquhart's election and their disappointment at Howland's defeat.

"I am so sorry Mr. Howland was defeated. He was so different from our former Mayors."

"Yes. He was a gentleman."

"And this Urquhart is nobody."

"Oh, that is the way in Toronto: the nobody always gets ahead."

"Perhaps all the returns are not in."

"Perhaps not."

All this time the gentleman opposite seemed very much amused. When the car reached Spadina and Queen, he got up and crossed over to the ladies.

"Mr. Urquhart is ahead now, but there are still some places to be heard from."

"Oh, that accounts for it," one of Mr. Howland's supporters replied, "Howland will get in all right."

The gentleman bowed and smiled pleasantly, as he left the car. The ladies went home. Each of them, as she picked up Tuesday's paper with the picture of the Mayor-elect, exclaimed:

"Why that's the man we were talking to in the car."

It seems that it was.

NO MORE PAIN IN THE BACK

Chas. Gilchrist, of Port Hope, Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Ex-Fishery Overseer in Splendid Health at Seventy-Four What he has to say of the Matter.

Port Hope, Ont., Feb. 2.—(Special)—Everybody in Port Hope knows Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, for fifteen years Chief of Police and afterwards Fishery Overseer of the Dominion Government. He is seventy-four years of age now and a healthy man. But he has had his share of suffering. For ten years he was afflicted with Diabetes and Kidney Disorder. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Speaking of the case recently Mr. Gilchrist said:

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for about five years, off and on. When I get a pain in the back and my urine is full of brickdust I take a couple of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I am all right. I generally keep them on hand, for there is no medicine like them.

"When I commenced to take Dodd's Kidney Pills I was in a fearful state. They have made me a new man. I have about one-quarter acre in a garden. I dug and planted it last spring. When I first took Dodd's Kidney Pills I could not have done it to save my life.

"I believe I would have been dead only for Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If is cures like this that are giving Dodd's Kidney Pills their popularity.

SIR WILFRID'S REASONS.

Why He Opposed Saddling South African Colonies With Our Professionals.

At the Colonial Conference in London a resolution was passed in favor of duly qualified members of the learned and skilled professions being allowed to practise within the Transvaal and Orange River Colony, on condition of reciprocal treatment in the other colonies. Sir Wilfrid Laurier dissented for the following reasons. "This is a conference of the self-governing colonies. These colonies, which it is sought to affect by this motion, are not represented at this board. They are Crown colonies, now, and, for my part, I think it is questionable wisdom, however meritorious the end may be, to attempt to dictate or suggest what should be done in these countries, which are in an exceptional condition. I think it would be far better to confine ourselves to the colonies we represent in this board in their relations with the mother country. It might serve a good purpose if there were reciprocity, but we know the conditions in my own country. We have not yet been able to reconcile our own differences from Province to Province, so as to get a uniform system. Under these circumstances, how can we expect that conditions which prevail in one country or another can be accepted elsewhere? For my part, I am very seriously of the opinion that we should leave this question entirely to the responsibility of the Governments concerned, both of the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony."

FORMER NIAGARA FALLS.

The Mighty Cataract Will Soon Be Chasing Its Tail in a Turbine Wheel Like a Caged Squirrel.

Civilization is passing over the face of the continent as resistlessly as the movement of the glaciers, denuding it of forests, slaughtering its wild animals and birds, obliterating every touch of natural beauty, degrading the grandeur of nature's handiwork, straightening out streams, squaring ponds and bays, levelling hills and valleys, and diverting cataracts to power tunnels. Even the cataract of Niagara will soon be chasing its tail in a turbine wheel like a caged squirrel, says The Toronto Globe, as far degraded from the grandeur of its majestics. Plunging over the precipice into the roaring gorge as the squirrel with worn toenails and denuded scalp is degraded from the fascinating and graceful freedom in which he bounded and sailed from limb to limb. Pitfalls are opening for Niagara as traps are set for the squirrel, and in a little time the once majestic water will be running an endless race in the revolving cage.

Not Absolute Iconoclast Yet.

We have not yet reached that pitch of civilization in which the bronze that perpetuates beauty and power is melted and rolled into shoe-pegs and window-fasteners. But hope springs eternal. Already we have learned to destroy the unapproachable and irreparable works of nature that they may grind pulp and run street cars. And progression is the law of the race. If the destruction of the Niagara cataract can make a town grow up that grew up somewhere else before or would otherwise gave grown up somewhere else, if it can so modify the struggle for existence that some will be able to lie a little longer in the morning while others will have to rise a little earlier, the achievement will be hailed as a success.

No Longer a Fool-Killer.

But how about the property rights of those who have gone over the cataract in barrels and through the whirlpool in fool-killers? That is the only claim or protest which can have any legal standing. The fame of those who went over the falls or through the rapids will disappear with the cataract itself, and their prospects as magazine writers and fall Fair attractions will be blighted forever. They will certainly assume grounds for legal action on account of the destruction of the value of their property without compensation.

Protection for the Public.

The men who have bought cameras or invested in merry-go-rounds may also feel that they will have claims for damages. There may be some sympathy even for the few who like to hear the roar of the cataract and feel the presence of its majesty. But to avoid legal actions, or at least mitigate damage claims, it would be a stroke of genius to make provision for certain Niagara days in all future concessions. It would be a splendid thing to be able to announce that the Niagara Falls would be turned on from 8 a.m. till 10.30 p.m. on a certain date, when excursionists would have an opportunity of seeing the great wonder of nature in its original condition. Of course it would destroy all revenue from skating rink, stone quarry and other franchises in the bed of the river, but that loss might be no greater than the loss through damage claims if no provision were made for an occasional Niagara day. If all future concessions contain a stipulation that once a month the tunnels be closed and the great river made to pour over the American and Horseshoe Falls, there could be periodical Niagara days, and the glory of the barrel and boat heroes and heroines would remain undimmed.

Niagara Old Boys.

We could even organize a Niagara Old Boys' Association. At present the people who saw the Falls before the gorge was profaned by trolley lines are afraid to visit the place for fear the picture in their minds would be irreparably daubed and spotted. But with a regular Niagara day arrangements might be made for the suspension of all concessions. The cataract could also be turned on to welcome and honor distinguished visitors. But, in spite of all these advantages, the value of the wasted power and the river bed concessions will no doubt outweigh all argument in favor of permanent Niagara days.

What the Seer Sees.

Macaulay foresaw the destruction of Britain and the naked fisherman washing his nets in the Thames. The cataclysm may come in another form, and instead of the barbarian fishing in the river of ten thousand masts, we may see the man wearing factory-made diamonds running his automobile along the ledge where once the Niagara torrent plunged over into the gorge.

WHAT WOMEN ARE WEARING

Kilted Skirts—Walking Costumes. Kid Hats.

Women are wearing silk, satin or brocade evening petticoats in preference to those composed of cambric and lace. Zenana is of course a favorite winter material and obtainable in delightful shades, but it is better for dressing gowns and peignoirs, for even with shaped bands you cannot do away with a certain amount of thickness.

Cloth walking dresses in brown are much in favor, and they mostly boast the flat kilted skirts. Again, many of the bolero coats show plaits, these being loose either at the front or at the back. Plaits indeed are a fad just now, but they must be fitted and arranged so that their lines follow those of the figure they are to adorn or else disaster will lurk in every fold.

Kid hats are perhaps more new than pretty, though they are useful when devoted to motoring, and one of these in gray, bound with black braid and with bows and ends of braid at the back, has been especially designed for such exercise.

The up to date hat and muff shown in the cut are designed to correspond with the coat of light putty colored cloth. The hat is draped in the popular three cornered shape, with the edge of sable. There is a large ruche of ribbon and a bunch of violets under the brim. The muff is of the same cloth, with two large ruffles in each side, two bands of sable and a large fall of lace and violets on the left side.

Objects to Change.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—R. Lemieux, M. P., headed a deputation from Montreal yesterday re fees for bonded houses. The Government aims to change the system so that the customs officer will be paid according to his time. The deputation objects to this change.

NERVOUS HEADACHE.

The Cause of Much Suffering to Women is Permanently Cured When the System is Built up by

Dr. Chase's

Headache powders relieve headaches, but they have never cured them, and they are not intended to make a lasting cure. Besides the risk run in using a drug that is strong enough to instantly stop pain, you may be sure that the reaction on the nervous system is most trying and injurious.

Mrs. Clancy, whose letter is quoted below, was subject to headaches for nineteen years, and in spite of all the headache remedies she used she could get no lasting benefit. She suffered so severely when the attacks would come on that she could not go about the house. She has restored her nervous system by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and her headaches have entirely disappeared.

Mrs. Jas. Clancy, 714 Water street, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I have used four boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and found them an excellent medicine. I was troubled more or less for nineteen years with severe headaches, which made me useless as far as accomplishing my work was concerned.

"The Nerve Food seemed to build me up generally, and so made a thorough cure of my old trouble. I would not think of being without Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the house and would strongly recommend anyone suffering as I did to give it a trial. It succeeded in my case after a great many remedies had failed."

To the thousands of women who are victims of nervous headaches this letter should prove of inestimable value. If they will but follow the advice of Mrs. Clancy they can be certain of great and lasting benefit.
